In Wake Of Last Week's Deaths

Fire District May Seek Aid To Hire More Firemen

Residents and officials of the Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District are studying the possibilities of holding a special referendum or seeking state and federal funds to provide revenues to hire additional firemen.

children. Several residents who appeared at Monday's village board meeting have been involved in discussions recently. The citizen's group is loosely organized and presently has not chosen a spokesman.

morning fire was reported only two men assigned to sleeper duty were at each station.

Talk of a possible referendum is only in the preliminary stages and is being considered as one of several alternatives to getting more money.

If a referendum did come, it would probably be used to levy a tax on the ambulance service. Presently the district offers a free service and takes money from the district's general operating fund to pay the expense of the service.

By using a special fund for operation of the service about $180,000 would then be freed for hiring up to 18 more men. Proponents of this method state a typical homeowner would pay about $25 more per year, but they argue the use of a private ambulance service could cost over $40 per call.

Also being considered is the availability of state and federal funds for training firefighters. Revenue from a training program could allow more general operating funds to be used for salaries.

Both funding ideas were to be discussed before the fire district board of trustees meeting last night.

Details of the federal and state revenue programs had not been available.

Presently the fire district uses volunteer men to assist regular full-time firefighters with the ambulance service and other emergency situations.

Fire officials have estimated that an additional 20 paid men would be needed to staff both the district stations adequately. They have stated that present taxing restrictions do not allow them to add any more men.

Donation Campaign For Fire Victims Continues

Response to the efforts of the Hoffman Estates Boy's Club to collect clothing and home furnishings for the William Gahan family who lost most of their possessions in a fire last Friday has been called outstanding by an official of the group.

in the family and destroyed their home at 129 Des Plaines Ln. in the village.

Tony Stampinato, president of the Boy's Club, said much in the way of appliances, furniture and clothing has been received so far, but more things are needed by the family.

He said sizes for clothing for the family are: man, size 34-34 slacks, size 40 long jacket, 15 1/2 shirts; women, dresses sizes 10-12; girl, size 9-10.

Donations may be taken to the Boy's Club building behind the Hoffman Estates Village Hall on Illinois Boulevard tonight and Friday night from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Stampinato said the family still needs dishes, pots and pans, small appliances and more clothing.

He said items such as a refrigerator, television set, kitchen and bedroom furniture has already been received.

Cash donations are also being accepted for the family, he said. Any checks should be made out in the name of the William Gahan family.

Stampinato said he has been very gratified by the initial response the community has made to help the family.

Couple Injured Riding Motorcycle

A Hoffman Estates man and his wife were injured when he lost control of the motorcycle they were riding Tuesday night in Palatine.

Bill D. Taylor, 29, and his wife, Cynthia, 27, of 1792 Bristolwalk, were treated for lacerations and abrasions at Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village.

Palatine police said Taylor evidently was unable to sufficiently slow his cycle when approaching a curve on Quentin Road south of Illinois Street.

Baseball League Kickoff Saturday

Anita Jo Pankranz, the current Miss Illinois, will lead the 1972 Schaumburg Boys Baseball League Association's opening day parade Saturday. She will be escorted by Mayor Robert Atcher, Police Chief Martin J. Conroy and Fire Chief Lloyd Abrahamson.

The parade begins at 10 a.m. from St. Marcelline's Catholic Church's parking lot, 609 S. Springinguth Rd. and will end at Braintree Field, Braintree and Weatherfield Way, where opening day ceremonies will commence at 11 a.m.

Mayor Atcher is scheduled to toss out the first ball officially opening the 1972 season.

The Schaumburg Boys Baseball League consists of 16 minor league teams, 20 major league teams, eight pony league teams, two Woodfield Babe Ruth teams and an Irving-Lake Senior Babe Ruth League team.

The program represents over 650 boys.

Our Man Becomes Fireman For A Day

by STEVE BROWN

Try to imagine moving through a smoke-filled house, 30 pounds of breathing apparatus on your back, wearing fire coat, hat and boots, a lantern in one hand and an axe or pipe pole in the other. Try to imagine smoke as dense as a blindfold around your head, and heat so intense that it melts metal doors.

These were the conditions faced last Friday morning when Hoffman Estates firefighters battled to rescue three children from a killer fire.

I could not imagine these things. Working with all equipment and flames licking at my sides, I got an inkling of the handicap under which a firefighter works. I had only some of the equipment, some of the smoke, but none of the sense of urgency or emergency.

It took the help of two other men to get into the Scott Air Pack. In an emergency, this would have been a solo effort and it would not have been easy.

DEPUTY Fire Chief Ed Kalasa lit the smoke bombs in the basement through which we walked at the Barrington Lakes Apartments, still under construction. It was a large open area. The only objective was to walk a straight line to the other end of the garage. Two other firemen would be with me.

The boots, coat and hat were hot and uncomfortable. Sweat soaked my shirt. The mask fogged briefly from a little overanxious breathing.

Kalasa lit the smoke bombs and we went in. Trying to breathe normally, I noticed that the hissing sound from the air tanks indicating the release of oxygen came more rapidly from my tank than from those of the other men.

Once in the basement, the smoke swirled around us. We stopped long enough to light another smoke bomb. Then we started to walk.

Thinking I was headed for a side wall, I walked cautiously trying not to stumble.

With the aid of a high power light, I managed to keep a muted outline of the lead man's air tank in view.

He was only a foot or two away, but I still could not see him well.

A FEW MINUTES later we reached the other end. Much to my surprise, we always walked in the same direction. In my mind I had become disoriented while trying to walk essentially a straight line.

The air tank, mask and other equipment brought on an eerie feeling. Knowing the thin hose running between the tank and mask was the only barrier between normal breathing and inhaling the choking smoke provided me with a very strange sensation.

It would have been next to impossible to travel the basement without following the other men, even though the smoke was white and easier to see through than the gray or black smoke usually encountered by firefighters at a real fire.

I did not have to go around any barriers or find my way back out. I was not looking for anything. And there was no sense of urgency connected with my efforts.

I had the benefit of seeing the area without the smoke before I started.

I did not have to carry much of the equipment that firemen entering a burning building would need.

I NOW HAVE an idea of what the experience is like. It is not a pleasant one, not knowing where you are or what the next step may hold.

I know that moving on my own is difficult and I can now imagine what it must be like to search for other human beings.

I always felt that it took more than an average man to do the job.

But now I know a fireman is an extraordinary man.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Lying half-paralyzed, Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his presidential primary election triumphs in Maryland and Michigan. His doctors and campaign aides insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rejected the idea of increasing Secret Service protection for political candidates and called instead for passage of stronger gun-control legislation.

House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon an 18-month moratorium on court orders for school busing, so that pending cases may be appealed.

Then the lawmakers completed work on a compromise $18.5 billion aid to higher education bill after two months of negotiating.

The defense opens its case in the Angela Davis trial after 11 weeks of prosecution testimony with the major question being whether Miss Davis will take the stand herself.

The State

A defense attorney asked that race track scandal indictments against former Gov. Otto Kerner and four others be thrown out because of a "plethora of damaging publicity."

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel Walker charged "gross negligence" on the part of the Illinois Department of Revenue in its administration of the state income tax.

The Apollo 16 astronauts rode a ticker-tape parade through Chicago's Loop. Astronaut Charles M. Duke Jr. termed the experience "fantastic."

The World

The West German parliament ratified Chancellor Willy Brandt's nonaggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland. The treaties gave up German claims on territory occupied by Poland and the U.S.S.R. after World War II as well as pledging recognition of current national boundaries in Europe.

A sniper shot and wounded four Protestant workers as they left their factory in a largely Roman Catholic area of Belfast, Northern Ireland. The shootings came in the wake of Protestant threats to take action to clear out Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry.

The War

The United States, explaining its rejection of a Communist request to resume the Paris peace talks, accused Hanoi and the Viet Cong of disdaining a negotiated settlement.

Visitation is today in McMurrugh Funeral Chapel, 101 Park Pl., Libertyville, until time of funeral services at 2 p.m. Officiating will be Christian Science Reader, Lucille N. Webster. Burial will be in Mount Emblem Cemetery, Elmhurst.

Mrs. Duke, born Nov. 22, 1932, in Chicago, was a founder and former president of the Wheeling Park District. She was a past president of the Woman's Club of Wheeling; a member of Jobs Daughters of Elmhurst; executive board of the League of Women Voters of Libertyville-Mundelein and board of education of Hawthorne Elementary School District in Mundelein.

She also wrote a weekly column for the Wheeling. She attended the University of the Meadowbrook Subdivision in Wheeling. She attended the University of Illinois and was a member of Theta Upsilon Sorority.

Surviving are her husband, Godfrey; sons, Larry, Mel and Gary, all at home and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin W. Huey of Libertyville.

Family requests, in lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Audrae L. Duke Memorial Fund, in care of Hawthorne School, Rt. 1, Box 78, Mundelein, 60060.

Floyde C. Pearson

Memorial services for Floyde C. Pearson, of 303 S. Waverly Pl., Mount Prospect, who died Tuesday in Wealey Memorial Hospital, Chicago, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday in Southminster Presbyterian Church, Central Road and Dryden Avenue, Arlington Heights. Officiating will be the Rev. Dr. William T. Jones.

Mr. Pearson was employed as purchasing director for Continental National Assurance Co. in Chicago, and was one of the founders of the Parent Association of Dixon State Hospital, Dixon, Ill.

Surviving are his widow, Nita; daughter, Sharon Pearson; sons, Thomas and John all of Mount Prospect; brother, Daniel of Champaign, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. Fannie Boyd, also of Champaign.

Memorial donations may be made to Southminster Presbyterian Church, Arlington Heights.

Arrangements were made by Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, Arlington Heights.

Ronald K. Truelson

Ronald Kenneth Truelson, 26, of 831-B Valley Stream Dr., Wheeling, a foreman for a press manufacturing firm in Wheeling, was pronounced dead on arrival Friday at Highland Park Hospital, from injuries when the motorcycle he was driving struck the rear of a car on Milwaukee Avenue near Lake-Cook Road.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in McMurrugh Funeral Chapel, Libertyville. The Rev. Herbert H. Due now of Washburn Congregational Church, Half Day, officiated. Burial was in Wheeling Cemetery, Wheeling.

Surviving are his widow, Linda, nee Raasch; son, Victor Allen; mother, Mrs. Emma Truelson of Prospect Heights; two brothers, Ronald Kosmin of Crete, Ill., and Larry R. Truelson of Lake Zurich and three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Fritze of Wheeling, Kay and Bonnie Truelson, both of Prospect Heights.

Mr. Truelson was born Oct. 29, 1945, in Des Plaines.

Myrtle C. Ibbotson

Miss Myrtle C. Ibbotson, 77, a resident of 22 N. Maple St., Mount Prospect, for 16 years, was pronounced dead on arrival Tuesday at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights. She was born Feb. 28, 1895, in Chicago.

Strong Arms, Backs Wanted

"Scores of men with strong arms and backs and minds to match are what we will need Saturday to complete the final week of Project Help," said Ken Dopp, Schaumburg environment committee member, this week.

Dopp and Darrell Little, his environmental counterpart in Hoffman Estates, are in charge of this week's part of Project Help, a joint Schaumburg-Hoffman Estates improvement and beautification program.

Undertaken by the two neighboring villages this month, Project Help, a by-product of Schaumburg's Clean Environment Committee (CEC) and Hoffman Estates Environmental Concerns Committee, has been designed to ecologically improve Schaumburg Township.

Earlier this month, under supervision of the environmental committees, roadways have been policed and plantings have proceeded in the neighboring towns.

THROUGH ASSISTANCE of Kenneth B. Wolmer, vice president and general manager of Schaumburg Airport, Inc., an aerial survey of creekbed areas in the vicinity was completed late last month.

At that time, Dopp observed areas needing attention in the creek cleaning program.

Wolmer is chairman of an environmental committee which operates under auspices of Schaumburg's Association of Commerce and Industry; he also serves as that group's liaison with CEC.

In Saturday's effort, volunteer work crews will police miles of Salt and Poplar creeks in Hoffman Estates and areas of the north branch of the DuPage River running through the southern part of Schaumburg.

Workers will meet at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Golf-Rose Shopping Center; crews will be dispatched from that point to areas of need regardless of place of residence.

The volunteer force will be directed by Denis Ledgerwood and Al Larson, both of Schaumburg who represent Jaycee groups from both communities acting as "strawbuses" in the combined effort.

Workers are asked to wear sturdy old clothing and heavy protective boots and gloves; rigid steel rakes may also prove helpful in creek cleaning.

Residents owning chain saws or one-man lumber saws are being encouraged to join the joint-village program to make their equipment available for the effort.

Under direction of J. C. Smith, of Schaumburg, and Ken Dean, of Hoffman Estates, public works vehicles and personnel will be on hand to assist in the activity.

In both communities, Barrington Trucking Co. will provide roll-off containers to receive rubbish collected from creek policing.

VOLUNTEERS ARE being asked to bring sack lunches packaged in an easy to carry fashion. Workers will be asked to spend as much time as needed to carry out creek cleanup plans in both villages.

In the event of inclement weather Saturday, workers will be asked to assemble at Golf-Rose Shopping Center Sunday, May 21, anytime after noon to complete plans of work.

A Jaycees group from Hoffman Estates will complete planting at a Winston Knolls site (Algonquin Road and Winston Drive) canceled last Saturday due to rain.

Interested residents, civic or community groups, as well as school representatives may still join Project Help by calling The Herald, 394-2300, Ext. 256.

Names of all individuals, organizations or schools involved in the program will be printed in The Herald.

Appoint New Sacred Heart Principal

by JOANN VAN WYE

The appointment of Gerald Giles as principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows was announced yesterday by the Rev. H. Robert Clark, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of Chicago.

Miss Louise Jacobs was named associate principal at the same time.

The appointments are effective July 1. The Rev. James E. Michalecz, superintendent of Sacred Heart, said both persons would be spending time in the school prior to July 1 familiarizing themselves with its operation, getting acquainted with faculty, parents and students and hiring new faculty members.

Giles replaces Len Baenen who resigned in January, effective June 30, after serving as principal of Sacred Heart for two years. Baenen said he resigned to clear the way for a change of ownership of the school from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded it in 1960, to the Archdiocese of Chicago. Baenen had expressed a desire to continue as principal but was ineligible because of a papal prohibition against the hiring of former priests.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, a New York based congregation, announced in March it would no longer be able to staff and maintain the school because of financial problems and personnel problems.

The appointments end a search for an administrative team that started after the March announcement the archdiocese would take over ownership of the school. The administrative team will be in charge of the overall operation of the school, leadership and development of an instructional program.

The position of associate principal is a new one. Father Michalecz said job descriptions had not been completed yet but that Miss Jones will be primarily in charge of curriculum development and working with the students through the curriculum.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Some of his previous experience includes English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

A native of Lowell, Mass., Giles holds a bachelor's degree from St. Anselm's College in Manchester, N.H., a master's degree from Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio and is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching both at Trinity High School in River Forest and Rosary College in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in LaGrange, where she was curriculum coordinator.

Miss Jacobs is a native of Chicago. She received her bachelor's degree from DePaul University and master's degree from Loyola University.

The appointments were made by a selection committee formed in March. Serving on the committee were Father Clark; Brother Pius Xavier, the associate superintendent of the archdiocese; Sister Joyce Durosok, principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary High School; Sister Charles Ellen, principal of Mother Theodore Guerin High School; Baenen and Father Michalecz.

Between 15 and 20 applications for the two positions were received and the committee interviewed nine candidates. Three of the candidates were invited to spend a day at Sacred Heart at the end of which they were interviewed by the faculty and students.

Commenting on the appointments, Father Clark noted guidelines followed in seeking administrators for the school included the importance of student centered education, shared decision making with students, faculty and parents and dedication to the importance of aiding the students to develop values of Christian living.

"The Archdiocese's concern for Sacred Heart was demonstrated in March when it assumed the responsibility of the school. It is even further demonstrated by the diligence and industry exercised in seeking out those two fine administrators," said Father Clark.

Father Michalecz said he feels the future of the school is even brighter with the naming of the administrative team. He said both had worked at schools pioneering innovative programs.

The number one item on the agenda now, according to Father Michalecz, is the hiring of faculty members to replace the sisters of the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary who are leaving in June and about 10 per cent of the lay staff who are leaving.

"We have waited until this point because we definitely wanted the new administrative team to be involved in the hiring," said Father Michalecz.

In regard to the appointments, Baenen said, "I hope and would expect the new administrative staff will continue the education style and process that is presently at Sacred Heart."

A lay advisory board of parents will be formed in the near future, according to Father Michalecz. The primary function of the advisory board will be to advise the administration in areas of finance, public relations and community involvement and in all matters concerning the future of the school.

Recreation Upgrade Eyed

Recreational facilities in the Hoffman Estates Park District will be brought closer to state and national standards in terms of quality and quantity if the $1.1 million general park improvement referendum is approved June 10, according to park officials.

In four major areas cited by Al Binder, park director, the facilities would meet or exceed the recognized standards if voters approve the two-part referendum. Improved park sites, tennis courts, baseball diamonds and general park land were the areas reviewed by Binder.

"State and national recreational associations recommended that a neighborhood or community park be within one-half mile to one-mile of every resident in a community," he said. "With the $875,000 planned for park improvements we will be able to meet this standard for the district."

RECOGNIZED STANDARDS will also be met with respect to tennis courts in the district, Binder said. Presently, the district has two courts, but eight more are planned. Adding these to the six that will be built at the new Hoffman Estates

SMOKE EATER . . . Herald staff writer Steve Brown prepares to enter a smoke-filled basement during a recent training drill conducted by the Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District.

High School, the standard of one court for every 2,000 residents will be met.

The park improvement referendum will also allow the district to almost triple the number of baseball diamonds and recreational fields available for general recreation and organized groups, Binder said.

The recommended norm here is one diamond for every 3,000 residents. With the approval of the referendum the district will be able to build 17 new fields and raise the total to 27 fields.

"This will put us well above this standard in area of diamonds," Binder said, adding that the diamonds will be part of many general recreational fields in the districts that can be used for other sports during the year.

WHILE NO LAND acquisition is included in the referendum package, Binder also listed the recommended standards for general park lands.

He said authorities usually say about 10 acres for every 1,000 residents is necessary for suitable recreational facilities and open space. The park district presently owns about 180 acres.

"Here we fall below the norm," Binder said, adding, "280 acres of land would be needed to bring the district up to national standards. But, we are relying on the forest preserve land, which surrounds a major portion of the district, to account for the open space which we presently lack."

The park director said the plans in the park improvement program will bring the district up to standard for the present population of about 28,000. This will help provide quality recreational space for the present and a few years to come, he said.

"Most importantly, it will allow the district to keep from falling further behind in having the facilities for providing for the recreational needs of all members of the community," Binder said.

Weaver Arraignment Set For Wednesday

The arraignment for Ward Weaver, Schaumburg State Bank president, and Erwin Oostling of Western Springs has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday before U.S. District Court Judge Thomas McMillen.

The two were indicted last week on five counts of making false entries in bank books and one count of conspiracy to make false entries in bank books, all alleged to have taken place between March 1, 1967, and June 1, 1968.

Oostling was the president of the Bank of Clarendon Hills. Weaver is formerly president of the Evanston Trust and Savings Bank. When the indictments were made public, Weaver announced he would take a leave of absence from the Schaumburg bank position.

The indictment alleges about $630,000 worth of loans made to the former Mar-K-Z Motors and Leasing Co., Inc., Freeport, were entered on books as sold or transferred to the Evanston and Schaumburg banks, but the sale or transfers never actually occurred. Only about $60,000 of the loans were shown as sold or transferred to the Schaumburg bank.

Students Model Outfits

Students in the home economics classes at Conant High School will model the clothing they have made at a fashion show tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Students will model about 40 garments sewn by the Clothing II and Advanced Clothing classes. The show will be at the school and open to the public.

Airport Study Unit To Eye Consulting Firm

A third and final consulting firm interested in studying the feasibility of a local municipally owned airport will appear before Schaumburg's airport study committee at 7 p.m. tonight.

Representatives of Ralph H. Burke Inc., Chicago engineering consultants, will outline proposals for such a study.

Last month Vickrey-Wines Inc. (co-operating with Arnold Thompson Associates) and Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff personnel appeared before the group.

A fourth consultant, Peat, Marwick & Mitchell Inc., recently withdrew interest from the project due to lack of a Chicago staff for that purpose, said Denis Ledgerwood, airport committee chairman.

A municipally owned general aviation airport is being discussed in plans for a possible regional transportation center in Schaumburg.

THE FEASIBILITY study will investigate expansion of the existing privately owned Schaumburg Airport and other possible sites.

Although nearly $80,000 has been appropriated to cover the cost of the study, village officials hope to complete the project with funds from a Federal Aviation Administration master planning grant. The grant would cover two-thirds of the cost of the investigation.

One-sixth of the remaining cost could be funded by the Illinois Department of Aeronautics.

FAA funding is available through the 1970 Airport and Airway Development Act, which provides aviation trust fund capital derived from taxes paid by aircraft owners on registration and airline.

Expected to take about nine months to complete, the study should determine whether the existing airfield should be enlarged or another site selected.

At Ledgerwood's suggestion, the village board recently agreed to minimal additional expense to permit the study to examine economic feasibility of a municipal airport.

IF RESULTS of the examination are positive and the present site acceptable, the village then will consider assuming ownership of the landing strip.

Tentative discussions for expansion call for enlargement of the 2,500-foot asphalt runway to a concrete strip of about 4,000 feet. The larger strip then could accommodate small jet-engine aircraft.

Cost estimates of the total project range from $2 million to $4 million. The program could qualify for 50 per cent federal funding and 25 per cent state assistance.

Remaining costs would be underwritten by Jack Pritzker, a Chicago attorney and philanthropist who also is one of the principal owners of land on which the airport is situated.

Financing would be accomplished, according to village officials, through a revenue bond program and would create no local taxpayer burden. The debt would be retired through takeoff, landing, tie-down and other airport fees.

With the field of consultants narrowed to three, committee members may be able to finalize selection of a firm by their next regular meeting June 1.

Tonight's meeting to be held in the Great Hall conference room is open to the public. Great Hall is located at 231 S. Civic Dr., Schaumburg.

Village Rejects Carwash

Permission to build a carwash adjoining an existing service station was denied, and a request to build a new service station was approved when the Schaumburg Village Board convened Tuesday.

Standard Oil Co was refused authorization to construct a carwash at its service station at Golf and Higgins roads. The area is zoned commercial, and if built would have complied completely with village codes, said John K. Kneafsey, company representative.

"The only potential objection," Kneafsey said, "would be effects on traffic, and consulting firms had advised Standard no problems would be created. Potential traffic problems were the prime concern of the village zoning board in recommending denial."

The village board took the zoning board recommendation as their ground for denial.

"The area is zoned commercial, and if a change to manufacturing were not granted, the property likely would be developed as some other type drive-in commercial venture," Kneafsey said.

APPROVED WAS A request for a special use permit for a Marathon Oil Service Station at Weathersfield and Roselle roads, with conditions the firm plant trees, shrubs and grass in the vicinity of the station. Marathon also agreed to remove the station if it is vacant for more than 6 months.

The board also approved: The parking plan for an office building at 16 E. Schaumburg Rd.

Plans for the Social Dynamics Day Care Center in the Levitt subdivision.

Several lots in the Schaumburg Centex Industrial Park, and:

The final plat for Unit 15 of the Lancer Park subdivision.

Adopted for first reading was a change in the liquor control ordinance to allow package liquor retailers to permit product-tasting on the premises, as long as there is no charge.

Authorization for a Schaumburg Jaycees carnival June 22 to 25 at Schaumburg Plaza was granted, and a liquor license approved with waiver of the license fee.

A FINAL REPORT on a flooding problem at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strobel, 1 Treebark Ct., was delivered by Joe Zgonina, village engineer. It appeared the problems reported by the Strobel's resulted in part from small debris, such as gravel and twigs, which may have been deposited in a storm sewer by children, he said. The sewer has a manhole with small openings in the cover. The village public works department will check the sewer regularly, and flush it as necessary, he said.

Slim Hope Remains For Remap Plan

by BOB LAHEY

One slim hope remains alive for a new reapportionment plan for Illinois, but its proponents have little confidence in its success.

The appeal which the U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear this week was from a ruling by a panel of three U.S. District Court judges that dismissed a challenge of the 1971 redistricting last December.

The U.S. Supreme Court has also been asked to hear an appeal from an Illinois Supreme Court which also upheld the 1971 reapportionment in another action.

That appeal is "technically" still alive, according to Jack Siegel, municipal attorney for both Arlington Heights and Evanston, two of the four suburbs which are parties to the suit. "But, frankly I am not optimistic about it," Siegel added.

The suit, rejected by the high court Monday, challenged the 1971 plan on the basis the new legislative districts are not "compact and contiguous"; and because they ignore traditional political boundaries.

DESPITE A previous opinion by Justice Byron White that "every consideration" must be given to political boundaries in reapportionment, the court turned down the appeal unanimously and without comment.

Compactness and contiguity are also issues in the action overruled by the Illinois Supreme Court. That suit also charges that the bipartisan redistricting panel, made up of the party leadership of the legislature and their appointees was illegally constituted.

The Illinois court found the plan met the requirements of compactness and contiguity, which Siegel said has been found to be "the only federal question," indicating little chance for a hearing in the U.S. Supreme Court.

GEORGE MEANY, AFL-CIO president, has sent a message to every local in the national labor organization, calling on union leaders to support President Nixon's bombing of North Vietnam and the harbor blockade.

An Illinois labor official said Meany's support of the bombing indicates no softening of labor's determination to oust Nixon in November, pointing out he has steadfastly supported presidential policies on Vietnam.

ROBERT SKLODOWSKI, Republican candidate for clerk of the Cook County Circuit Court, has created a sizeable homework assignment for Democratic incumbent Matthew Danaher and County Treasurer Bernard Korzen.

Skłodowski yesterday filed a series of 125 "interrogatories" in Circuit Court in connection with his suit seeking to compel Danaher and Korzen to invest funds in their custody in interest-bearing accounts.

Skłodowski claims up to $30 million controlled by the two officials could be used to earn interest for the taxpayers.

His questions, 104 of which were directed at Danaher, relate to the amount of money held by them, and the average daily total of those funds, Skłodowski said.

Specifically the inquiries to Korzen concern money collected as court costs, traffic fines and bail bonds, he said. The questions to Danaher relate to funds collected in all six divisions of the Circuit Court.

The GOP candidate said the answer to his suit by Danaher and Korzen "circumvents the real issue." The answer dealt mainly with funds in condemnation and probate matters, which they maintain are actually private funds. Skłodowski said he is concerned with public funds which are held for at least 30 days by 32 Chicago banks before distribution to some 130 government agencies.

JOHN P. KELLEY of Hoffman Estates, Democratic candidate for the Illinois legislature in the 3rd District, will be honored at a fund-raising cocktail party in Chicago Wednesday.

The party will be given by Johnnie Latner, former Notre Dame football great, at his restaurant in Marina City. The party is scheduled from 4 to 7 p.m.

Among state and county political figures who are expected to attend are George Dunne, president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners; Tom Lyons, candidate for attorney general; and Neil Hartigan, candidate for lieutenant governor; and William Rose of Elk Grove Village, candidate for the state Senate.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Don Ripoli, Kelley's financial chairman, at 894-3699.

Spring or fall are good times for repairing a roof.

The in-between seasons are also good because repairing a roof is no job for either a cold day or a hot one. What you want are mild temperatures and little wind.

Even if you are pretty good at working in high places, avoid roofs with a steep pitch.

From the ground you can generally detect areas where shingles have been damaged or torn off. Detection from indoors comes about when the roof starts to leak.

Water may run along the inside slope of the roof before it drips to the floor. From the attic on a sunny day you should be able to see where light is entering. Run a wire through the opening so you can spot it from outside.

Asphalt shingles are in widest use and are easiest to repair. Loose shingles can be taken care of with a few dabs of asphalt cement underneath. Then nail down with roofing nails and cover the nail heads with more cement.

IF THE SHINGLES need replacing, carefully lift up the one above it and pry up the exposed nails. When you have the nails out, slide out the damaged shingle and put in a new one.

Place the new nails so the upper shingle covers them. Put some asphalt cement on the nail heads and press the new shingle down.

Wood shingles must be split and pieces removed. Use a hacksaw blade to cut out the old nails. Slide a new shingle in place. Hammer it into place protecting the edge with a piece of wood so the hammer doesn't damage it. Drive nails through the space between the shingles above the new one.

FLAT ROOFS are generally covered with roll roofing and are easy to repair. The first signs of trouble are small cracks and these can be repaired by spreading plenty of asphalt compound.

Large cracks or bulging areas can be repaired with a patch cut from roll roofing. Remove loose pieces. Cut the bulge so that the material lies flat. Apply asphalt cement. Put the patch on and nail in place, then cover with more cement. Seal the edges.

Conference Aides Needed

Would you like to take part in the National Conference on Social Welfare?

Chicago will be the scene of the 99th annual forum May 28 - June 2 and 700 volunteers will be needed to insure smooth operation of the conference. The time that you give will permit you to attend the conference in an equal amount of time free of charge. Each of the headquarters facilities must have a supervisor, each of the meeting rooms must have a host or hostess and each meeting must have a staff aide.

In addition, there will be supervisors of the Information and Registration Center and volunteers to work along with the supervisors. You may sign up for a four-hour assignment only or you may give several blocks of time.

Sunday, May 28, the conference is in session from 7:30 to 10:15 p.m. with keynote speaker James R. Dumpson, president of the NCSW and dean of the School of Social Service of Fordham University. The keynote theme is "Breaking the Barriers to an Open Society."

The hours May 29, 30 and 31 are from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Thursday, June 1, the hours are 9 to 5 p.m., and on Friday, June 2 the hours are 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The conference headquarters is at the Palmer House. The Association of Volunteer Bureaus of America will hold pre-conference workshops May 27-28, also at the Palmer House. Mrs. Alexander Ripley, past president of the AVBA, is the president-elect of the NCSW.

The major function of the National Conference is to provide an annual forum for the examination of basic social welfare problems and issues. More than 5,000 professional and lay people are expected to attend the opportunity to exchange ideas and techniques, to improve standards of performance, to develop a better understanding of the problems and needs and to develop citizen support and participation.

Requests may be submitted to Miss Nan Bjork, Coordinator of Volunteers located at the Voluntary Action Center, 64 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

The crowd at the Camelot bridge-orama was in great excitement. It was the last hand of the championship. Gawaine and his brother Gareth sat East and West for Ireland. Lancelot and his son Galahad sat North and South for England. England had to bid and make game to win the match and the audience cheered when after Lancelot's limit raise to three spades, Galahad went on to game because his heart was pure and because he had six spades.

Gareth opened the king of clubs. Galahad looked over dummy carefully and thought, "Forsooth, if I had Merlin's holding was exactly what it was. Then he called for dummy's ace; led the six of clubs and discarded a diamond.

"Gadzooks!" cried Gareth. "Thou playest as well as Lancelot." Then he cashed his ace of hearts to save the overtrick that Galahad would score if Gareth played anything else.

Then he called for dummy's deuce of clubs. Gawaine played the nine and now it was Gareth's turn to do something. He thought and played the ten of clubs.

Galahad thought some more. Did Gareth hold king-queen-jack-small of clubs? In that case it was up to Galahad to duck again but he decided that Gareth's club

Village Hall Dedication Is June 25

Preparations for the Hoffman Estates move to its new village hall have progressed to the point where employees for new staff positions are being interviewed. Dedication of the building is slated for June 25.

The village board Monday night approved creation of four new positions, sanitation, engineer, maintenance clerk and switchboard operator-receptionist.

Rudolph Hafner, 200 Amherst Ln., who was appointed health officer effective Monday night, also will serve as sanitation, said Mayor Frederick Downey. Hafner earned his bachelor's degree in biology at Roosevelt University, and has worked for Alexian Brothers Medical

Village Mgr. George Longmeyer now is interviewing candidates for the engineering position, and expects to hire an applicant about June 15. The engineer will take on many of the inspection and design duties currently handled by consulting engineers, although some work still will be conducted by consultants.

Longmeyer predicted yesterday the village board will review the existing consultant contract with Clorba, Spies and Gustafson once the new engineer is hired.

The sanitation is to become involved in a "total health program" for the community, inspecting and enforcing ordinances. He will also be answering complaints on nuisances or hazards such as litter, poorly maintained yards, rubbish, rats and dangers to safety in such areas as vacant lots.

The board also authorized Longmeyer to secure bids from contractors for landscaping around the new village building. Estimated cost of the first phase of landscaping is $15,000, he said.

In other action involving employees, the board approved paying full hospitalization benefits for all village employees. Last week the board approved the hospitalization for police department personnel. This week's action extended it to other departments.

Y-Camp Signup Still Open; 350 Now In Fold

Though more than 350 persons already have registered for the various Y-Camp sessions to be sponsored this summer by the Twinbrook YMCA, registrations still are being accepted.

"We're running over 30 per cent ahead of last year's signups, and fortunately we have planned an enlarged program so we can include them all," said Dick Froberg, Y-Camp chairman.

Froberg added the Twinbrook YMCA will be running 12 Y-Camp sessions this summer. They begin with Trailblazers Y-Day Camp for the small kids and run onto such things as a high school canoe camp and two weekend campouts for the entire family, he said.

Froberg said, though a few of the camps are close to capacity, all still are open for further registrations.

Brochures and further information are available by contacting the Twinbrook YMCA, 11 E. Schaumburg Rd., Schaumburg, phone 894-8500.

Learn-To-Swim Signup To Open

Registration for the tiny tot learn-to-swim program to be offered this summer by the Schaumburg Park District will begin Saturday at 9 a.m.

The program is open to children ages three and four. Between 20 and 25 youngsters will be accepted for each of the sessions to be held at both Civic and Atcher pools.

An $8 registration fee will be charged for the program which includes 10 swimming lessons spread over a 21-day period.

No telephone or mail registrations will be accepted.

Pastel Portraits On Display At Library

A one woman show of pastel portraits painted by a Schaumburg resident is now on display at the Schaumburg Township Library.

The artist, Mrs. Nan Schwartz, has completed many of portraits working from old photographs. The exhibit includes both the paintings and the photographs used as the subject.

While Mrs. Schwartz's is largely self-taught she has taken art courses at Wilson Junior College and the Chicago Teacher's College.

The paintings on exhibit will be for sale.

VOLUNTEER COACH Laura Dragoon shouts encouragement to Northwest Suburban YMCA swim team member. The team will compete tomorrow in Chicago Park District Special Olympics. The "y," for handicapped and other children in the area. located in Des Plaines, sponsors swimming classes. The program is free to all.

Y Sends Team To Special Olympics

The Northwest Suburban YMCA tomorrow will send its 11-member swim team to the Chicago Park District Special Olympics, at Eckhart Pool, 13130 W. Chicago Ave., Chicago.

Events in track and field, gymnastics, basketball, volleyball and floor hockey are also part of the competition in the national games for the mentally handicapped.

Founded in 1968 by the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation, state level competition is held annually with national competition held every two years.

Sue Dragoon of Arlington Heights, Laura Dragoon of Palatine, and Lynn Richartz of Prospect Heights coach the swim team, which last year entered eight swimmers and finished fourth in the state in its first year of competition.

Program chairman is Mrs. Thomas Crouch with Mrs. Walter Ost and Mrs. John Gobeille, both of Mount Prospect, co-chairmen.

Team members include Robert Devinger, Daniel Gillespie, David Ross, and Terry Lanctot of Des Plaines along with Raymond Feuerschwenger, Elaine Shaw, and Ronald Kimpel of Palatine.

Debbie Graff of Hoffman Estates, Sandra Saunders of Prospect Heights and Kathryn Till, Tracey Cameron, Jeffery Novak and Diane Leach of Mount Prospect are also members.

Other members are: Steven Pearlman of Wheeling, Kristin Lundalo of Schaumburg, along with Barbara Hanke and Sandra Williams of Arlington Heights.

The Almanac

Today is Thursday, May 18, the 139th day of 1972.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

American missionary Sheldon Jackson was born May 18, 1834.

5 Win 'Towers Weekend' Drawing

Five winners of a weekend for two at the Arlington Park Towers were named Saturday in the Mother's Day drawing sponsored by the North Point Shopping Center in Arlington Heights.

Winners are Mrs. Nancy Sislow, Mrs. Dorothy Frost, Mrs. Sherwell Federick and Mrs. Carol O'Hearn, all of Arlington Heights; and Mrs. George Phillips of Mount Prospect.

Besides accommodations, winners received tickets to the Arlington Park Theater and free dinner, cocktails and floor show in the Towers Lounge.

3 From Area To Sing With Veterans Chorus

Three area residents will be featured soloists in the Saturday Suburban Veterans Chorus program at Proviso East High School in Maywood.

Betty Myers and Gene Diblati of Mount Prospect and Robert Hootman of Arlington Heights will perform beginning at 8:15 p.m. The spring program marks the 25th anniversary of the organization.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and monies collected will be used to purchase recreation equipment for hospitalized veterans.

SELF HELP CLASSES

Hypnotist, Dwayne Roberts will hold a self-hypnosis class. This six week course will begin Monday, May 22nd at 7:30 p.m.

Learn to make or break habits through the use of self-hypnosis. Registration for this course, or additional information may be obtained by phoning.

Collecting Coins

by Mort Reed

Silver subsidiary coinage (dimes, quarters, half-dollars) of the 18th and 19th centuries usually bore the same central device on each piece. And allowing for some slight variations in the arrangements of the stars and inscriptions, all three pieces looked pretty much alike.

The mint issued an entire year set at the same time, and when the required 25-year service tenure expired on the design for one coin, it expired on all above the denomination of five cents. Minor coinage was never part of the stereotyped series, and with the exception of the half-dime, discontinued in 1872, all one-, two-, three- and five-cent pieces carried individual designs.

During the 123-year period between 1793 and 1916, our national pride was pretty well displayed in the armorial heraldry of our hard currency. The Goddess of Liberty matured a little between periodic weight problems.

The Barber head design, considered to be the most attractive ever to appear on a piece of U.S. currency, was the last device to occupy the obverse of a series. It was the work of Charles Barber, chief engraver of the United States Mint from 1880 to 1917.

The Barber-head "Liberty" nickel was struck in 1883 and the dime, quarter and half-dollar series was first issued in 1892. By 1916 the required service period of 25 years had run out for all three pieces and Barber was well into completing a new device for the first issue of 20th-century subsidiary coinage.

BUT OMINOUS war clouds in 1915 changed an established pattern. A hastily organized "competition" brought several design suggestions to the Treasury, and without so much as a by-your-leave to the engraver, devices for the new dime, quarter and half-dollar were accepted and authorized by March, 1916.

From Don Taxay's book, "The U.S. Mint and Coinage," the following is part of the mint director's description of the three new coinage designs:

"... The dime and half-dollar are the work of Mr. Adolph Weinman. The design of the half-dollar bears a full-length figure of Liberty, the folds of the Stars and Stripes flying to the breeze as a background, progressing in full stride toward the dawn of a new day, carrying branches of laurel and oak, symbolic of civil and military glory. The hand of the figure is outstretched in bestowal of the spirit of Liberty.

"The reverse of the half-dollar shows an eagle perched high upon a mountain crag..."

Of the 10-cent piece, the director said, "The design of the dime has been held quite simple. The obverse shows a head of Liberty with winged cap. The head is firm and simple in form, the profile forceful. The reverse shows a design of the bundle of rods, with battle-axe, known as the 'Fascies,' symbolic of unity, wherein lies the nation's strength. Surrounding the faces is a full foliage branch of olive, symbolic of peace."

Racing Bill No Solution

The Illinois General Assembly, in its ever growing appetite for additional funds, is now reaching its tentacles toward a source of revenue previously reserved for charity.

The state Senate has approved a bill which would allow the state to compete with five Chicago newspapers and other organizations for racing dates at thoroughbred and harness racing tracks.

Sen. Robert Coulson, R-Waukegan, the sponsor of the measure, estimated that $3.2 million was raised for charity last year through on-track betting.

The state, he said, with favorable racing dates from the Illinois Racing Board might raise as much as $5 million for the common school fund, which his bill would make the beneficiary of the funds. Coulson noted, however, that he would be pleased to see the money go to any other state program.

It appears to us that $3.2 million or $5 million can be used for substantial good in charitable causes. But it is an insignificant sum in the ever-swelling state budget.

To deprive the charities of this revenue would do little to relieve the pressing financial difficulties of Illinois' schools.

What is worse, it seems, is that the 43-3 vote by which the Senate approved the scheme is an indicator of the willingness of the lawmakers to grasp at any financial straw and its reluctance to attack any real revenue reforms for the schools or the state.

In addition, it demonstrates a piecemeal approach by the legislators to the whole question of gambling as a source of revenue.

If it makes sense for the state government to become the producer of horse races, then it appears to us to make sense that it become the manager of legalized off-track betting.

It would also make sense for the state to organize a lottery and to take over management of bingo games. And if all that makes sense, why should not the state legalize and operate gambling casinos, with roulette and crap tables and blackjack and "21"?

The state, in short, should either get into the gambling business or get out of it. It would then either be able to take advantage of significant revenues, or would be required to devise sensible revenue plans without picking the pockets of charities.

We urge representatives in the House to kill the Coulson bill.

Kangaroo Casualties

Add the kangaroo to the list of animals facing extinction at the hand of man.

And it's largely the fault of the United States (as what isn't these days?). Or so claims Marian Newman, Washington co-ordinator of The Fund for Animals, Inc.

The United States, she says, imports between 500,000 and a million kangaroo pelts yearly, which are processed into saddles, riding boots, furniture upholstery, whips and other such commodities.

In addition, millions of dollars worth of kangaroo products are brought back by American tourists, and American hunters visiting Australia are permitted to shoot kangaroos in almost unlimited numbers. One U.S. pet food manufacturer canned 400,000 pounds of kangaroo meat in Australia as an experiment.

Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton could immediately remove a major economic incentive for the killing of these animals by placing them on the Endangered Species List, which would ban further imports, says Newman.

No doubt the secretary could do this, and no doubt it would have a strikingly beneficial result, at least from the kangaroos' viewpoint.

But who is it that permits American companies to import hundreds of thousands of kangaroo skins? Who permits hunters to slaughter the poor beasts?

Last we heard, Australia had a sovereign government with the power to pass laws, a government which is almost passionately protective of others of its unique animal species, like the little koala bear.

If Australia considers the kangaroo to be a pest, there isn't much Americans may be able to do about it.

Setback For Sex

Dr. Lenore R. Zohman of Montefiore Hospital in New York has found that for the typical cardiac patient, marital sex puts no more strain on the heart than climbing two flights of stairs.

If the heart patient happens to be newly married, however, the pulse beat is much higher. And if the partner is someone other than one's legal mate, cardiac response becomes "potentially dangerous."

In fact, according to one study, most people who have heart failure when engaged in this activity have it in extramarital circumstances.

This is dismal news for advocates of "sexual freedom."

Come to think about it, it's pretty dismal news for believers in strict monogamy, too.

George Wallace: A Perspective

by BOB LAHEY
Political Editor

There will be found in what follows nothing offering any explanation, any reason for the mindless tragedy at a shopping center in Laurel, Md., on Monday.

Nor I expect will there be any attempt to point to a reason in this space a year from now, two years from now, ten years from now.

Psychiatrists will theorize. Psychologists will speculate. Sociologists will ponder. Books will be written.

And at the end, all that we will have to repeat to each other will be a profane litany of enigmatic names: Lee Harvey Oswald, Jack Ruby, James Earl Ray, Sirhan Sirhan, and now, they tell us, Arthur Herman Bremer.

It must be said at some point in this essay that there has been little admiration here for George Corley Wallace except for his stubborn pugnacity and his chuckle-provoking scolding of BURR-crats. I have never met him, and those who have testify that he can be warm and appealing.

But, at a time when the nation needed reason and good will in growing tensions between the races, George Corley Wallace's answer was: "Segregation today, segregation tomorrow, segregation forever!"

His "barring of the schoolhouse door," his cynical manipulation of the busing issue are only two examples of his demagogic posturing.

But while his life hung in the balance, surely all men of good will who deplored his past actions had no more fervent wish than that he remain alive and be whole again.

In the presidential campaigns of 1964, 1968 and 1972, there were often times when I longed for some political turn which would discredit George Corley Wallace and neutralize him as a political force.

Now nothing can be hoped but that he regain his health and his vigor and return to the campaign.

Because George Corley Wallace did not deserve to be shot down. Because, like it or not, the things he says he must be allowed to say. Because we have had too much of insanity.

As this is written, the news indicates that the threat of death is receding; the question of paralysis remains uncertain.

Already he has declared from his hospital bed that he will continue his campaign, crippled or whole. If he does — and I don't doubt him — it will be with an unquestioned degree of courage.

For the risks, which he always knew were there, have now become daily and forever something which George Corley Wallace will never be able to put from his mind.

Tomorrow . . .

EDITORIAL: What can be done to limit political violence.

Nor will any other man who places himself before the people as a candidate for the presidency.

John F. Kennedy knew the risks of the presidency. Robert Kennedy understood the dangers of campaign crowds. Martin Luther King was aware of the hate which stalked him.

But hadn't we all, way back in our minds, begun — just dimly — to hope those horrors had somehow passed with the 60's?

George Corley Wallace knows they have not, and for him they never will.

No man could be blamed for retiring from public life in the face of that reality.

But he says that he will continue. If he does, he will undoubtedly speak to a greater following than he had before the gunshots at Laurel.

In Maryland and Michigan, at this writing, voters are going to the polls in Democratic presidential primaries. By the time this appears, the results will be known — and if they are not more heavily ly for George Corley Wallace than was expected up until election eve, it will frankly be surprising.

If he continues, it is not likely that it will be on any different course than he has followed in the past. But he will have become, through no fault of his own, a living martyr to his own cause.

The hope that George Corley Wallace may be allowed to live out his destiny in the fullness of time is real.

But that destiny is no longer as discernible as it was before Laurel.

Readers Hit Herald Gun Stand

Your stand on handgun legislation is typical of the ignorance that is expressed in the press on a day-to-day basis. What stupidity makes you think that a registration law is going to make anyone except the most law-abiding citizen register his handguns. In case you are unaware, there is a registration law in Chicago and New York and many other large cities at this time.

Criminals will neither relinquish nor register their guns nor will they have to — the illicit market will flourish and law-abiding citizens will suffer as usual.

It is very easy to legislate against an inanimate object when you haven't the guts to uphold the existing laws and prosecute and convict criminals. Over 40 per cent of street crime is committed by criminals who were released by some bleeding heart judge shirking his duty to the public he ostensibly serves.

Robert G. Pittman II
Arlington Heights

After reading your editorial, we the members of the John Hersey High School Rifle Club have come up with a rebuttal.

In your editorial you stated that 456 people in Chicago were killed by handguns last year. But you didn't state how many were suicides, police killings, armed robberies, etc. You also stated that since the mid-1960's the murder rate has increased, but so have gun laws.

In a National Safety Council report for 1970, cars killed four times as many people as handguns (27 per 100,000 to 5.1 per 100,000). Another National Safety Council report revealed that accidental deaths have decreased by firearms steadily since the first part of the century (1913-1932 2.5 per 100,000 to 1.1 in 1970). Motor vehicle rates for 1970 were 26.9 per 100,000 — drownings were 3.6 — falls, etc. were 8.9 — fires 3.5 — suffocation 1.7 — and poisonings 1.5 All these figures were from a National Safety Council report.

Kesep in mind that if guns are outlawed the only ones who will turn their in will be the law-abiding citizens, but then aren't they the ones that cause the crimes, are they?

Thank You

As publicity chairman of the Hoffman Schaumburg Registered Nurses Club, I want to thank you for your cooperation in bringing news of our club meetings and projects to the public eye. Without your exposure there would perhaps be no new kidney machine in Paris, Illinois, or perhaps that nurse would not have joined us.

What a rewarding and awesome responsibility to bring the news to so many.

Mrs. A. Walter
Publicity Chairman

There is a saying in this country that goes: When we don't want something we make a law against it. In 1921 they made a law against liquor. The United States has still never recovered from that law. That law brought rise to most of the big gangs in our large cities and also to organized crime.

If guns are outlawed, criminals will have a very lucrative business going, making and importing handguns for the black market. There is another saying in this country, maybe not as popular, that goes:

IF GUNS ARE OUTLAWED, ONLY OUTLAWS WILL HAVE GUNS.

Think about it.

Paddock's recent editorial urging tougher hand-gun laws was a continuing uation of the type of brain-washing that has helped the criminal and has made it tougher for the honest citizen to protect his home. The article supported Stevenson's Bill which would require Federal registration of all hand-guns. Also mentioned was a bill by Rep. Bruce Douglas, D-Chicago, which attempted to outlaw all handguns, and which was defeated.

Since Chicago requires that all gun owners must register their guns, and since the State of Illinois requires that all gun owners must register, it appears most obvious that all the registration in the world will not deter crime one bit, and it may very well be that it is helping to increase crime. As all these bills eventually prove to be completely ineffectual, we can be sure that eventually all guns will be confiscated, that is, all guns from honest law-abiding citizens who registered their guns and themselves. The criminals will still have their guns, and they will not be registered. Just as narcotics cannot be controlled, so guns will always be available to the wrong people. I have yet to read a sensible answer to this last argument.

And what a field day the criminally insane and the dope addicts will have when they are assured that all homes are without a gun, and all stores are likewise unarmed.

Recently the owner of a 7-Eleven Food Store in Carpentersville was shot and killed by robbers. Another store clerk or owner was shot in the leg in still another robbery near my home. Several years ago my entire family witnessed the murder of a store clerk in a large department store. In the Chicago area such occurrences happen every day, and this in spite of the fact that the criminals are never too sure of what might happen to them if the store clerk should have a gun. Stevenson and Douglas would apparently like to remove this occupational hazard, and thereby increase crime even more.

Since gun registration has only made it a bit safer for the criminals and less safe for the honest citizen, someone should introduce legislation that would provide training courses for the proper use of guns for all citizens who feel they need this extra protection for their home or business. The psychological effect that such legislation would have on those who might be criminally inclined alone would cut crime in half. Our police forces who are already overburdened and who just cannot be everywhere at the same time could then divert their energies to other problems. Tougher laws against anyone who might misuse their privilege of owning a gun, could then and now be enacted to cut crime even more.

Word-A-Day

Business Today

by FREDERICK H. MARKS
TOKYO (UPI) — The lunch was cordial, but when the discussion got down to brass tacks the symbolic Japanese and American flags at the center of the table were placed on their sides and the talk got tough.

The scene was the fashionable Mitsui Club in downtown Tokyo. A group of Japanese businessmen had invited a group of American newsmen to lunch to discuss the prospects of increasing American imports into Japan.

"Please feel free to be candid," said Takeshi Sakurachi, a ranking Mitsui official, when the coffee was served. "You see, we would like to hear your opinion of our mission this month to the United States to see if we can increase American imports into Japan."

No sooner were the words out of his mouth than one American journalist began berating Japan's notorious non-tariff trade barriers.

"I think you're barking up the wrong tree," one of the journalists said. "No American businessman who is knowledgeable about the situation in Japan would ever dream of sending his goods into Japan in a large marketing operation."

SAKURACHI AND Masaya Miyoshi, deputy director of the powerful Federation of Economic Organizations Kaidanren were about to undergo what they later said was a very "enlightening" discussion about Japan's closed economy. It is the world's third largest and directly threatens not only the U.S. economy but those of other nations.

Japan now has a $3 billion favorable trade balance with the United States, and the country's foreign reserves are piling up at an incredible rate. They total over $16 billion and the threat of another upward yen revaluation is very real. Another yen revaluation — the first was just last December — would damage Japan's trading position.

It is perhaps with this threat in mind that the Japanese are beginning to re-think their position. If Japan's economy were to become more liberal, and more imports brought into Japan, then the pressure would ease on the yen and the Japanese economy would be allowed to continue to climb at its phenomenal rate of the past decade.

The problem is that the Japanese government and the country's business complexes have built up such formidable protective barriers that imported goods sell at 300 to 400 per cent of normal cost.

"You Japanese want to change the situation," one of the American newsmen told the Japanese businessmen. "But you won't change your system. And until you do, you're stuck. I can see nothing but trouble ahead for you."

ANOTHER journalist pointed out that the Japanese government refuses to allow foreign business concerns to set up their own marketing and distribution systems. As a result, he noted, foreign businessmen aren't about to risk investments on a venture which is out of their control.

Sakurachi interrupted at this point and admitted that the marketing system in Japan is "feudalistic," with each retailer dealing with only one large trading company. Something, he said, should be done, but he insisted it takes time.

"Oh hell," one journalist said. "The government could do it in one afternoon if it wanted to. I just don't think it does."

Sakurachi tried to steer the discussion around to his mission, which will include 15 members, including a woman consumer expert. They will try to persuade American businessmen to bring their products into the Japanese market.

"I'll tell you what you're going to run into," said one newsman. "The American businessman who knows nothing about Japan will be very cordial and ask a lot of general questions, but he won't make any commitments. The Americans who do know the Japanese economy won't even waste their time talking."

At the end of the discussion, Sakurachi and Miyoshi stood and shook hands all around. "I was optimistic," said Sakurachi at the end. "But now I guess I am realistic."

Experience, Judgment, Gut Logic And A Little Bit o' Luck

What Qualities Make Good Manager?

Management is made up of persons who make decisions, some of which are correct. This assumption leaves the management field open to a wide variety of styles and accomplishments, says industrial consultant Gayle McElrath.

This also means that some of the best managers are people who are the best guessers, he adds. McElrath was one of the speakers at the recent Arlington Heights International Products & Manufacturing Co. convention. IPM has a plant in Palatine for production of alternators and other automotive parts.

"WE FIND ALL along the way that we only have partial information," said McElrath. Faced with the need to make decisions, a manager relies on experience, judgment, hunch, hope, seat-of-the-pants logic, bias, emotion and other means, he contends.

"Productivity depends somewhat on all these approaches," the professor said. Whether it is measured in the number of parts produced relative to the labor force, or profits on the amount of capital employed, productivity is a concept managers should understand, he added.

People may come to mind when the topic of productivity comes up. But according to McElrath, productivity involves more than the total number of employees, or their attitudes or a knowledge of hardware.

"Productivity is the end product of many activities," he said, "from the senior officer down to the worker on the shop floor."

"Size has nothing to do with it," McElrath continued. "The principles belong in a small company as well as to large companies." Concepts and approaches are the ingredients of an understanding in this area, he said.

YOU'VE GOT to recognize the roadblocks to productivity within your own company before you can do something about it, said McElrath. Common excuses for a lack of productivity concern include: it's a big company concept and we're a small firm, so it doesn't apply; we already know how to operate our equipment; we're already first in our field; we already have enough paper-work; we don't have enough time or people for planning; we can't delegate authority; fear of subordinates, superiors and peers.

Even if a small company does not have separate planning and control departments, McElrath said, the function of these departments is assumed by someone in the firm. For example, a manager serving in many capacities may not realize that he makes decisions relating to poor scheduling of work; lack of trained employees; absenteeism; neglected maintenance; poor quality standards; lack of marketing success; and unrealistic delivery promises.

"These are not all people problems," McElrath said. A degree of integrity and fairness is demanded at the management level, he said, to get employee response.

Managers caught in the trap of reacting under pressure during a crisis situation must learn a new orientation, said McElrath. Breaking this hazardous problem-solving cycle means the development of a problem-solving team to work on a continuing basis, he said.

A PRODUCTIVITY effort does not mean that the production foreman can come in and scream at the engineers because assembly components are out of tolerance, according to McElrath. It means building trouble-shooter teams to work on high-priority problems.

One of the hardest jobs in a productivity effort is picking out the three or four priority problem areas from the 20 or more that can be identified. Separating the high-emotional problems from the high dollar volume problems is difficult, said McElrath.

A step-by-step approach will eliminate the problems of our usual haphazard methods, he said. The approach should include: establishment of goals; setting priorities (not approaching the problem promiscuously at the end of the day when you have 15 minutes); developing means of solving high priority problems; taking the necessary corrective action; establishing control methods; and auditing the procedure.

Staff members can serve as in-house consultants, said McElrath, in contrast to outside, or "outhouse" consultants. Allowing employees to set their own priorities will serve as a great motivator and encourage mutual trust, he said.

Dividend News

The Richardson Co.

The Richardson Co., Des Plaines, declared a quarterly dividend of 10 cents a common share. The board also declared a dividend of $1 a share on preferred stock.

The board elected Arthur J. Raiche, general manager of the Polymeric Systems Division, and Curtis R. Williams, general manager of the Chemprene Division, vice presidents of the company.

Investors Stock

A second quarter dividend of 12 cents a share has been declared by Investors Stock Fund, Inc.

The dividend, amounting to approximately $15,007,000, is derived exclusively from dividend income and interest and will be distributed among approximately 358,700 shareholder accounts.

The 1971 second quarter dividend paid by the company was 12½ cents a share, which amounted to a distribution of approximately $14,415,000.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Though the Price Commission's moves towards price rollbacks and the escalation of the Vietnam War have had an unsettling effect on investors, the factors will not be significant, Edie & Co. reports. The military effort is not costing the billions of dollars involved in sending troops to Southeast Asia, nor will the price rollbacks put a significant dent in projected after-tax earnings, Edie says.

ALEXANDER Hamilton Institute, Inc. advises caution in the face of the scheduled trip to Moscow by President Nixon and his orders to mine North Vietnam's major ports. It adds, "The most prudent course is to stay on the sidelines pending further developments. If the President's gamble succeeds, we should witness one of the hottest markets ever."

E. F. HUTTON looks to an improved technical outlook and says "all the major industrial indices are on the verge of penetrating downtrend lines extending back to mid-April." The firm says a low might have been set last week but adds, "for prices to make any real progress from here more volume will obviously be needed."

SPEAR AND Staff predicts the market will work irregularly higher in coming sessions, with the rally capped by "a possible burst of euphoria should President Nixon actually embark on his summit venture." The firm also looks to improved business conditions as a strengthening factor in the overall market picture. Of particular importance, Spear says, is the rise in inventory additions.

Spring Concert For St. Viator

The St. Viator High School Band will present its annual spring concert Friday. The 8 p.m. program will be held at the school, 1213 E. Oakton St., Arlington Heights.

The 40-member concert band will play classical selections as well as the theme from "Summer of '42" and "The Barnum and Bailey March." The stage band and the jazz band, made up of selected members of the concert band, will present additional musical works during the evening.

The Doctor Says

by LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am 15 years old and have had 13 operations, including a tumor above my right eye, tonsillectomy, removal of part of my bladder and my right kidney. As you can imagine, I have spent a lot of time in the hospital and have missed quite a lot of school. Because of this I developed slowly and am way behind most kids my age in body maturity. I am weak and get exhausted after the least bit of strain. My doctor prohibited me from participating in football, basketball and even physical education class. I would like to know what sports you think would be bad for one and what sports would do my physical condition good. Thank you, from Kidney-less.

Dear Reader — Of course you would like to participate in some sports, but I really think you had better rely on your doctor's judgment, because he knows all the details of your problems.

Although physical activity is very good for individuals who are healthy, sometimes when one has had serious illnesses like you have had, they can be harmful. Your might talk to your doctor about the advisability of walking and hiking, which could help build you up physically to some extent. If your over-all physical condition will permit this, and if it is allowable it might help you gain some strength.

For anyone who has been inactive for a long time, even a young person like yourself, the proper way to begin any physical program before any sports activity would be a good walking program, carried out for a period of months until your physical condition will permit you to do something more.

If you are going to be physically limited for a long period of time, you might at least be able to compete with other people by developing your ability in games of skill. You don't need to be Hercules to be able to compete with other people and enjoy it. If you like cards, why not become a real card shark at bridge? It would help you socially and you could play bridge with your friends or some other card games if you preferred. You could make a project out of it, or if you really wanted to work on something brainy, why not become an expert on chess?

Questions? Address Dr. Lawrence Lamb, Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60005.

Paul Abel's Living Museum

Home Recreates Victorian Era, The '20s

DESIGNS OF THE '20s fill the living room of Paul's house. The brass Tiffany-style lamp in the corner may be one of Louis Tiffany's originals although that hasn't been absolutely confirmed. Over-stuffed furniture was dyed to restore its authentic condition. In his spare time, Paul does oil portraits and paintings.

by FRAN HECKART

Many 24-year-old bachelors have problems rounding up enough furniture to fill an apartment. But Paul Abel's problem was just the opposite.

He searched months for a house big enough to display all the antique furniture he has been collecting for years.

Paul did find a house on Dunton Street in Arlington Heights that captures all the romance and mystique of a living museum. All the props are there, but Paul and his roommate, Kenneth Tendick, have a lot more going for them than wax figures.

After Paul located his house, every spare moment was spent cleaning, planning and decorating. Paul works full-time at J.C. Penney's Woodfield store as a display man but spends almost as many waking hours on restoration of his house and antiques.

IN ABOUT nine months Paul has transformed the rambling 13-room house, more than 50 years his senior, into what every antique buff dreams of... his personal museum.

Each room has been decorated with a different decade of furniture ranging from the 1800s to 1920. It's as if "Wuthering Heights," "I Remember Mama" and "Gone With the Wind" were realities in living color.

"It's like living in a movie all your life," said Paul. "When you're around things you love, there's seldom time to get depressed."

Paul's goal is to make the house as authentic as possible, down to the knickknacks and magazine racks.

MOST OF PAUL'S antiques have undergone extensive restoration in his basement workshop. He maintains the best buys are usually in pieces and are found in the most unusual places. Besides antique stores, Paul never misses spring cleaning day and can often be found rummaging around barns, chicken houses and junk shops.

Paul is as competent in restoration as he is knowledgeable about furniture history. A graduate of Minneapolis Art Institute, Paul has an edge on many amateur antiquers.

A VICTORIAN COPY of a Louis XV poster bed stands in Paul's upstairs bedroom. The entire room is furnished in the style of the 1840s including a valet from Berlin and Robert E. Lee chair (not shown). Paul estimates that it took him about two weeks to restore the bed and matching dresser to their original condition.

He believes in complete antique restoration and uses as much of the original piece as possible. For example, a Robert E. Lee chair in his bedroom still has the original fabric which Paul washed in cold water and tinted back to its initial color.

PAUL USES natural materials for restoration. Balsa wood patches veneer, an old suede coat is cut into strips, re-tanned and goes inside a cuckoo clock to put it back in working order.

Rather than re-upholster the couches in the living room Paul simply mixed a suitable color and re-dyed them by applying Rit dye with a shoe brush.

"The dyeing puts depth back into the original fabric," said Paul. "I always try to save the authenticity and recover only as a last resort."

Each piece of wood and each piece of furniture are treated differently depending on the condition, said Paul. Some of the worst pieces need to be completely re-made while oiling processes will refurbish others.

THE PARLOR is decorated in Victorian style of 1800 to 1840. Paintings, which Paul reproduced, and artifacts from the period capture the Victorian mood.

When the house was built in the late 1890s, it was more fashionable to use pot-bellied stoves in every room instead of fireplaces. Paul built a fireplace in the parlor to create a more authentic looking room.

Paul has erected several fireplaces throughout the house but says they are nonfunctional and for effect only.

Paul also completely restored a chair and love seat of Empire and Tuxedo style of the Victorian era. Paul cast and replaced gold gilded angel heads on the arms of the pieces.

HIS ROOMMATE, Ken, is doing the restoration of the grand piano in the parlor. He studied at Chicago Conservatory and attended Vandercook College of Music so is very enthusiastic about finishing the piano.

It is a Broadwood, made in London, about 1840. According to Ken, the piano was made by the same company that manufactured pianos for Beethoven and other masters.

"It's fun to imagine that some of the great masters used this same piano," said Ken.

To make the parlor as authentic as possible Paul got mismatched paint and used colors representative of the Victorian age.

The living room is a reproduction of the 1920s. As we listened to the sound of Jelly Roll Morton's Red Hot Pipers and "When Day Is Done" by Harry Archer on Paul's 1922 Brunswick Victrola, he described the artifacts around the room.

PAUL OBTAINED his Victrola, complete with wooden speakers, from a friend. He feels certain that the piece is in museum condition for the original owner seldom used it and saved the original packing slip.

A few of the more impressive pieces include a French bronze Art Nouveau human figure of Flora, the princess of spring, which is possibly Nouveau's tallest figure, said Paul.

A brass Tiffany floor lamp which a custom decorator told Paul very possibly was worked on by Tiffany himself stands in one corner. The brass Tiffany-style shade has a lattice design that reflects a lacy pattern on the ceiling.

Even if conflicting evidence about the lamp's authenticity is discovered, it would still be valuable because of its unique styling, according to Paul.

THE LIVING ROOM drapes initially hung in a North Shore home during the '20s. Paul said they were the only thing the owner salvaged after the Depression and kept all these years.

Paintings, Nouveau lamps and soapstone pieces further depict the life style of the '20s.

The only piece in the living room dating earlier is an old organ (which still works) estimated to have been around 1880.

Paul collects and restrings cut crystals and estimates there are about 10,000 in the house. Several of the crystal lamps and chandeliers in the house were designed and strung by Paul to recreate the era.

He also restrung two sconces when a friend bought a box of crystals that had been stored in a chicken house. The box of crystals turned out to be a good investment for the sconces are considered quite valuable now.

PAUL'S BEDROOM is furnished with pieces from the 1840s. His bed is a copy of a Louis XV poster bed and considered the purest form of Victorian. Seeing it now, it's hard to believe that the wood was damaged and blackened when Paul purchased it.

A large tiger maple wardrobe made in Berlin about 1840 was semi-restored by Paul. The original patina is still on it and the valet just needed oiling, according to Paul.

Before Paul acquired the house, he spent a lot of time creating miniature ELEGANCE FROM THE PAST is reflected in Paul Abel's dining room, decorated predominantly in William and Mary furniture from the '20s. Some of the silver and china dates back to 1800. Candlesticks on the table are from the late Gov. Frank O. Lowden's mansion. The chandelier is a creation from Paul's large crystal collection.

ARTIFACTS AND FURNISHINGS from the Victorian era decorate the parlor. Paul reproduced the portrait on the wall, constructed the fireplace and remade the Empire-styled chair. Refurbishing of the Broadwood piano has been delegated to Paul's roommate, Ken Tendick, who has a degree in music. Hopefully, the piano will be finished in time for summer concerts.

Barbara Treacy

The engagement of Susan Ann Allen to Joseph Paustion, son of the Willard Paustions of Laramie, Wyo., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stowe H. Allen Jr., 206 E. Berkshire Lane, Mount Prospect.

The wedding is planned for Aug. 19 in St. Matthews Cathedral, Laramie.

Susan is a graduate of Prospect High School and will receive her degree May 28 from the University of Wyoming. After four years in the U. S. Navy, her fiancé is working at the University but plans to enter Casper (Wyo.) College in fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Sembach, 189 Peyton St., Hoffman Estates, announce the engagement and approaching June 10 wedding of their daughter Donnajean to Jack L. Somerfield, son of Mrs. Mary Jane Somerfield of Riverside, Ill., and the late Frank Somerfield. The wedding will take place in St. Mary's Church, West Chicago.

Donnajean is a graduate of Palatine High School and Northern Illinois University where she received a degree in elementary education. She teaches third grade in Elburn, Ill. Jack works in the maintenance department of Glen Ellyn School District.

Margurite McClure's engagement to Gregg A. Voight, son of the Vernon Voights of Arlington Heights, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. McClure, also of Arlington Heights. The wedding is planned for fall, 1973.

Margurite, a '71 graduate of Forest View High School, is employed by the Jewel Co. Her fiancé, a '68 graduate of Arlington High School, is in management training with Jewel.

A Sept. 9 wedding is planned by Mary Joan Seery and James Thomas Nettleton. The couple's engagement and approaching marriage are announced by Mary Joan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Seery, 72 N. Dewey Road, Inverness. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Charles Nettleton, Oak Park.

Employed by the Chicago Crime Commission, Mary Joan is a graduate of Sacred Heart of Mary High School, Mt. St. Clare College, Clinton, Iowa, and the University of Southern Illinois. Her fiancé, a graduate of Fenwick High and Loyola University Law School, is an attorney in Chicago.

The engagement of Peggy Joanne Dorwick to Roger E. Pegorsch of Wheaton is announced by Peggy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Dorwick, 3602 Finch Court, Rolling Meadows. An early fall wedding is planned.

Roger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pegorsch of Toledo, Ohio, and is employed in Chicago for Heinholt Commodities, Inc., as a commodity futures broker. He is a graduate of the University of Toledo.

Peggy, a '69 graduate of Fremd High School, is a junior at Northern Illinois University.

Rochester, Mich., residents Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth T. Treacy announce the engagement of Mr. Treacy's daughter Barbara to Garrett Lee Boehm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Boehm Jr., 652 N. Milton Road, Inverness, and Lake Geneva, Wis. An Aug. 12 wedding in Bloomfield Hills, Mich., is planned.

In June Barbara will receive a degree in history from Principia College, Elmhurst, Ill., and then work at the Orchard Lake, Mich., newspaper formerly owned by her parents. Reti graduated from Principia and is completing his first year at IIT, Chicago Kent College of Law.

Quester Convention Is A Step Into The Past

With 25 per cent of the Illinois Quester chapters located in the Arlington Heights-Mount Prospect-Palatine area, Southminster Presbyterian Church in Arlington Heights is a good choice for the fourth annual state convention being held next Wednesday.

All 15 of the local chapters, plus the newly-formed Socrates Rand Chapter from Des Plaines, will be taking an active part in the confab which opens with registration and coffee at 9 a.m. and closes at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Robert Braun, president of Americana Hunters, an Arlington Heights chapter, and Mrs. T. G. McGlynn, president of Clarinda Cady, Palatine, are co-chairmen of the convention.

Mrs. John Murray, Salt Creek Chapter, Arlington Heights, is in charge of reservations, and Mrs. Ann Oswald, Ginger Creek, and Mrs. Robert Bates, Dunton, both of Arlington Heights, are in charge of the auction. Decorations co-chairmen are Mrs. Fred Jasper, Albert Volz Chapter, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Rodney D. Wilson, Scrimshaw Chapter, Mount Prospect.

MRS. JOHN GOODWILLIE, Olde Salem, and Mrs. R. Elrick, Four Silos, both Inverness chapters, are in charge of the luncheon, and Mrs. S. Rossati, Miami Confederacy, Arlington Heights, is in charge of the welcome.

The coffee hour will be supervised by Mrs. Charles Staadt, Prairie Violets, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Bates. Official hostesses will be members of the Miami Confederacy.

Exhibits will include samplers, early dye processes, a 19th century trousseau and old looms.

Speaker will be Dr. Stuart Struever, anthropologist who heads a team of archaeologists credited with the discovery in Southern Illinois identifying 8000 years of prehistoric life.

Questers is a state division of a nation-wide historical study, preservation and conservation organization.

Antiques Classes Slated In June

Paul Abel will be teaching three antique restoration classes in his home, 407 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, beginning June 8.

"Complete Antique Restoration," which will include how to strip furniture and return it to authentic condition begins Tuesday, June 8.

Wednesday, June 9, "Everything You Wanted To Know About New Antiques" will begin. This will be a lecture series on collectables from the '20s.

On Thursday, June 10, classes will start on how to repair small antiques such as old jewelry, leafing on picture frames and similar projects.

Each class will have four sessions from 8 to 10 p.m. on their scheduled nights. Classes are $17 per series.

Readers interested in joining or wishing more information may contact Mickey Hartley, 392-7721.

Sunday Breakfast And Installation

St. Emily's Women's Club will hold its annual mother-daughter installation breakfast Sunday at the Holiday Inn, Rand Road, Mount Prospect.

A SERIES OF OILINGS restored the stairway banister to its original condition. Paul treated the wood with linseed oil, olive and lemon oil. To add interest to the entry way Paul painted a mural on the wall. The glass chandelier once hung in a large home in Hyde Park.

rooms. Several of them have been on display many places, including the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

ALL OF THE miniatures are done with natural materials. If a chair is leather, then Paul makes it leather in the miniature.

Although Paul has an extensive background in art, he does a lot of decorating by feeling. Always fascinated with the '20s, he simply chose the living room decor using more feeling than history. In actuality the room is almost identical to authentic pictures from the era.

Americana Hunters Questers were recently given the first tour of Paul's home. Along with detailed information and history of the numerous antiques Paul answered individual questions.

Asked if chips in Dresden cups should be camouflaged, he replied, "The antiquity is in the cup's original condition. For character, leave them the way they are."

PAUL ALSO described how to take off the built-up dirt on old furniture without ruining the original patina and answered countless other antique questions.

Paul believes that happiness comes through showing and sharing his knowledge and will be hosting house walks for different Quester groups this summer.

It Was A Summer Romance

It was a summer romance that continued through fall and winter and culminated in marriage this spring for Donna Lynn Sertzel and Robert Walter Smith. The couple met while Donna Lynn, daughter of the senior Arthur G. Sertzel, 2325 N. Pine St., Arlington Heights, was vacationing with her family last summer in Wisconsin. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith of Rhinelander, Wis.

The wedding took place April 21 in St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, with a reception for 130 guests following the 5:30 service. The reception was held in the Mount Prospect VFW Hall.

The newlyweds vacationed for a week at the Wisconsin Dells and are now making their home in Rhinelander where Robert is with Frito-Lays. Donna is a '71 graduate of Hersey High School, and her bridegroom is a graduate of Rhinelander High School.

For the candlelight, double ring service Donna wore a white Chantilly lace gown with scalloped neckline, long sleeves, a bodice trimmed in pearls and rhinestones, and a long train of tiered ruffles. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a headpiece of the Chantilly which was also trimmed in pearls and white velvet ribbon. Donna carried white carnations, stephanotis and yellow roses.

HER ATTENDANTS were in yellow to carry out the yellow and white theme of the wedding. Paulette Vukmir, Palatine, was her niece's honor attendant, and bridesmaids were Caroline Malenschein, Rolling Meadows, and Margo Poulos, Arlington Heights. Their gowns were in chiffon, fashioned with Empire waists, mandarin necklines, long sleeves and trimmed in white lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smith

Ruffled cuffs and double ruffled hemlines were features of the gowns which they wore with yellow picture hats. The girls carried wicker baskets with white daisies and yellow baby's breath with white ribbon.

Laura Schneider, 5, Joliet, was flower girl wearing a long blue chiffon gown with white lace trim and pleated skirt. She also wore a picture hat, in white, and carried a basket of daisies and baby's breath. Scott E. Worthen, 5, Palatine, was ring bearer.

Dan Hunter, Rhinelander, was best man, and ushers were Terry Schlage and Tom Hunter, Rhinelander, and the bride's brother, Arthur G. Sertzel Jr., Arlington Heights.

The Home Line

Dear Dorothy: Is there a way to make bath towels more absorbent? I got some beautiful printed towels as gifts. They're not very absorbent, especially the printed sides. They've been laundered a few times and I've used fabric softener but it hasn't helped. My husband refuses to use them as he insists you can't get dry with them. — Mrs. H.R.

The side of the towel which is velour is sheared so it will take a design easily. As a rule, this type of towel is used more or less as display or decoration for the bathroom. Terry on both sides makes a towel more absorbent and fabric softener and fluff-drying help. There's not much you can do with the velour towels to make them any more absorbent but continuous washing will eventually make the heavily looped terry towels softer and more absorbent.

Tip to brides: If you are doing your own housework, do keep after the kitchen walls. Once you let the oil and grime get heavy, the job is monumental. And, remember: Start at the bottom and work up. Any streaks coming down on the still dirty wall below are plain "murder" to get off.

Dear Dorothy: With more and more people going abroad for the first time, I'd like to point out something that might not occur to them. If they're taking along anything like a foreign-made watch, camera, jewelry or such, they should have it registered before they leave at any customs point, or take along the original purchase slips. Otherwise, they may have to pay the duty all over again — or even on a present someone gave them. Any customs office can tell what items are liable for duty and can register any specific items before departure. — Julia Young.

The Potting Shed
by Mary B. Good

Well, friends, this is the week you've been waiting for... all clear for frost-free gardening!

Mrs. Orville Tronsen of Lac du Flambeau, Wis., writes: "I wonder if you could help me obtain a list of flowers and vegetables that can be planted together, that help one another combat disease and insects?"

And Mrs. F. D. Check of Palatine wants to know how to repel insects too. She writes: "You've inspired me to garden upon my retirement (next week)."

It suddenly dawned on me that with all the booklets, handouts and scoop sheets I've sent out to readers over the last six years, I have never done a sketch of a model organic vegetable garden. In fact, I've never even seen one in print.

The method of two companion plants helping each other is called symbiosis. One plant gives off as a surplus what the other plant needs as nourishment as a health balance or as protective control. It's sort of similar to a good marriage of two complimentary types.

Here are groups of twosomes that make good companions:

Spinach and strawberries; Radishes onion; Tomatoes and parsley; Corn and pumpkins; Peas and carrots; Cauliflower and celery; Beets and cucumbers; Carrots and lettuce; Peppers and eggplant; Beans and marigolds; Cabbage and mint.

NOW HERE'S where it gets complicated:

Radishes also go well with peas and lettuce.

Tomatoes also go well with basil, cabbage, cukes, asparagus, potatoes.

Potatoes also go well with beans, cabbage or peas.

Peas also go well with radishes, cukes, corn, beans or turnips.

Onions also go well with beets or kohlrabi.

Kohlrabi also goes well with lettuce.

Lettuce also goes well with strawberries or radishes.

Cucumbers also go well with potatoes, cabbage, radishes.

Clery also goes well with leeks or tomatoes.

Beets also go well with beans, onions or kohlrabi.

Beans also go well with potatoes, carrots, cauliflower, beets, cabbage or cukes.

Eggplant also goes well with nasturtium.

Corn also goes well with potatoes, beans, peas, melons, squash, pumpkins or cukes.

Oh brother! Now for the straw that breaks the camel's back: Peppers are bad neighbors to tomatoes, cucumbers and beans. Keep lettuce away from cucumbers.

GIVE UP? Think you'll never remember what goes with what? You can imagine the difficulty I had making a layout — this goes, this doesn't, this is too close to this bad neighbor, this has no companion, but I finally did it. (See diagram.)

Don't try to remember them all; you're not a computer. Mix and match and try what you will.

The endless possibilities for companions for the purpose of making vegetables grow bigger and less buggy may drive you buggy, but it is what makes the organic method of gardening most challenging and creative.

YOU'LL NOTICE the usual method" on the right side of the accompanying illustration really requires no planning. Just pull out your seed packages and start sowing in rows. When you use up a package, sow another row of something, anything. It also shows no attention to the matter of bug control. The gardener who uses this one can expect the "usual method" of bug invasion too.

My organic way looks a little messier on paper, but it is planned to ward off bugs. For illustration purposes, I show just four or five plants in a row. Naturally, you'd have more. I just did this so my alternate sowing method is easily visible. With this plan, the vegetable grower is sowing two different vegetables in a row instead of standard rows of a single vegetable.

To make the garden more of a fortress, I'd even ring a row of onions, marigolds, chives or nasturtiums around the perimeter of the entire garden. It would particularly help the cabbages escape their biggest enemy, flea beetles.

As you sow each row, consider laying down a row of wet newspapers (a spent newspaper roll is even more convenient) with grass clippings to secure the paper. Then you won't have to pull weeds either. This technique smothers weeds and conserves moisture at the same time so you don't have to water very often.

THE THREE MOST vulnerable plants in the vegetable patch are cabbages, cukes and corn. Bug-proof cabbages by dusting a salt shaker on the leaves. Use hotkaps on emerging cucumbers until they are large enough to repel cucumber beetles. (The beetles prefer young seedlings.) With corn, squirt an eyedropper of mineral oil into the tips of the growing ears of corn to ward off earworms and borers. If you're not sure you have borers, watch for telltale signs: Borers drill holes into the stalk and cause tassels to bend downward.

There is still time to get an organic gardening plot to raise your family's vegetables this summer in the Prairie Park project for any who are interested. We had a ball last year, not to mention the great harvest. Call the Arlington Heights Park District's Alicia Smith if interested in the free land use.

And here's to a great summer of growing!

Schaller, Pitchford Builder Of Champions

Arlington Tennis — From Joke To A Giant

FROM A JOKE TO a giant — that's the way Arlington's tennis program has progressed.

Tennis teams, especially in the Mid-Suburban League, never would refer to the Cardinals as a "joke" team. They might call them other things, but never that. Perfection is the reason — they are undefeated on the varsity level since they entered the conference in 1966.

Ken Schaller remembers when Arlington was a patsy, however.

"They were the joke of the league," recalls Schaller, who coached there from 1962 to 1964. "Hinsdale used to come up and not even take off their sweat clothes. They'd polish them off in a half hour."

Now it's Arlington that usually does the polishing since its climb to state prominence in the early 1960s. Things were different, especially in the early '50s.

"When I first came here, my big job was to get anybody who resembled an athlete to come out," recalls Ken, now head of the Social Sciences department. "It took several years to get some boys out with athletic ability."

A few wrestlers were recruited in those early days and "this helped take out some of the sissy sting," according to Schaller. An incident involving the wrestlers also helped pass the word that tennis players should be taken seriously, as he recalls:

"I came through the locker room and they were sitting on a couple of baseball players who had been ridiculing the sport. I just walked through the room and pretended I didn't see anything."

Like any coach who has fashioned winners, Schaller put in those untold extra hours of instruction. A dozen years later, his labors led to the ultimate — a state title in 1964.

His outstanding coaching captured the coveted trophy, but Schaller was quick to praise someone else:

"I would have to say that much of our program is indebted to Tom Thornton and the park district program."

The park district tennis program which was founded by Schaller is a feeder program for Arlington, a kind of minor league for future Cardinal champions.

"It's unusual for kids to be good in just four years," says Ken. "You need to start tennis in the sixth or seventh grades or earlier. It's a six or seven year program."

This pre-prepare program began showing dividends in 1963 when Arlington won its first district. Since then the school has never been out of the winner's circle.

Paul Logan

Replacing Schaller in 1965 was Tom Pitchford. After the school left the West Suburban League in 1966 and came to the MSL, the rest of the league has been an also-ran ever since.

Some might say that Pitchford walked into a plum position, a coaching job that any qualified coach could easily succeed in. They might add that all he would have to do was put on his coaching cap, pass out the balls and let his boys play. That's not so.

Pitchford, just like his predecessor, has poured in plenty of overtime to mold five straight conference champions and eight consecutive district titleists.

He has also set up a Dist. 214 summer physical education program. Starting its fourth year this summer, this non-credit course to improve tennis skills runs two hours a day for six weeks. All Arlington players are encouraged to participate in this program.

His wife Fran will tell you that Tom can be found on the tennis courts in the spring and summer more than at home.

"The big thing is getting out and encouraging kids to play in the summer-time," says Pitchford. "Your total competition makes a difference over the year. I approach it this way — what my team is this year was developed last summer through the tournaments and that type of thing."

Another reason for Arlington's success is the excellence program. Sponsored by the Chicago District Tennis Association, the program provides free indoor court time twice a week to older kids and once a week to younger ones.

Kids can try out at any of the clubs in the suburbs in order to qualify. Arlington has 10 players who are in this program, three of whom couldn't make the varsity team.

"In this total area, if any kid really wants to work at tennis, he can do it," says Pitchford. "The courts are there, the jobs at tennis courts are there."

Tom has had a history of winning even before he came to this area. His teams have scored points in the state meet in all but once in his 14-year career. And, with two doubles teams and one singles player going to Champaign for the finals next week, it looks like his team will score again.

Last year Arlington won the MSL title with what Pitchford calls "the weakest total team I've ever had ability-wise. They just did a helluva job on guts and determination."

Hope is all but lost for the rest of the teams as they prepare for this weekend's MSL meet because the Cardinals are "the best group I've ever had ability-wise."

And 1973 has an even more foreboding outlook for area teams because "we should be much better than we are this year," says Pitchford.

When will it all end? Will this dominance ever be challenged?

Schaller was asked for a victory formula for the rest of the league to follow.

"I think it requires a dedicated high school coach and his assistant — their time and effort," says this knowledgeable tennis man. "It also requires a great deal of support from the local community. If they (the other schools) don't do this, they'll never catch them."

There are some MSL coaches who show an obvious desire to build a base of strength that will someday challenge Arlington. It's just a question of whether they'll have the patience to do what Schaller and Pitchford have done over the past 20 years.

Arlington could win another five straight titles in the league. It could also double its brilliant MSL dual record of 56-0 if the league doesn't become more competitive. But what good would that do Arlington in its drive for post-season honors each year.

If the rest of the MSL can improve its programs to the point where there is a race for the conference title, it has to help everybody. A stronger league would have to make for a more impressive showing downstate in the finals — the goal of every coach.

Being whipped year after year wasn't fun for Schaller in those early days, so he did something about it. Being slaughtered by Arlington certainly can't be any different for most of the league teams. Here's hoping that more Ken Schallers and Tom Pitchfords emerge in the near future.

Lions Oust Rolling Meadows, 6-1; Hersey Lands North Championship

St. Viator finally converted first-year Rolling Meadows' tournament express into a pumpkin yesterday, 6-1 in the Glenbard North Regional.

The Lions will advance to the finals against Conant this afternoon at 4:00 — the winner automatically eligible for the Maine West Sectional next week.

Rolling Meadows was not as easy to succumb as the final score might indicate. Both teams were sweating every pitch until Viator pushed four across in the last of the sixth.

The winners drew first blood in the second inning when Jim Bucaro singled to center, Mark Rickerson sacrificed him into scoring position and Ed Collins promptly doubled him home.

The Lions previously passed up an opportunity in the first when the first two runners reached. Mustang starter Carl Pedersen, however, survived the heart of Viator's order to escape without a tally.

In the third, Lion Stan Bodowski walked and Frank Cliggett drilled a double inside the leftfield foul line to send Pedersen to the showers. Meadows' reliever Gordy Johnson allowed Bobowski to cross on a fielder's choice, but slammed the door after that.

Viator starter Ken Martin mowed down the first six Mustangs he faced and was still working on a shutout until the fifth. Bill Geegan lined Meadows' fourth hit off Martin to left to open the frame and an error at third on a slow grounder preceded a bad throw on an attempted force play.

With the bases loaded and nobody out, Martin got Johnson on strikes, but yielded a sacrifice fly to Marc Klemp as the Mustangs cut the deficit to 2-1.

It wasn't until the sixth that Viator put the decision in the win column. Ed Helsen sliced a double to right, Mike Walsh singled him home and Rickerson was hit by a pitch before anyone was retired.

On an attempted force play at third, the ball was thrown away permitting the second Lion run of the inning to cross. Rickerson slid under a tag on a wild pitch for the third and Martin planted a sacrifice fly to right to knock home the fourth.

Martin limited the game Mustangs to five hits, walking only one and fanning seven. Pedersen and Johnson were also stingy in yielding the hard-hitting Lions to just seven safeties.

LEONHARD PITCHES CLINCHER

Mark Leonhard combined a sterling pitching performance with some fancy baserunning to ease Hersey into a 1-0 decision over Palatine and clinch the North Division title Wednesday.

Leonhard was tapped for a leadoff single and then pitched no-hit ball the rest of the way in leading the hosting Huskies to their seventh triumph in nine division contests. It was also his fifth personal victory in six conference decisions and overshadowed a fine mound effort by Pirate Steve Kirk.

The one tally gained off Kirk was an unearned marker and came in the fourth stanza after he had retired the first batter. Leonhard was struck by a pitch and Brad Smith followed up with a scratch single between first and second base, with Mark stopping at second.

Leonhard then proceeded to steal third base and when the toss was wide, he kept right on coming to ring up the game's only score. A subsequent error on the play allowed Smith to advance to third but Kirk bore down and struck out the next batter and put out the side on a ground ball back to him.

That one run was all Leonhard needed, however. The guests never had a runner even reach scoring position as he went on to fan 13 while walking only one.

After Bob Jones had singled in the first stanza and found himself stranded, Buddy Hughes reached on an error in the second but was pegged out when he over-ran the base. In the fourth Mike Hughes also made it to first on a miscue but was eventually picked off the bag.

Leonhard issued his one free pass in the fifth and also hit a batter in the sixth but these runners died without advancing as the righthander wound up throwing 92 pitches and facing just three more than the minimum number of batters.

Hughes, in absorbing his first setback after two victories, walked nary a man and struck out nine while yielding just four singles.

Harper Whips Oakton

Harper College exploded for seven runs in the first two innings and then coasted to a 12-2 victory over hosting Oakton College yesterday at Southwest Park in Park Ridge.

The Hawks' victory kept them a full game in front of the rest of the Skyway Conference with a 10-2 record. The raiders are now 4-5.

The big run production in the early going gave Harper lefty ace John Macdonald a big lead with which to work. He held the Raiders to seven hits, struck out 10, walked none and gave up just one earned run.

Harper sent 10 men to the plate in the first inning as they scored four times. After Dean Sheridan drove in the first of his four RBIs with a single, the Raiders' defense made the first of seven costly errors that allowed another to score. Ray Carlson crunched a double, the first of five Harper extra base hits, which drove in two more. Larry Teschner, Oakton's starting and losing pitcher, then managed to put down the side with the bases full.

The Hawks, now 14-7 overall, were at it again in the second. Mike Honel tripled in one and Kim Boley singled up the middle for two more. That drove Teschner from the mound and Scott Johnson retired the side.

Harper and Oakton both scored one in the third. The winners' coming on a fielder's choice by Sheridan and the losers' on a delayed double steal. Bob Egebrecht broke for second and forced the throw. Then Paul Fullen made it ahead of the play at the plate.

Both teams scored solos again in the sixth — Harper's on an error and Oakton's on a fielder's choice by Jim Buchholz.

Sheridan clubbed two more in with a booming triple in the seventh. The final run came in on another triple off the bat of Bill Maffey, almost in the same place as Sheridan's shot.

Wally Wiener, George Solomon and Sheridan led Harper with two hits each. Egebrecht paced Oakton with 2-for-4.

Schaumburg Rolls Past Maine North In Track

Schaumburg and Maine North are both in their first year of varsity competition and Tuesday the Saxons showed that in track, at least, they have made longer strides so far.

The host Saxons enjoyed a rousing finish to their dual-meet season and warmed up for Friday night's district meet at Prospect with an overwhelming 111-16 victory over the Norsemen. The winners recorded a clean sweep of first places in all 15 events.

Fast-improving sprinter Eric Porter, hurdler Bob Casper and Bob Cummings all were two-time winners.

Porter took the 100-yard dash in :10.5 and the 220 in :23.2; Casper was the victor of the 120-yard high hurdles in :16.4 and the 230 intermediates (run again in place of the 180 lows) in :44.5; and Cumings took the high jump with 5-6 and the quarter-mile with :34.1.

Also taking individual triumphs for the Saxons were Doug Carver with 10:57 in the two-mile run, Ken Jaffke with 105-3½ in the discus, Brad Cell with 19-5½ in the long jump, Mickey Elks with 45-11½ in the shot put, Rick Staback with 2:06.1 in the 860, Arnie Jackson with 4:35.2 in the mile and Bruce Mahlig with 11-0 in the pole vault.

Winning relay times were 1:36.9 in the 880 and 3:59.8 in the mile.

Szabo picked up a pair of seconds in the best Maine North performance with :10.5 in the 100-yard dash and :23.6 in the 220.

The teams split a pair of lower-level meets. Maine North won the sophomore affair 70-52 and Schaumburg took the freshmen contest 59-46.

ACE IN ACTION. Harper College's Bruce Holland, playing at first singles, powers another return at the Hawk courts. Holland gained some revenge on Saturday by beating Rich Torrison for the championship in Skyway Conference play, 6-2, 6-3. Torrison had administered the only match loss of the season in league action to Holland earlier in the year.

Set Baseball Publicity Rules

Publicity people of boys baseball leagues, this concerns you.

Since the many different leagues (minor, little, major, pony and colt) are growing every year, it is necessary this season for the Herald to have some specific rules for turning in information.

These six rules must be followed so that the game stories of the nearly 1,000 teams in our circulation area can be accurate:

1) All information must be typed or printed clearly.
2) First as well as last names must be used.

3) Pitchers from each team must be listed in the order of their appearance and the winner and loser should be pointed out.

4) The score by innings and the runs-hits-errors section of the line score must be filled out.

5) List the winning team's extra base hitters first and list both teams' top hitters according to who had the most hits.

6) Additional information on the game should be written up inning by inning in paragraph form.

Warm Weather Brings Sizzling Area Golf Scores

Golf Editor

Herald area golf teams parlayed Tuesday afternoon's beautiful weather into, by far, their best performances of the season. New course records, new school marks and lows for the year were posted during the busiest single day of the campaign.

While 10 of 12 Mid-Suburban League squads were putting a lid on their dual-meet schedule, St. Viator was padding its incredible unbeaten streak to an astronomical 55 straight.

CARDS IN RECORD OUTING

Arlington uncorked a record-shattering display at Palatine Hills that may stand for quite some time. Head coach Tom Walthouse's Cardinals blistered the links for a course and school-breaking mark of 146 in besting Palatine's excellent 155.

Exactly one week ago, Arlington lowered the school's best to 152, but Tuesday's round was a full five strokes better. John Gibbel headed the winner's contingent with a brilliant one-under-par 35.

Teammate Steve Sluka contributed a sparkling 36 while Jeff Palmer, Steve Ringel, Chris Marsalek and Dan Hahn all signed scorecards of 38.

Palatine's top round of the season was overshadowed by the Cardinals. Jim Arden toured the grounds in 37 shots, Dave Hafner 38, John Loneragan and Jim Sobczynski 40 and Bob Capoun in 41. The Pirates' previous best was a 161.

COUGARS REWRITE BOOKS

Conant got into the act with a superb total of 153 — two shots better than its previous best school mark of 157 set last year. Fremd's fine 166 fell victim to the Cougars' barrage.

Dave Love dazzled the Golden Acres layout as meet medalist with a nifty 36. Chris Dilger added solid support with a 38, Keith Kellogg with 40, Kevin Eakins 41 and Eric Brewster 44.

Fremd's total, normally a winning one on any other day, was derived from Pat Rowworthy's steady 39, Lach Frew's 40, Joe Murken's 43 and Brian Brown's 45.

SAXONS SUBMARINE

Schaumburg counted five scores under 50 in establishing a new low of 174 in a non-conference split with McHenry (156) and Crown (175). The Saxons sliced nine big strokes off its previous season best of 183.

Joe Castrogiovanni and Tim Ryan headed the Schaumburg quintet with 42's over the Randall Oaks Golf Course in Dundee. Leo Hoffman chipped in with a 44, Brian Masino a 46 and Tim Tolmjanovich 49.

St. Viator wasn't offered much competition, but it didn't prevent it from firing a sensational 146 over its home course at Rob Roy. Montini's 165 and Ridgewood's 171 were lost in the shuffle.

The 54th and 55th straight unbeaten dual-meet plateau was achieved on the efforts of Greg Muench's 35, Mike Brawley's 36, Vic Incinelli's 37 and a 38 by Terry McBride. Jim Weber and Mike Drew tallied 40's for the streaking Lions, who now boast a spotless 6-0 slate in the Suburban Catholic Conference derby.

HUSKIES WIN THRILLER

Despite a superb 38 by Wheeling's Bob Winter, Hersey rang up a tense 161-162 triumph over its home Buffalo Grove layout.

Husky Al Glaser carded a solid 38, Bruce Conroy a 40, Mike Henry a 41 and both Ray Peterson and Kurt Miller 42's. The Wildcats countered with Winter's 36, a 41 by Chris Krolack, 42 by Vince Alendord, 43 by Jack Kennedy and 44 by Mark Bull. The decision pulled Hersey into a deadlock with Wheeling for third in the MSL dual-meet standings.

KNIGHTS STILL PERFECT

Prospect kept its league and overall record spotless with a resounding 156-177 triumph over Rolling Meadows in the loop finale.

Knight John vonBerg polished off Mount Prospect Country Club in 37 strokes while Scott Anderson bolstered the scoring with a 38, Norm Schwartz 40 and both Don Tessmer and Bob Horwath 41's.

Meadows was only two strokes off its best outing of the year in counting 42's

GROVE NOTCHES 4th

Elk Grove made Glenbard North its fourth league victim, 176 196 in a season-concluding dual at Indian Lakes Country Club.

The Grenadiers combined the consistent scoring of Scott Walker (43), Keith Moore and Mark Okuma (44's) and Todd Gander (45) in marching past the winless Panthers.

Glenbard tallied Vince Errichiello's 46, Gary Wolverton's 49, Scott Anderson's 50 and a 51 by Lee Julian toward its 196.

FALCONS PLUCKED

Forest View and Lake Park took advantage of the weather and the time change to play 18 holes at Medinah Country Club. The Lancers, one of the top teams in the state, cruised to a 311-322 verdict.

FROSH-SOPH'S HOT TOO

The freshman and sophomores played equally as brilliant as their varsity counterparts in each of the eight meets. Arlington subbed to a sparkling 168 in whipping Palatine's 178, Fremd broke a four-man deadlock with Conant for a slim triumph and Schaumburg rammed home a 187 to earn a split with McHenry (178) and Crown (207).

Hersey recorded an unheard-of 159 in stinging Wheeling, 159-209 and Prospect's unbeaten charges rolled past Rolling Meadows, 162-201.

Elk Grove outslugged Glenbard North 195-202 while Forest View evened the score with Lake Park after a 334-382 verdict.

Schedule Tryout Dates For Semi-Pro Baseball

Try out dates have been set for the new semi-professional baseball team in the Northwest Suburban area.

Organizer Frank May has set Sunday, June 4, and Saturday, June 10, as tryout dates at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights. Both tryouts will start at 1 p.m.

Anyone who is not eligible for American Legion baseball may try out for the semi-pro entry which will play approximately four games per week and eventually hook up in the Central States summer league.

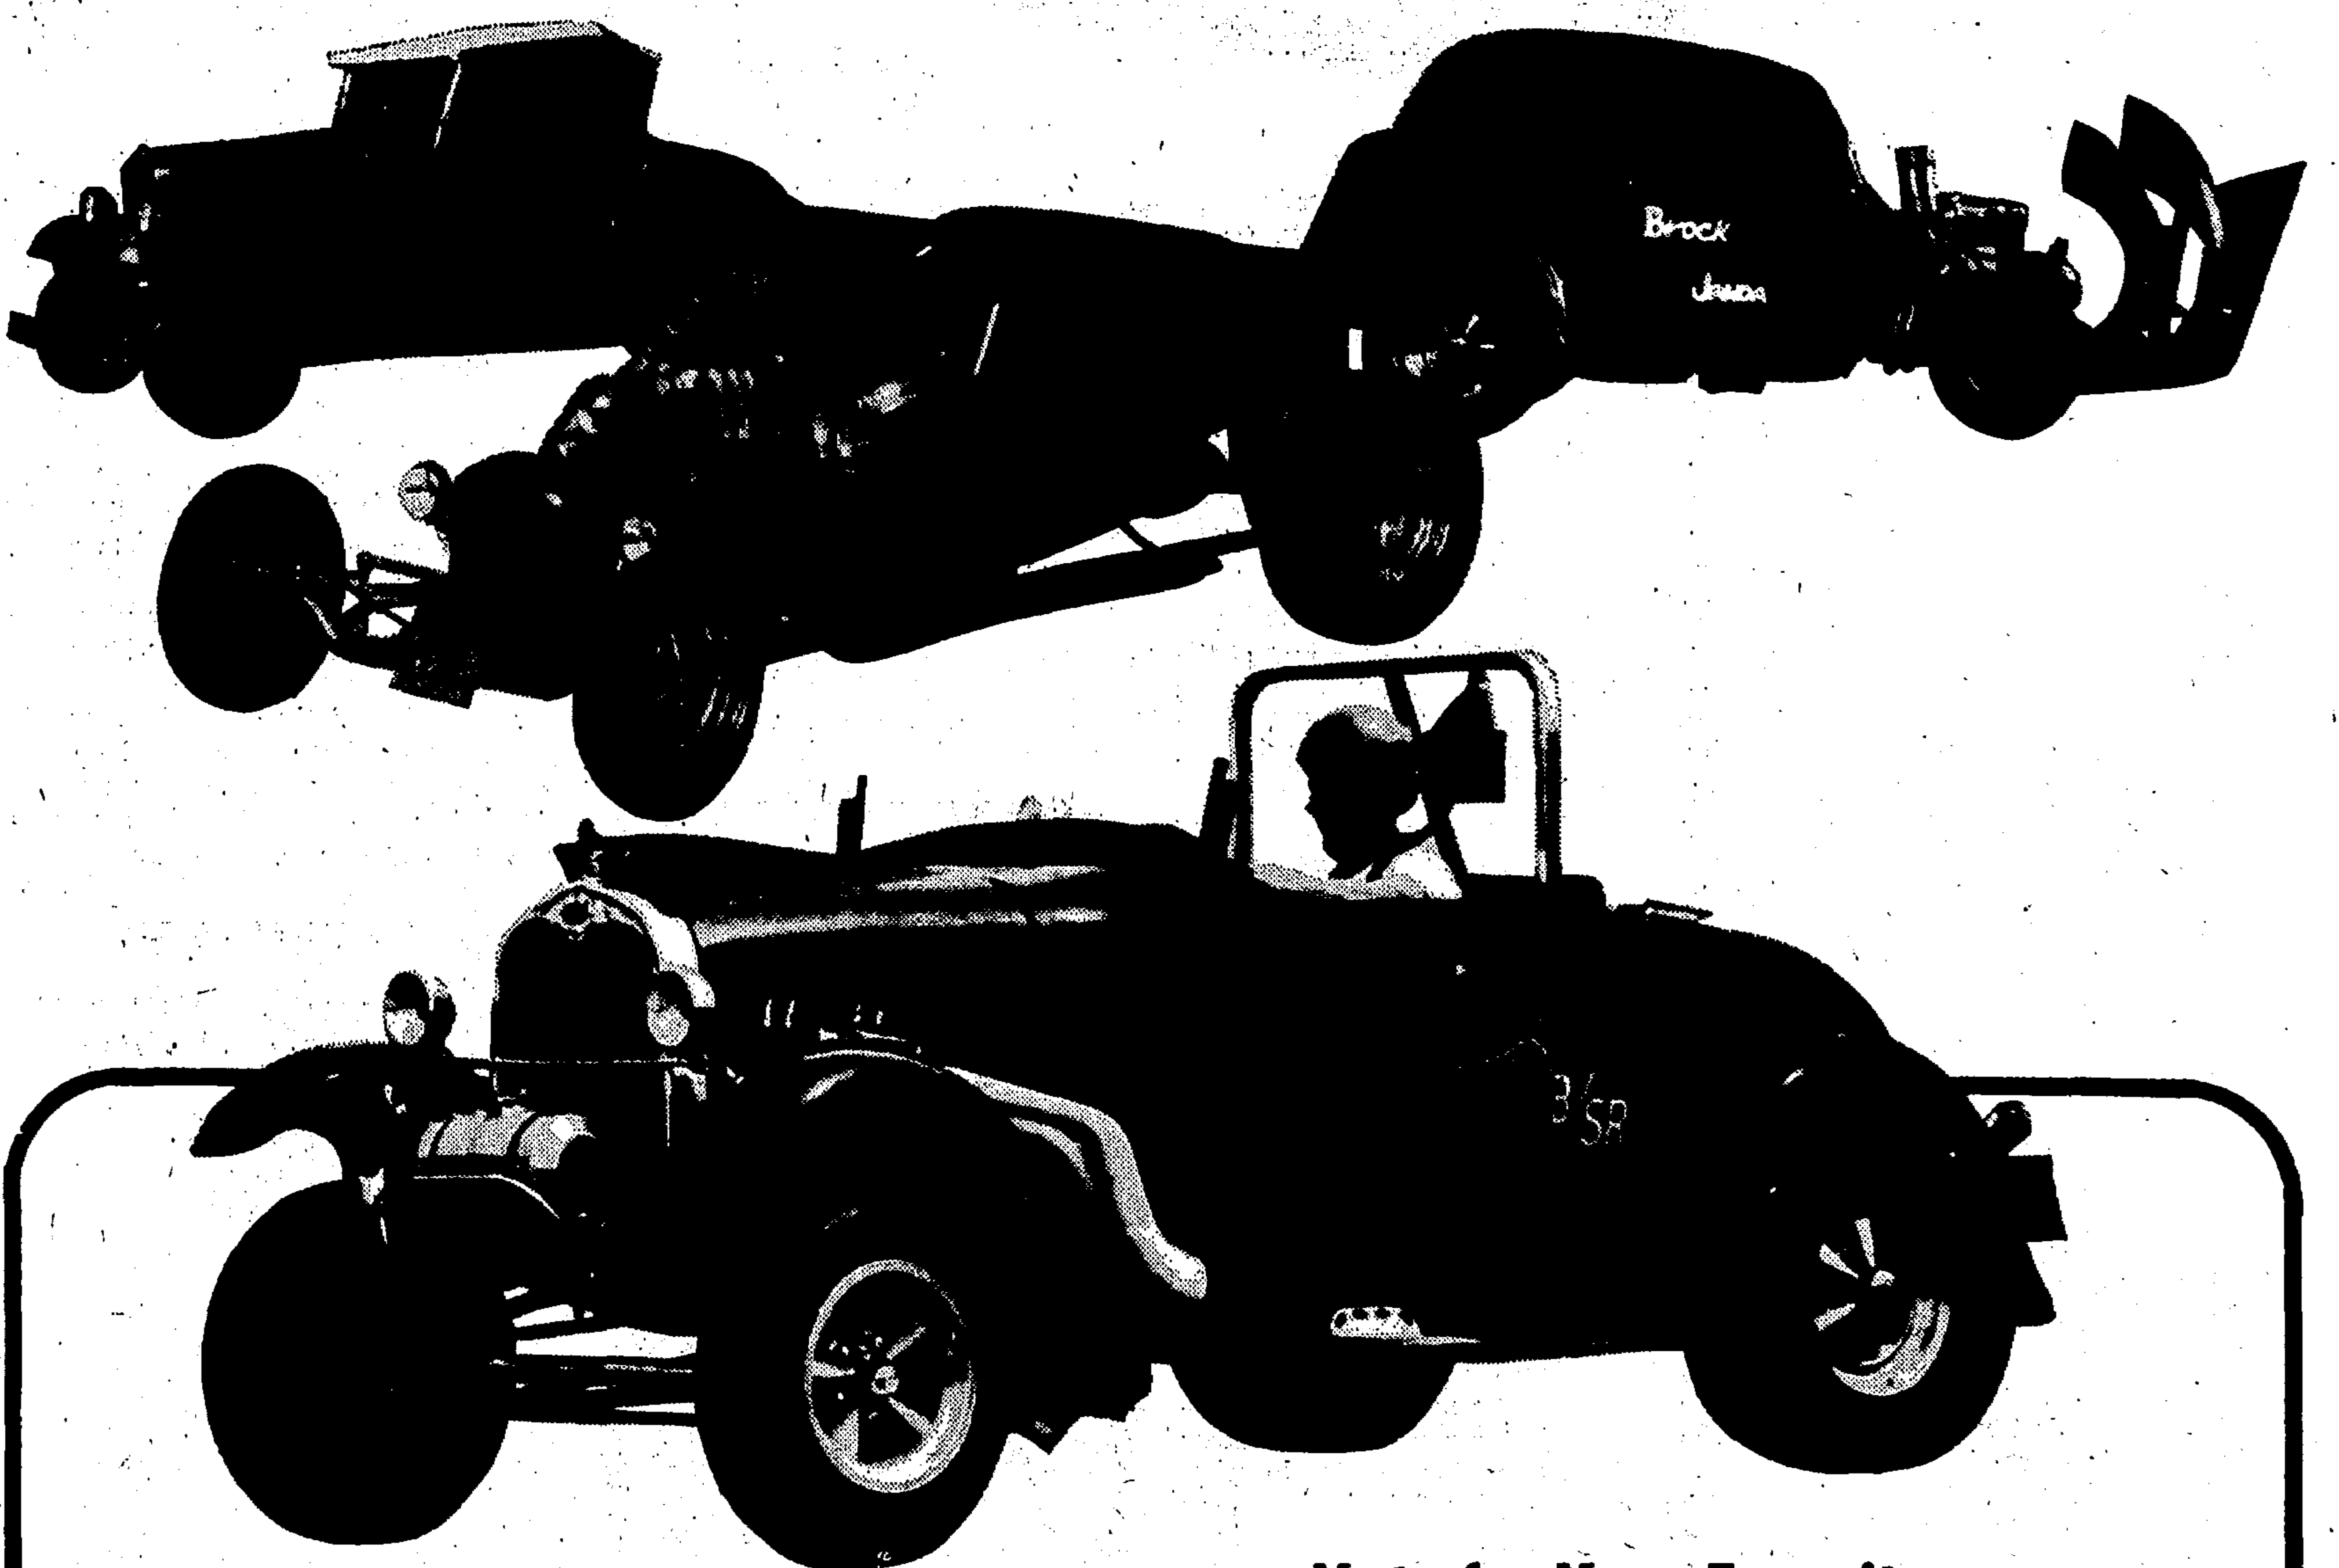

Anyone who lives in the Herald circulation area is invited to attend the tryouts.

For additional information on the new team contact Frank May at 537-7377.

The squad is also conducting a "Name The Team" contest and entries should be submitted to May at 1 Bernard Court West, Buffalo Grove, Ill. 60089. May encourages youngsters to submit entries because the winner will become the official team batboy and also receive a portable radio.

Elk Grove, Maine West Qualify Doubles Teams For State Finals

Elk Grove and Maine West qualified doubles teams for the state tennis tournament, which will get underway Friday, May 26.

Both doubles teams won three matches to advance to the Maine West District finals and that feat qualified them for the trip to Champaign. In the finals, the Grenadier pair of Mark and Len Greenberg defeated Maine West's Steve Wild and John Anderson 10-8 and 6-0.

In singles action, Fenton's Steve Pauly defeated Glenbard East's Dane Petchul 1-6, 7-5 and 6-3 in a stunning upset in the finals.

Pauly's victory enabled Fenton to tie Glenbard East for the district championship with 10 points each. Elk Grove finished third with eight points and Maine West was fourth with five. Addison Trail scored four points, Willowbrook one and Montini and Maine North none.

The Greenberg pair advanced to the finals by beating Lance Kent and Gary Lichtenheld of Willowbrook 6-1 and 6-1 in the first round, Ken Hanés and Rich Alis of Addison Trail 6-1 and 6-0 in the quarter-finals and Lou Varchetto and Doug Carlson of Glenbard East 6-3 and 6-4 in the semi-finals.

Wild and Anderson reached the finals by beating Al Desimone and Mike Jazoro of Willowbrook 6-1 and 6-1 in the first round, Jay Hoskins and John Kirschner of Fenton 6-3 and 6-1 in the quarter-finals and Craig Bristol and Mark Meyer of Glenbard East 6-2, 4-6 and 8-6 in the semi-finals.

In the first set of the finals, the Greenbergs went out to a 3-1 lead, but the Warrior pair came back to take a 5-3 advantage. The Grenadiers had leads of 6-5, 7-6, 8-7 and 9-8 before nailing down the victory. Four of the points went to deuce before being decided and the Elk Grove team won three of those.

In the second set, three points went to deuce, but the Greenbergs won all three of them in the shutout victory.

In the finals in singles, the heavily favored Petchul, who was undefeated this season and had not lost a single game in six sets in the district, whipped Pauly 6-1 in the first set Tuesday.

But, Pauly, volleying well and forcing Petchul into mistakes, rallied back to win the second set 7-5 and jumped out to a 4-1 lead in the second set which Petchul could not overcome.

In other doubles action in the tournament, which started Friday and was delayed twice due to rain, Mike Smith and Jim Siebold of Elk Grove advanced to the quarter-finals with a 6-1, 2-6 and 6-3 win over Archie Neal and Kerry Hong of Addison Trail. The Grenadier pair lost to Bristol and Meyer of Glenbard East 2-6, 6-4, 6-8 in the quarter-finals.

Roger Junge and Joe Thimm of Maine West lost to Varchetto and Carlson of Glenbard East 6-1, 5-7 and 4-6 in first-round action. Maine North's Mike Pearlman and Ed Legatowicz lost to Bristol and Meyer 1-6 and 3-6 in the first round and John Varnes and George Payette lost to Ted Juszcyk and Kurt Carlson 0-6 and 2-6.

Maine West's Jack Semler and Elk Grove's Bruce Kinn advanced to quarter-final action in singles before losing. Semler defeated Curt Mroz of Maine North 6-3 and 6-4 in the first round before losing to Fenton's Gary Pederson 0-6 and 2-6. Kinn defeated John Komen of Montini 6-1 and 6-2 before losing to Petchul 0-6 and 0-6.

Jim Lauffenberger of Maine West lost to Carl Newfeld of Glenbard East 1-6 and 2-6. Ken Pollitz of Elk Grove lost to Pauly 0-6 and 2-6 and Bob Rashkow of Maine North lost to Jim Galvin of Addison Trail 0-6 and 0-6 in first round action.

Palatine Captures Track Triangular

Palatine's J. Dubiago and Fremd's Jerry Finis were double winners as the Pirates defeated the Vikings and Glenbard North in a track triangular meet under Palatine's Ost Field lights Tuesday night.

The winners — champions and undefeated in the Mid-Suburban League — totaled 71 points to Fremd's 65 and Glenbard's 23. It was a final tuneup for the big 25-team district meet at Prospect Friday night, which will determine who runs in the state meet in Charleston May 26 and 27.

Sprinter Dubiago won the 100-yard dash in :10.4 and the 220 in :22.8 while weights man Finis took the shot put with 50-10½ and the discus throw with 144-10.

Other excellent times were turned in by three Palatine runners — Larry Menes, Fred Miller and Brian Barnett. Menes won the 440-yard dash with his best time, :51.8; Miller took the 880-yard run with 1:57.3, one of the best area times this year; and Barnett ruled the mile run in 4:23.4, which has not been bettered by any other area runner this spring. (Barnett has the best mile time thus far, 4:20.5 in last Friday's conference meet).

Palatine's other winners were Jim Brandt with 6-3 in the high jump and the mile relay team with 3:30.4. In both cases, those winners own the best area marks previously.

Another double winner for Glenbard North, recording both of the Panthers' firsts, was hurdler Jay Maxwell. He won the 120-yard highs in :15.4 and the 180 lows in :20.9.

Other than Finis, Fremd had four victors. Dan Mize won the long jump with 20-3. Mark Nugent took the two-mile run in 9:47.8. Steve Morris won the pole vault with 12-6 and the 880-yard relay team was first with 1:34.6.

Paul Streater took a pair of second places for the Pirates with :23.1 in the 220 and 12-0 in the pole vault.

880-Yard Run — Won by Miller (P), 1:57.3; 2nd, Lawler (GN), 1:58.1; 3rd, Glenn (P), 1:59.4; 4th, Rohrer (F), 2:00.4.

880-Yard Relay — Won by Fremd, 1:34.6; 2nd, Glenbard North, 1:39.6.

400-Yard Dash — Won by Menes (P), :51.8; 2nd, Stauner (P), :53.1; 3rd, Fisher (F), :53.1; 4th, Vandellinder (F), :54.1.

Discus Throw — Won by Finis (F), 144-10; 2nd, Bibby (GN), 132-19; 3rd, Grab (P), 129-4; 4th, Vale (F), 127-8.

Ladies Golf League Opens

The Swingers Ladies Golf League of Old Orchard Country Club has opened its season with 62 members who will be competing in match and stroke play.

Low net scores for the first week were: Flight A, Gerda Vilcins, 37; Flight B, Lucille Kleeman, 40; Flight C, Rose Hebein, 36; Flight D, Olive Staudt, 39.

Daisy Segersell chipped in from off the green on the first hole of the Sporty Nine. The 15-footer gave her a 5 on the hole. Donna Donges sank a 50-yard approach shot on the 15th hole.

Prospect In Rare Net Tie

Ties can develop in almost every sport, but seldom in tennis.

Prospect was involved in such a rare deadlock earlier this week in a meet with visiting Lake Park. Mark Meves, playing third singles, split sets with his Lancer opponent in a match halted by rain. Thus setting up the 2-2 deadlock.

Posting Knight victories were Bob Zimmanek at first singles (6-2, 6-1) and the second doubles team of Steve Ristow and John Waters (2-6, 6-4, 6-2).

Losing were the doubles team of Chuck Clemans and Steve McMurry (6-2, 6-4) and second singles player Jeff Risteen (6-1, 6-4).

Johnson In 4-Hitter; Harper Tops Waubensee

The Harper College baseball machine appears to be in high gear as it heads into the home stretch of the Skyway Conference race.

Behind the four-hit pitching of lefty Buzz Johnson, the Hawks hiked their record to 9-2 in the SC with a decisive 7-1 victory over hosting Waubensee College Tuesday.

The Hawks' hurler recorded his first league win and also his first hit of the season in leading his team closer to a repeat championship season. It also boosted their overall record to 13-7. Coach John Ellasik's team broke open a fairly close game in the ninth with a three-run uprising to insure the victory.

They never trailed by getting on the scoreboard in the first inning. Wally Wiener, who led the team with a 3-for-5 day, singled, moved to second on a fielder's choice and scored on Mike Honel's hit.

The Hawks padded the margin in the fifth. Bruce Eberle ripped a leadoff pitch for a homer over the left-center field fence, 380 feet from home plate.

Johnson followed with his big single. Then two more hits by Wiener and Tony Fricano loaded the bases. Honel walked to score Johnson.

Another came across in the eighth. Dean Sheridan walked. Bob Bain, exercising the free substitution rule, came in to run for Sheridan and advanced to second on a ground out. Ray Carlson followed with a run-scoring single.

After Waubensee finally scored off Johnson with a single, walk and single, Harper tallied three more. Pinch hitter Rich Gawron walked and Eberle reached on an error. Bill Maffey came in to run for Eberle and both moved up on a pinch hit single by Bob Andreas with one run scoring. Wiener followed with a two-run single to cap the scoring.

Carlson finished with two hits in four trips.

Johnson went the distance, struck out 10 and walked two.

Card Netmen Fall To Hinsdale, 4-1

Arlington found it tough going at the Hinsdale Central tennis courts Tuesday. The Red Devils handled the Cardinals, 4-1.

Third singles player John Paczkowski avoided the possible shutout with a pair of 6-1 set victories over George Jacobus.

Jon Deevy and Dana Morkin, playing first doubles, nearly made the meet a lot closer. They won their first match, 6-2, before dropping the next two by the same scores to Ted Pabst and Fritz Balentine.

Coach Tom Pitchford also used a different second doubles team. He gave Scott Steingraber and Bob Stubing a chance and they managed to win some games but no sets. They lost to Rex Nyquist and Tom Jacobs, 6-4, 6-2.

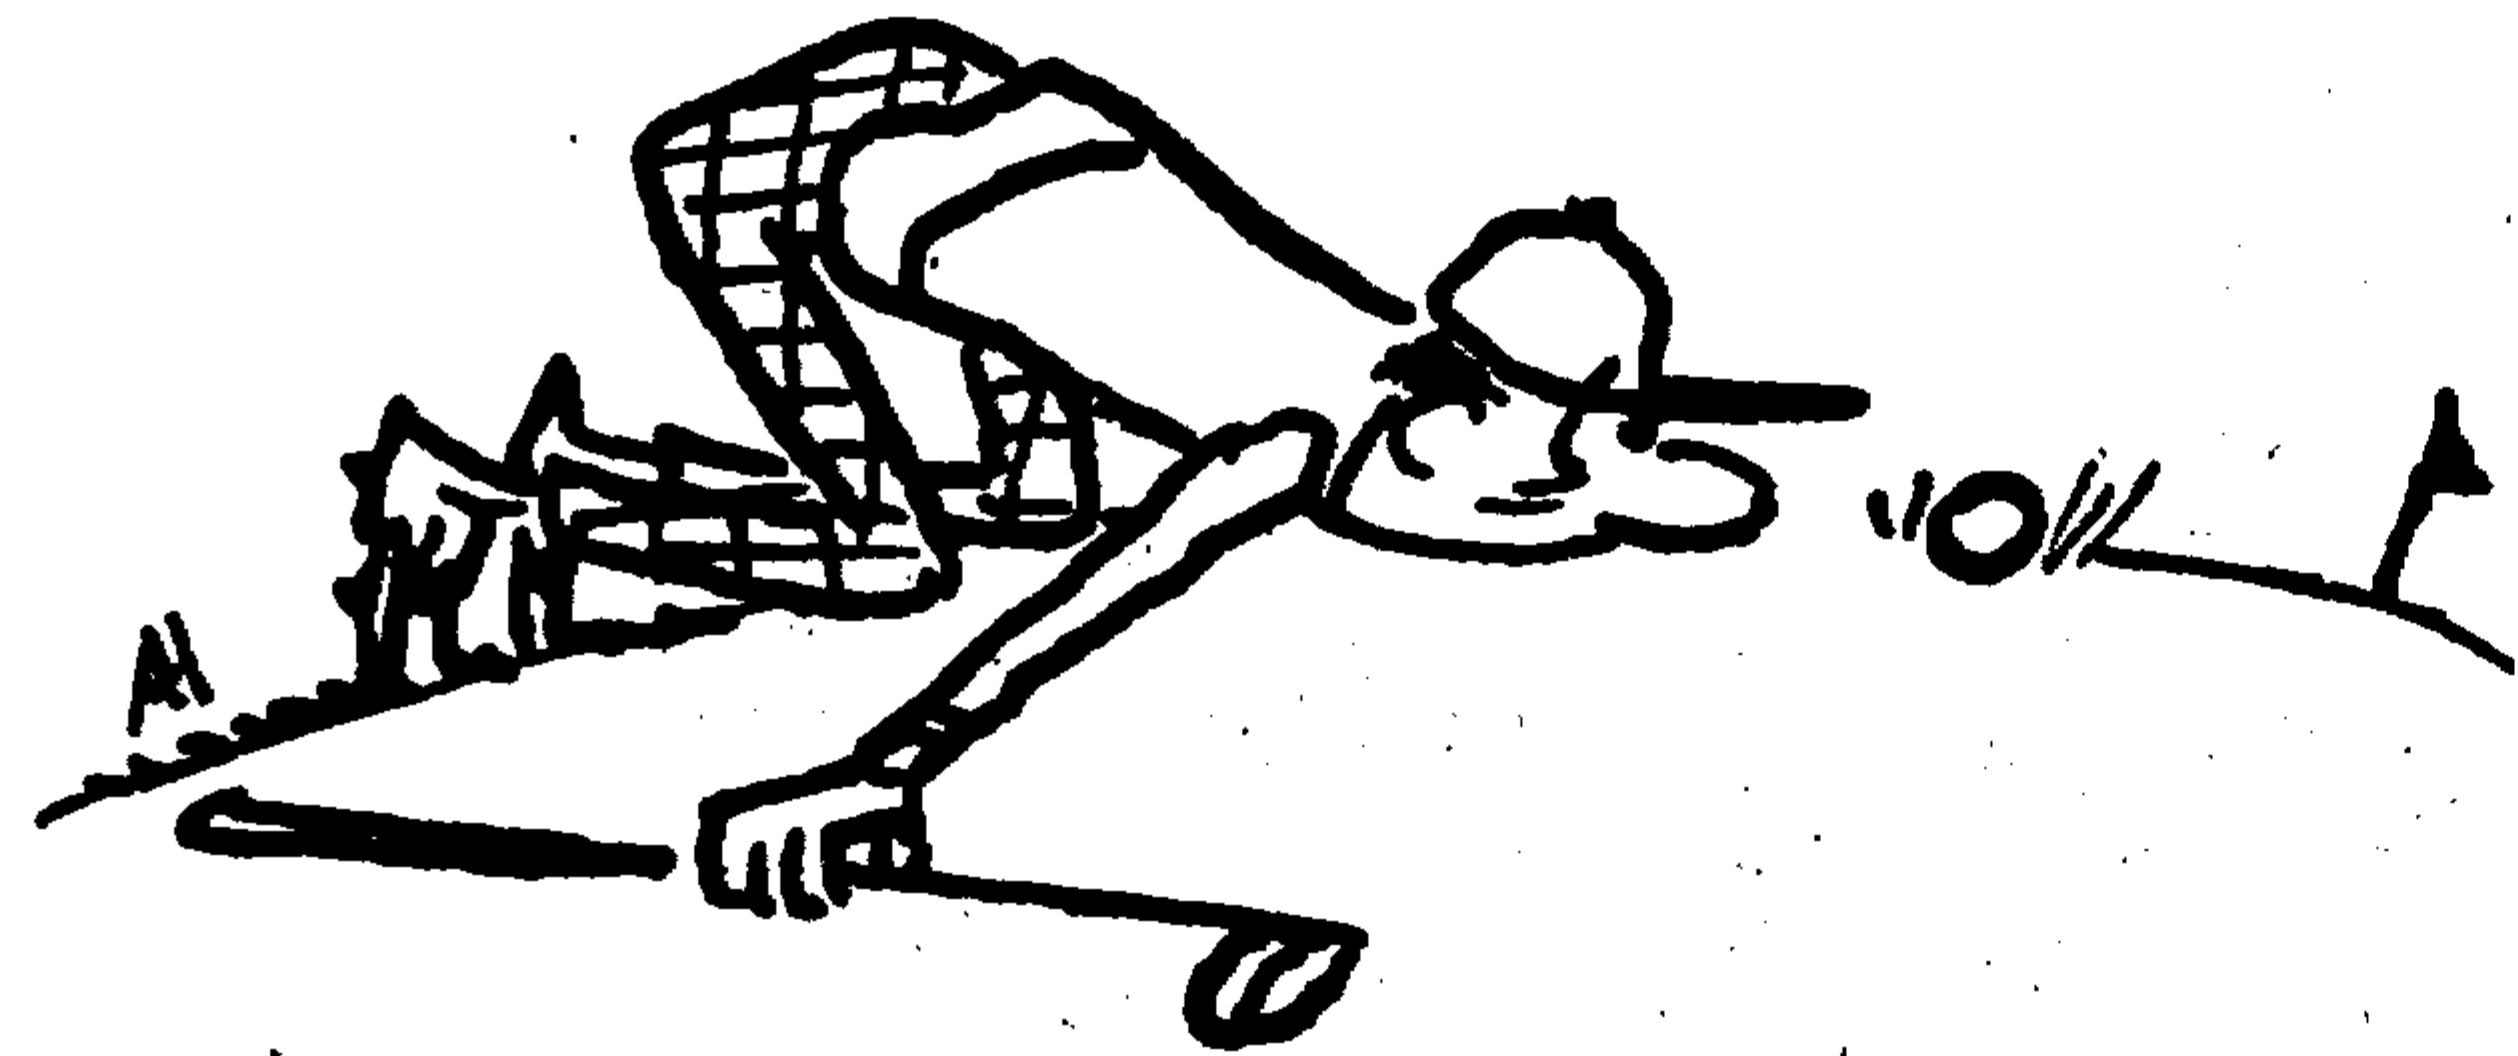

Ed Staren, playing first singles, handled Jim Merkel by 6-1 scores. Don Rodig, playing behind Merkel, lost to Tim Matcio, 6-3, 6-2.

Kruse's, Kersting Garden Share Tuesday Golf Lead

Kersting Garden Center, a big winner the previous week, produced a 6-4 victory last Tuesday over Louie's Barber Shop, but retained at least a share of first place in the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League.

Challenging Kersting for the league lead was Kruse's Tavern and Restaurant, who were somewhat less than sensational with a 6½ to 3½ win over George L. Busse and Co. but their point accumulation over the last two sessions gave them the tie for first.

Kirchhoff Insurance, with a creditable 8½ to 1½ win over Ed and Gil's Barber Shop, moved into third place, a mere half a point behind the leaders.

Annen and Busse Realtors showed the real muscle of the session as they came home with a 10-0 grand slam clean sweep over Busse Biermann Hardware, the first of the young season.

In other matches, Morton Pontiac eased past Licht's Paint Store 7-3, while Mount Prospect State Bank checked Illinois Range 7½ to 3½. The cool weather and heavy fairways slowed down even the big guns. Low gross honors were shared by Len Johnson and Ed Spletzer, with 40's over the second nine.

Low net honors went to a trio of 33 nets, shared by Dave Shean, Bill Annen, and O. Williams.

Birdies were recorded by R. Recher on 3, P. Peterson 7, L. Johnson 13, H. Stech 13.

Piepenbrink Movers Moves To 1st

The Arlington VFW golf league played their second round at Old Orchard C.C. Monday evening under somewhat threatening skies after having been rained out last week.

Piepenbrink Movers picked up 20 of a possible 24 points to take possession of 1st place. Kolman Plumbing and Scott Tree and Landscaping share the number 2 spot. Active Heating and Mount Prospect Heating & A/C moved to 3rd and 4th respectively. Nebel Insurance showed vast improvement by picking up 18 points to leave the cellar for 8th place.

Earl Johnson secretary of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce, captured low net with a round of 43-9-34. Darryl Burkett fired a 38 over a soggy track for the low gross honors.

GENERAL INFORMATION:

Arlington Heights is a large, primarily residential suburb located along the northwest "finger of communities" paralleling the C&NW Railroad. In 1972 the town's population is approximately 70,000, which is a 155.3% increase since 1960. Originally called Dunton after its founder, the village changed its name to Arlington Heights because of its altitude, 704 ft. above sea level (106 ft. higher than Chicago). A good highway system is readily available but the C&NW remains the primary method of commuter travel, and nearly 6,000 Loop commuters use these facilities daily.

VILLAGE HISTORY:

The actual history of Arlington Heights began with the arrival of Asa Dunton and his family from New York in 1836. Dunton took a homestead here for himself and each of his two sons, then left the area. His son, William, returned to lay out the town along the Illinois and Wisconsin Railroad tracks.

In the next two decades the town flourished. A hotel was built; a sewing machine factory and foundry begun. The village suffered during the depression but revived during the post World War II prosperity and since that time has experienced a fantastic growth, both in size and population. While performing all the necessary services to keep pace with this rapid growth, the village has developed comprehensive long-range plans for improving the downtown area and is attempting to attract industry into other areas of the village to balance the community and stabilize the tax base.

MEDIAN INCOME:

Arlington Heights	$16,590
Northwest Suburban Area (avg.)	14,140
Chicago	9,883

SCHOOLS:

In Arlington Heights proper 15 elementary public schools (including 4 junior highs) and 5 high schools. Arlington Heights now has grown into two neighboring school districts which provide comparable educational facilities. Pupil-teacher ratio is 22.1 with $780 spent annually per pupil.

Parochial: Catholic, 2 elementary, 1 girls' school, 1 boys' high school, 1 junior high school. Lutheran: 1 elementary.

All Arlington Heights residents pay taxes to three school districts: an elementary school district, High School District 214 and Harper Junior College District 512. All school districts are governed alike in that a seven-member school board, elected by the public on staggered three-year terms, is charged with full power to provide a sufficient number of schools and to operate those schools and levy taxes to support them. Each school board selects the district superintendent (or President, in the case of the junior college), the administrative head of the district, whose duties include employment and supervision of all personnel, public relations and all phases of educational programs and policies.

VILLAGE GOVERNMENT:

Incorporated as a village in 1887, Arlington Heights derives all its powers from the state legislature, principally as contained in the Revised Cities and Village Act of 1941, as amended. Since 1954, the village has operated under the council-manager form of government in which an elected president and board of trustees determine all policy and appoint a village manager to administer all functions of the village.

TOWN SHOPPING:

Downtown contains 4 main streets plus Dunton and Evergreen Courts. Other shopping centers are Arlington Market, Westgate Park and Shop, Northpoint and Surrey Ridge. Randhurst and Woodfield shopping centers are within a few minutes driving time.

CHURCHES:

Baptist, Catholic, Christian, Christian Science, Church of Latter Day Saints, Congregational, Episcopal, Evangelical Free, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, Reformed Seventh Day Adventist, United Church of Christ, United Presbyterian and Unity.

RECREATION AREAS:

Arlington Park Race Track contains golf course, restaurants, hotel and other sporting projects; several more being developed. Village park property extends over 100 acres including 6 community parks and 15 neighborhood parks; 5 public pools and 1 indoor pool. Two forest preserve areas; 10 private & semiprivate golf courses within 5 miles.

MEDICAL:

Village served by Northwest Community Hospital in the village and St. Alexius Hospital in nearby Elk Grove Village. Several professional buildings and approximately 60 doctors and 36 dentists.

TRANSPORTATION:

Express C&NW trains reach Loop in 33 minutes (locals in 47 minutes), and United Motor Coach buses take 78 minutes.

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS:

Numerous social and civic clubs for men and women.

REALTOR WEEK window displays will mark the event, slated for May 21-27. This year's slogan for the national celebration is call your Realtor, he sells America first, everyday. The Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors is joining with the other 1,000 real estate boards in the U.S. to celebrate Realtor Week. There are 900 members in the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

NEW PRESIDENT OF the Purchasing Management Association of Chicago is Andy Pappas, director of purchases for the Norman Engineering Co. Other officers for the coming year include: first vice president, Ray O'Neal of Swift & Co.; second vice president, Leo J. Bednarczyk of Borg-Warner Corp.; treasurer, Bertal Erikson, of Signode Corp.; and secretary, Robert A. Doyle of PMAC. New board of governors members include James A. Carlson of the American National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago; Carl Schoof, of the IIT Research Institute; and Richard Conklin of the Midwest Steel Division of National Steel Corp., Anton Longhini of International Minerals and Chemical Corp. will fill a vacant board seat for the coming year. Robert D. Schaik of IIT Research Institute is director of national affairs for the coming year.

ED FILIATRAULT OF Northbrook has been named vice president of the northern division of Northern Illinois Gas Co. Formerly general coordinator of marketing plans for NI-Gas, Filiatrault will head up the utility's most densely populated division, the northwest and North Shore suburban area. He has experience in engineering, purchasing and operations. Filiatrault is a graduate of the University of North Dakota, where he earned a bachelor's degree in civil engineering, and Northern Illinois University, where he earned a master's degree in business administration. He is also a registered professional engineer in the state of Illinois. Filiatrault is currently serving on the Chicago Industrial Payroll Savings Committee for the promotion of U.S. Savings Bonds. He replaces Robert Eby, who has been appointed assistant vice president in charge of supplemental natural gas activities for NI-Gas.

NORTHWEST SUBURBAN Manufacturers Association will hold its monthly meeting at the River Forest Country Club on May 25. This program will depart from the usual agenda of a business oriented speaker and will focus on the topic of Golf Tips presented by the resident professional golfer from River Forest Country Club, Tom Mazalka. Mazalka has a background of 12 years in competitive golf experience including two wins and two seconds in championship contests. This program on golfing will follow the luncheon and business meeting starting at noon. Reservations are required and this luncheon will be open to members of NSMA and their guests.

BLACK & DECKER Manufacturing Co. will conduct an Effective Selling Program for industrial and construction distributor salesmen on May 18 and 19. TIPS TO HOME BUYERS AND HOME SELLERS

FROM

THE IMPORTANCE OF YOUR MORTGAGE

Aside from the actual selection of your home, probably the most important transaction involved when purchasing a home is the determination of the mortgage loan.

The selection of the "best" mortgage loan is of prime importance, especially in today's fast changing economical situation.

There are many hidden factors involved when you as a home buyer attempts to arrange financing by yourself, factors such as acquiring the best interest rate, overall term of the mortgage, open end mortgages, and, of course, your ability to know and trust the loan institution you deal with.

Your M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service Real Estate Companies are expert at coordinating your purchase through the most reputable mortgage companies available. M.A.P. salespeople know the current market conditions, the current interest rate situation, and the best, most equitable mortgage institutions for your particular mortgage.

The tremendous sales volume of the M.A.P. organization reflects the constant activity with Banks and Savings and Loan institutions, and the same institutions in turn know the value of catering to an active, progressive organization such as M.A.P. Multiple Listing Real Estate Companies.

When you get ready to buy, let M.A.P. help you get the best mortgage for you... and your future happiness.

CONSTRUCTION OF A new tower building, left, at O'Hare Inn is under way. The first airport hotel built next to O'Hare International Airport will add 275 rooms in a 93-foot-tower overlooking the airfield, giving O'Hare Inn a total of 775 guest rooms. O'Hare Inn will spend $7 million for the new facilities.

Hotel Building Tower Addition

Construction work is running ahead of schedule on a new 10-story tower addition of 275 rooms to O'Hare Inn, first of the airport hotels built next to O'Hare Field.

The new O'Hare Inn 93-foot tower of contemporary design overlooking the airfield will be the fourth addition to O'Hare Inn, which opened in 1960 with 184 rooms. Additions were built in 1963 and again in 1968.

Growing along with airport expansion, O'Hare Inn has spent $500,000 for redecorating and refurbishing in the past year and is now spending an additional $7,000,000 for new facilities, increasing both its guest and meeting rooms by 60 per cent of its present capacity.

In the 11 years since its opening, O'Hare Inn has played host to more than 50,000 business meetings and more than 2 million guests with consistent high occupancy rates. Its facilities include parking for 1,000 cars, indoor and outdoor swimming pools, a par-3 golf course and two tennis courts.

Built to the maximum allowed height the new 10-story tower addition will have a rooftop restaurant featuring night club entertainment plus 10 bi-level suites.

"Our expansion program is geared realistically not only to the high occupancy rates that O'Hare Inn enjoys, but also to the future projections of increased air traffic at O'Hare Field," stated William J. Horine, general manager and vice president of O'Hare Inn. "We are highly optimistic about the great potential future of O'Hare as the prime business meeting center of the nation, as well as the air crossroads of the world for air travelers, based not only on its geographical position at the hub of the world air traffic patterns but also on the ever-increasing international air travel and outstanding hotel facilities such as O'Hare Inn."

The design of the new O'Hare Inn structure was prepared by the architectural firm of Peter M. Tsolinas & Associates. Projected completion of the O'Hare Inn Tower is scheduled for late this year.

Baird & Warner

When you're selling or buying a home, the job is made easier when you have expert help.

And Baird & Warner can give you all kinds of it.

We have over 200 full-time salespeople in 28 offices, serving 60 Chicagoland communities.

Our salespeople reach thousands of buyers and sellers each day, so they know exactly where to find a buyer for the home you are selling, or the home you want to buy.

We also provide a free executive relocation service (called RESET) for companies transferring executives to and from the Chicago area.

And our sales message rings out loud and clear, backed by an advertising program that includes 7 day metro newspapers, over 100 community papers, Time Magazine, O'Hare dioramas, and outdoor billboards.

In short, you can expect more effective help from us than from any other real estate company in the whole Chicago area. So call Baird & Warner. And get moving.

Realtors Have Stake In Politics: Cook

Realtors should become active politically as well as economically, according to Robert Cook, executive vice president of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards.

Cook was a speaker at last week's meeting of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, held in Des Plaines. He sounded a call for support of REPEC of Illinois, the Real Estate Political Education Committee.

Citing the recent passage of H.B. 3636 in the Illinois legislature, Cook said the real estate profession has a stake in political activity at the local, state and national levels. The bill returned the exclusive right to license over two dozen professional groups, including real estate brokers, to the state of Illinois. Under the new Illinois constitution this power could have been exercised by home rule units in the state.

Cook said the passage of H.B. 3636 was the "greatest defeat for Chicago's Mayor Daley in the last 20 years." He said the City of Chicago has indicated it will go to court to throw out H.B. 3636, but REPEC and other groups will defend it.

REPEC and other professionally-related organizations in the state of Illinois benefited from a bipartisan vote on the licensing bill, according to Cook. He said the few Democrats who voted with Republicans in support of H.B. 3636 are losing financial support from their party as a result of the vote. Professional organizations should give financial aid to these Democrats, he said.

Cook cited other legislative topics of immediate interest to the real estate profession: the Justice Department and Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) examination of the real estate profession; the HUD proposal to limit the amount of sales commission on realty sales and efforts to exclude the real estate profession from this limitation; the effects of home rule regulations in Illinois; legislation proposed by "ecology buffs," anti-solicitation bill in Illinois; no-sign ordinance in Chicago. Cook collected contributions from board members following his presentation.

Guest speaker for the program was Richard Babiarz, vice president and associate regional counsel for the Pioneer National Title Insurance Co. He discussed condominiums and related problems confronting the real estate industry.

Realtors Attended National Conference

Annex & Busse, Inc. representatives were among more than 700 Realtors attending the annual convention of National Multi List Service held recently at Phoenix/Scottsdale, Ariz.

The three-day meeting included round-table sessions, a presentation on the new NMLS investment division, and talks by sales and marketing speakers Tom Hopkins and Cavett Robert.

NMLS, with its headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., is a National Marketing Network of some 500 cooperating Realtor offices across the country which provide services and programs to the American home buying and selling public.

Among the programs and services provided for and by NMLS members such as Annex & Busse, Inc. are the Homes For Living photo listing magazine, industry relations, guaranteed sales, equity buying and national advertising.

During the convention, Ed Busse, one of the owners and founders of Annex &

Busse, Inc. was elected to the board of governors of National Multi List Service. He will concentrate his efforts for the next year on expanding and developing marketing services for NMLS.

Others attending from Annex & Busse, Inc. were Don Heidorn from the Arlington Heights office, Pete Rodgers from the Elk Grove Village office, and Eileen Rodgers from the Arlington Heights office. The firm also has Palatine and Mount Prospect offices.

Elk Grove Man Promoted By G & H Products

Robert L. Severson has been appointed general sales manager of G & H Products, Inc. of Kenosha, a wholly-owned subsidiary of The De Laval Separator Co., Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

A native of Wisconsin, Severson attended Worthington College in Minnesota, where he completed the civil pilot training program. He is also a graduate of the U.S. Air Force Pilot Training Program and spent three years with the Air Force on active duty as an aircraft commander, attaining the rank of first lieutenant.

After leaving the military service, he spent several years as a flying instructor.

Severson joined De Laval in 1950 as an assistant superintendent in the Minnesota area. He was a territory sales manager for several years, was advanced to a division supervisor in 1956, and was appointed as sales manager of DeLaval's Pacific Division in 1960. In 1968 he was appointed sales manager of De Laval's midwest dairy division with responsibility for states east of the Mississippi River.

The Seversons presently reside in Elk Grove Village, but will relocate in the Kenosha area.

Castle Locators Aids Do-It-Yourself Seller

Castle Locators, Inc., is offering the do-it-yourselfer the chance to sell his own home.

According to John Hopkins, vice president, the firm plans to open an office in Schaumburg in the near future. The firm currently works with home sellers in the Northwest Suburbs at its offices at 1010 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights. Frank Smrz is president of the firm.

"We're trying to help the man who wishes to sell his home himself," said Hopkins. "We provide them with a for sale sign listing our telephone number, make appointments for them and offer assistance in the paperwork to a point where their own attorney can take over."

Trying to go it alone in the sale of a house can involve many pitfalls, advises Hopkins. His firm provides appraisal service, advice on handling and offer to buy a house and other services.

Castle Relocators charges a $250 retainer fee. An additional $500 is paid upon completion of the sale. This compares to a 6 to 7 per cent commission fee charged at many local real estate firms, said Hopkins. He said the $250 retainer fee is refundable if the house is not sold in 30 days and the owner wishes to discontinue the association with Castle Relocators.

The company provides a listing sheet for the homes of persons using its services. Hopkins said the listing sheets are distributed at large area corporations and through the mail in addition to advertising promotions.

There are often emotional considerations in selling a home, Hopkins said. For this reason the owner is provided with a statement of market value to indicate the true value of the home.

Smrz is a licensed real estate broker. Hopkins is a licensed realty salesman. Hopkins is a principal of Elm Builders, based in Arlington Heights.

The firm began operations a few months ago, according to Hopkins. He anticipates a volume of 30 to 40 transactions a week by the end of this year.

Castle Locators allows the seller to retain the right without restriction to merchandise the sale of his home, on his terms.

Kerekes Shifted To Supervisor

Lester G. Kerekes has been promoted to regional supervisor in the Great Lakes Area of Avco Financial Services. He will headquarter in the Des Plaines branch at 2474 Dempster St.

Kerekes joined the Company in 1968. Prior to his recent promotion he was Manager for one of Avco's Chicago branches at 3307 North Milwaukee Ave.

The Great Lakes Area of Avco Financial Services includes 110 offices in five states: Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Kerekes will be responsible for 10 offices in Illinois. The Company has more than 1,400 Avco branches in the United States, Canada and Australia.

Marks Realtor Week

Gladstone, Realtors, will mark Realtor Week by doing their bit to make America beautiful, according to Robert A. Poltzer, general sales manager for the firm. Anyone stopping in the Gladstone offices located at 1255 Lee St., Des Plaines; 200 East Higgins Rd., Elk Grove Village; and 960 East Northwest Highway, Mount Prospect, will receive a free packet of flower seeds during the week of May 21 through 27.

Taking particular note of American Ownership Day, which Realtors are observing May 22, Poltzer said, "The ownership of real property is one of the basic, fundamental strengths of American society. This is evidenced by the fact that nearly seven out of every 10 American families own their own homes, a record equaled by few nations in the world."

Poltzer commented that home ownership is almost always financially superior to renting comparable space, "but more important to many is the fact that families are able to express themselves in landscaping and decorating; they are able to keep pets, entertain, and in general, decide how to live without consulting the resident manager or worrying about the neighbors upstairs or downstairs."

The theme of the entire week is Sell America First — Everyday. "The desire to own a piece of this great land of ours is growing," Poltzer said, "causing the emergence of new forms of ownership." As examples, he cited condominiums and cooperative buildings which are common in Chicago and being developed in the suburban communities.

In reiterating the advantages of real property ownership, Poltzer said it is wise to handle all real estate transactions through a Realtor. A Realtor is a professional in real estate who subscribes to the code of ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards which governs his relationships with the buyer, the seller, his fellow brokers, and the public in general. "It is because Realtors subscribe to this code and have access to a broad and continuing educational program ranging from the local to the national level that we say Realtors are the professionals in real estate," he concluded.

Lancer Reports Increased Sales

Sales are increasing at the Lancer Corp.'s Benwick community in Schaumburg.

The quality of materials and construction were cited by Al Bercher, vice president of sales for Lancer. He added,

"News and shelter magazines are constantly publicizing factual articles on building materials and their various advantages and disadvantages for specific uses. Home buyers read these avidly and occasionally startle our salesmen with the information they've acquired on certain building products and design practices," he continued.

The Barrett model is one of the Benwick designs. Priced at $38,200, the Barrett is a three-bedroom ranch home containing one-and-a-half baths. It includes a 21x31 full-carpeted living room and adjacent dining room. The kitchen is U-shaped. It includes an oven, range, and custom styled cabinetry with the choice of appliance colors up to the owner.

The Barrett has face brick on all outside walls, aluminum storm windows and screens, ceramic tiled baths with marble vanity tops, insulated glass sliding patio doors, double hung windows, copper plumbing, galvanized gutters and downspouts and drain tile around the entire foundation. Other features of the Barrett include 100-plus wiring, underground utilities, colored plumbing fixtures, full insulation, sodded front yard and parkway, a full basement and concrete driveway.

Benwick is located on Roselle Road, two miles south of Higgins Road (Rt. 73).

Palatine Man Elected To United Air Lines Bd.

William E. Dunkle of Palatine, who joined United Air Lines in 1940 as a pilot and currently is senior vice president-flight operations, has been elected to the board of directors of the airline.

The election of Dunkle to the 19-member board was announced by Edward E. Carlson, president and chief executive officer of the airline.

A graduate of the Boeing School of Aeronautics in 1938, Dunkle began his flying career with Star Air Service, an Alaskan airline, two years prior to joining United.

In 1942, he flew DC-3s on domestic routes for United under contract to the government as part of the Military Transport System. He also was promoted to captain that year. He returned to regular line operation in 1943, flying out of Seattle, New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Dunkle became an instructor at United's Flight Training Center in Denver in 1953, and returned to San Francisco the following year to resume flying. In 1959, he was appointed administrative flight manager at New York.

William Dunkle

In 1960, Dunkle was named assistant to the senior vice president-flight operations at United's Chicago headquarters, and in 1964 he became regional manager of flight operations in San Francisco. He attended Harvard Business School in 1965 under the Harvard Advance Management Program. In September 1969, he was elected senior vice president-flight operations.

Born in Seattle in 1917, Dunkle was raised in Anchorage, Alaska.

His Suggestion Pays To Tune Of $23,175

Alan S. Fong received United Air Lines' annual "Suggestor of the Year" award from the United Pres. Edward E.

Alan Fong

Carlson and executive vice president and general manager Charles F. McErlane.

Fong, a systems analyst at the airline's corporate headquarters in Elk Grove Township, devised a computer program to develop the optimum in manpower shift scheduling. The application of his idea represented a breakthrough for a manpower problem and netted Fong a cash award of $23,175, highest suggestion award earned in 1971 and the second highest in the 31-year history of United's suggestion program.

Fong lives at 228 Washington Sq., Elk Grove Village.

Promoted By Avon

Avon Products, Inc. has announced the appointment of R. Patrick Dietsch as manager-production and inventory control in the company's manufacturing laboratory in Morton Grove.

Dietsch joined Avon in 1970. He was subsequently named packaging section manager — equipment, the position he held until his recent appointment. Prior to his association with Avon, Dietsch was director of manufacturing for Advance Ross Electronics, El Paso, Tex. Dietsch was graduated from Iowa Wesleyan College in 1964, with a degree in industrial management.

Dietsch and his wife, Audrey, reside in Buffalo Grove, with their two children. His memberships include the Jaycees, Elks, Rotary, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

Mount Prospect Man Addresses Society

Robert V. Duckworth of Mount Prospect spoke on "Insurance Accounting Practices" before a recent forum sponsored by the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants.

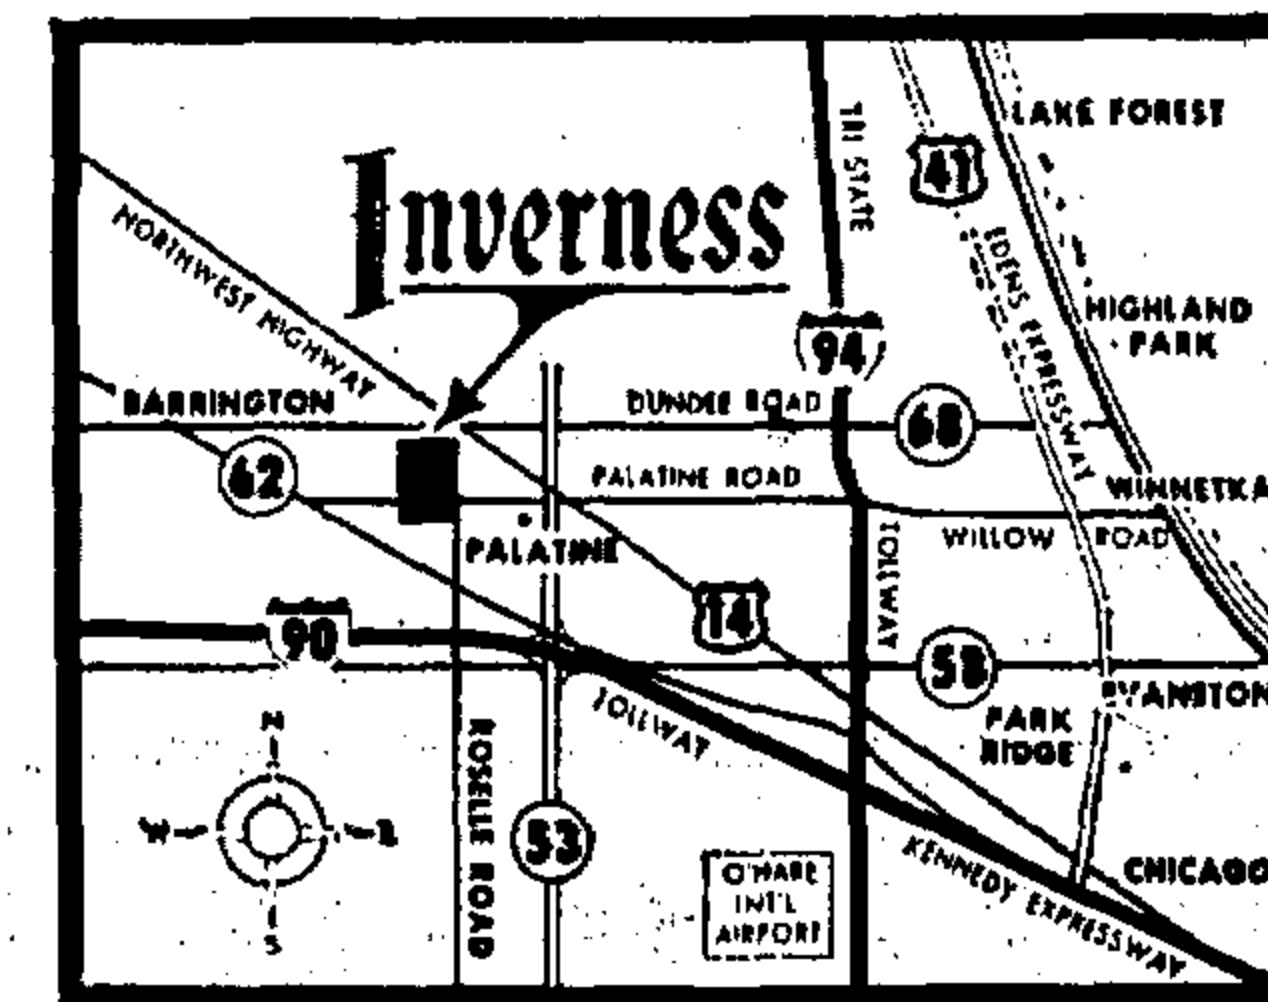

Duckworth is a manager in the Chicago office of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., certified public accounting firm.

The Mount Prospect resident and his wife, Gloria, reside at 1408 Tamarack Drive.

THE VILLAGE THAT NEVER CHANGES

Can you imagine a village where there are no property fences? Where the smallest homesites are an acre? Where there is no industry? Where no two homes are alike? Where every home must receive architectural approval? These are just a few of the unusual features of Inverness that are protected by prudent deed restrictions to jealously guard against changes in the character, value and way of living in the community. How much does it cost to join this exclusive 450-family village? Our acre-or-larger homesites start at $14,000, with only 20% down and an annual percentage rate of 7%. We also have a portfolio of homes for sale for immediate occupancy due to executive transfers. Prices range from $60,000 to $200,000. Drive out today; or, if you prefer, send for a free brochure.

Our picturesque 4-Silo office is open daily on Baldwin Road, just west of Northwest Highway (Rte. 14) between Palatine and Barrington. Convenient to Northwest Tollway (north from Rte. 53 exit).

*Example $14,000 purchase—$2800 down, 84 monthly payments of $169.04.

Loans Tailored To Buyer

Despite a record volume of home construction and sales of existing properties, mortgage funds for conventional home financing are abundant, and lenders have been offering a broad range of terms from which a borrower may select.

These were highlights of the findings in the annual spring study of the mortgage market by the Department of Research of the National Association of Real Estate Boards among 185 Realtors throughout the nation.

In many areas, the FHA-insured Section 203 home loan is encountering stiff competition from the low equity conventional mortgage with private insurance, according to Mrs. Catherine E. Martini, director of the department of research. Resources for these loans were readily accessible, whether the security was a new or an existing property early this spring.

With the advent of the 95 per cent conventional mortgage, backed by private mortgage insurance, thousands of young families are able to use conventional financing for early home purchase, she said. Other choices in the current market include loans tailored for the family investing substantial savings and pre-paying a loan that would be paid off in a few years. Between these two extremes, there are numerous combinations of loan-to-value ratio, interest rate and term of maturity.

Supplies of funds for conventional mortgages were reported as ample in 88 per cent of the market areas if the home was new, compared to 72 per cent ample last September, and 84 per cent a year ago in the early spring report.

A similar trend was noted for the availability of mortgage funds for an existing home in a good neighborhood. Funds were ample in 86 per cent of the areas, compared to 68 per cent in September, 1971, and 82 per cent a year ago.

The most frequently quoted interest rate for a conventional loan on a new home was 7.5 per cent. This rate was common in 40 per cent of the market areas surveyed while a lower rate, 7 or 7.25 per cent, was quoted for 35 per cent. Higher rates, generally 7.75 or 8 per cent, were prevalent for the remainder.

Similar interest rates were quoted for loans on existing homes in good neighborhoods. A rate of 7.5 per cent was prevalent in 38 per cent of the communities in the survey, while a lower rate was noted in 34 per cent. This lower rate was generally 7 or 7.25 per cent. Higher percentages were reported by the remainder.

"Recent innovations in the structure of the home mortgage market and potential changes permitting alternative types of lending, will influence the long-term outlook. Meanwhile, some credit costs are rising. Higher interest rates, expected in the second half of the year, may be closer than predicted," Mrs. Martini continued.

"Forecasting home mortgage trends has always been perilous but never fraught with greater uncertainty than today," Mrs. Martini said. "A rapidity of change that is new, combined with cross-currents in the capital market, becloud the short-term outlook. On the affirmative side, however, the inflow of savings into thrift institutions is high, and there is little evidence that consumers are going on a spending spree."

The supply of funds for FHA Section 203 mortgages was reported as ample in 85 per cent of the communities, compared to 68 per cent last September. This is for a new home in a good neighborhood with minimum down payment and maturity in 30 years.

For FHA-backed loans on existing homes, funds were reported ample in 81 per cent of the communities, as compared to 64 per cent ample in September.

With an easier access to mortgage credit in general, conditions have improved, specifically for buyers wishing to use conventional loan sources for the purchase of homes in neglected neighborhoods. Many of these properties, with modest expenditure for renovation, are appealing because of convenience to employment and public transportation. Current interest in the townhouse may well revive interest in the earlier version, termed a row house.

Some older suburban type neighborhoods with free-standing single-family homes may well share in upgrading, assuming financing is available to young families interested in home purchase and in becoming personally involved in home and neighborhood improvement.

The supply of funds for such loans was ample in 36 per cent of the country, a change from the 25 per cent reported in September, 1971. Sources remained moderate in 33 per cent of the nation.

Reports Sales Gain

Baird & Warner, Inc., reported increases in both unit sales and dollar volume for the month of March and for the first quarter of the year.

John L. Hall, senior vice president and general sales manager for the diversified real estate organization, said the firm chalked up 391 sales for the month, an increase of 12.3 per cent over 348 sales in March, 1971.

Dollar volume climbed 26.7 per cent, from $16,723,614 a year-ago to $21,184,940 for the current month.

Hall noted that it was the 24th consecutive month in which Baird & Warner's sales division has reported increases on a year-to-year basis. The firm had a record dollar volume of more than $180 million with more than 3,500 sales participations in 1971.

Baird & Warner, with 28 offices now in operation in Chicago and suburbs, had 932 sales participations in the first quarter of the year. This represents a gain of 9.7 per cent compared with 850 transactions for the year-ago period. Dollar volume climbed 21.16 per cent to $49,107,464 from $40,534,147 a year ago.

Hall credited an ample supply of mortgage money at reasonable rates, gradually improving business conditions and an increasing number of employee transfers for the continued strength of real estate sales.

Four-Month Report Shows Record Sales

In the first four months of 1972, MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service recorded a total sales volume from cooperative home sales of $41,910,210. This is an increase of almost $8,500,000 in sales over the same four month period of 1971. The record total sales volume is the result of 1,098 cooperative home sales during the first 4 months in 1972, an increase of 192 actual home sales over the same period in 1971.

Included in the period is the recently reported April sales by MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate offices which indicate a steady increase in home buying and selling activity in the Northwest Suburbs. MAP reports a total sales volume for April 1972 of $10,798,664 resulting from 280 cooperative home sales during the month, an average per-home sales figure of $38,277.

"A survey of home buyers attitudes by all the MAP offices serving the Northwest Suburbs clearly indicates continuing interest in buyer enthusiasm," reports Bill Nieman, president of MAP Multiple Listing Service. "In spite of probably the worst weather conditions in 20 years, April turned out to be a very active month for all MAP offices and we were pleased that the weather was not a deterrent to sales or buyer inquiries," he said.

John Hug Cited For Score On CPA Test

John A. Hug, 700 Rand Rd., Arlington Heights, has been awarded honorable mention nationally and in Illinois for his high score on the uniform certified public accountant examination last November.

He was among 14 successful candidates from Illinois who were specially recognized at an awards ceremony May 7 in the Arie Crown Theater. Sponsored by the Illinois CPA Society, the affair was the occasion for presentation of CPA certificates to 520 successful candidates from last fall's examinations.

Hug's national award is an honorable mention in the Elijah Watt Sells competition administered by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He also won honorable mention from the Illinois CPA Society.

Castle LOCATORS

We at Castle Locators believe that a buyer and a seller can get together for the mutual benefit of both and that a home can be bought or sold without the high price of a real estate commission being added to the selling price or deducted from the sale price.

We believe that, if properly advised, and helped through a few of the hurdles of purchasing, a buyer can make the purchase of his new home one of the easiest and most rewarding experiences he has ever had.

We don't put a leash on our buyers and lead them from home to home showing them everything that meets our fancy, allowing them to speak to no one for fear of losing a commission.

Our buyers are not dunned by sales people day after day. You simply register with Castle Locators. As each new home FOR SALE BY OWNER comes to our office, we will mail, weekly, to you each listing and information on it. So you decide which, if any, home you want to see. Then you call us. Our secretary will make an appointment for you and you will go look at the home yourself. You will meet the owner, feel his warm handshake, be invited into his home. He will be able to answer all your questions on neighbors, their kids, schools, parks, teachers, how old is the roof, how much to heat, etc. You are interested in buying the home, he is interested in selling it. Sit down and talk about it. It's a most pleasant way to buy a home!

Remember that most sellers do not pay the commission on a sale. You do, Mr. Buyer!

Don't buy a home until you read this booklet.

Here's the book that answers the most asked questions about mortgages.

For example:

- What are the different types of mortgages?
- What service charges and fees should you expect?
- How do you shop for a mortgage?
- What are the hidden costs in buying a home?

- What does the length of a mortgage mean in dollars and cents?
- How much home can you really afford to buy?
- Why is it wise to have a lawyer when you buy a home?
- Exactly what is included in a monthly mortgage payment?

And every question is answered in plain, simple English!

We'll also give you a valuable source of information for any other questions you may have about home financing.

Stop by or write us for your free copy of our "12 Questions" book—it could save you money.

Veterans' News

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — Is there a deadline for veterans to apply for VA hospital care?

A — No. There is no deadline if a veteran is eligible, needs it, and a bed is available. Beds are always available at VA hospitals for veterans with service-connected disabilities.

Q — I receive $25 monthly VA compensation for a 10 per cent service-connected disability, while my brother receives $20 monthly for his 10 per cent disability. Why?

A — You receive the $25 monthly compensation because your disability was incurred during wartime. Apparently, your brother's compensation is for a peacetime disability, which is 80 per cent of the wartime rate or, in his case, $20.

Q — How long will I be covered by my Serviceman's Group Life Insurance if I was separated from service for total disability on Nov. 1, 1971?

A — Your coverage under SGLI will continue while you remain totally disabled, but not beyond one year. Within a year of the date VA notifies you that your disability has been rated as service-connected, you can apply for a $10,000 low cost RH policy from the agency. Also within the year, you may convert your SGLI (maximum $15,000) to an individual policy at standard rates with any company participating in the SGLI program.

Q — Will VA pay education allowances for veterans to attend any school or pursue any educational program?

A — The course or program must not be barred by law and it must lead to a recognized educational, vocational or professional objective. Also, schools must be approved by their respective state-approving agencies.

Q — Am I still eligible for a GI home loan based on the death of my husband in service in 1946?

A — Yes. The Veterans Housing Act of 1970 restored unused, expired loan benefits to World War II and Korean Conflict veterans and their unremarried widows.

Q — My father, a World War II veteran, draws a VA pension because he is unable to work. Can he be treated in a VA hospital if his condition is not related to his military service?

A — Yes, if a VA examination confirms he needs hospitalization and a bed is available. Since he is on pension, it is not necessary for him to sign a statement of inability to pay.

Social Security and You

Q. I retired at the end of May, 1971, and began drawing my social security benefits in June, 1971. The only wages I had in 1971 were earned between January and May, 1971. Must I file an annual report of my 1971 wages even though these wages were earned before I retired and before I began drawing social security benefits?

A. If your total earnings for 1971 were over $1680.00, even though most or all of it was earned before you retired, you are still required to file a report of your annual earnings with the Social Security Administration. Incidentally, the deadline for filing your report is April 17, 1972. If you need assistance or want more information, phone 239-7000.

Q. Do I have to include the interest I received from my savings account as earnings when I complete my annual report of earnings for the Social Security Administration?

A. No, you don't include the interest. You should report the amount of your earnings for the year 1971. Earnings include such items as wages, self-employment income, bonuses, commissions, vacation pay, and payment in kind (room and board or meals, except that domestic and farm workers need not report payment in kind). Earnings do not include such items as dividends, interest, unemployment compensation benefits, railroad retirement benefits, annuities, or pensions.

Q. I attained age 72 in July of 1971. Is it true that I do not have to file an annual report of earnings for 1971 with Social Security since I am now 72?

A. No, it isn't true. Since you were not 72 during all months of 1971, you are still required to file an annual report for 1971 if you earned more than $1680.00. You will not be required to file an annual report of earnings with Social Security for 1972, however, since there will be no months in 1972 in which you are under age 72.

Kissinger Game — West Calls It 'Swinger'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The rush to bring out new adult board games that tie in with current events has now produced a game called "Eccentric."

The object of the game is to discover the whereabouts of a certain "Harold R. Who."

Suspecting that this might be a pseudonym, I asked a spokesman for the company that invented the game if he knew Mr. Who's real identity.

"We can't use his actual name without being sued," the spokesman said. "However, I can tell you that Mr. Who is an elusive figure who slips in and out of various cities where he is never seen, and whose name has been linked with many beautiful women."

I said, "Why would Henry Kissinger sue you?"

"NOT THAT elusive figure," the spokesman said. "This one is a billionaire recluse whose name has been in the news lately in connection with a publishing venture."

Being unable to think of anyone who fitted that description, I lost interest in "Eccentric." But I still think a Henry Kissinger game might be interesting.

The adventures of the peripatetic White House aide should guarantee both excitement and sensuality, albeit vicarious.

This game, if there isn't already a game by that name, could perhaps be called "Swinger."

1. Object of the game: The object is to discover where Kissinger has gone this time.

2. Equipment: The game is played on a board showing a map of the world. Other equipment includes five colored markers, one pair of dice, three decks of cards and eight movie starlets.

3. THE RULES: Each player selects a marker and places it on the space where the word GO is superimposed over a picture of the White House.

Play begins by drawing a RUMOR card containing an unconfirmed report that Kissinger has slipped out of Washington on another secret diplomatic assignment.

Then the player draws a COVER STORY card, quoting the White House as saying that Kissinger is somewhere else having lunch with a movie starlet.

By rolling the dice to determine his moves, the player proceeds to the RUMOR destination by way of the COVER STORY detour. Then he checks out the rumor by drawing a CHECK OUT card.

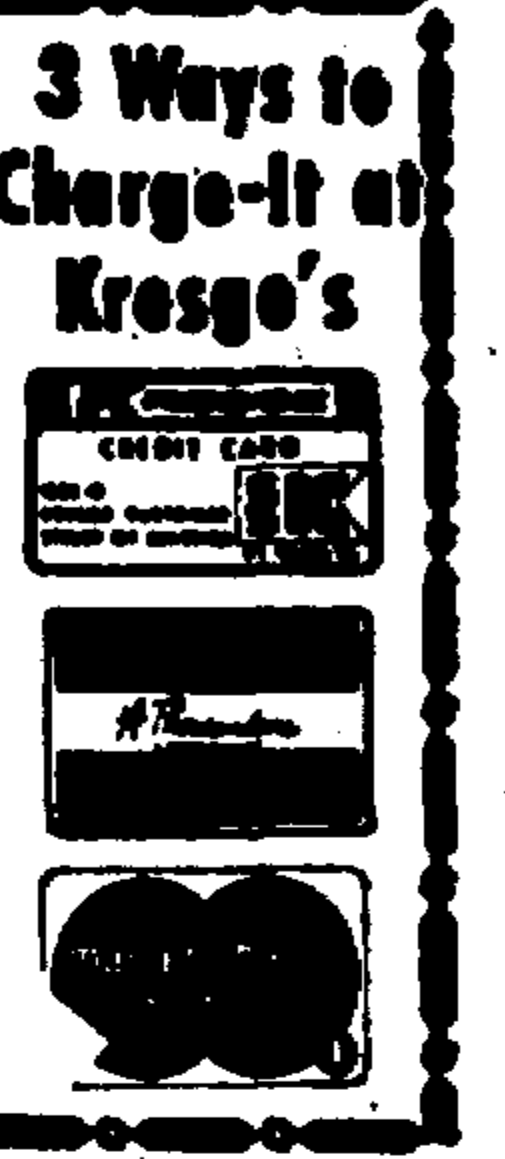

If the rumor is "Denied," the player draws another RUMOR card and proceeds as before. The first player to "confirm" a rumor wins.

4. Prize: The winner takes one of the starlets to lunch.

ANNOUNCEMENT

AGE DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT ACT.

HELP WANTED headings directed specifically toward either men or women are used merely for the convenience of our readers, to let them know which jobs have historically been more attractive to persons of one sex than the other. The placement of an ad under a heading is not in itself an expression of a preference, limitation, specification or discrimination based on sex. For further information contact the Wage and Hour Division Office of U.S. Department of Labor at 4032 N. Milwaukee Ave., Chicago, Illinois. Telephone (312) 736-2909.

Picnic Pot Roast

Menu
Barbecued Pot Roast
Baked Potatoes
Blue Cheese Slaw
Fresh Fruit

Barbecued Pot Roast

- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 3 tablespoons hickory-flavor catsup
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 round bone pot roasts, 2-inches thick (approx. 2 - 2 1/2 lbs. each)
- Salt
- Pepper
- Green pepper strips
- Tomato wedges
- Carrot sticks

In a small saucepan combine butter, onion, catsup, Worcestershire sauce, vinegar, mustard and salt. Stir over low heat until butter is melted; set aside. Trim excess fat from pot roasts. Over hot coals brown meat about 5 minutes per side; salt and pepper each side after browning. Tear off two 5-foot lengths of aluminum foil; fold each length double. Center 1 roast on each foil strip. Cover with vegetables; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour 1/2 cup sauce over each pot roast. Bring up sides of foil; fold down onto meat in tight double folds; fold ends over and over up close to meat. Place over slow coals 1 1/2 - 2 hours or until tender. Makes 8 servings.

Blue Cheese Slaw

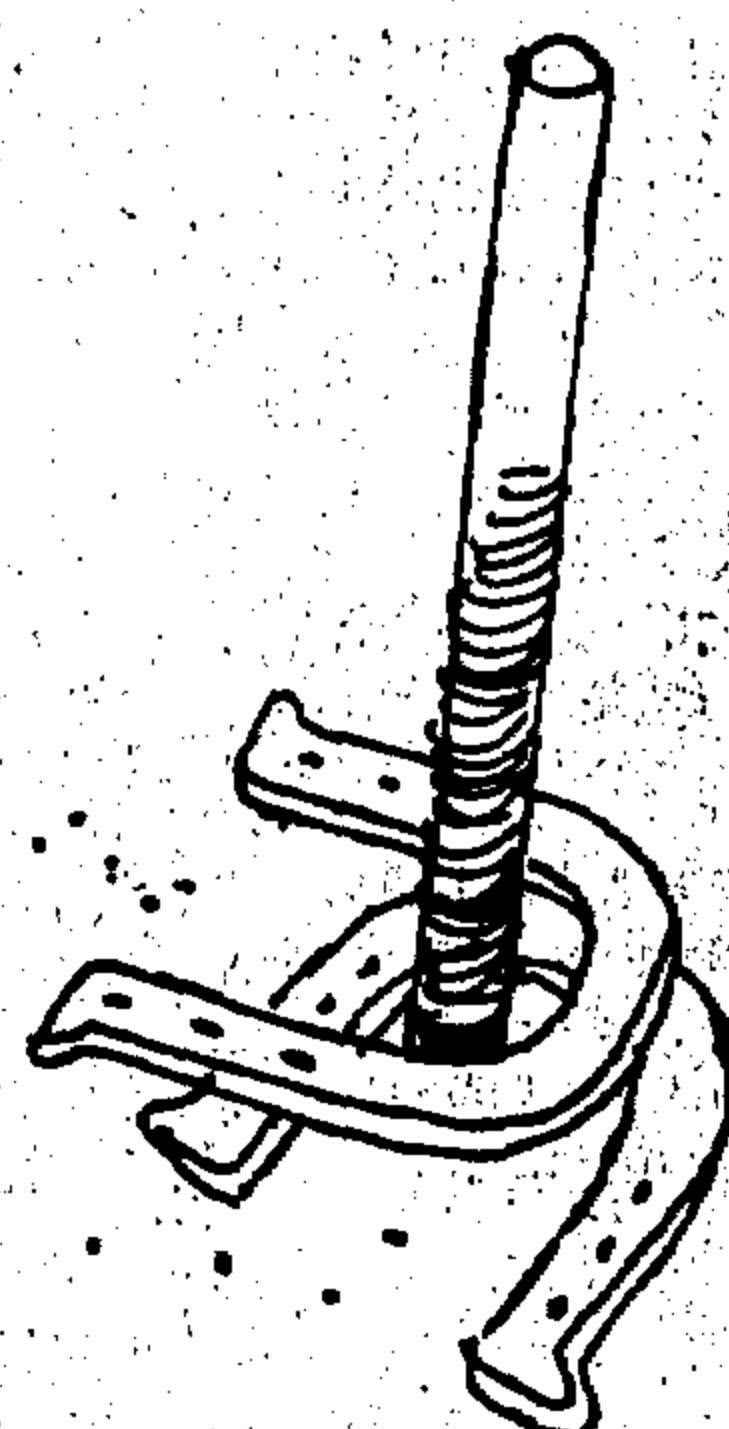

- 6 cups shredded cabbage (red and white)
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onion
- 1 cup (4 oz.) crumbled Blue cheese
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 2 tablespoons light cream or half and half
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- Dash of salt

In a large bowl combine cabbage and onion; chill thoroughly. In a small mixing bowl beat together Blue cheese, sour cream, cream, lemon juice, sugar and salt. Just before serving add dressing to cabbage; toss lightly. Makes 8 servings.

Pot roast is a good meal, summer or winter, indoors or out. It's a good choice not only for the family, but for guests or a picnic; as this recipe proves. And this recipe for Barbecued Pot Roast is so versatile you can serve it at home, in the backyard, or miles away at some park or beach.

Perhaps you're traveling or spending weekends at a summer cottage. If you want to try this pot roast dinner when you're camping you'll find it surprisingly practical. Any supermarket has the pot roast, a roadside stand may supply the vegetables for the roast as well as the crisp cole slaw. When you plan to camp out it's economical to bring along seasonings and condiments from home. Your picnic cooler can be packed with dairy foods for a short supply. They, too, are easy to buy along with other provisions. You'll need butter for the sauce and the baked potatoes, Blue cheese, half and half and dairy sour cream for the slaw.

Brown your twin pot roasts over hot coals (the charcoal grill will do the job nicely), then fold a double layer of aluminum foil around the meat, top with vegetables and spoon on the barbecue sauce. While they simmer and the flavors blend, bake potatoes on the grill, also wrapped in foil. Mix up a big bowl of Blue Cheese Slaw, lively with sour cream, onion and lemon juice, and pour mugs of chilled milk from the vacuum jug. Your family will be delighted with this savory meal, at home or away.

Pie-Full Of Zesty Salad

Comes spring, come salads — lots and lots of salads. When days are warmer, they're the coolest eating, the easiest fixing. But even in pleasant weather you can get tired serving the same kind of salads all the time. If you're looking for a new salad here's one that's satisfying yet perky; different yet familiar; elegant yet uncomplicated. What is it? It's popular tuna and potato salad gone fancy — served in a next of tender, flaky Cheddar cheese pastry lined with crisp leafy greens. Now there's a pie-full of salad pleasure for you!

Tuna dishes, plain or fancy, make it easy to provide a satisfying complete protein meal with small effort. The fact is that canned tuna, its tempting flavor sealed in by vegetable oil, is hard to beat for complete protein nourishment, for convenience and for economy. It's readily understandable why homemakers are always on the lookout for something new to make with canned tuna.

For all its glamorous looks, Tuna-Potato Salad Pie, too, is simple to prepare. You can make and bake the Cheddar cheese pastry shell in the morning — and just before dinner mix up the tangy tuna-potato salad. Then, at serving time, arrange the salad in the pie shell with greens, as directed in the recipe. It's only a matter of minutes.

For a free copy of the attractive new recipe booklet, "Tuna: As You Like It" send your name and address to: Tuna Research Foundation, Box 537, 215 Cannery Street, Terminal Island, Calif. 90731.

TUNA-POTATO SALAD PIE

- 5 to 6 medium white potatoes
- 2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil, divided
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1/4 cup sliced scallions or chopped onions
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- Parsley or lettuce

Cook potatoes in boiling salted water until tender. Drain; dice potatoes while still hot. In large bowl, combine diced potatoes with tuna, vinegar, mayonnaise, mustard, scallions, celery, salt and Tabasco. Pour tuna-potato mixture into prepared Cheddar Shell, pile mixture high at the center and sides, forming a circular "well" around the middle of the pie. Line "well" with parsley or small pieces of lettuce. Drain second can of tuna; flake or cut into chunks. Fill "well" with pieces of tuna. Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

CHEDDAR SHELL

- 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1/4 cup sharp Cheddar cheese spread
- 4 to 5 tablespoons cold water
- 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

Sift flour and salt together into large bowl. Cut in shortening and cheese. Sprinkle in water, a tablespoon at a time, and Tabasco, and toss lightly with a fork after each addition. Form ball of dough gently with hands. Roll out dough on lightly floured bread board or pastry cloth. Fit pastry into 9-inch pie plate. Flute edges; prick bottom and sides of pastry with fork to prevent shrinking. Bake in 450 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Cool thoroughly before adding filling. Yield: 1 9-inch pie shell.

Ten Course Chinese Banquet

Dinner Fit For The President

by JEANNE LESEM

UPI — If Confucius didn't say it, he should have: She who plans to attend Chinese banquet should fast until meal time.

The desirability of such a diet became apparent when I arose recently from a meal that had been described in advance as a 10-course banquet. It actually consisted of 17 courses, if you counted the appetizers individually. Or 19, if you included two main course dishes prepared in a cooking demonstration before the meal began.

The banquet was given by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore S. H. Dee to celebrate their 16th wedding anniversary. It was based on published menus of President Nixon's state dinner in Peking. Dee, an insurance and investment executive who is active in Chinatown organizations here, said he chose the bill of fare to show that the United States had both the chefs and the ingredients to copy the presidential feast.

Dee chose Foo Chow Restaurant, on Manhattan's upper East Side, because its supervising chef, Tien-Bao "Terry" Chow, has had White House experience. While chef at the Chinese Embassy in Washington, he had prepared special dishes for the Executive Mansion during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. He now is semi-retired, but oversees the kitchen at his daughter's restaurant. His son-in-law, Alexander Lam, is its head chef.

The anniversary banquet began with nine appetizers, which Mrs. Dee called cold cuts. She said she often serves them for parties at home because their advance preparation lets her spend more time with their guests. Our favorites were wedges of century eggs and a salad-like mixture of shredded turnip, carrots, scallions and jellyfish, lightly dressed with sesame oil.

Century eggs aren't really that old.

Dee said they're aged for about 100 days in a claylike mixture that includes lime. The eggs have a marbled appearance, ranging from a brown exterior through shades of green to yellow. The flavor is often compared to that of aged cheese, which is unfortunate. The eggs we ate were neither smelly nor strong.

THE JELLYFISH salad was delicate, with no fishy flavor. Other dishes that were especially appealing included chicken with chestnuts, sweet walnut cream soup, a dessert and sweet pungent Mandarin fish. The chestnuts were French marrons, not the water chestnuts commonly used in Oriental cookery.

The fish was spectacular-looking, fried whole so that its tail curved in the air and it appeared to be swimming in sauce on the platter.

Feng Ling Dee, a skilled cook herself, showed me at her home how to prepare sweet pungent Mandarin fish.

Rub a 1 1/2-pound whole, eviscerated, scaled yellowfish, sea bass or whiting inside and out with 1 tablespoon of soy sauce and 2 teaspoons of sherry. Refrigerate, covered, overnight.

In advance, wash and peel 1 average carrot, 1/2 green pepper, 1 scallion and 2 3 thin rounds of fresh ginger and cut all into matchlike shreds. Add to this 1 tablespoon each of matchlike shreds of cooked Virginia ham, lean fresh pork slightly frozen to make slicing easy, canned, drained bamboo shoots and 2 dried Chinese mushrooms softened in warm water.

At mealtime, dry fish well with paper towels, coat well with cornstarch, make 3 diagonal slices through to bone on each side and fry about 5 minutes on each side in 2 cups of oil heated to sizzling in a 12-inch skillet. Fish should be golden brown and crisp.

After turning fish, fry vegetable-meat mixture in 2 tablespoons of oil in a preheated pan for 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add a blend of 1/4 cup each of water and white vinegar, 2 teaspoons each of sherry and soy sauce, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1/2 cup of sugar and 1/4 teaspoon of sesame oil. Cook about 4 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add 1 tablespoon of cornstarch dissolved in 2 tablespoons of water. Cook about 1 1/2 minutes more, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens.

Remove fish to platter, blot with paper towels to remove excess oil, and pour sauce over fish. Makes 2 American or 4 Chinese servings.

Beef Patties In Applesauce

Ground beef is America's most versatile food favorite. The dozens of different ground beef recipes packed in a cook's file prove it. Yet, no matter how many are on hand, another good recipe for this popular meat choice is always welcomed.

Ground beef's versatility is due, in part, to the wonderful flavor combinations it makes with many other foods. Saucy Beef-Sausage Patties is a different and delicious way to put this economical and nutritious meat to good use.

SAUCY BEEF-SAUUSAGE PATTIES

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/2 pound pork sausage
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

- 1 cup applesauce
- 1/3 cup catsup
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine beef, pork sausage and 1/2 teaspoon salt and shape into 6 patties 1/2 inch thick. Brown on both sides over low heat. Pour off drippings. Combine applesauce, catsup, onion, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt and cinnamon and pour over patties. Cover tightly and cook slowly 15 minutes or until well done. Serve sauce over patties. 6 servings.

Braised Celery

- 2 stalks Florida Celery
- 1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
- 2 tablespoons dehydrated onion flakes
- 1 chicken bouillon cube
- 1 1/4 cups boiling water
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco

Cut celery stalks crosswise about 8" from bottom. (Use leaves for preparing soups, dressing or as a garnish.) Cut each stalk lengthwise into 4 wedges; arrange celery wedges in large skillet. Scatter mushrooms and onion flakes over wedges. Dissolve bouillon cube in water; add to skillet along with salt and Tabasco. Bring just to boil, reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes, covered, or until celery is tender but still crisp. Makes 8 servings.

- 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
- 1/4 cup boiling water

Trim celery; discard leaves or save for later use. Cut ribs into 1/2" slices (makes about 2 quarts). In a medium saucepan, dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Add celery, cover and simmer 12-15 minutes or until celery is tender but still crisp, stirring occasionally. Makes 6 servings.

Rock Lobster Polynesian

Although lobster and other seafood dishes are year-round delights, home-makers begin to think more of preparing them now that summery weather is here. This probably is a hangover from days when seafoods were more seasonal than now. Refrigeration and freezing techniques put delicate seafoods in reach of most supermarket shoppers' hands. Here is a different approach to lobster... a Rock Lobster Polynesian, using South African rock lobster tails, flaked coconut, apple and curry powder. Serve this with hot rice or try a cold rice salad as a contrast to the hot casserole.

ROCK LOBSTER POLYNESIAN

- 3 packages (8 ounce each) South African rock lobster tails
- 1 can (3 1/2-ounce) flaked coconut
- 3 cups milk
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 sour apple, peeled and chopped

- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons curry powder
- Juice of 1 lemon
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- Salt

Drop frozen rock lobster into boiling salted water. When water reboils, boil for 1 minute. Drain and drench lobster with cold water. With scissors, remove underside membrane and pull out meat in one piece. Cut into slices. Combine coconut and milk and heat to the boiling point. Strain coconut and milk, pressing out all liquid. Reserve. Melt butter and saute apple and onion until soft. Sprinkle with flour and curry. Gradually stir in coconut milk. Cook while stirring until sauce bubbles and thickens. Stir in lemon juice and ginger. Add rock lobster slices and reheat until bubbly. Season to taste with salt. Serve spooned over rice. Garnish with quartered pineapple slices. Makes 6 servings.

Party Ham

Curemaster's Party Glaze

A ham glaze developed by Doc Cipra of Austin, Minn., a curemaster of hams who also likes to cook, is a perfect idea for a patio party. The Curemaster's glaze is a simple pineapple juice - brown sugar mixture, but it's enhanced with mustard and lemon juice.

Round out the menu with German potato salad, cole slaw with celery seed, slices of buttered black bread and fresh strawberry pie.

CUREMASTER'S GLAZE FOR PATIO PARTY HAM

- 6 pound specially cured ham
- 1/2 cup pineapple juice
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 4 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 2 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice

Bake cured ham as directed on label. Mix together pineapple juice, brown sugar, mustard and lemon juice. Spoon over ham last half hour of baking. 12 generous servings.

Good health is without a doubt the greatest asset anyone can have. Without it we cannot go about our daily work or play with enthusiasm and pleasure.

No single factor is more important to the achievement and maintenance of good health as nutrition. Therefore it is important that everyone knows a little about the subject, for the kinds of food we eat can make the difference between feeling all right and a radiant good health, a true joie de vivre.

There are forty known essential nutrients, and a lack of any one of them can result in the underproduction of an estimated 10,000 compounds that our bodies require. Health, vitality and longevity are the result of all the elements working together in perfect harmony.

Proteins are the most important of the five big elements. Without them our bodies cannot replace the cells and tissues which are constantly dying. There are two types of proteins: complete proteins which contain all the known amino acids, such as eggs, milk and milk products, cheese, wheat germ and seafood. Incomplete protein foods, such as grains, beans and most nuts are of value as proteins only when combined with a complete protein food.

Canned salmon is one of the most convenient and economical complete protein food. It is also one of the best sources of vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin, and many of the most important minerals. When canned salmon is combined with milk and cheese in a dish such as Salmon Casserole with Cheese Swirls, most of the essential nutrients are available to your family in a delicious and satisfying meal. Add a crisp green salad, some fruit for dessert and your nutritional picture is complete.

SALMON CASSEROLE WITH CHEESE SWIRLS

- 3 tablespoons safflower or peanut oil
- 1/3 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/3 cup flour
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 1 pound can salmon
- 10 1/2 ounce can condensed chicken with rice soup
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Cheese Swirls

Grease a 10x6x1 1/2 inch baking dish. In saucepan heat oil and in it saute green pepper and onion for five minutes. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in milk and salmon liquid from can. Cook over low heat, stirring, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Stir in soup, salmon and lemon juice. Pour into greased dish and top with cheese swirls. Bake in a preheated 425 degree oven for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

CHEESE SWIRLS

- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 cup toasted wheat germ
- 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2/3 cup milk
- 2 cups shredded sharp cheese
- 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper

In mixing bowl combine flour, wheat germ, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add milk and mix with a fork until dough holds together. Turn out on lightly floured board, and knead gently about 12 kneading strokes. Roll dough into a 12-inch square. Sprinkle with cheese and cayenne. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut into 1/2 inch slices.

Stock Frozen Beef The Good Old Days?

Does your ground beef supply for burgers disappear in face of brisk summer demand? A stock of ground beef patties in the freezer saves extra trips to the store. For convenience in meeting individual and varying demands, shape ground beef in patties and securely wrap each separately in foil or freezer film. Or place two layers of waxed paper or foil between each patty (for easy separation), place in transparent freezer bag, seal and freeze. Burgers can be cooked from the frozen state; just place on broiler rack a bit further from the heat and allow additional time.

How would you like to have livestock and meat prices rolled back to where they were 20 years ago? Sound good? But what about rolling back income as well? The average breadwinner, while paying some 30 per cent less for meat would find that his take-home pay had been cut to less than half of what it is today! On the other hand, livestock producers would be getting very little less than they are today... since cattle and hog prices have increased only 20 per cent in the past two decades. In the same period personal disposable income of the average American consumer has increased 149 per cent.

Walnut Cream Roll

For Any Special Occasion

Special occasion desserts are a timely topic the year around. We're always looking for that "something different" too, and a perfect example of this is California Walnut Cream Roll. You can flavor it vanilla, or mocha simply by adding instant coffee powder. Or use cocoa powder for an equally tempting cocoa flavored roll. Whatever the flavor, the cake is extra good with crunchy, toasted California walnuts.

To toast the walnuts just drop the walnut kernels into rapidly boiling water and boil three minutes. Drain well. Then spread the kernels evenly in a shallow pan and bake at 350 degrees, stirring often, for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden. Then use the toasted walnuts in the California Walnut Cream Roll and better yet, toast extra to use in other recipes. For example, add chopped toasted walnuts to a tossed green salad or use them as croutons in a Caesar salad. Also, try them salted and seasoned. While they are still hot from the toasting, brush them lightly with butter and sprinkle generously with salt or with seasoned salt.

CALIFORNIA WALNUT CREAM ROLL

1 cup toasted California walnuts
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cooking oil
3 egg yolks
1/3 cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
Cream filling
Glaze

Chop walnuts fine; sift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt into small mixing bowl. Make a well in center and add oil, egg yolks, water and vanilla; beat with spoon until smooth. Beat egg whites in medium-size deep bowl with cream of tartar until very stiff peaks form. Gradually pour egg yolk mixture over whites, gently folding in with rubber scraper until blended; gently fold in finely chopped walnuts. Pour batter into a jelly roll pan (15 1/2 x 10 1/2 inches) with bottom lined with foil. Spread gently in an even layer. Bake at 375 degrees about 15 minutes until top springs back when lightly touched. Loosen edges and turn out upside down on a towel generously sprinkled with sifted powdered sugar. Carefully remove foil; trim off any stiff edges. While cake is still warm, roll cake and towel up from narrow end. Cool on wire rack. Unroll cake and remove towel. Spread cooled surface with Cream Filling and roll up again. Spread glaze over top and sprinkle with additional chopped walnuts. Makes eight servings.

Cream Filling: beat one cup whipping cream with 1/2 teaspoon salt and one teaspoon vanilla until it begins to thicken. Beat in 1/4 cup brown or granulated sugar, beating only until mixture holds its shape.

Variations: for Mocha flavor, beat in one teaspoon instant coffee powder. For Cocoa flavor beat in three to four tablespoons cocoa powder.

Glaze: beat two tablespoons soft butter, one cup sifted powdered sugar and two or three teaspoons hot water together until creamy and smooth.

Potato Serving Guide

The servings referred to on packages of instant Idaho potatoes usually measure 4 ounces or 1-2 cup each, unless otherwise stated. But a 4-serving package doesn't necessarily serve four persons. Some diners will have two helpings, another may take less than 1/2 cup and children like differing amounts. Let experience guide you in deciding how much to prepare for a single meal.

Cherry Trifle

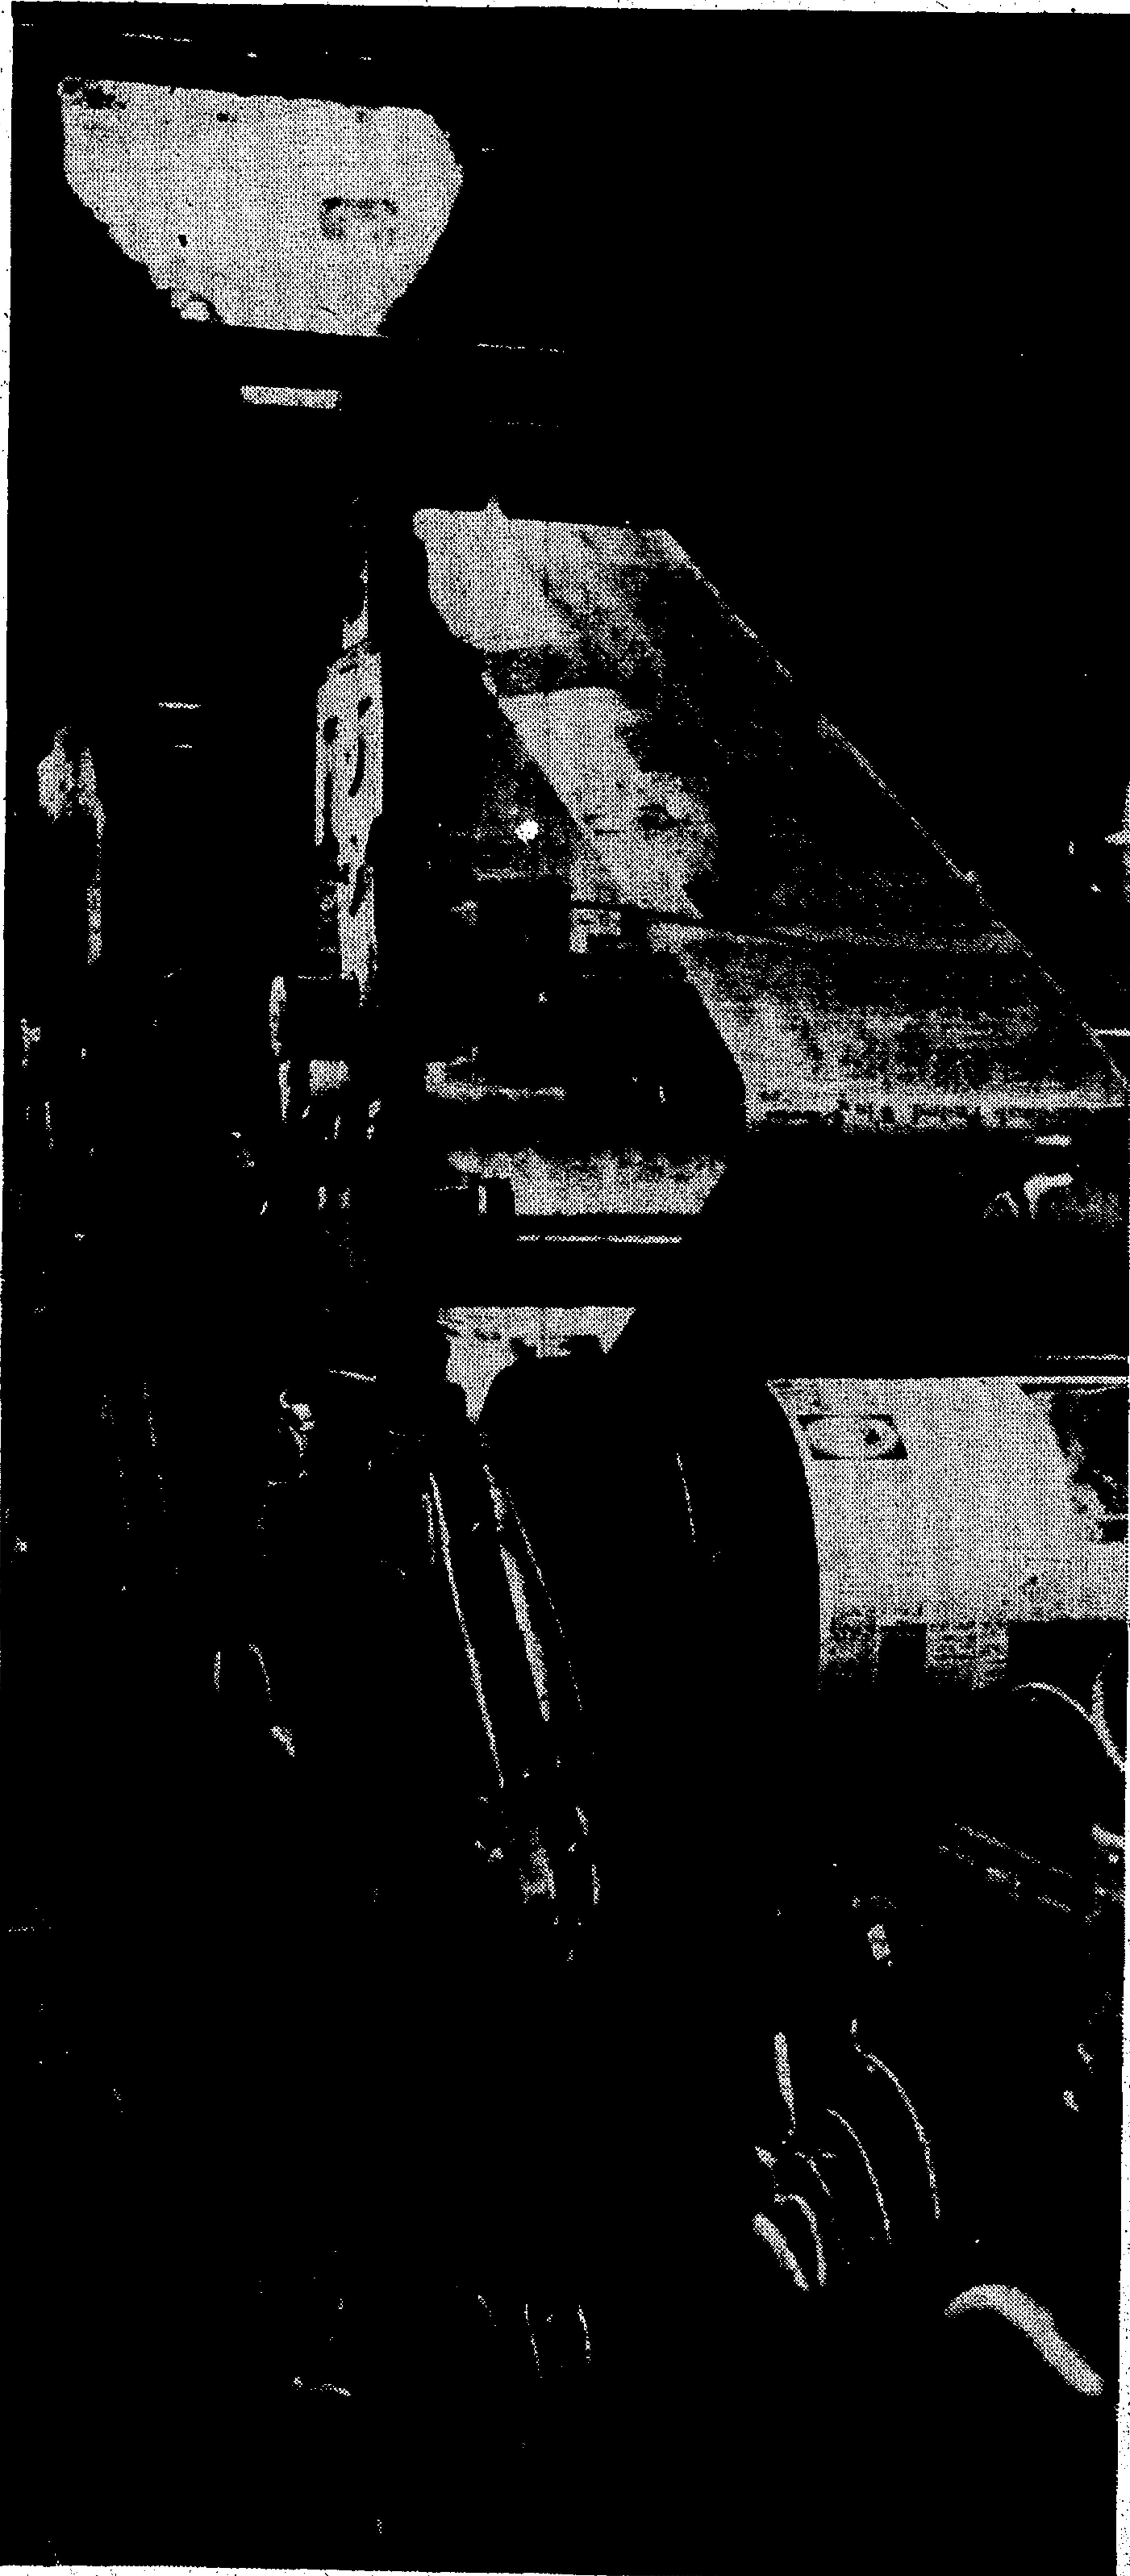

A listing of ingredients soon makes one realize that a "trifle" is anything but insignificant. Traditionally a trifle is a dessert of sponge cake spread with jam or jelly, sprinkled with crumbled macaroons, soaked in wine and served with custard and whipped cream. Here is a cherry trifle to keep dessert lovers a trifle happy.

CHERRY TRIFLE

2 packages (3 ounces each) ladyfingers, split
1 jar (8 ounces) red maraschino cherries
Cream sherry or other sweet wine
2 cups milk
1/3 cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Toasted slivered almonds
Separate ladyfingers and spread out on tray with soft side up. Drain cherries, pour syrup into measuring cup. Add enough sherry to syrup to make 3/4-cup liquid. Sprinkle syrup mixture over ladyfingers and cover while making custard. Chop cherries and set aside. Heat milk in top of double boiler until hot. Blend 1/3-cup sugar, salt and cornstarch in large bowl. Beat in eggs. Gradually add the hot milk to egg mixture, stirring constantly. Return to top of double boiler and cook, stirring constantly over simmering water until thickened. Remove from the heat and add 1 teaspoon vanilla and chopped cherries. Cool custard to lukewarm, stirring occasionally. Line a 1 1/2-quart glass compote or bowl with ladyfingers. Layer custard with remaining ladyfingers. Chill about 4 hours. Whip cream with 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/2-teaspoon vanilla until soft peaks form. Spread cream over trifle and garnish with almonds. Makes 8 servings.

Rolling out the news... 55,200 miles a year!

Keeping the people of the Northwest suburbs informed puts a lot of mileage on our presses. Throughout the year they will roll out 55,200 miles of news and advertising. Page to page, this would form a newsprint ribbon reaching twice around the world!

But more important than length is the depth of coverage our reporters strive to give the happenings of your dynamic suburbs ... a depth found in each of the nine daily Herald newspapers.

This is a boast you can share ... for it is your demand as a concerned, involved citizen for daily local news that keeps the Herald presses rolling.

Consumer Education Contest Offers Guidelines To Help Stop Inflation

by JEANNE LESEM

A prize-winning team in a Girls Club consumer education contest is convinced that "inflation can be stopped if we put our minds to it."

The team's and other entries contained some guidelines.

One team saved only 43 cents when they comparison-shopped two supermarkets in Wichita Falls, Tex., for a long list of groceries. They concluded that the one-time small saving could add up to a substantial one if a shopper used the lower-priced store regularly.

Another team suggested that shoppers compare weights and quality in selecting purchases: the cheapest sometimes is a better value and as good in quality as a higher-priced counterpart.

In West Ventura, Calif., a four-girl team found a need for low-cost modern markets in low-income areas. They said many of their neighbors had no cars, and the community's bus service was inadequate.

"MANY FAMILIES are trapped into paying high prices and not being able to buy good fresh fruits and vegetables," they added. "It's important for people on welfare to be able to buy fresh food and good quality meats."

They also faulted the store for unsanitary conditions, especially in the meat and bread departments, poor service, grouchy, unpleasant cashiers, slow service, rotten or overripe produce and high prices.

The team report asked for more information on the sizes and volume of food packages.

"A LOT doesn't make sense," they wrote in their scrapbook, adding that they were confused by conflicting buying advice.

This contest, sponsored annually by the Girls Clubs of America and the Sperry & Hutchinson Foundation, is judged on wise buying practices, well-balanced meals, cooking techniques and creative presentation of food. Extra points were earned by submitting an improved supermarket layout, interviewing a super-market manager, describing the perfect supermarket or explaining how their contest experiences were used at home.

The menus, recipes and table settings chosen, often by clipping color illustrations from women's magazines, reflected the strong influence exerted by those and other periodicals, including newspaper food sections.

FANCY-LOOKING desserts made from simple ingredients were popular. One team used several flavors of gelatin to make layered dessert in parfait glasses. Another produced "tropical fluff" — a blend of red gelatin and frozen dessert whip.

Cost of meals prepared by winning teams ranged from $4.23 to $13.14. The meals were planned to serve six adults. A $300 S&H Foundation scholarship was awarded individual winners on each of four senior teams.

The winning menu with the lowest cost per serving — 53 cents — consisted of ham loaf with pineapple and green cherries, cauliflower with white sauce and pimientos, green beans, rolls, gelatin dessert and tea. The $13.14 menu produced a sirloin steak dinner for six adults at a cost of $2.19 per person.

Spinach salad with an unusual honey-flavored dressing was on a winning menu in the Girls Club — S&H Foundation consumer education contest. The team that submitted it said they'd found fresh spin-ach sometimes was cheaper than lettuce as a salad green. Here's the recipe:

With a rotary beater or medium speed on an electric hand mixer, blend 1 cup of salad oil with ½ cup of catsup, 1 1/3 cup each of vinegar and honey and 1 teaspoon each of salt, paprika and grated onion. Add 1 clove of garlic. Let stand 10 minutes, beat again, remove garlic and toss lightly with a mixture of 2 1-pound bags of fresh spinach, washed, dried and torn into bite-size pieces, a small amount of romaine lettuce for contrast and contents of 1 small can of mandarin oranges, drained. Serves 6.

Easy Dessert

Delicate Apricot Pastries make an impressive dessert guests will enjoy while the hostess smiles knowingly. They are made with convenience foods such as pie crust mix, cream cheese and canned apricots. Ideal for a party, the apricot pastries also go well with ice cream or sherbet.

APRICOT PASTRIES

- 1 can (30 ounces) apricot halves, drained
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 package (10 ounces) pie crust mix
- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 tablespoon water

Puree apricots in electric blender or food mill. Blend sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Add apricot puree and lemon juice. Bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly; simmer one minute. Remove from heat and cool thoroughly. Blend pie crust mix, cream cheese and milk with pastry blender. Divide dough in half. Roll each part to a 10x12-inch rectangle on lightly floured surface. Cut into 2-inch squares; place on ungreased baking sheet. Place rounded teaspoon of apricot filling in center of each square. Moisten diagonal corners, then overlap at center to achieve diamond shapes. Beat egg yolk and water together; brush over pastries. Bake in 400-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes about 5 dozen tasty pastries.

Accident Prevention

Add accident prevention to cooking chores in the kitchen. Keep flammables away from the heat that includes long hair and kimono sleeves.

To avoid threat of fire, sponge away food spills and grease on the kitchen stove.

Mostly For Men

by Charles Flynn

When fresh rhubarb is plentiful and economical, the acid leafstalks of this plant can add some interesting dishes in menu planning.

Edible rhubarb usually is either green stemmed or partially red-stemmed and is days gone by the plant was regarded as a valuable spring tonic for young and old. Few farm families fail to have a rhubarb patch and even city dwellers often cultivate a root or two since productivity is high even in restricted places.

One of my favorites utilizing rhubarb is this crisp made by blending ½ cup butter or margarine and ½ cup sugar thoroughly. Add 2 eggs and beat well. Stir in ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cups cubes of toasted bread and 4 cups cereal flakes (corn or wheat).

Spread half of the mixture in 2 baking pans (or 1 large pan) and arrange diced fresh rhubarb evenly over the top. You'll need 4 cups for the recipe. Sprinkle rhubarb with ¼ cup white sugar then cover with the other half of the bread-cereal mixture. Bake in a 375-degree oven for 40 minutes, testing to be sure rhubarb is tender.

THIS IS DELICIOUS served warm with whipped cream. An interesting variation is Rhubarb and Banana pudding, made in the same manner. However, use brown instead of white sugar and omit cereal. When the rhubarb has been arranged over the dry mixture slice 2 bananas on top, place remaining half of mixture as above, then sprinkle with a blend of 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon orange juice and 2 tablespoons water before baking. Either recipe makes 10 servings.

Mrs. Judy Manning of Wichita, Kan., sends along this excellent method of preparing Scalloped Rhubarb. Melt 1 stick (¼ pound) of butter or margarine and stir in 3 cups cubed stale bread. Add 1 cup sugar and 2 cups diced fresh rhubarb and mix very well.

Use oblong greased baking pan. Put in rhubarb mixture leveling down and add 1 tab of water in each corner of the pan. Bake 45 minutes at 325 degrees. Serves 4 to 6.

Party Perfect Rainbow Parfaits

"Parfait" is the French word for "perfect" — and that just about describes these rainbow desserts. They're at once sweet and tangy, vivid with layers of chiffon gel, and provide a party dessert guaranteed to delight guests.

Rainbow Parfaits offer all the fine natural flavor and convenience of all dishes made with unflavored gelatine. The preparation takes some time — but who cares when it comes to such spectacular party fare? And keep in mind that the desserts may be made up ahead, avoiding any last-minute fussing.

The velvety layers are based on Swiss-style yogurt for a sweet-and-tangy flavor surprise. You prepare the separate layers of strawberry, almond and lime and combine with the gelatine as the recipe indicates. The cooking time is only three minutes — the length of time required to dissolve gelatine in liquid. Then the mixtures are chilled, still separate, until they are thick enough to mound. Pile in layers in parfait glasses and chill until serving time. Fresh strawberry garnish adds a handsome party note, too. And there you have a really sophisticated, delectable and most unusual party dessert.

The flavor provided by the yogurt has been familiar in the Mediterranean for about 4,000 years — and has scaled the heights of popularity in Europe within the past 25 years. Since then, this velvety product has jetted its way onto America's menus with ever-increasing frequency. And the duo of flavorful yogurt and unflavored gelatine combine in a variation of fine dishes.

Try the parfaits; try your own versions. It's a winning combination for any summer hostess.

RAINBOW PARFAITS

Strawberry Layer:

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ¼ cup cold water
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 cup (one 8-ounce container) Swiss-style strawberry yogurt
- ¼ cup cold water

Almond Layer:

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ¼ cup cold water

- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup (one 8-ounce container) Swiss-style plain yogurt
- ¼ cup cold water
- ½ teaspoon almond extract

Lime Layer:

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ¼ cup reconstituted frozen limeade concentrate
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 cup (one 8-ounce container) Swiss-style plain yogurt
- ¼ cup reconstituted frozen limeade concentrate

Prepare strawberry, almond and lime mixtures. For each one, sprinkle gelatine over ¼ cup cold liquid in saucepan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, 3 or 4 minutes. Remove from heat; add sugar and stir until dissolved. Stir in yogurt and ¼ cup cold liquid. Add almond extract to the almond mixture. Add a few drops of green food coloring to the lime layer. Chill mixtures, stirring occasionally, until they are thickened and will mound, or "pile up." Spoon strawberry mixture, then almond mixture and then lime mixture into parfait glasses to make 3 layers. Chill until firm, about 2 hours. Yield: 8 servings.

Fruit Topics

ACCENT THE flavor of roast pork or pork chops with tangy hot peaches. Stir a spoonful of mango chutney into mayonnaise, and spoon a little into canned cling peach halves. Sprinkle lightly with flaked coconut and heat in hot oven about 10 minutes, or run under broiler briefly. Garnish the meat platter with peaches.

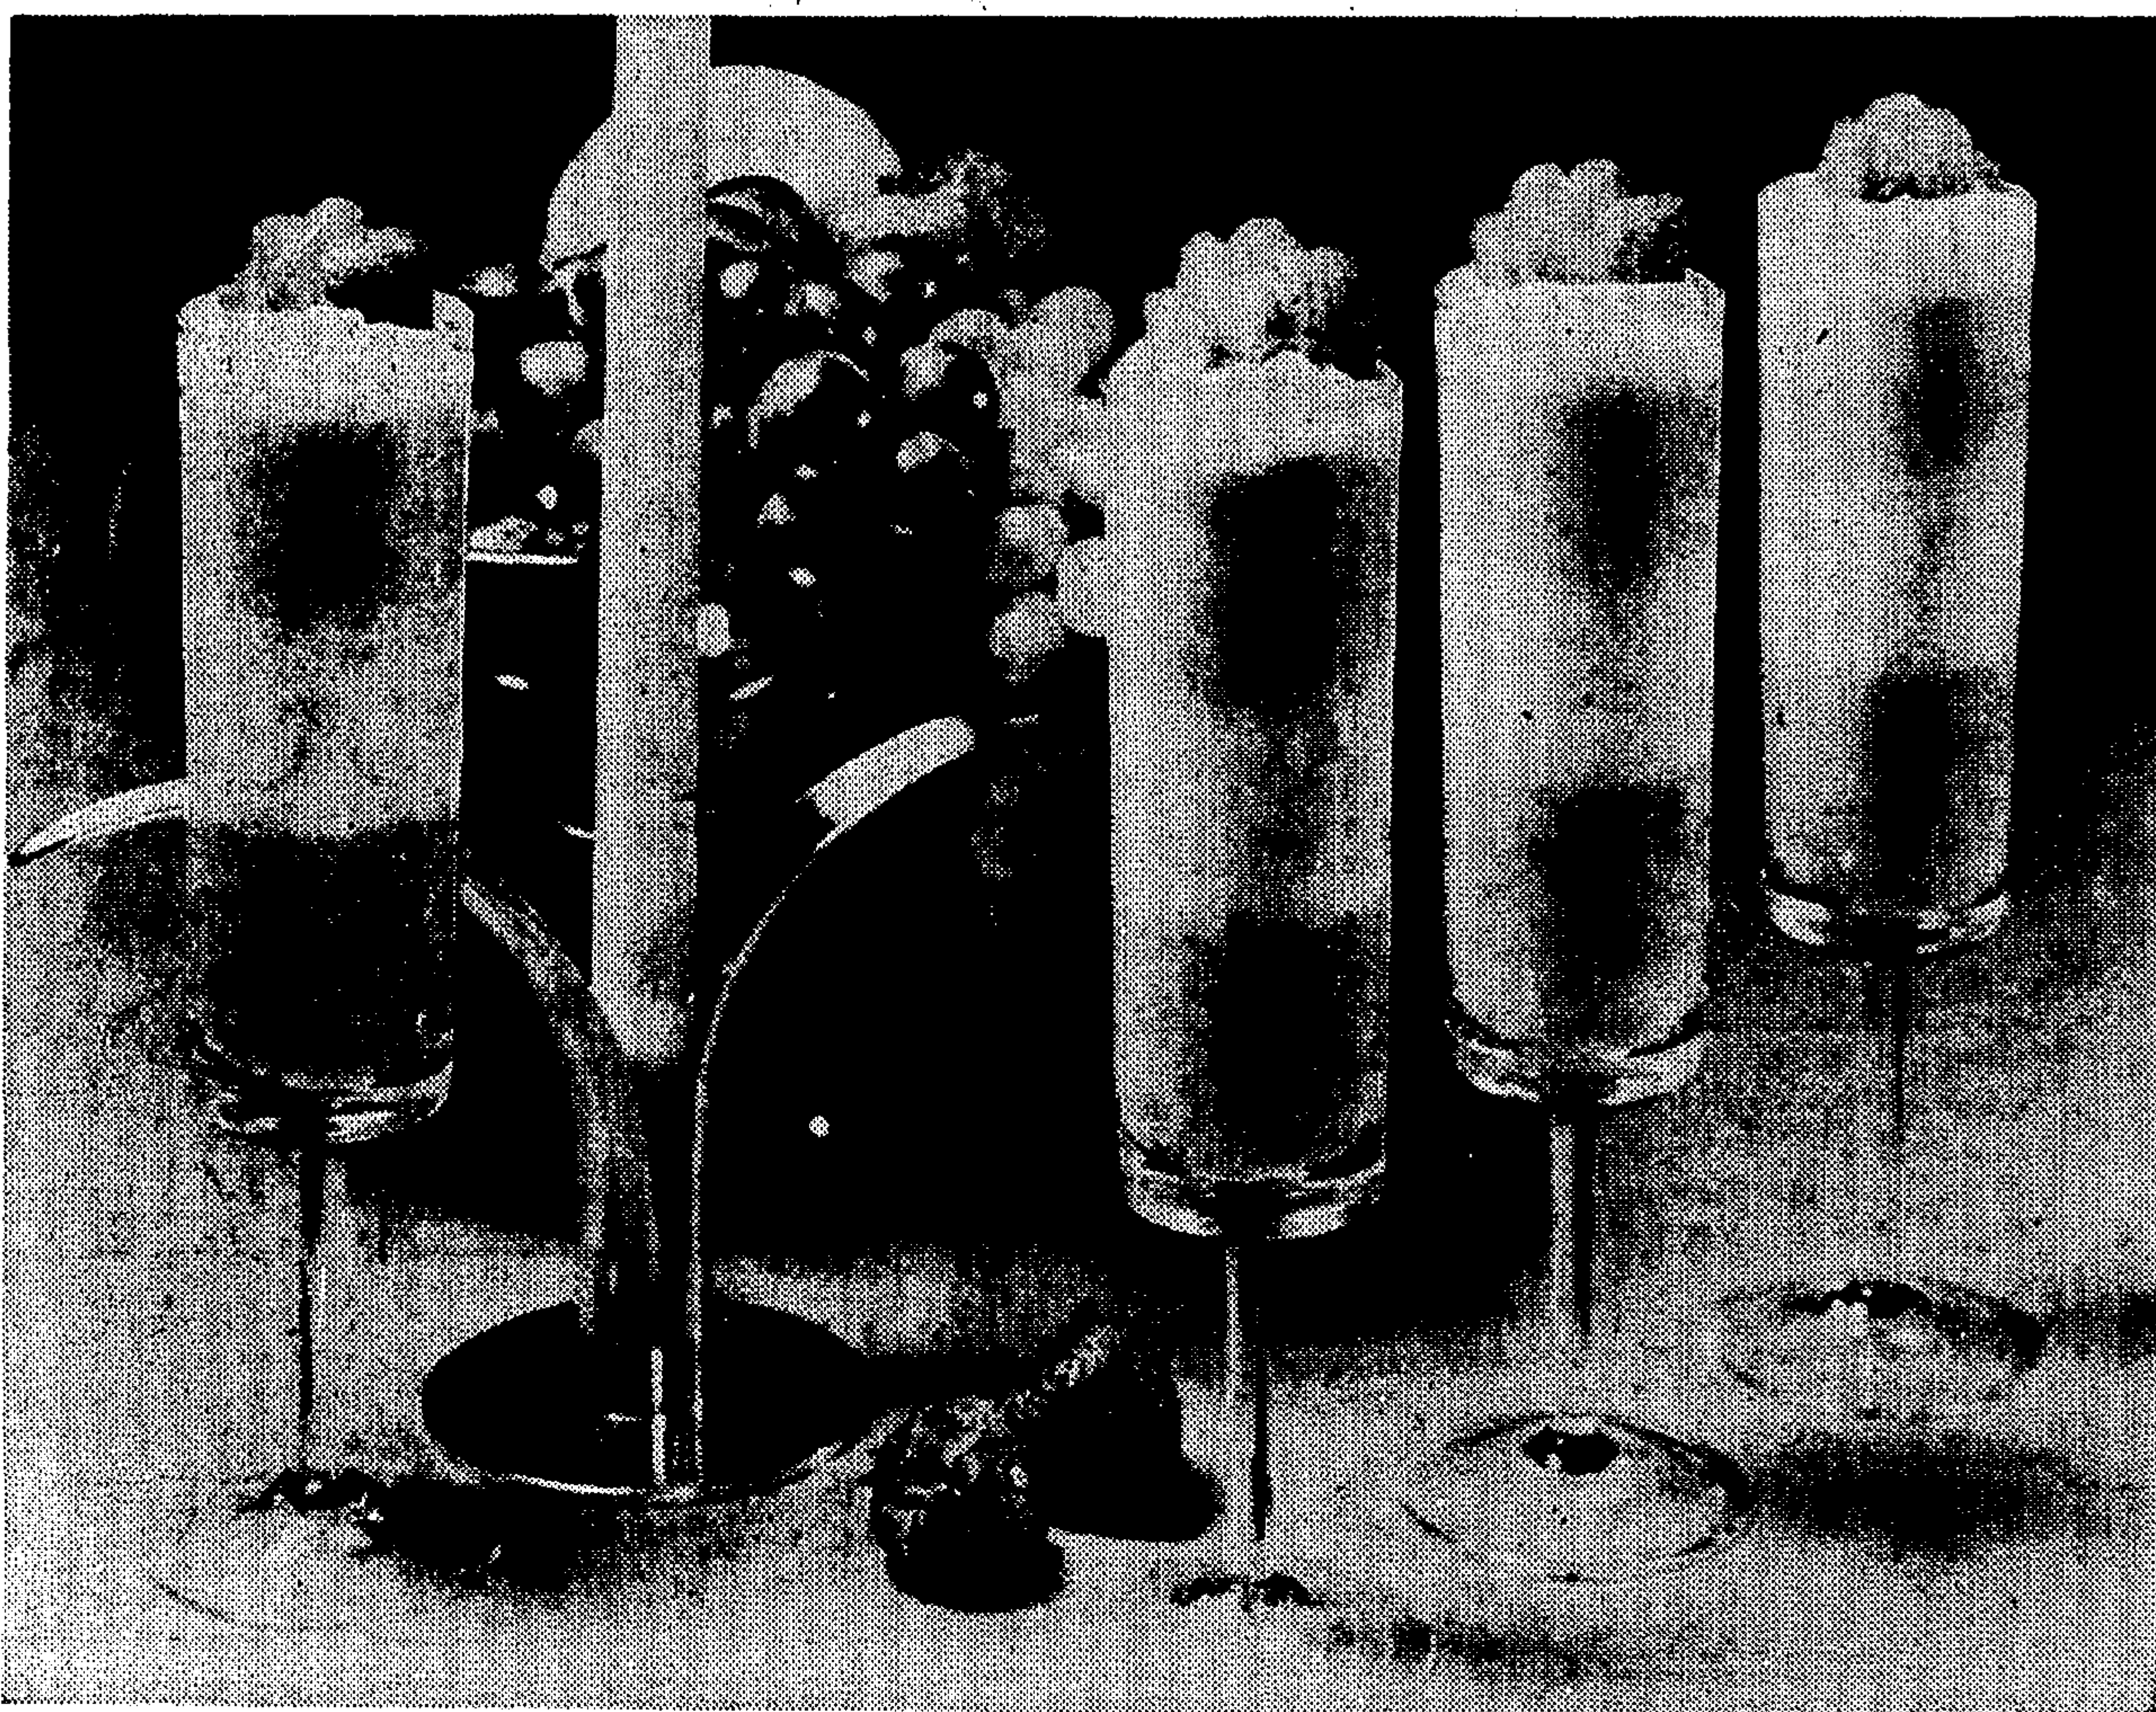

A WARM, zesty fruit compote is a good starter anytime. Heat canned fruit cocktail in its syrup, adding a touch of cinnamon and grated orange rind. Serve as breakfast fruit with buttered cinnamon toast.

PRETTY PEACH-macaroni tarts can be made easily with packaged vanilla pudding and pie filling. Prepare pudding as package directs; add well drained canned cling peach slices, almond-macaroni cookie crumbs, a pinch of mace and a few drops almond extract. Cool and pour into crumb or pastry tart shells. Top with peach slices arranged pinwheel-fashion.

FOLD JUICY fresh Bing cherries, canned cling peach slices, chopped celery and pecans into partially-set cherry gelatin. Chill in pretty molds until set, top with a drift of sour cream and serve.

ADD A JIGGER of creme de menthe to drained canned fruit cocktail; chill until frosty. Spoon over rich vanilla ice cream for a summery dessert.

DESSERT PERFECTION! Layers of strawberry, almond and lime yogurt gels make up spectacular Rainbow Parfaits. They're bound to be a delicious success at your next party!

Franfare

by Fran Heckart

Pencil and paper can be your most valuable tools when a camping trip with your family is on the agenda. Making a list can help you remember that extra cooking fuel and the essential can opener as well.

Whether you're traveling in a modern camper with a well-equipped kitchen or simply taking a tent and portable stove, planning is the key to successful meals.

Once you've chosen your destination, start your planning with the menus. Make a menu for every meal you'll be eating on the way; for a weekend trip, perhaps two breakfasts, two lunches and three dinners. The method of cooking, cooking and cleanup time, limited refrigeration and storage facilities, should be taken into account. The fact that your family will eat about one-third more food than usual will also affect your plans.

After the menus have been completed prepare a market list, using the recipe ingredient lists as a guide. Remember to include some snack items, family favorites and beverages.

Quick hot breakfasts could include dry beverage mixes or canned fruit juices, canned meats, pancakes and instant hot cereals. Lunches can be less rigid; plan a selection of high-protein sandwiches, soups and snacks. Evening is the time for home cooking the easy way. Hearty stews, meaty main dishes, fresh and canned vegetables, quick breads, fresh fruits and green salads will make your day complete.

Chances are fresh meats, fruits and vegetables and ice can be purchased within a reasonable distance of the campsite. But it's a good idea to pack emergency foods just in case, such as water if you think it may not be available.

WHEN YOU'RE heading for the mountains or high altitude, cooking times may differ. Boiling water will take longer and baked items will give different results. Check high altitude cookbooks before you depart.

Eggs in foil cups can be made over a hibachi, or portable barbecue stove. For each serving, make a foil cup by molding 7-inch square of heavy foil around bottom of a 16-ounce fruit or vegetable can; remove can. Crack an egg into each cup. Place cups on grill over medium-low coals and cook 10 minutes or till desired doneness.

Complete the breakfast with canned tomato juice, coffee, milk and toast (bread can simply be toasted over the coals).

To make coffee over the coals heat ¾ cup water per serving in a saucepan till just below boiling. Add 1 tablespoon regular grind coffee per serving and stir. Let mixture steep over medium-low coals for 6 to 8 minutes (don't boil).

Mrs. Howard O. Gould Jr.

Her 'Foolproof' Dinner Features Ham

by LOIS SEILER

A foolproof menu that Mrs. Howard O. Gould Jr. of Mount Prospect has served with success on numerous occasions features Glazed Ham Balls and a tasty Spinach Salad.

"The ham balls can be prepared in advance," Mary Ann Gould said, "with no last-minute fuss."

She has been making this recipe for years, and likes it because the ham balls do not have to be browned first. They are simply baked in a sweet-sour sauce that glazes them and gives them a delightful flavor.

As accompaniments, this good cook suggests scalloped potatoes, a sweet potato casserole or stuffed sweet potatoes flavored with rum. Beets with an orange sauce are an appetizing vegetable.

The colorful salad made of fresh spinach, red onion rings, diced apple and Bleu cheese also complements this meal. Mary Ann tosses it with a French dressing. It has lots of zip and is nice for summer cook-outs, too, with steak or lamb.

For dessert, Mary Ann likes to serve a rich Walnut Torte which she bakes in a pie pan. Sliced bananas or berries may be spooned over each piece before garnishing with whipped cream.

Since cooking is one of Mary Ann's hobbies, it is not surprising that she belongs to two gourmet groups — one all ladies, and the other a couples group which her husband, Howard, also enjoys. Both are affiliated with the Mount Prospect Newcomers' Club.

Because she likes to try ethnic dishes, Mary Ann first made Blini, a Russian appetizer, for her gourmet group several years ago. She has since become quite proficient in its preparation and it has become one of her favorites.

This good cook recently demonstrated the art of making Blini before St. Raymond's gourmet group. The women were skeptical when they heard that Blini were pancakes topped with sour cream and caviar, but quickly reversed their decision upon tasting them.

Yeast gives the pancake batter its characteristic flavor, but as Mary Ann said, "It is not so much what they are as what is served with them."

If you prefer, herring, smoked fish or salmon may be used in place of the caviar.

A blender is ideal for preparing the pancake batter, although a hand mixer may be used. The procedure must be timed accurately and the Blini must be eaten directly as they are cooked, or they are hardly worth eating at all.

The Goulds' daughters, Dana, 10, and Paula, 6, are a big help when Mary Ann prepares these appetizers for guests. While she cooks the pancakes, the girls arrange three on each plate, topping them with the sour cream and caviar.

Rich and delicious, the Blini are an ideal appetizer for a Russian dinner, such as Beef Stroganoff. Mary Ann has also served them successfully for a brunch.

In keeping with their ethnic character, they should be served with vodka, dry champagne or a white wine.

GLAZED HAM BALLS

- 1 pound ground ham
- 1½ pounds ground pork shoulder
- 2 cups bread crumbs
- 2 well-beaten eggs
- 1 cup milk
- ¼ cup fresh parsley, chopped fine

Mix ingredients together and shape into small balls. Do not brown. Place balls in a casserole or large roasting pan.

Prepare the following glaze:

- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- ½ cup vinegar
- ½ cup water

Combine ingredients and bring mixture to a boil. Pour over ham balls. Bake one hour at 350 degrees, basting every 15 minutes. Serves 6.

SPINACH SALAD

- 1 package fresh spinach
- 1 red onion, cut in rings
- 2 medium red apples, diced with peel on
- ¼ cup crumbled Bleu cheese

Wash spinach, drain and dry well. Add remaining ingredients and toss with your favorite French dressing. Serves 6.

WALNUT TORTE

- 3 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 cup black walnuts or other nuts, chopped fine
- Sliced bananas or fresh berries (optional)

Whipped cream

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Gradually beat in ½ cup sugar. Stir in flour, baking powder and nuts.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in remaining ½ cup sugar. Fold whites into yolk mixture. Spread into a buttered 10-inch pie pan.

Bake at 325 degrees for 40 minutes. Let cool.

Sliced bananas or fresh berries may be spooned onto each piece before garnishing with whipped cream. Serves 8.

BLINI

- 1 cup warm water
- 1 envelope dry granular yeast
- 1 cup milk, at room temperature
- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 3 egg yolks
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon sugar
- 6 tablespoons butter, melted and cooled
- 3 egg whites

- Salt
- Butter for frying
- 1 pint sour cream
- 1 large jar red or black caviar (at least 8 ounces)

Batter may be made in blender or with a hand mixer. Time procedure accurately for the yeast, if it rises too long, will over-ferment and give Blini an unpleasant flavor. Blini cannot be made ahead and reheated. They must be eaten immediately.

Prepare batter about 2½ hours before serving. Stir yeast into warm water and let stand until it dissolves, about five minutes. Pour into blender jar and add milk, flour, egg yolks, salt, sugar and melted butter.

Blend at high speed about 40 seconds. Turn off machine and, with a rubber spatula, scrape down flour clinging to sides of jar. Blend a few seconds longer.

Pour batter into mixing bowl and cover lightly with a tea towel. Let rest for two hours at room temperature. If kitchen seems cool, place bowl near a warm stove or radiator. At end of two hours, batter will have risen considerably and bubbled at the top.

Now beat egg whites with pinch of salt until stiff. Gently fold into batter. The finished batter may be used immediately or left to stand 15 to 20 minutes without harm.

Preheat griddle to 400 degrees; brush lightly with little butter. Ladle out enough batter to make blini about three inches in diameter. Cook until lightly browned on each side, turning only once.

To serve, arrange 2 to 3 blini on each plate. Drop a small amount of sour cream on each pancake and top with spoonful of caviar. Serve at once. Serves 8 to 10.

The Best Way To Season Eggs

"There is always a best way of doing everything," philosophized Ralph Waldo Emerson, "if it be to boil an egg!"

And some of the best ways of preparing eggs call for a pinch of herbs or spice. Pepper, mustard, ginger, dehydrated onion and garlic products are basic. All the herbs are excellent in egg dishes, as are sweet pepper flakes, freeze-dried chives or shallots.

To prepare scrambled eggs or omelet aux fines herbs, that is, add a generous amount of parsley flakes and freeze-dried chives or shallots to the beaten egg mixture.

Another good egg luncheon dish: Make a sauce of undiluted condensed cream of chicken soup, onion powder and paprika to taste. Heat over boiling water. Meanwhile toast bread; poach or soft-boil eggs. Spoon hot chicken sauce over egg on toast. Garnish with additional paprika.

Chopped hard-cooked eggs are good in a sauce made of undiluted cheddar soup flavored with Italian seasoning and a bit of garlic powder. Or flavor a white sauce made with part chicken stock with a teaspoon of curry powder and serve over cooked eggs.

When eggs are used in custards or egg-rich puddings, nutmeg is a first choice as a spice. Or use a delicate bit of mace, allspice or other sweet spice.

Some 63 billion eggs are consumed in the United States every year. With a well-stocked spice shelf dozens of egg dishes are possible. For starters do try these recipes for Herbed Egg Casserole Milanese and Puffy Ham Omelette from the American Spice Trade Association.

- HERBED EGG CASSEROLE MILANESE

 - 1/3 cup instant minced onion
 - 1/3 cup mixed vegetable flakes
 - 1/4 teaspoon instant minced garlic
 - 1/4 cup water
 - 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
 - 3 tablespoons flour
 - 1 can (1 lb. 12 oz.) tomatoes, broken up
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves

PUFFY HAM OMELETTE

 - 1/2 teaspoon powdered mustard
 - 1/4 teaspoon warm water
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 2 tablespoons parsley flakes
 - 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup diced cooked ham
 - 6 eggs
 - 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- In medium bowl, thoroughly blend mustard with water. Let stand 10 minutes for flavor to develop. Add milk, parsley flakes, minced onion, salt and cooked ham. In large bowl beat eggs until light and lemon-colored. Meanwhile in large skillet over medium heat, melt butter. Quickly stir ham mixture into beaten eggs; pour immediately into hot butter in skillet; cook over medium heat 6 to 8 minutes or until egg mixture browns on bottom and begins to leave sides of pan. Place skillet under broiler preheated to moderate (375 degrees); broil about 6 minutes or until omelette is golden and knife comes out clean when inserted in center of omelette. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 portions.

Chinese Fare

Those who watched the television coverage of President and Mrs. Nixon's trip to Peking and read newspaper accounts of the banquets remember how popular "sayings" are to the Chinese. Many of the observations stem from Confucius, for example, and many from Chairman Mao. Visitors, too, get into the habit of summing up thoughts on life or a specific event in a line or two. This definitely applies to those involved with Chinese cooking. Confucius, for example, observed: "There is no one who does not eat and drink. But few there are who can appreciate taste." These words are highlighted by Buwei Yang Chao, author of "How to Cook and Eat in Chinese." Mrs. Chao was born in China, and now lives in California. Mrs. Chao says "Good cooking consists of making the best use of the eating material." Here is an Americanized version of a Cranberry Turkey Cantonese dish.

- CRANBERRY TURKEY CANTONESE
- 1 recipe Cranberry Sweet and Sour Sauce (below)
 - 1/4 cup cooking oil
 - 2 cups cooked turkey, chicken or pork, cubed
 - 1 large onion, cubed
 - 1 large green pepper,

Do Squeeze Lettuce

Please do squeeze the iceberg lettuce if you're looking for signs of quality. The head should "give" slightly when squeezed, says a spokesman for Western Iceberg Lettuce, Inc. This organization of growers, shippers and coolers supplies more than 85 per cent of the lettuce eaten in the United States.

Before storing a head, whack the core end sharply against a counter edge. Lift or twist the core with your fingers to release it. The cut edges tend to rust if the core is cut out. Rinse the lettuce, core-end up, under cold running water, let drain for 30 minutes, core end down, on a colander or rack, then refrigerate in a tightly plastic bag or crisper.

Oriental Pork Chops

Pork chops — one of America's meat favorites — are lower in calories when trimmed of fat and skillet-simmered on top of the stove in a sweet-sour mixture of molasses, vinegar, salt, ginger, soy sauce and fruit. Cooked this way, the chops are deliciously flavorful and fork-tender.

- ORIENTAL PORK CHOPS
- 4 to 6 loin pork chops, about 1-inch thick
 - 1/3 cup molasses
 - 1/3 cup vinegar
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon ginger
 - 1/2 teaspoon soy sauce
 - 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 - 1 can (8 1/2 ounces) sliced pineapple, cut into chunks
 - 1 can (11 ounces) mandarin orange sections, drained

- 1 green pepper, cut into short strips
- 1/4 cup halved maraschino cherries

Trim excess fat from chops. Heat fat in skillet over medium heat; remove fat from skillet. Brown chops 5 to 8 minutes on each side. Pour off excess fat. Combine molasses, vinegar, salt, ginger and soy sauce. Pour over chops and cover. Simmer 35 minutes. Remove chops from skillet. Blend cornstarch and 1 tablespoon pineapple syrup and stir into skillet with remaining pineapple and syrup, orange sections, green pepper, and cherries. Bring to a boil. Return chops to skillet; cover and simmer 5 to 10 minutes longer, or until chops are fork tender and peppers are cooked. Serve with rice, if desired. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Festive Variations Of Homemade Bread

One of the first thoughts that comes to mind when planning a party is, "What can I make ahead so that I'm not tied to the kitchen when the guests arrive?" Breads are an excellent addition to the party menu. They can be used for hors d'oeuvres, as an accompaniment on the buffet table or as the basis for a meal in itself. And breads can be made ahead and frozen until the day of the festivities.

Sausage Bread can be used to make scrumptious toasted tomato-mozzarella cheese open faced sandwiches for an informal get-together. Any type of cooked sausage may be substituted for the Italian sweet sausage.

Cheese is an integral part of another party bread, Checkered Cheese and Tomato Bread. In this case a sharp cheddar cheese dough is divided so that part of it contains tomato paste. It too can be made into a hearty sandwich or cut into finger size strips for tea sandwiches or canapés. A bacon or water cress spread blends well with the cheese and tomato flavors.

Beer Loaf and Citrus Tea Bread are both baking powder sweet breads that add to the culinary kudos of the party refreshment tray.

ITALIAN SAUSAGE BREAD

1 pound Italian sweet sausage
2 envelopes dry yeast
¾ cup warm water
1 cup sugar
1 cup scalded milk
¾ cup butter

1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, well beaten
5 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Parboil, saute and cut sausage into 1-inch pieces. Set aside. Dissolve yeast in water. Combine sugar, milk, ¾ cup butter and salt; stir until butter has melted. Cool to lukewarm. Beat in eggs and yeast mixture. Gradually add flour, beating dough until smooth. Turn dough onto a floured board; sprinkle with flour. Knead dough for 15 minutes until very smooth and little blisters form on the surface. Add more flour to the board, if necessary. Place dough in a lightly buttered bowl. Cover with a damp cloth. Allow dough to rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch the dough down and work in the cooked Italian sausage pieces. Divide dough in half; form each into a smooth ball. Flatten each ball in a buttered 9-inch pie pan. Let the dough rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Bake at 350 degrees for about 20 minutes or until golden brown. Loaves will sound hollow when tapped on base. Brush loaves with melted butter and cool on wire racks. Makes two round loaves.

CHECKERED CHEESE AND TOMATO BREAD

1 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon margarine
¾ teaspoon cumin seed
2 cups all-purpose flour
8 ozs. sharp cheddar cheese, grated.

4 cups all-purpose flour
3 packages active dry yeast
1 cup warm water
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
1 egg yolk, beaten
2 tablespoons cold water

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt, margarine and cumin seed. Pour into a large mixing bowl; cool to lukewarm. Blend in 2 cups flour. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Stir in cheese. Dissolve yeast in warm water; blend into milk mixture. Stir in 4 cups flour or enough to make a soft dough. Divide dough in half. Blend tomato paste in one half. Knead on a lightly floured board until there are no streaks. Let rise in a warm place. Knead the plain cheese half; let rise in another bowl until both are doubled in size. Divide the tomato dough in three parts; shape into a 12-inch "sausage." Cut each "sausage" in half. Divide the cheese dough into three parts and shape the same way. Cut each "sausage" in half. In each of two greased 9x5-inch loaf pans, arrange three tomato dough "sausages" and three cheese dough "sausages" alternately to form a checkerboard effect. Combine egg yolk and 2 tablespoons cold water; brush mixture over each loaf. Let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Bake at 375 degrees for about 45 minutes or until golden brown. Loaves will sound hollow when tapped on base. Cool on wire racks. Serve with watercress, ham or bacon spreads. Makes 2 loaves.

BEER NUT LOAF

2½ cups all-purpose flour
1 cup granulated sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shortening

2 eggs
1 cup beer
1 cup finely chopped dates
½ cup chopped walnuts

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into a bowl. Cut in shortening with a pastry blender. Beat eggs and beer together; add to dry ingredients until just blended. Batter will be lumpy. Fold in dates and walnuts. Pour into a greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 55 to 60 minutes, until cake tester inserted comes out clean. Cool in pan 5 minutes. Remove and cool on rack. Wrap in foil and store in canister. Serve with a tangy spread. Makes 1 loaf.

CITRUS TEA BREAD

¾ cup brown or white sugar
¾ cup butter
1 large egg
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon grated lime rind
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ cup orange juice
½ cup tea
½ cup chopped pecans

Beat sugar and butter until light and fluffy. Add egg and grated citrus rinds; blend well. Sift dry ingredients together. Combine orange juice and tea. Add dry ingredients and liquid mixture alternately to the creamed mixture, beginning and ending with the dry ingredients. Fold in nuts. Pour into well greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Let stand for 15 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes until browned and cake tester inserted comes out clean. Makes 1 loaf.

Springtime

Salmon Loaf

While spring means a lot of things to different people, "spring fever" seems to be universal. An overwhelming desire comes upon us to leave the stove and rush out into the sunshine.

And spring fever influences the appetite. Winter-fatigued palates yearn for lighter, more colorful, more gently seasoned foods. One dish which fills all the requirements of this change-of-season is Peachy Salmon Loaf. The loaf is delicately flavored with thyme and is garnished with peach halves. It's nourishing yet refreshing and satisfying.

PEACHY SALMON LOAF

Milk
¾ cup finely chopped onion
¾ cup finely chopped parsley
2 cups cracker crumbs
¾ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon crumbled thyme
4 eggs, lightly beaten
¾ cup melted butter
1 can cling peach halves (1 lb., 13 oz.)

Lemon slices and parsley for garnish

Drain liquid from salmon into measuring cup. Add enough milk to make a total of 1 cup liquid. Set aside.

Flake salmon into mixing bowl. Add onion, parsley, crumbs, lemon juice and seasonings. Mix well. Stir in reserved liquid, eggs and melted butter.

Line a 9-inch loaf pan with waxed paper and oil paper. Turn salmon mixture into prepared pan and bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 1 hour or until set in center. Remove from oven and let stand for 5 minutes; then unmold unto serving dish.

Meanwhile heat peaches in syrup from can. When ready to serve the loaf, arrange peach halves around loaf and brush loaf generously with the syrup. Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley. Serves 8.

Here are two unusually different and refreshing springtime luncheon salads.

SALMON CRUNCH SALAD

1 pound can salmon
1 pound can fruit cocktail
1 cup chopped celery
¼ teaspoon white pepper
½ teaspoon ground ginger
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt or to taste
1 cup mayonnaise
½ cup Grape Nuts cereal Lettuce leaves
Chopped parsley

Drain salmon and flake salmon into mixing bowl. Drain fruit cocktail. Combine with salmon, chopped celery, white pepper, ginger, lemon juice, salt and mayonnaise and mix lightly. Just before serving fold in Grape Nuts cereal. Line platter with lettuce leaves, pile salmon salad in center and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serves 4.

SALMON SUNSHINE SALAD

1 pound can salmon
¾ cup mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup chopped chives
½ cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts
Salad greens
1 pound can cling peach slices

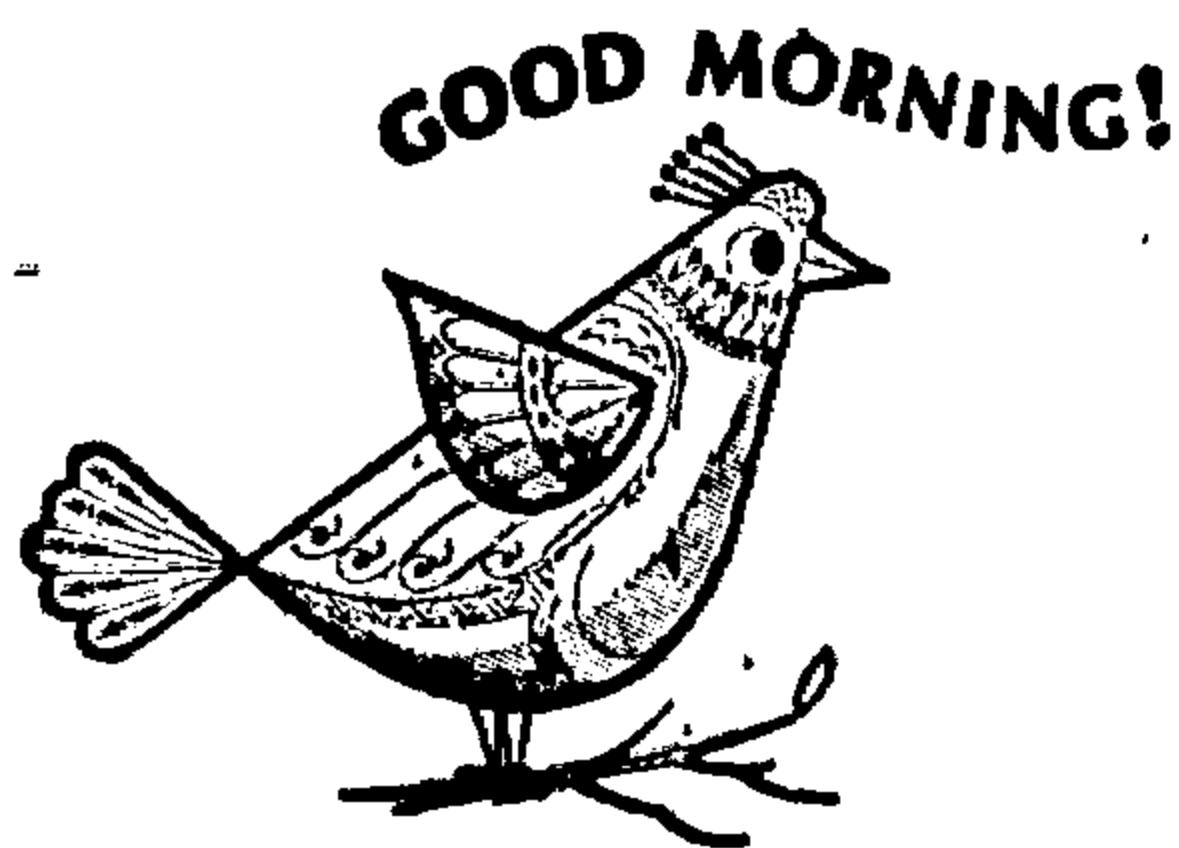

Drain and flake salmon into mixing bowl and combine fruit cocktail and add fruit to salmon. Add celery, pepper with mayonnaise, salt, chives, celery and walnuts. Divide salmon mixture onto four salad plates garnished with salad greens and surround with cling peach slices. Serves 4.

Housing Panel Down To Three; Beal, Oehl Quit

Although its membership now is down to three persons, Elk Grove Village's housing commission will continue in operation and adhere to a directive issued by the village board.

Two members of the commission agreed on the policy at a meeting Tuesday night, although one of the two, the Rev. Maynard Beal, announced his resignation from the panel.

Rev. Beal's resignation was accompanied by that of Donald Oehl, leaving the panel with three remaining members, Cathy Duoba, James Morita and Joseph Wellman. Of the three, only Mrs. Duoba attended Tuesday's meeting.

Rev. Beal cited two reasons for his resignation. He noted that he has been transferred to a new assignment in Rockford, but also said he had been discouraged "that there have been no successes in solving the desperate housing needs on the part of our village."

IN HIS LETTER of resignation to Village Pres. Charles Zetek, Rev. Beal criticized the village board for its "subjective value judgments" which, he said, have made it reluctant to take any action on the housing problem.

"It would almost appear that there is a fear that any change at all in the housing patterns in the village would instantly bring about poorly constructed buildings for the poverty people, black people invading an essentially all-white suburb, the spread of deviant behavior and the takeover by the federal government in local affairs . . . none of which can be objectively substantiated if careful planning is put into effect," Rev. Beal wrote.

Rev. Beal indicated plans to suggest a number of persons to Zetek for appointment to the commission, to bring it up to its original nine-man strength. Zetek asked for suggestions for appointments to the commission last week after revealing that former Commission chairman Neil Cooney and Comr. Ed Kenna both had resigned.

Rev. Beal suggested selecting future commission members to represent certain portions of the public. One representative each should come from the black community, the Spanish-speaking minority, the industrial park and the village board of trustees, he said.

BOTH REV. BEAL and Mrs. Duoba said they felt the commission's continuation would benefit the village. They pointed to a number of projects the commission might undertake that would be consistent with the board's position on the housing issue.

In a letter to the commission last month, Zetek said the board "is not sympathetic to low-income housing" unless it is looked at on an areawide basis. He asked the commission to continue its work, contacting other municipal housing panels concerning development of an over-all plan to meet the housing problem.

Rev. Beal suggested four roles the commission could play in the future. First, he said, the commission could serve as an informational tool for the village, keeping the board informed of all matters relating to housing that might affect the village.

A second role would be to fulfill the board's proposal to contact other housing bodies, he suggested. Other areas where the commission could be of use, he said, would be in keeping the public informed in the housing area and to develop a proposal for senior citizen housing.

MRS. DUOBA, however, said she would oppose development of a proposal for senior citizen housing because no research had demonstrated such a need, as had been demonstrated by the commission in the area of housing for low and moderate-income families. A survey conducted by the commission last year found a need for 1,055 low-income housing units and 622 moderate-income units in the village.

Mrs. Duoba said she believes an additional role of the commission should be to advise the board that the housing issue is a legal issue and not just a moral one.

With Rev. Beal's resignation, Mrs. Duoba was appointed temporary chairman of the panel and a meeting for next Thursday was called.

"SOUTH PACIFIC" is the spring musical at Elk Grove High School, which opens today. Mike Brannan, left, and Eddie Elred rehearsed a scene recently. The play will be at 7:30 p.m. today and Friday and 8 p.m. Saturday at the school.

Preschool Signup Slated Monday From 9 To Noon

Registration for the Elk Grove Park District's preschool program is scheduled for 9 a.m. to noon Monday at the Lions Park Community Center on Kennedy Boulevard.

Rich Ludovissy, recreation superintendent, said children must be 4 years old by Dec. 1, 1972 to participate in the 32-week program.

There are two preschool classes. Each is limited to 25 students. One class runs from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, and the other class runs from 12:45 to 2:45 p.m. the same days.

Preschool begins Sept. 19 at the community center. The school's holidays and vacations coincide with those of Elk Grove Township Dist. 59.

Tuition, which is due on the first of each month, is $17 per month for every month except September and May when the fee is $8.50.

Elk Grove Twp. Board Of Auditors To Meet

The Elk Grove Township Board of Auditors will review township ordinances at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the township hall, 2400 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights.

A spokesman said the meeting was called to go over all the ordinances to see if they needed updating, deleting or correcting.

Response So Far 'Outstanding'

Fire Victim Donations Continue

Response to the efforts of the Hoffman Estates Boy's Club to collect clothing and home furnishings for the William Gahan family who lost most of their possessions in a fire last Friday has been called outstanding by an official of the group.

The fire took the lives of three children in the family and destroyed their home at 129 Des Plaines Ln. in the village.

Tony Stampinato, president of the Boy's Club, said much in the way of appliances, furniture and clothing has been received so far, but more things are needed by the family.

He said sizes for clothing for the family are: man, size 34-34 slacks, size 40 long jacket, 15½ shirts; women, dresses sizes 10-12; girl, size 9-10.

Donations may be taken to the Boy's Club building behind the Hoffman Estates Village Hall on Illinois Boulevard tonight and Friday night from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Stampinato said the family still needs dishes, pots and pans, small appliances and more clothing.

He said items such as a refrigerator, television set, kitchen and bedroom furniture has already been received.

Cash donations are also being accepted for the family, he said. Any checks should be made out in the name of the William Gahan family.

Stampinato said he has been very gratified by the initial response the community has made to help the family.

June Wedding Off To 'Heated' Start

One June wedding got off to a hot start this week in Des Plaines when the bride's mother pushed the groom's mother down the front steps after the two got into a fight over wedding plans.

According to police reports, the mother of the groom made a visit to the home of her prospective in-laws to discuss the upcoming nuptial ceremony.

Wedding arrangements are sometimes hard to work out and the discussion turned into a heated argument. The two would-be mothers-in-law squared off and then, police said, the bride's mother gave a shove and the groom's mother tumbled down the front steps.

The woman received facial lacerations and injured her right leg but told police she didn't want to sign a complaint.

Vandals Plague Building Firm

Vandals have been plaguing the Rock Road Construction Co., general contractors for the Arlington Heights Road reconstruction project, during the past few days.

Village police said officials of the company have reported a number of acts of vandalism at the construction sites along the road. The latest incidents involved the theft of tools and breakage of windows of a company crane.

Rock Road officials said the windows knocked out of the crane would cost $250 to replace and tools worth $300 were stolen.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Lying half-paralyzed, Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his presidential primary election triumphs in Maryland and Michigan . . . His doctors and campaign aides insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rejected the idea of increasing Secret Service protection for political candidates and called instead for passage of stronger gun-control legislation.

House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon an 18-month moratorium on court orders for school busing, so that pending cases may be appealed.

Then the lawmakers completed work on a compromise $18.5 billion aid to higher education bill after two months of negotiating.

The defense opens its case in the Angela Davis trial after 11 weeks of prosecution testimony with the major question being whether Miss Davis will take the stand herself.

The State

A defense attorney asked that race track scandal indictments against former Gov. Otto Kerner and four others be thrown out because of a "plethora of damaging publicity."

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel Walker charged "gross negligence" on the part of the Illinois Department of Revenue in its administration of the state income tax.

The World

The West German parliament ratified Chancellor Willy Brandt's nonaggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland. The treaties gave up German claims on territory occupied by Poland and the U.S.S.R. after World War II as well as pledging recognition of current national boundaries in Europe.

A sniper shot and wounded four Protestant workers as they left their factory in a largely Roman Catholic area of Belfast, Northern Ireland. The shootings came in the wake of Protestant threats to take action to clear out Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry.

The War

The United States, explaining its rejection of a Communist request to resume the Paris peace talks, accused Hanoi and the Viet Cong of disdaining a negotiated settlement.

Appoint New Sacred Heart Principal

by JOANN VAN WYE

The appointment of Gerald Giles as principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows was announced yesterday by the Rev. H. Robert Clark, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of Chicago.

Miss Louise Jacobs was named associate principal at the same time.

The appointments are effective July 1. The Rev. James E. Michaletz, superintendent of Sacred Heart, said both persons would be spending time in the school prior to July 1 familiarizing themselves with its operation, getting acquainted with faculty, parents and students and hiring new faculty members.

Giles replaces Len Baenen who resigned in January, effective June 30, after serving as principal of Sacred Heart for two years. Baenen said he resigned to clear the way for a change of ownership of the school from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded it in 1960, to the Archdiocese of Chicago. Baenen had expressed a desire to continue as principal but was ineligible because of a papal prohibition against the hiring of former priests.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, a New York based congregation, announced in March it would no longer be able to staff and maintain the school because of financial problems and personnel problems.

The appointments end a search for an administrative team that started after the March announcement the archdiocese would take over ownership of the school. The administrative team will be in charge of the overall operation of the school, leadership and development of an instructional program.

The position of associate principal is a new one. Father Michaletz said job descriptions had not been completed yet but that Miss Jones will be primarily in charge of curriculum development and working with the students through the curriculum.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Some of his previous experience includes English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

A native of Lowell, Mass., Giles holds a bachelor's degree from St. Anselm's College in Manchester, N.H., a master's degree from Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio and is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching both at Trinity High School in River Forest and Rosary College in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in LaGrange, where she was curriculum coordinator.

Miss Jacobs is a native of Chicago. She received her bachelor's degree from DePaul University and master's degree from Loyola University.

The appointments were made by a selection committee formed in March. Serving on the committee were Father Clark; Brother Pius Xavier, the associate superintendent of the archdiocese; Sister Joyce Duroske, principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary High School; Sister Charles Ellen, principal of Mother Theodore Guerin High School; Baenen and Father Michaletz.

Between 15 and 20 applications for the two positions were received and the committee interviewed nine candidates. Three of the candidates were invited to spend a day at Sacred Heart at the end of which they were interviewed by the faculty and students.

Commenting on the appointments, Father Clark noted guidelines followed in seeking administrators for the school included the importance of student centered education, shared decision making with students, faculty and parents and dedication to the importance of aiding the students to develop values of Christian living.

"The Archdiocese's concern for Sacred Heart was demonstrated in March when it assumed the responsibility of the school. It is even further demonstrated by the diligence and industry exercised in seeking out those two fine administrators," said Father Clark.

Father Michaletz said he feels the future of the school is even brighter with the naming of the administrative team. He said both had worked at schools pioneering innovative programs.

The number one item on the agenda now, according to Father Michaletz, is the hiring of faculty members to replace the sisters of the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary who are leaving in June and about 10 per cent of the lay staff who are leaving.

"We have waited until this point because we definitely wanted the new administrative team to be involved in the hiring," said Father Michaletz.

In regard to the appointments, Baenen said, "I hope and would expect the new administrative staff will continue the education style and process that is presently at Sacred Heart."

A lay advisory board of parents will be formed in the near future, according to Father Michaletz. The primary function of the advisory board will be to advise the administration in areas of finance, public relations and community involvement and in all matters concerning the future of the school.

Mendez To Perform At School

Rafael Mendez, world famous trumpeter, will perform Sunday with bands from Dempster Junior High School in Mount Prospect.

Mendez, a soloist with leading symphony orchestras, has performed on television with Ed Sullivan, Red Skelton, Milton Berle, Jimmy Durante and Stan Kenton. He was on radio with Bing Crosby and the NBC Symphony and has appeared in several movies. Currently the artist is under contract with Decca records.

The concert begins at 6:30 p.m. at Forest View High School, 2121 S. Goebbert Rd. in Arlington Heights. Tickets are $2 per person and can be obtained by calling 439-0041 or 437-4812.

Sunday's performance will be the second time Mendez has played with the Dempster bands. His appearance last year was so well received that the Dempster Band Parents Association asked him to return this year.

MENDEZ will play "Macarena," "Fascination" and "Cardas" with Dempster's symphonic band and "Flight

What It's Like To Fight Smoke, Killer Blaze

Our Man Fireman For Day

by STEVE BROWN

Try to imagine moving through a smoke-filled house, 30 pounds of breathing apparatus on your back, wearing fire coat, hat and boots, a lantern in one hand and an axe or pipe pole in the other.

Try to imagine smoke as dense as a blindfold around your head, and heat so intense that it melts metal doors.

These were the conditions faced last Friday morning when Hoffman Estates firefighters battled to rescue three children from a killer fire.

I could not imagine these things. Working with all equipment and flames licking at my sides, I got an inkling of the handicap under which a firefighter works. I had only some of the equipment, some of the smoke, but none of the sense of urgency or emergency.

It took the help of two other men to get into the Scott Air Pack. In an emergency, this would have been a solo effort and it would not have been easy.

DEPUTY Fire Chief Ed Kalasa lit the smoke bombs in the basement through which we walked at the Barrington Lakes Apartments, still under construction. It was a large open area. The only objective was to walk a straight line to the other end of the garage. Two other firemen would be with me.

The boots, coat and hat were hot and uncomfortable. Sweat soaked my shirt. The mask fogged briefly from a little overanxious breathing.

Kalasa lit the smoke bombs and we went in. Trying to breathe normally, I noticed that the hissing sound from the air tanks indicating the release of oxygen came more rapidly from my tank than from those of the other men.

Once in the basement, the smoke swirled around us. We stopped long enough to light another smoke bomb. Then we started to walk.

Thinking I was headed for a side wall, I walked cautiously trying not to stumble.

With the aid of a high power light, I managed to keep a muted outline of the lead man's air tank in view.

He was only a foot or two away, but I still could not see him well.

A FEW MINUTES later we reached the other end. Much to my surprise, we always walked in the same direction. In my mind I had become disoriented while trying to walk essentially a straight line.

The air tank, mask and other equipment brought on an eerie feeling. Knowing the thin hose running between the tank and mask was the only barrier between normal breathing and inhaling, the choking smoke provided me with a very strange sensation.

It would have been next to impossible to travel the basement without following the other men, even though the smoke was white and easier to see through than the gray or black smoke usually encountered by firefighters at a real fire.

I did not have to go around any barriers or find my way back out. I was not looking for anything. And there was no sense of urgency connected with my efforts.

I had the benefit of seeing the area without the smoke before I started.

I did not have to carry much of the equipment that firemen entering a burning building would need.

I NOW HAVE an idea of what the experience is like. It is not a pleasant one, not knowing where you are or what the next step may hold.

I know that moving on my own is difficult and I can now imagine what it must be like to search for other human beings.

I always felt that it took more than an average man to do the job.

But now I know a fireman is an extraordinary man.

Maitre d' Burglarized

The Maitre d' Restaurant in the Park & Shop Shopping Center in Elk Grove Village was hit by a $500 burglary this week.

Police said $500 in cash was taken from the restaurant's safe early Tuesday. Restaurant manager William Rose told police entrance to the safe required both the safe's combination and key.

Church To Sponsor Flea Market Saturday

Antiques, crafts and hobby items will be sold at a flea market sponsored by Peace Church from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the church, 192 Center St., Bensenville.

Persons who would like to set up a booth may contact the church.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the church will be serving lunch and refreshments.

Andrews Mystery Remains Unsolved

One of the Northwest suburbs' most confusing police mysteries remains unsolved today, two years after it was originally reported.

The whereabouts of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Andrews, who once lived at 738 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, is still a matter of speculation and continuing investigation.

The Andrews disappeared the night of May 15, 1970 after they reportedly left a cocktail party at the Chicago-Sheraton Hotel in Chicago.

Four days later, Mrs. Andrews' brother, John Rynak, called Arlington Heights

Police to the Andrews' home and the investigation was under way.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Police Det. George Ekblad said Tuesday that although there was nothing new to report on the disappearance, the case was still open.

"We don't have any new clues, but we're still looking," Ekblad said.

Chicago and Arlington Heights police have theorized that the couple could have driven off the road into the Chicago river near lower Michigan Avenue and Wacker Drive.

The report of a parking lot attendant at the Chicago-Sheraton who says the Andrews left his lot driving south in the northbound lane of Michigan Avenue tends to support this theory.

BUT TO DATE an intensive search of the river bottom, from the Wells Street Bridge to Navy Pier, has failed to detect the yellow 1969 Oldsmobile the couple was said to be driving.

Chicago and Arlington Heights police have relied on scuba divers and, most recently on Nov. 30 of last year, sophisticated electronic detection devices in their search for the car.

So far, however, the 25 to 30 foot deep river has failed to yield any secrets it may hold in the case.

The Andrews were both 62 years old at the time of their disappearance. Under law, they must be missing seven years before they can legally be declared dead in court.

In the meantime, Rynak has continued to manage the Andrews' house on Vail Street. But he cannot sell it nor can he tap the Andrews' bank account to pay the cost of maintaining it, because neither the house nor the money actually belongs to him.

Both still belong to Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, wherever they are, or were, or may yet be discovered.

$1.6 Million Randhurst Sports CenterRink Groundbreaking Set

Groundbreaking for the Metro Sports Inc. twin ice skating rink facility at the Randhurst Shopping Center is scheduled for next month.

William J. Marshall, Metro board chairman, said Tuesday the $1.6 million sports center will take some four months to complete.

The Mount Prospect Village Board Tuesday unanimously passed an ordinance creating a variation to allow the project to be built in the southeast corner of the Randhurst property. In doing so, the village board overruled an unfavorable recommendation by the village's board of appeals.

Various trustees Tuesday said they could see little merit in the appeal board's objections. Those objections dealt with increased traffic, the stability of Metro as a firm, the single-purpose usage of the proposed building, and the 24-hour-a-day operation of the center.

The board waived the required two readings of the ordinance.

The Randhurst complex will include two arenas — an ice skating practice arena and a spectator arena containing 2,000 permanent seats. Both arenas will be used for competitive meets, amateur hockey, figure and speed skating.

THE PRACTICE arena will also be used for skating instructions and hockey instructions.

Hattis Associates Inc., of Deerfield, will do the architectural and engineering work for the facility and Pepper Construction Co., of Chicago, will be the general contractor.

The sports center concept is intended to encourage amateur hockey programs for teenagers, according to Marshall.

One reason behind the Randhurst Corporation's involvement in the project (a 35-year lease for the land to Metro) is the hope that parents will shop at The Randhurst Center during the hour or so their children might be using the skating facility.

Similar projects are being studied for Wheeling, Skokie, Elmhurst, Wilmette and Orland Park; but the Randhurst facility will be the group's first.

Smith To Speak To Single Parents

Robert W. Smith, director of Christian education at the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit, will discuss "raising children alone" at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the church, 666 Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village. Smith said the meeting is especially for single parents, widowed and divorced. Non-members of the church are invited to attend.

Troop 284 Spends Weekend At Campout

Elk Grove Village Boy Scout Troop 284 went camping last weekend at the scouts' spring camporee at Lakota Scout Reservation near Woodstock, Ill.

The troop gave a compass demonstration as part of the survival program of the camp.

Attending the camp were Ray Manske, Doug Butchard, Rich Manske, Keith Henriksen and Mark Young, all of the Wolf Patrol; and Pat O'Brien, Rob McMillian, Tom Walsh, Jim Goetz, Albert Goetz and Scott Kane, all of the Stag Patrol.

The next campout is planned for the weekend of June 10 at Devils Lake, Wis.

No Fumes At Rink: Official

Carbon monoxide fumes will not present any problem for the Metro Sports, Inc. ice skating facility in Mount Prospect, said an official for the firm.

A recent article in "The Wall Street Journal" on the toxic fumes created by ice resurfacing machines in arenas around the country had caused some concern over the proposed Metro facility.

But Atty. John Cummins said his client, Metro, Inc., would take all necessary precautions to eliminate such potential pollution hazards.

Cummins presented the village board with a corporate memo on the problem in which stated their safeguards. These included a ventilation system that would pump fresh air into the two rink areas each hour and additional intake and exhaust systems for such times as there will be spectator events.

"Another precaution which we are taking is related to our operating policy of having all skaters off the rinks at the time of resurfacing," the memo read.

The carbon monoxide usually arises from the exhaust of the ice resurfacing machines, which run on gasoline. These vapors are hot and could rise and affect spectators if they are not dissipated.

The manufacturer is now installing a new type of emission control muffler, according to the memo.

Vehicle Noise Ordinance Just A Scare Tactic?

The signs at the entrances to Wheeling subdivisions which warn motorists of a noise and muffler ordinance may be little more than scare tactics, the village board learned Monday.

The board asked the village attorney to check on the constitutionality of the village's ban on noisy vehicles after a judge in Arlington Heights District Court dismissed a case based on the law.

A report to the board from the police department explained Judge John M. Breen Jr. dismissed the case after commenting he believed the village's ordinance to be unconstitutional.

The case involved the arrest of Richard Gabala last Oct. 3. Police arrested him in the early morning hours for allegedly making unnecessary noise by accelerating his car rapidly.

AFTER A number of continuances the case came to trial recently and was dismissed by Breen, who said of the village ordinance, "I believe it is unconstitutional."

The village ordinance, adopted in 1965 as part of the traffic code chapter in the municipal code, states: "It is unlawful to operate a vehicle which makes unusually loud or unnecessary noise." Another section of the code requires cars to have mufflers in working condition.

The village's regulation of mufflers and noise dates even farther back than the formal municipal code, however.

A Wheeling ordinance enacted in September, 1912 (which today exists only as a handwritten copy) required owners of motor vehicles to make sure their mufflers were in working order.

There is also a state law requiring cars to have mufflers which "must prevent excessive and unusual noise."

The question over the Wheeling ordinance apparently deals with the section which talks about unusually loud or unnecessary noise rather than the section about having a working muffler.

THE VILLAGE installed the "muffler" signs at the entrances to the various subdivisions recently after learning the signs could not legally be posted on the state roadways which lead into the village.

Trustee Michael Valenza, who championed the signs and strict village enforcement of laws against noisy vehicles, first brought the problem to the attention of the village board over a year ago.

At the time the trustee said he had seen signs in various municipalities south of Chicago warning drivers, "Muffler Ordinance Strictly Enforced."

Valenza said he was concerned because he and other residents of the village are bothered by noisy cars.

"The loudest mufflers in the world go down East Jeffery at 1 a.m.," he said at the time.

Still Openings On Village Commissions

Applications are still being accepted to fill vacancies on the village youth commission and industrial commission.

4 Wheeling High

Students Win Awards

Four Wheeling High School students received awards for science projects last weekend at the 45th annual Illinois Junior Academy of Science fair.

Paul Meers, a senior, received an outstanding rating on his project on the life cycle of slime-mold. Richard DeKneff, a junior, received a first place award for his work with cold temperature astrophotography.

Charles Taelinck, a sophomore, received a first place honor for development of a field-effect transistor electroscope and Linnell Teavey, a freshman, received first place honors for a project on the effect of phosphate pollution on algae.

About 1,000 projects were entered in the fair. Projects are judged on their scientific merits and are graded independently, not in competition with each other.

Friday Is Tour Day

Groups planning to tour the Wheeling Police Department or Fire Department stations will have to do so on Friday from now on.

Roger Stricker, village director of public safety, told the village board this week that Friday was being established as "tour day" in the two departments to help avoid confusion and interruption of work.

Wheeling trustee Albert Lang said this week.

Lang said a number of appointments to various village boards and commissions will be made by the board on Monday.

At a committee meeting this week the board interviewed five residents for posts on commissions.

Lang said those interviewed included Robert Kingsbury, who applied for the new environmental control commission now being established, Thaddeus Stewart for the public relations commission, Thomas Stewart for the youth commission, Anthony Pastore for the youth commission and Marvin Buerger for the Civil Defense board of directors.

The board did act on Buerger's appointment this week, commenting they were following the advice of Civil Defense Director Robert Buerger in appointing Marvin Buerger to the post.

Lang said that at 7 p.m. Monday the board had received applications from five other persons for the Civil Defense board post. But the trustees said that as in the past they would appoint the man recommended by the Civil Defense director.

Lang said following the meeting that John Grunst has resigned from the youth commission.

The trustee said persons interested in filling one of the two vacancies on the industrial commission or one of the four vacancies on the youth commission should fill out applications at the municipal building.

Sister Beth Has Hope For Future

by RICH HONACK

Not every woman can become a nun. It is a job, like any other — but it takes much sacrifice, dedication and time. It also means devoting your "whole life" to someone else — God.

This is Sister Beth Ann's story. Sister Beth took her final vows as a nun last Saturday in the Old Church at St. Mary's in Buffalo Grove, where she is a junior high school teacher. She has been a nun with the Teaching Sisters of St. Francis for 11 years.

ORIGINALLY FROM La Grange, Sister Beth went to Alverno College in Milwaukee and received her bachelor's degree in English. She is currently working on her master's degree at Northwestern University.

"At first I wanted to become a missionary Sister with the Holy Ghost Missionaries. However, I changed my mind and decided I liked to teach," said Sister Beth. She felt her services would be better rendered as a teaching sister.

She said she has seen many nuns leave the sisterhood since she started, but "there is a certain strength in me, I guess, that allowed me to take my final vows."

She added, "I feel a great hope for the future of the sisters. Maybe not in numbers but in those dedicated to serve. I guess it's a cliché, but what we'll lack in quantity we'll make up in quality."

SHE EXPLAINED that with more dedicated nuns more good will be accomplished. Sister Beth added that the sisters of today make broader commitments and open themselves up more to the community.

"In the past we were considered 'superhuman' type people. We wore long habits and we weren't really looked at on a personal level," she explained.

Sister Beth related one funny incident when she was still wearing the habit that included sleevelets which covered the during ceremonies in St. Mary's Church. She has taught in Buffalo Grove for the past year and plans to make this her home for a few years. She is originally from La Grange.

arm from the wrist to just above the elbow.

"I was once helping some of my students wash the desks in a classroom and I removed my sleevelets. One young boy looked at me in surprise and said, 'Sister! You have real arms.' It was very mind bending," she explained.

SISTER BETH feels the new dress codes of the nuns are helpful in coming closer to the community.

"There are many in their 30s who really feel nuns should dress in the habit, but older people and younger accept the change. They still look at us as nuns but they don't seem as shy."

"When I was in Sarasota, Fla., last year, the retired people, who make up much of the community, often just called me Beth and dropped much of the formality. I think it helped us communicate better," explained the 29-year-old nun.

After Sister Beth took her final vows, she said she felt a "great inner peace."

She explained that the peace made her feel settled and secure.

For Sister Beth Ann it means working harder to become a fuller person. "I feel like my goal is to become a richer, more alive human being. I am going to continue to strive to be a better teacher so I can give my students more values," she said.

Sister has been at St. Mary's School since September and plans to stay for a few more years. She has been in four different cities during her four years of teaching.

"I think it's time I stayed in one place for a while. I guess maybe it's still that missionary drive in me that makes me want to go where I am needed. Right now I feel I'm needed here," she said with a smile.

To Sister Beth, that is the main reason for becoming a nun — service to the community and to God.

Hire New Police Chief, Says Study

by STEVE FORSYTH

Several problems in the Buffalo Grove Police Department have been brought to light by a recent management study.

Results of the study, released yesterday, suggest several improvements, one of which is the hiring of a new police chief.

Village officials have been considering the suggestions, and have already accepted Chief Harold Smith's resignation, effective when a new chief is hired.

Village Mgr. Dan Larson said several other suggestions from the study will be considered after a new chief is hired, hopefully early this summer. He added that although Smith has resigned as chief, he may remain a member of the department.

The study of the Buffalo Grove police was part of a comprehensive survey of law enforcement agencies in Cook County, done by the firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget, Inc., of Washington, D.C. The firm also has a Chicago office. Money for the survey came from a federal grant, and cost the village nothing.

The firm said in its overall survey, "Those suburban municipalities with police departments of a total size of about 20 fulltime sworn officers and civilians should investigate alternative methods of giving police service to their municipalities."

THE CONSULTANTS suggested such municipalities consider other methods of providing police protection, such as contracting with larger neighboring jurisdictions.

The village study, however, indicates such a move would not be advantageous, although the department has only 18 fulltime personnel. The reasons are: the rapid growth in size of the village and increasing police activity which will eventually require a more substantial department; and the bi-county location of the village which could create complications with any contract police department not authorized to operate in both counties.

In suggesting areas needing improvement, the study says, "The most significant problem facing the Buffalo Grove Police Department in its current stage of development is an absence of firm and decisive leadership. This has been demonstrated by a series of both major and minor decisions made by department supervisors that do not appear to reflect the best interests of the police force in particular or the village as a whole."

As examples, the report cited: the department failed to take advantage of a recent opportunity to combine its dispatching function with those of several neighboring police agencies. This resulted in loss of a chance for less costly and more effective service, and caused consideration for purchase of costly but unnecessary communications equipment exceeding present village needs.

AS A CONSEQUENCE of the leadership vacuum, the report says, various individuals and organizations associated with the village government have attempted to provide direction and guidance to the department with varying amounts of success.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Lying half-paralyzed, Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his presidential primary election triumphs in Maryland and Michigan. His doctors and campaign aides insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rejected the idea of increasing Secret Service protection for political candidates and called instead for passage of stronger gun-control legislation.

House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon an 18-month moratorium on court orders for school busing, so that pending cases may be appealed.

Then the lawmakers completed work on a compromise $18.5 billion aid to higher education bill after two months of negotiating.

The defense opens its case in the Angela Davis trial after 11 weeks of prosecution testimony with the major question being whether Miss Davis will take the stand herself.

The State

A defense attorney asked that race track scandal indictments against former Gov. Otto Kerner and four others be thrown out because of a "plethora of damaging publicity."

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel Walker charged "gross negligence" on the part of the Illinois Department of Revenue in its administration of the state income tax.

The World

The West German parliament ratified Chancellor Willy Brandt's nonaggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland. The treaties gave up German claims on territory occupied by Poland and the U.S.S.R. after World War II as well as pledging recognition of current national boundaries in Europe.

A sniper shot and wounded four Protestant workers as they left their factory in a largely Roman Catholic area of Belfast, Northern Ireland. The shootings came in the wake of Protestant threats to take action to clear out Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry.

The War

The United States, explaining its rejection of a Communist request to resume the Paris peace talks, accused Hanoi and the Viet Cong of disdaining a negotiated settlement.

June Groundbreak For Rink Complex

Groundbreaking for the Metro Sports Inc. twin ice skating rink facility at the Randhurst Shopping Center is scheduled for next month.

William J. Marshall, Metro board chairman, said Tuesday the $1.6 million sports center will take some four months to complete.

The Mount Prospect Village Board Tuesday unanimously passed an ordinance creating a variation to allow the project to be built in the southeast corner of the Randhurst property. In doing so, the village board overruled an unfavorable recommendation by the village's board of appeals.

Various trustees Tuesday said they could see little merit in the appeal board's objections. Those objections dealt with increased traffic, the stability of Metro as a firm, the single-purpose usage of the proposed building, and the 24-hour-a-day operation of the center.

The board waived the required two readings of the ordinance.

The Randhurst complex will include two arenas — an ice skating practice arena and a spectator arena containing 2,000 permanent seats. Both arenas will be used for competitive meets, amateur hockey, figure and speed skating.

THE PRACTICE arena will also be used for skating instructions and hockey instructions.

Hattis Associates Inc., of Deerfield, will do the architectural and engineering work for the facility and Pepper Construction Co., of Chicago, will be the general contractor.

The sports center concept is intended to encourage amateur hockey programs for teenagers, according to Marshall.

One reason behind the Randhurst Corporation's involvement in the project (a 35-year lease for the land to Metro) is the hope that parents will shop at the Randhurst Center during the hour or so their children might be using the skating facility.

Similar projects are being studied for Wheeling, Skokie, Elmhurst, Wilmette and Orland Park, but the Randhurst facility will be the group's first.

2 Rezoning Pleas OK'd By Zoning Board

The Wheeling Zoning Board of Appeals unanimously approved two rezoning requests Tuesday.

Final action on the rezonings for a restaurant and for a condominium project will now be up to the Wheeling Village Board.

The zoning board approved rezoning for a site adjacent to the Pleasant Run condominium project.

The new site, bordering on Elmhurst road south of Drake Terrace, had originally been proposed as a shopping center.

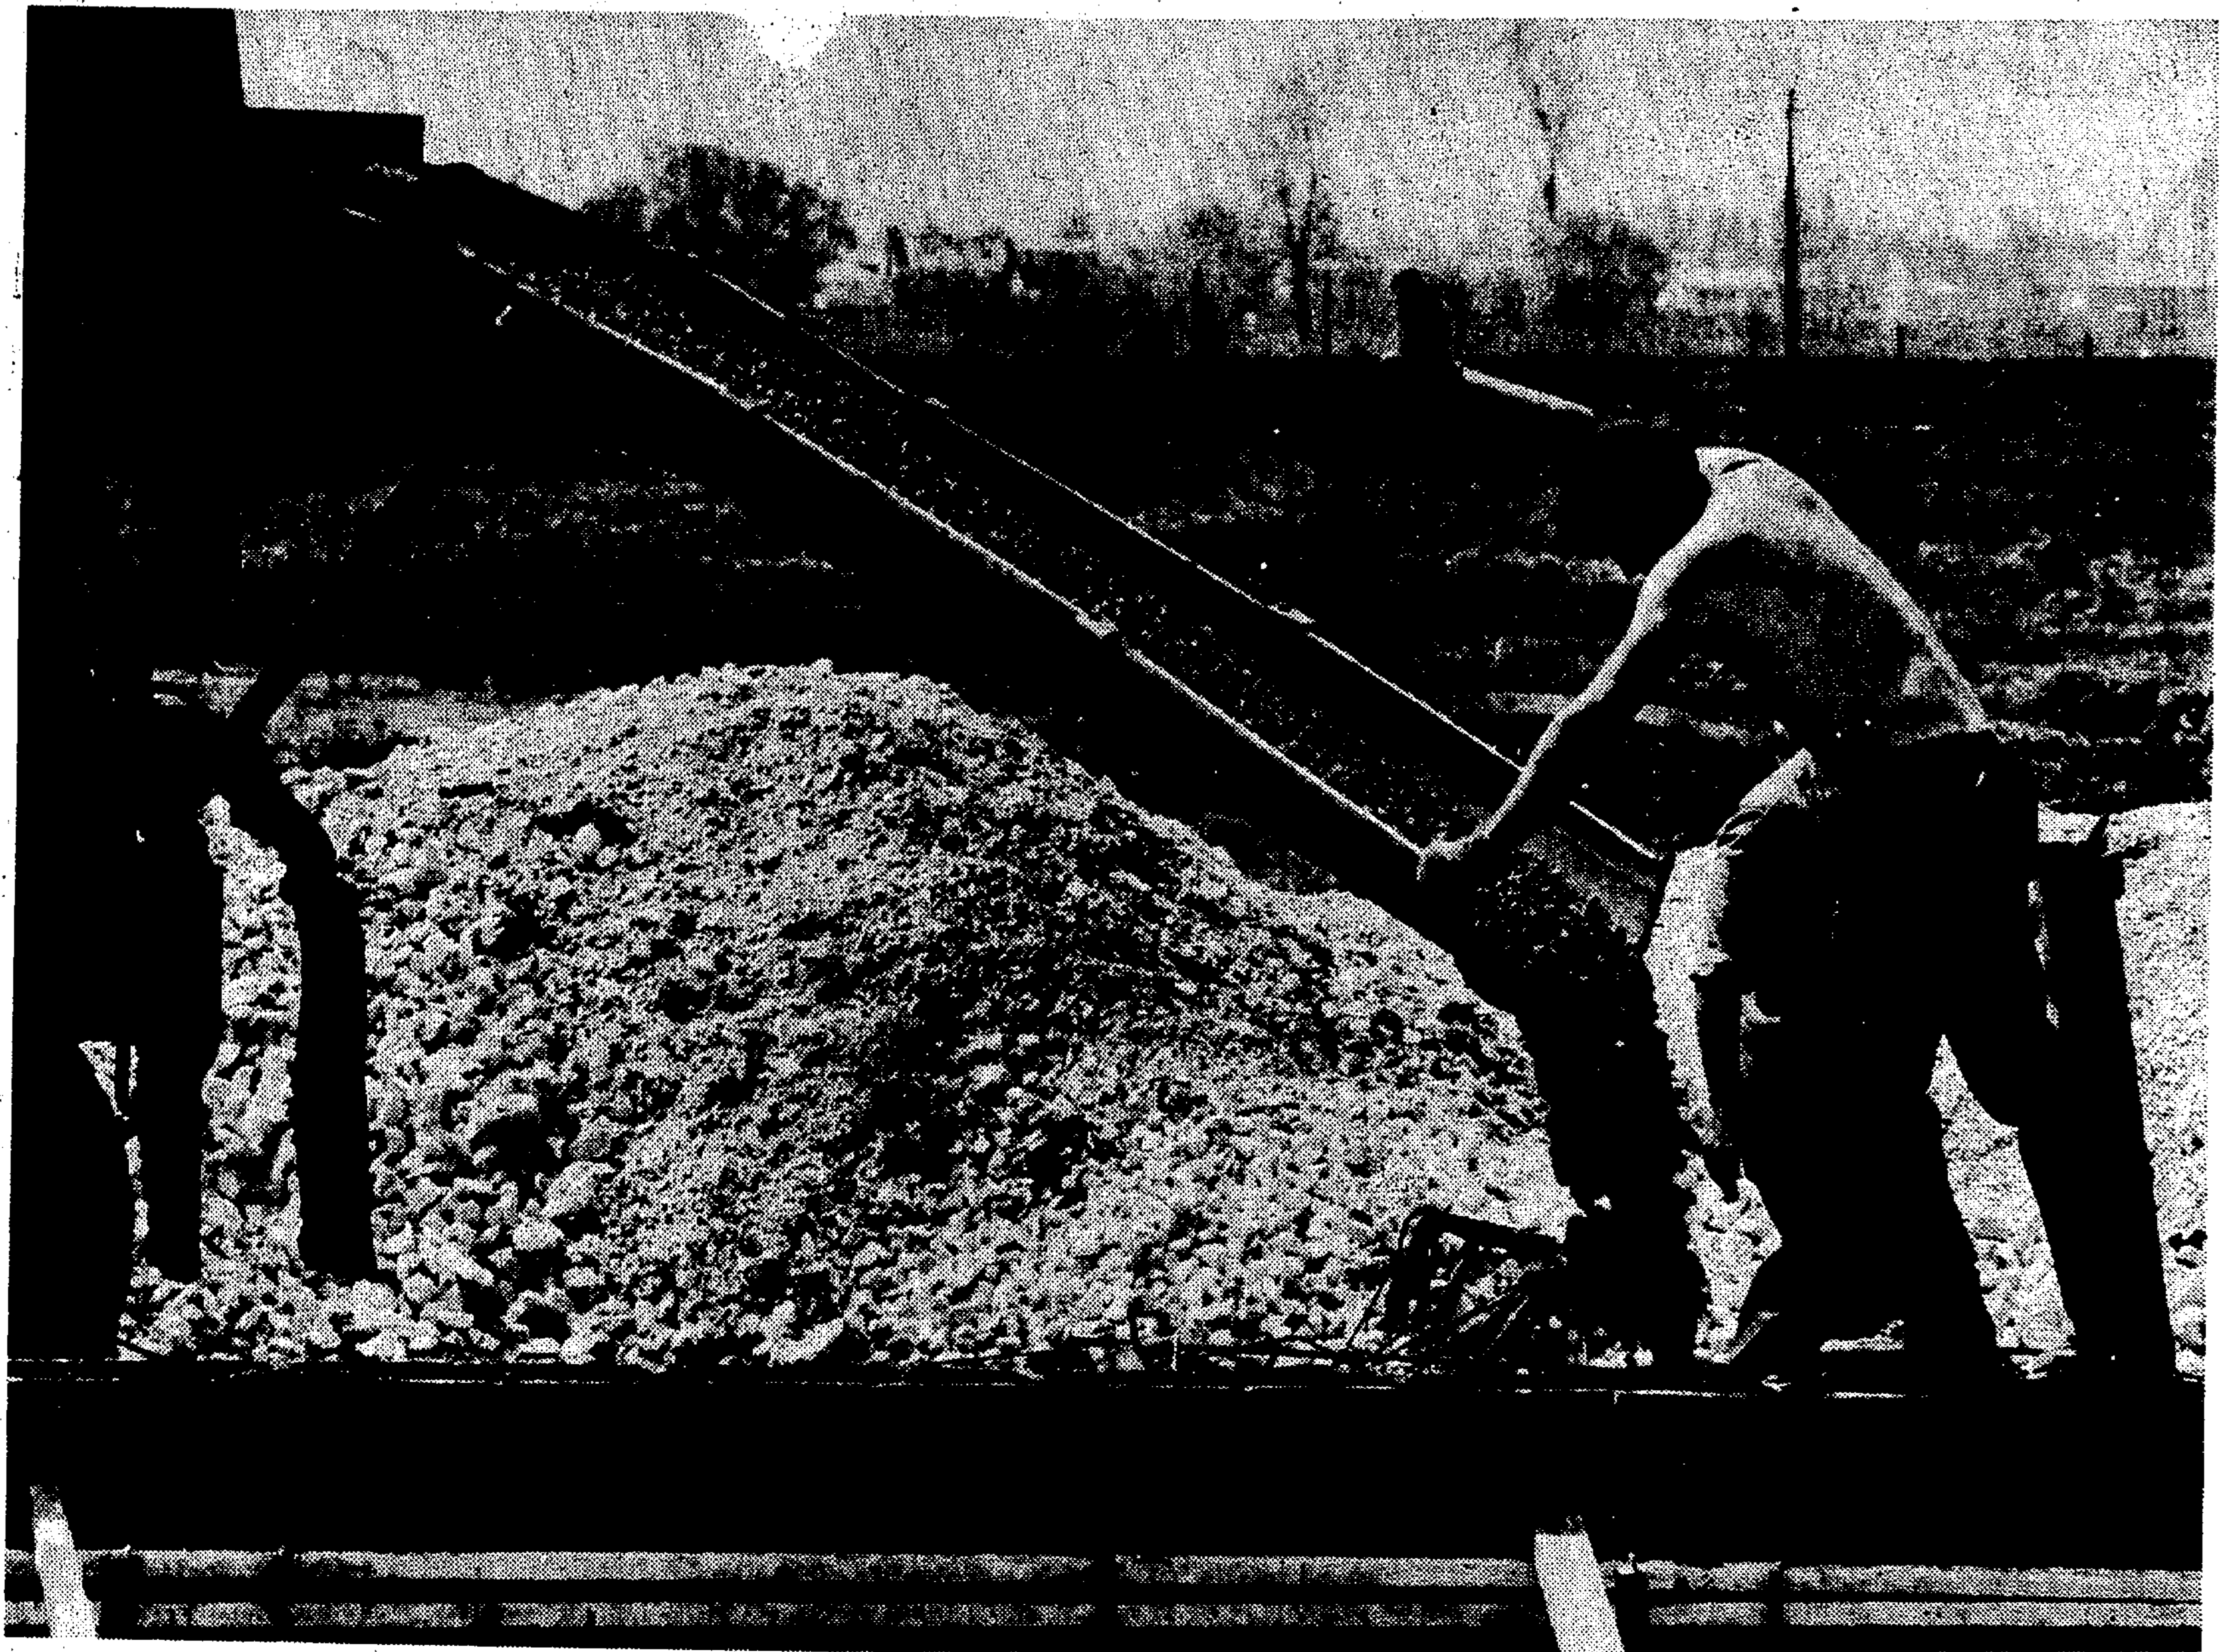

At the hearing Tuesday, the zoning board approved changing the zoning on the site so the Pleasant Run development can be expanded on to it.

Eleven buildings with a total of 155 additional units would be built on the property.

The two-story buildings would include 132 two-bedroom units, 18 three-bedroom units and six one-bedroom units.

The board also approved three requests relating to a dinner restaurant proposed on property at 604 N. Milwaukee Ave.

In addition to approving restaurant zoning on the property, the board recommended a 10-foot sideyard variation be granted and a special use permit to operate a restaurant be issued for the property.

New Principal Appointed At Sacred Heart High School

by JOANN VAN WYE

The appointment of Gerald Giles as principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows was announced yesterday by the Rev. H. Robert Clark, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of Chicago.

Miss Louise Jacobs was named associate principal at the same time.

The appointments are effective July 1. The Rev. James E. Michaletz, superintendent of Sacred Heart, said both persons would be spending time in the school prior to July 1 familiarizing themselves with its operation, getting acquainted with faculty, parents and students and hiring new faculty members.

Giles replaces Len Baenen who resigned in January, effective June 30, after serving as principal of Sacred Heart for two years. Baenen said he resigned to clear the way for a change of ownership of the school from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded it in 1960, to the Archdiocese of Chicago. Baenen had expressed a desire to continue as principal but was ineligible because of a papal prohibition against the hiring of former priests.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, a New York based congregation, announced in March it would no longer be able to staff and maintain the school because of financial problems and personnel problems.

The appointments end a search for an administrative team that started after the March announcement the archdiocese would take over ownership of the school. The administrative team will be in charge of the overall operation of the school, leadership and development of an instructional program.

The position of associate principal is a new one. Father Michaletz said job descriptions had not been completed yet but that Miss Jones will be primarily in charge of curriculum development and working with the students through the curriculum.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Some of his previous experience includes English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

A native of Lowell, Mass., Giles holds a bachelor's degree from St. Anselm's College in Manchester, N.H., a master's degree from Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio and is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching both at Trinity High School in River Forest and Rosary College in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in LaGrange, where she was curriculum coordinator.

Miss Jacobs is a native of Chicago. She received her bachelor's degree from DePaul University and master's degree from Loyola University.

The appointments were made by a selection committee formed in March. Serving on the committee were Father Clark; Brother Pius Xavier, the associate superintendent of the archdiocese; Sister Joyce Durosco, principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary High School; Sister Charles Ellen, principal of Mother Theodore Guerin High School; Baenen and Father Michaletz.

Between 15 and 20 applications for the two positions were received and the committee interviewed nine candidates. Three of the candidates were invited to spend a day at Sacred Heart at the end of which they were interviewed by the faculty and students.

Commenting on the appointments, Father Clark noted guidelines followed in seeking administrators for the school included the importance of student centered education, shared decision making with students, faculty and parents and dedication to the importance of aiding the students to develop values of Christian living.

"The Archdiocese's concern for Sacred Heart was demonstrated in March when it assumed the responsibility of the school. It is even further demonstrated by the diligence and industry exercised in seeking out those two fine administrators," said Father Clark.

Father Michaletz said he feels the future of the school is even brighter with the naming of the administrative team. He said both had worked at schools pioneering innovative programs.

The number one item on the agenda now, according to Father Michaletz, is the hiring of faculty members to replace the sisters of the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary who are leaving in June and about 10 per cent of the lay staff who are leaving.

"We have waited until this point because we definitely wanted the new administrative team to be involved in the hiring," said Father Michaletz.

Our Man Becomes Fireman For A Day

by STEVE BROWN

Try to imagine moving through a smoke-filled house, 30 pounds of breathing apparatus on your back, wearing fire coat, hat and boots, a lantern in one hand and an axe or pipe pole in the other. Try to imagine smoke as dense as a blindfold around your head, and heat so intense that it melts metal doors. These were the conditions faced last Friday morning when Hoffman Estates firefighters battled to rescue three children from a killer fire.

I could not imagine these things. Working with all equipment and flames licking at my sides, I got an inkling of the handicap under which a firefighter works. I had only some of the equipment, some of the smoke, but none of the sense of urgency or emergency.

It took the help of two other men to get into the Scott Air Pack. In an emergency, this would have been a solo effort and it would not have been easy.

DEPUTY Fire Chief Ed Kalasa lit the smoke bombs in the basement through which we walked at the Barrington Lakes Apartments, still under construction. It was a large open area. The only objective was to walk a straight line to the other end of the garage. Two other firemen would be with me.

The boots, coat and hat were hot and uncomfortable. Sweat soaked my shirt. The mask fogged briefly from a little overanxious breathing.

Kalasa lit the smoke bombs and we went in. Trying to breathe normally, I noticed that the hissing sound from the air tanks indicating the release of oxygen came more rapidly from my tank than from those of the other men.

Once in the basement, the smoke swirled around us. We stopped long enough to light another smoke bomb. Then we started to walk.

Thinking I was headed for a side wall, I walked cautiously trying not to stumble.

With the aid of a high power light, I managed to keep a muted outline of the lead man's air tank in view.

He was only a foot or two away, but I still could not see him well.

A FEW MINUTES later we reached the other end. Much to my surprise, we always walked in the same direction. In my mind I had become disoriented while trying to walk essentially a straight line.

The air tank, mask and other equipment brought on an eerie feeling. Knowing the thin hose running between the tank and mask was the only barrier between normal breathing and inhaling, the choking smoke provided me with a very strange sensation.

It would have been next to impossible to travel the basement without following the other men, even though the smoke was white and easier to see through than the gray or black smoke usually encountered by firefighters at a real fire.

I did not have to go around any barriers or find my way back out. I was not looking for anything. And there was no sense of urgency connected with my efforts.

I had the benefit of seeing the area without the smoke before I started. I did not have to carry much of the equipment that firemen entering a burning building would need.

I NOW HAVE an idea of what the experience is like. It is not a pleasant one, not knowing where you are or what the next step may hold.

I know that moving on my own is difficult and I can now imagine what it must be like to search for other human beings.

I always felt that it took more than an average man to do the job.

Donation Campaign For Fire Victims Continues

Response to the efforts of the Hoffman Estates Boy's Club to collect clothing and home furnishings for the William Gahan family who lost most of their possessions in a fire last Friday has been called outstanding by an official of the group.

The fire took the lives of three children in the family and destroyed their home at 129 Des Plaines Ln. in the village.

Tony Stampanato, president of the Boy's Club, said much in the way of appliances, furniture and clothing has been received so far, but more things are needed by the family.

He said sizes for clothing for the family are: man, size 34-34 slacks, size 40 long jacket, 15½ shirts; women, dresses sizes 10-12; girl, size 9-10.

Donations may be taken to the Boy's Club building behind the Hoffman Estates Village Hall on Illinois Boulevard tonight and Friday night from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Stampanato said the family still needs dishes, pots and pans, small appliances and more clothing.

He said items such as a refrigerator, television set, kitchen and bedroom furniture has already been received.

Cash donations are also being accepted for the family, he said. Any checks should be made out in the name of the William Gahan family.

Stampanato said he has been very gratified by the initial response the community has made to help the family.

June Wedding Off To 'Heated' Start

One June wedding got off to a hot start this week in Des Plaines when the bride's mother pushed the groom's mother down the front steps after the two got into a fight over wedding plans.

According to police reports, the mother of the groom made a visit to the home of her prospective in-laws to discuss the upcoming nuptial ceremony.

Wedding arrangements are sometimes hard to work out and the discussion turned into a heated argument. The two would-be mothers-in-law squared off and then, police said, the bride's mother gave a shove and the groom's mother tumbled down the front steps.

The woman received facial lacerations and injured her right leg but told police she didn't want to sign a complaint.

Weaver Arraignment Set For Wednesday

The arraignment for Ward Weaver, Schaumburg State Bank president, and Erwin Oostling of Western Springs has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday before U.S. District Court Judge Thomas McMillen.

The two were indicted last week on five counts of making false entries in bank books and one count of conspiracy to make false entries in bank books, all alleged to have taken place between March 1, 1967, and June 1, 1968.

Oostling was the president of the Bank of Clarendon Hills. Weaver is formerly president of the Evanston Trust and Savings Bank. When the indictments were made public, Weaver announced he would take a leave of absence from the Schaumburg bank position.

The indictment alleges about $630,000 worth of loans made to the former Mar-K-Z Motors and Leasing Co., Inc., Freeport, were entered on books as sold or transferred to the Evanston and Schaumburg banks, but the sale or transfers never actually occurred. Only about $60,000 of the loans were shown as sold or transferred to the Schaumburg bank.

Hire New Chief, Make Improvements, Study Says

Several problems in the Buffalo Grove Police Department have been brought to light by a recent management study.

Results of the study, released yesterday, suggest several improvements, one of which is the hiring of a new police chief.

Village officials have been considering the suggestions, and have already accepted Chief Harold Smith's resignation, effective when a new chief is hired.

Village Mgr. Dan Larson said several other suggestions from the study will be considered after a new chief is hired, hopefully early this summer. He added that although Smith has resigned as chief, he may remain a member of the department.

The study of the Buffalo Grove police was part of a comprehensive survey of law enforcement agencies in Cook County, done by the firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget, Inc., of Washington, D.C. The firm also has a Chicago office. Money for the survey came from a federal grant, and cost the village nothing.

The firm said in its overall survey, "Those suburban municipalities with police departments of a total size of about 20 fulltime sworn officers and civilians should investigate alternative methods of giving police service to their municipalities."

THE CONSULTANTS suggested such municipalities consider other methods of providing police protection, such as contracting with larger neighboring jurisdictions.

The village study, however, indicates such a move would not be advantageous, although the department has only 18 fulltime personnel. The reasons are: the rapid growth in size of the village and increasing police activity which will eventually require a more substantial department; and the bi-county location of the village which could create complications with any contract police department not authorized to operate in both counties.

In suggesting areas needing improvement, the study says, "The most significant problem facing the Buffalo Grove Police Department in its current stage of development is an absence of firm and decisive leadership. This has been demonstrated by a series of both major and minor decisions made by department supervisors that do not appear to reflect the best interests of the police force in particular or the village as a whole."

As examples, the report cited: the department failed to take advantage of a recent opportunity to combine its dispatching function with those of several neighboring police agencies. This resulted in loss of a chance for less costly and more effective service, and caused consideration for purchase of costly but unnecessary communications equipment exceeding present village needs.

AS A CONSEQUENCE of the leadership vacuum, the report says, various individuals and organizations associated with the village government have attempted to provide direction and guidance to the department with varying amounts of success.

"To date, those involved have included the village board of trustees as a group and as individuals, the board of fire and police commissioners, the village commission, the village manager, and members of the police force, both individually and as an organized group."

Larson said the report did not, however, go into the technical aspects of the police department, since the survey was made by management, not police, consultants. He said the report was highly complimentary toward the men themselves, and critical only of the management.

"The raw talent is there," Larson said. "The new chief will run the department, and we'll give him the tools (equipment and personnel) the village can afford."

Larson added that despite the criticism of the report, Smith did take the department from two men (himself and one other man) to what it is now, in only five years.

The report also stressed the need for a juvenile department on a fulltime basis to handle the problems of youth, and strongly suggested more training for the department's patrolmen.

MAJOR PROPOSALS in the study's are:

—Redefine the role and responsibilities of the chief of police.

—Establish a long-range planning system.

—Appoint a director of youth services.

—Select new supervisory personnel.

—Prepare a written department policies and procedures manual.

—Investigate opportunities for improved assistance in specialized fields from other regional police agencies.

—Resume participation in juvenile-oriented school liaison programs.

—Strengthen department training activities.

—Prepare a formal grievance procedure for police officers.

—Institute an improved citizen complaint procedure.

—Improve utilization of portable radios and acquire additional radios within budgetary constraints.

—Strengthen department records system.

"I was once helping some of my students wash the desks in a classroom and I removed my sleevelets. One young boy looked at me in surprise and said, 'Sister! You have real arms.' It was very mind bending," she explained.

SISTER BETH feels the new dress codes of the nuns are helpful in coming closer to the community.

"There are many in their 30s who really feel nuns should dress in the habit, but older people and younger accept the change. They still look at us as nuns but they don't seem as shy.

"When I was in Sarasota, Fla., last year, the retired people, who make up much of the community, often just called me Beth and dropped much of the formality. I think it helped us communicate better," explained the 29-year-old nun.

After Sister Beth took her final vows, she said she felt a "great inner peace."

She explained that the peace made her feel settled and secure.

For Sister Beth Ann it means working harder to become a fuller person. "I feel like my goal is to become a richer, more alive human being. I am going to continue to strive to be a better teacher so I can give my students more values," she said.

Sister has been at St. Mary's School since September and plans to stay for a few more years. She has been in four different cities during her four years of teaching.

"I think it's time I stayed in one place for a while. I guess maybe it's still that missionary drive in me that makes me want to go where I am needed. Right now I feel I'm needed here," she said with a smile.

To Sister Beth, that is the main reason for becoming a nun — service to the community and to God.

She said she has seen many nuns leave the sisterhood since she started, but "there is a certain strength in me, I guess, that allowed me to take my final vows."

She added, "I feel a great hope for the future of the sisters. Maybe not in numbers but in those dedicated to serve. I guess it's a cliché, but what we'll lack in quantity we'll make up in quality."

SHE EXPLAINED that with more dedicated nuns more good will be accomplished. Sister Beth added that the sisters of today make broader commitments and open themselves up more to the community.

"In the past we were considered 'superhuman' type people. We wore long habits and we weren't really looked at on a personal level," she explained.

To Sister Beth, that is the main reason for becoming a nun — service to the community and to God.

She said she has seen many nuns leave the sisterhood since she started, but "there is a certain strength in me, I guess, that allowed me to take my final vows."

She added, "I feel a great hope for the future of the sisters. Maybe not in numbers but in those dedicated to serve. I guess it's a cliché, but what we'll lack in quantity we'll make up in quality."

"I was once helping some of my students wash the desks in a classroom and I removed my sleevelets. One young boy looked at me in surprise and said, 'Sister! You have real arms.' It was very mind bending," she explained.

SISTER BETH feels the new dress codes of the nuns are helpful in coming closer to the community.

"There are many in their 30s who really feel nuns should dress in the habit, but older people and younger accept the change. They still look at us as nuns but they don't seem as shy.

"When I was in Sarasota, Fla., last year, the retired people, who make up much of the community, often just called me Beth and dropped much of the formality. I think it helped us communicate better," explained the 29-year-old nun.

After Sister Beth took her final vows, she said she felt a "great inner peace."

She explained that the peace made her feel settled and secure.

For Sister Beth Ann it means working harder to become a fuller person. "I feel like my goal is to become a richer, more alive human being. I am going to continue to strive to be a better teacher so I can give my students more values," she said.

Sister has been at St. Mary's School since September and plans to stay for a few more years. She has been in four different cities during her four years of teaching.

"I think it's time I stayed in one place for a while. I guess maybe it's still that missionary drive in me that makes me want to go where I am needed. Right now I feel I'm needed here," she said with a smile.

New Principal Appointed At Sacred Heart Of Mary

by JOANN VAN WYE

The appointment of Gerald Giles as principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows was announced yesterday by the Rev. H. Robert Clark, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of Chicago.

Miss Louise Jacobs was named associate principal at the same time.

The appointments are effective July 1. The Rev. James E. Michalez, superintendent of Sacred Heart, said both persons would be spending time in the school prior to July 1 familiarizing themselves with its operation, getting acquainted with faculty, parents and students and hiring new faculty members.

Giles replaces Len Baenen who resigned in January, effective June 30, after serving as principal of Sacred Heart for two years. Baenen said he resigned to clear the way for a change of ownership of the school from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded it in 1960, to the Archdiocese of Chicago. Baenen had expressed a desire to continue as principal but was ineligible because of a papal prohibition against the hiring of former priests.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, a New York based congregation, announced in March it would no longer be able to staff and maintain the school because of financial problems and personnel problems.

The appointments end a search for an administrative team that started after the March announcement the archdiocese would take over ownership of the school. The administrative team will be in charge of the overall operation of the school, leadership and development of an instructional program.

The position of associate principal is a new one. Father Michalez said job descriptions had not been completed yet but that Miss Jones will be primarily in charge of curriculum development and working with the students through the curriculum.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Some of his previous experience includes English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

A native of Lowell, Mass., Giles holds a bachelor's degree from St. Anselm's College in Manchester, N.H., a master's degree from Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio and is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching both at Trinity High School in River Forest and Rosary College in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in LaGrange, where she was curriculum coordinator.

Miss Jacobs is a native of Chicago. She received her bachelor's degree from DePaul University and master's degree from Loyola University.

The appointments were made by a selection committee formed in March. Serving on the committee were Father Clark; Brother Pius Xavier, the associate superintendent of the archdiocese; Sister Joyce Duroske, principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary High School; Sister Charles Ellen, principal of Mother Theodore Guerin High School; Baenen and Father Michalez.

Between 15 and 20 applications for the two positions were received and the committee interviewed nine candidates. Three of the candidates were invited to spend a day at Sacred Heart at the end of which they were interviewed by the faculty and students.

Commenting on the appointments, Father Clark noted guidelines followed in seeking administrators for the school included the importance of student census.

Underwriter Charged With Conspiracy

Cook County Sheriff's Police have arrested a Palatine Township man and charged him with conspiracy to commit burglary in connection with what police call a home burglary ring that operated on information the man obtained while working as an insurance underwriter.

Ronald D. Wegner, 29, of 114 S. Middleton in Palatine Township, a former employee of an Arlington Heights insurance company, was arrested after he allegedly tried to sell information from three home insurance policies to an undercover detective posing as a would-be burglar.

Cook County Sheriff's Police charge Wegner has provided burglars with information on valuable contents and security measures of homes for which he had written insurance policies.

He then would get a kick-back from the burglar of one-third the value of whatever goods were stolen, police say.

The undercover investigation of Wegner's alleged actions had been going on for a month before the actual arrest was made Tuesday, according to police.

Police say they do not believe at this time that any of the burglaries in which Wegner was allegedly involved occurred in the Northwest suburbs.

Wegner was released on $5,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in 3rd District Circuit Court on June 6.

Monday Is Deadline For Parade Entries

Monday is the deadline for entering marching units in the Palatine Memorial Day parade.

Civic, fraternal, scouting or other groups are welcome to participate in the event May 29. The parade will assemble at 9 a.m. and begin at 10 a.m. It is sponsored by Palatine American Legion Post 690 and the Palatine Township Memorial Association.

Groups wishing to participate in the parade are asked to contact parade marshal James Kissner at 359-3509 or 359-1606. Groups which do not make arrangements by Monday but which still want to participate will be placed in the rear of the parade, Kissner said.

Auto Center Hit

Burglars took more than $300 worth in goods Tuesday night from Busch Auto Service Center in Palatine.

Reported missing were two polyglass tires valued at $120; 10 more tires and a 12-inch black-and-white television set valued at $787; and $18 in cash.

Palatine police said entry to the station at 137 S. Northwest Hwy. was gained through a rear door, which was pushed in.

Lester Quickly Climbs Jaycee Ladder

by MARGE FERROLI

Rising to the top in an organization or the business world generally requires a substantial period of internship to learn the rules and the ropes.

Tom Lester, newly elected president of the Palatine Jaycees, may have climbed the ropes quicker than anyone thought was possible.

His internship lasted only six months and then Lester found himself heading the Jaycees in the group's top position. It took him only two months in the Jaycees to decide he would run for the presidency.

It was more a case of "now or never" than anything else that made Lester choose to run for the top job.

"I figured my job with the Borg-Erickson Co. would be more demanding in the next year and I have two kids (ages three and five) who will need a lot more fatherly attention in another year," Lester said. "Now is the year I'll have time to be most active in the Jaycees."

Lester, who's been a resident of Palatine for about a year when he and his wife moved to 1157 E. Sayles, first became strongly interested in the Jaycees last year with the group's Operation Red-bell. The program provided red stickers to residents to place in their windows to denote the number of children in the family in case of fire.

"ANY ORGANIZATION that sponsors that kind of project is a good organization for the community," he said. Impressed with the Jaycees, Lester began attending the group's meetings and became an official member in December.

His own experience with the Jaycees has been to serve as chairman of the recently held fertilizer sale group sponsors each year. Although there was some concern by local environmental groups over the sale of chemical fertilizers, Lester said he consulted various agricultural departments and learned the fertilizers to be "unharmful if used properly."

Tom

Another program of the Jaycees which he feels strongly about is the recently formed assistance project for American prisoners of war and men missing in action.

"You might think starting a project like this has political implications, but it doesn't," Lester said. "We're really attempting to get involved in informing people there are a vast number of prisoners in Vietnam and Korea that they probably know nothing about."

Although he said the purpose is to "ultimately obtain their release," Lester explained the Jaycees will try to more fully publicize information on the prisoners of war and ask residents to contact their Congressmen to request the return of the men.

After six months with the Jaycees, Lester says the group may have limited itself in scope and types of programs.

"We're mainly oriented towards youth activities, such as junior football, hockey and even the annual sand sale," he said. "Elderly persons and other age groups should also be helped in the next year."

HE'D ALSO like to see more projects jointly sponsored by the Jaycees and other community and civic groups like the Kiwanis and Lions Club.

In his campaign speech before the Jaycees membership, Lester said he felt many Palatine residents have a one-sided idea of what the Jaycees are. Most people think in terms of programs the Jaycees sponsor and what they get out of them; rather than how the Jaycees help develop the members themselves.

"Residents know all about the sand sale and the Christmas tree sale, but they don't realize that Jaycees are volunteers not just to benefit the community but to benefit themselves too," he said.

Belonging to the Jaycees often helps a member to become a better public speaker and gain self-confidence, he said.

"Because of the Jaycees, there are about four people very prominent in the community today serving in official positions," he said, referring to several village trustees and past Jaycees.

Being only 27, it appears as though Lester may very well fall into this same grooming pattern the Jaycees seems to provide. At least, he's got a head start.

SPRING HAS (finally) sprung, and if you've any doubt, just check with these Harper College students who took advantage of yesterday's warm weather to relax outside on the campus greens.

Band To Play At Wheaton College

The Palatine Village Band will perform in concert Sunday at Wheaton College. Guest soloist will be Robert Rushford, principal trumpeter with the Lyric Opera Orchestra in Chicago.

The concert is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. at Edman Chapel on the Wheaton campus. Admission is $1.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Lying half-paralyzed, Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his presidential primary election triumphs in Maryland and Michigan. His doctors and campaign aides insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rejected the idea of increasing Secret Service protection for political candidates and called instead for passage of stronger gun-control legislation.

House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon an 18-month moratorium on court orders for school busing, so that pending cases may be appealed.

Then the lawmakers completed work on a compromise $18.5 billion aid to higher education bill after two months of negotiating.

The defense opens its case in the Angela Davis trial after 11 weeks of prosecution testimony with the major question being whether Miss Davis will take the stand herself.

The State

A defense attorney asked that race track scandal indictments against former Gov. Otto Kerner and four others be thrown out because of a "plethora of damaging publicity."

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel Walker charged "gross negligence" on the part of the Illinois Department of Revenue in its administration of the state income tax.

The World

The West German parliament ratified Chancellor Willy Brandt's nonaggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland. The treaties gave up German claims on territory occupied by Poland and the U.S.S.R. after World War II as well as pledging recognition of current national boundaries in Europe.

A sniper shot and wounded four Protestant workers as they left their factory in a largely Roman Catholic area of Belfast, Northern Ireland. The shootings came in the wake of Protestant threats to take action to clear out Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry.

The War

The United States, explaining its rejection of a Communist request to resume the Paris peace talks, accused Hanoi and the Viet Cong of disdaining a negotiated settlement.

A late burst of buying pushed the stock market to a mixed closing on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading, overall, was relatively light. The Dow Jones industrial average finished ahead 1.88 at 941.15. The average price of a NYSE common share increased by 7 cents. Turnover totaled 13,600,000 shares, down from the 14,070,000 traded Tuesday. Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

MARK LARSEN, an eighth grade student at Stuart R. Paddock School in Palatine, received an outstanding award for his science project entitled "Cold Front Squall Lines" at the annual state science fair last weekend. Mark's project which he is shown displaying at the Dist. 15 Fair in March was judged one of the two best entries on meteorology. Receiving second place awards at the state fair were Sue McWilliams for "Conditioning of Mice" and John Gieseke for "Fresh to Salt." Both are students at Plum Grove School in Rolling Meadows. Paul and Bob Gauger of Carl Sandburg School in Rolling Meadows received a third place award for their project, "Weather by Satellite." Mark, Paul and Bob also received certificates of recognition of outstanding ability and creativeness in the preparation of meteorological exhibits.

Nominate Foote For Suffragan Bishop

Rev. Sheldon B. Foote Jr., rector of St. Philip's Church in Palatine for 16 years, is among four nominees for suffragan bishop in the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago.

The post involves serving as assistant to the bishop of Chicago, the Rt. Rev. James W. Montgomery.

Selection of the suffragan will take place at a special diocesan convention Saturday in Chicago. Some 700 lay and clerical delegates from 145 churches in the northern third of Illinois will participate in the voting at the Cathedral Church of St. James.

Representing the Palatine church will be Mrs. Donald Ward, Mrs. Douglas Spruance, Gerald McElroy, the Rev.

Ronald I. Erlandson and Father Foote.

NOMINATIONS for the suffragan post can be made from the convention floor. Candidates to be nominated by the diocese's screening committee, besides Father Foote, are: the Ven. J. Ralph Depen, archdeacon of the diocese; the Very Rev. James A. Edden, dean of the Chicago-South Deanery and rector of St. Thomas's Church, Chicago; and the Rev. Quintin E. Primo Jr., rector of St. Matthew's Church, Detroit.

If elected, Father Foote would leave his position at St. Philip's Church, where he has been rector for 16 years.

In addition, he is a charter member of the Palatine Kiwanis Club, and has served as president of the Palatine Ministerial Association, a board member of the Palatine Human Relations Commission, consultant to the Palatine Youth Commission and member of the Palatine Commission on Ecumenical Relations.

Father Foote also has acted as dean of the Elgin deanery, and as a member of the standing committee of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, and two other diocese commissions.

Before coming to Palatine, Father Foote was affiliated with Holy Cross Immanuel Church in Chicago and St. Mary's Church in Park Ridge.

He earned a bachelor's degree at Northwestern University and was graduated from the General Theological Seminary in New York.

Baptist Mothers, Daughters Hold Annual Banquet

Mothers and daughters affiliated with the First Baptist Church of Palatine took a gaze "Through the Looking Glass" at their annual banquet last week.

Guests entered by way of a mirror and along a corridor lined with illustrations and text from the "Alice in Wonderland" story.

"Alice," portrayed by Vicki Dennis of Palatine, greeted each guest and led her along a special pathway to the rose garden, where the "Very Merry Unbirthday Party" was held.

Dinner was served by the Four Cards, high school students from Hoffman Estates, Arlington Heights and Barrington. Tables were decorated with tea pots, flowers and small stuffed animals.

"ALICE'S" FAVORITE songs were led by Helen Borchers and accompanied by Winona McKown, both of Palatine. High school students Debbie Bang and Debbie Phillips gave "A Very Merry Unbirthday" skit.

"Alice" dreamed of brides and introduced 10 of them in a fashion show of gowns spanning several decades. The oldest was the 1911 dress belonging to Velma Bird's mother.

Models included Sherry Brewer, Joy Green, Caroline Heilman, Lou Green, Melissa Amis, Robbie Anderson, Becky Edmunds, Sally Williams and Agnes Warren. Hazel Brown of Arlington Heights was in charge of the activity.

A comedy routine was performed by puppets Tweedledee and Tweedledum, played by Velma Bird of Chicago and Pat Dennis of Palatine.

The Rev. G. W. Schweer, pastor of the church, spoke about three mothers who had inspired his life. General chairman for the banquet was Sara Butler of Palatine.

Apartment Complexes Tentatively OK'd

Two new apartment complexes proposed for the west Palatine Road area, one geared toward "prestige rental" and the other toward lower priced one-bedroom and efficiency units, were tentatively approved Monday by the Palatine Village Board.

Both proposals have been before the village for rezoning for over a year. Decisions on the apartment requests were delayed for much of that time while the board awaited a report on a study of downtown development and the desired direction for growth of the central business district.

Meeting as a committee of the whole, the village board directed the owners of the two parcels to proceed with preparation of engineering plans for their apartments. These would be submitted to the board later and final approval of the projects would be voted on at that time.

Annexation of the two projects to Palatine will also be considered with the engineering plans.

THE WYNNGATE apartments, proposed by builder Ralph Marotte, will be constructed on 4.25 acres at the southwest corner of Wilson and Cedar streets immediately behind the Cedar Garden apartments.

Marotte has proposed to build four three-story buildings of 92 total units with 70 units as one-bedrooms and 22 efficiencies.

He has set a building schedule of being ready for occupancy 18 months following the issuance of building permits. The project has a density of about 21 units per acre in a planned unit development.

The second project immediately west of Marotte's proposal involves construction of 116 units of one and two-bedroom apartments on over five acres. Two five-story buildings will be constructed on a T-shaped parcel of four lots on Wilson Street and two lots on Palatine Road.

HAROLD SHERMAN, Lew Draper and Joseph Bergman are joint developers of the project to be known as Cornell apartments.

Plans for the Cornell project include underground parking for 102 cars plus 75 outdoor spaces, a swimming pool, sun deck and snack lounge for the tenants. Rents for one-bedroom apartments in the complex have been estimated in the low $300s.

Both apartment proposals involve an extensive amount of improvements to roads in the area and final approval of them are subject to these improvements.

Marotte will pay for the full improvement of Wilson and Cedar Streets along his property and half participation in the improvements of Cedar from the south line of the property to Palatine Road and half the cost of improving Wilson across the lot adjacent to Marotte's and the Cornell land.

Cornell will meet the other half of the expenses to improve the two roads, plus full improvement of Wilson across the north property line and the improvement of Elm Street. If the village can acquire right-of-way on half of Elm from the Metropolitan Sanitary District, Cornell will improve Elm as a full street.

IF THE RIGHT-OF-WAY is not granted, Cornell will improve Elm from the north property line to Palatine Road as a half street including construction of a bridge across Salt Creek.

LeMoine Stitt, attorney for both developers, told the board Cornell Associates has estimated the cost for improving Elm at $75,000.

"They (the two developers) are picking up the past sins of the village," Mayor Jack Moodie said, referring primarily to previous annexation of Cedar Garden apartments without improvement of Cedar Street. "They're both improving beyond their own property."

"The extent of the public improvements to be done are definitely plus points for the projects," Trustee Clayton Brown said.

Although the density for the apartments is higher than other apartments in Palatine, most trustees agreed the extras to be done in the projects compensated for the density.

Andrews Mystery Remains Unsolved

One of the Northwest suburbs' most confusing police mysteries remains unsolved today, two years after it was originally reported.

The whereabouts of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Andrews, who once lived at 738 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, is still a matter of speculation and continuing investigation.

The Andrews disappeared the night of May 15, 1970 after they reportedly left a cocktail party at the Chicago-Sheraton Hotel in Chicago.

Four days later, Mrs. Andrews' brother, John Rynak, called Arlington Heights Police to the Andrews' home and the investigation was under way.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Police Det. George Ekblad said Tuesday that although there was nothing new to report on the disappearance, the case was still open.

"We don't have any new clues, but we're still looking," Ekblad said.

Chicago and Arlington Heights police have theorized that the couple could have driven off the road into the Chicago river near lower Michigan Avenue and Wacker Drive.

The report of a parking lot attendant at the Chicago-Sheraton who says the Andrews left his lot driving south in the northbound lane of Michigan Avenue tends to support this theory.

BUT TO DATE an intensive search of the river bottom, from the Wells Street Bridge to Navy Pier, has failed to detect the yellow 1969 Oldsmobile the couple was said to be driving.

Chicago and Arlington Heights police have relied on scuba divers and, most recently on Nov. 30 of last year, sophisticated electronic detection devices in their search for the car.

So far, however, the 25 to 30 foot deep river has failed to yield any secrets it may hold in the case.

The Andrews were both 62 years old at the time of their disappearance. Under law, they must be missing seven years before they can legally be declared dead in court.

In the meantime, Rynak has continued to manage the Andrews' house on Vail Street. But he cannot sell it nor can he tap the Andrews' bank account to pay the cost of maintaining it, because neither the house nor the money actually belongs to him.

Both still belong to Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, wherever they are, or were, or may yet be discovered.

tered education, shared decision making with students, faculty and parents and dedication to the importance of aiding the students to develop values of Christian living.

"The Archdiocese's concern for Sacred Heart was demonstrated in March when it assumed the responsibility of the school. It is even further demonstrated by the diligence and industry exercised in seeking out those two fine administrators," said Father Clark.

Father Michael said he feels the future of the school is even brighter with the naming of the administrative team. He said both had worked at schools pioneering innovative programs.

The number one item on the agenda now, according to Father Michael, is the hiring of faculty members to replace the sisters of the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary who are leaving in June and about 10 per cent of the lay staff who are leaving.

"We have waited until this point because we definitely wanted the new administrative team to be involved in the hiring," said Father Michael.

In regard to the appointments, Baenen said, "I hope and would expect the new administrative staff will continue the education style and process that is presently at Sacred Heart."

A lay advisory board of parents will be formed in the near future, according to Father Michael. The primary function of the advisory board will be to advise the administration in areas of finance, public relations and community involvement and in all matters concerning the future of the school.

Little Interest In More Security: Study

Tentative results of a recent survey indicate little apparent interest in additional police protection for unincorporated portions of Elk Grove Township.

Township Auditor Bernard Lee said Monday the results of a survey distributed several weeks ago to residents in unincorporated areas of the township show a lack of interest in more protection. As a result he plans to recommend against a township referendum for more police protection in unincorporated areas. About one-fifth of Rolling Meadows is in Elk Grove Township.

The questionnaire was distributed to 1,000 residents in unincorporated areas asking if they were satisfied with their present police protection, and if they were willing to pay a $6 tax per $10,000 assessed property valuation to improve it.

Residents were also asked whether or not they preferred a police car to patrol the areas regularly or just be on call to respond to emergencies.

LEE SAID of 496 questionnaires returned, 288 persons, or 58 per cent, indicated they were satisfied with the existing police protection and did not want to pay for additional police.

Nearly 22 per cent, or 108 persons, said they were not completely satisfied with the present police protection, but did not want to pay for more. Lee said the people replied they did not feel additional protection would be productive and that annexation to existing towns may be a solution to their problems.

According to Lee, only 20 per cent, or 100 persons, said they were not satisfied with present police protection and would be willing to pay for additional service.

OF THE 100 residents willing to support additional police, 82 said they wanted protection on a patrol basis, four wanted it on a call-in basis, and 14 replied they would be satisfied with either.

"From the results of the survey it appears there is not sufficient interest or willingness to pay for more police protection to justify a referendum," he said. "It is unwarranted to spend $5,000 to $10,000 to find out the same thing we learned in the survey."

Lee said the survey did make people evaluate their present police protection more carefully and some said they will look closer at annexation with nearby towns.

Lee said the Cook County Sheriff's Police, which currently patrols the area, has a squad in Elk Grove Township on a 24-hour basis and can respond to emergencies in five minutes unless tied up on another call.

In February, members of several homeowners associations in unincorporated areas asked the township board to provide extra police protection. At that time a survey was suggested to find out how many persons were willing to pay for the service.

Tighter City Food Law Eyed

An amendment that will stiffen a Rolling Meadows ordinance that regulates temporary food-service establishments is being considered by the city council.

The amendment deals exclusively with transient food-service facilities, like those found at carnivals and church bazaars, according to City Sanitarian Don Schindler who drafted the ordinance.

Schindler said the new amendment "spells out more of what is required of individuals" than does the old ordinance. It regulates preparation, storage and handling of food products and sets sanitation standards more specifically than the old ordinance, Schindler said.

The amendment contains 18 subsections, compared to 11 in the old ordinance. Parts of the old ordinance were retained but have been extensively rewritten.

One area the old ordinance did not cover, but the amendment spells out clearly is the area of food handling, Schindler said. The amendment demands that food handling be done with proper utensils "such as scoops, tongs, spoons and forks or approved food paper wraps."

The amendment also sets rigid standards for food storage at the proper temperature, and under proper conditions.

If the amendment is passed, Schindler said, it will be enforced when temporary food-service establishments are inspected at the time their operators apply for temporary business licenses.

The city council is expected to discuss the proposed amendment at the May 23 meeting.

New Principal Appointed At Sacred Heart High School

by JOANN VAN WYE
The appointment of Gerald Giles as principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows was announced yesterday by the Rev. H. Robert Clark, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of Chicago.

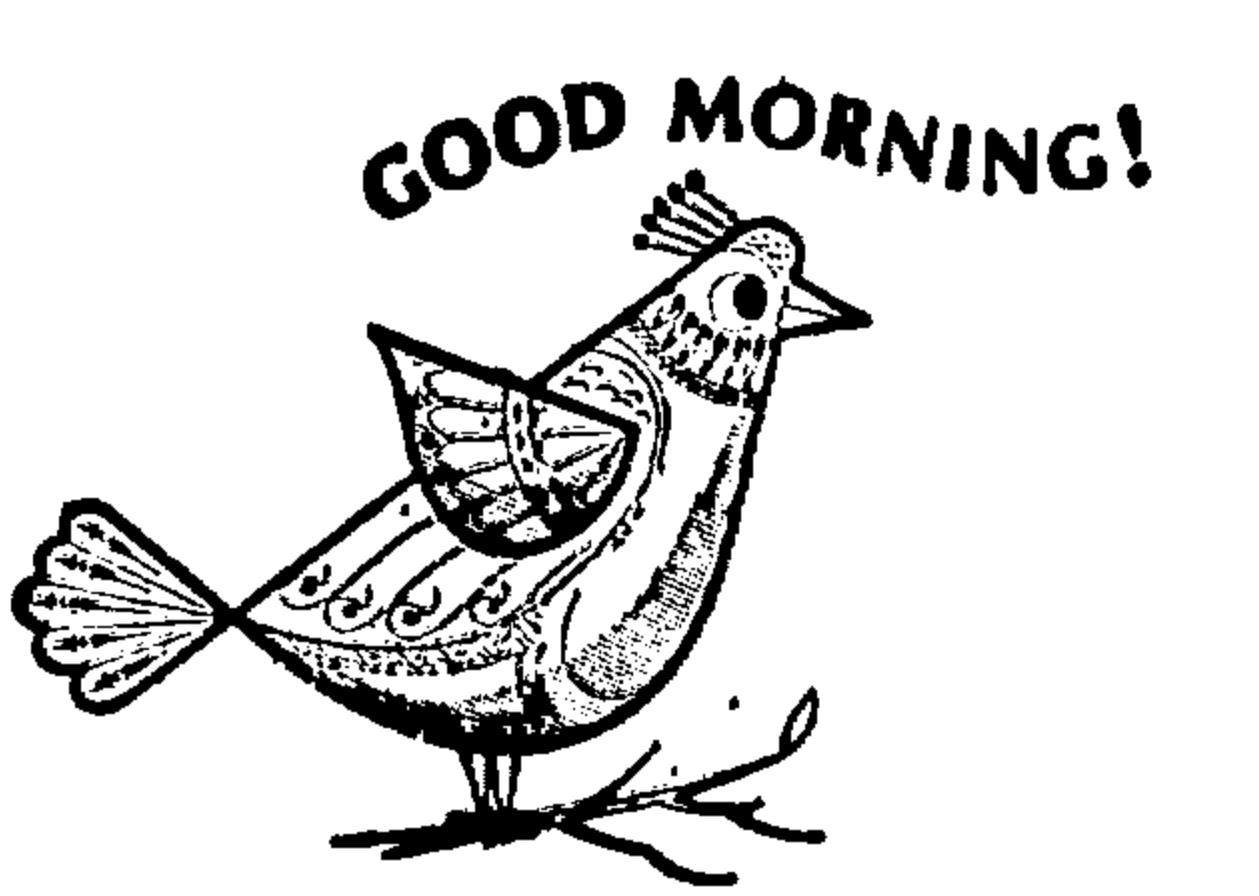

quainted with faculty, parents and students and hiring new faculty members.
Giles replaces Len Baenen who resigned in January, effective June 30, after serving as principal of Sacred Heart for two years. Baenen said he resigned to clear the way for a change of ownership of the school from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded it in 1960, to the Archdiocese of Chicago.

Mary, a New York based congregation, announced in March it would no longer be able to staff and maintain the school because of financial problems and personnel problems.
The appointments end a search for an administrative team that started after the March announcement the archdiocese would take over ownership of the school. The administrative team will be in charge of the overall operation of the school, leadership and development of an instructional program.

descriptions had not been completed yet but that Miss Jones will be primarily in charge of curriculum development and working with the students through the curriculum.
Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Some of his previous experience includes English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

lege in Manchester, N.H., a master's degree from Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio and is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University.
Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching both at Trinity High School in River Forest and Rosary College in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in LaGrange, where she was curriculum coordinator.

Paul University and master's degree from Loyola University.
The appointments were made by a selection committee formed in March. Serving on the committee were Father Clark; Brother Pius Xavier, the associate superintendent of the archdiocese; Sister Joyce Duroske, principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary High School; Sister Charles Ellen, principal of Mother Theodore Guerin High School; Baenen and Father Michaletz.
Between 15 and 20 applications for the two positions were received and the committee received and the committee (Continued on page 2)

City, Fire District Reach Agreement On Referendum

The Rolling Meadows City Council and Fire Protection District trustees have agreed at least tentatively to jointly support a referendum seeking to shift control of the fire department to the city.
The referendum will ask residents to allow the city to annex the fire department district and give the city fire taxing power equal to that which the fire district now has.
This agreement is, however, subject to reversal if certain policy differences that exist between the city and the fire district cannot be settled prior to the referendum, which will be held as soon as practicable, according to Mayor Roland Meyer.

men.
The action Tuesday did not establish a referendum, but merely authorized preparation for one. A formal resolution authorizing the referendum and setting the exact terms and a date will have to be approved by the council.
IN THE TIME between now and whatever date is established for the referendum, several policy differences will have to be settled, according to both the aldermen and the trustees.
Although talks have been held between the trustees and a special city committee for six months, some personnel matters have apparently not been agreed upon. City Treasurer Robert Cole, who headed the city committee, told the council, that he thought some points the trustees said aren't settled, had been informally agreed upon.
Some of the major areas of difference discussed Tuesday were:
—SALARIES. Firefighters presently reach the top of their salary scale in three years, compared to policemen who reach their top pay in five years. Top salary for a first class fire fighter is $12,545, compared to $12,282 for a first class patrolman. Mayor Meyer said in the future, new firemen will go on the five year plan. To resolve the discrepancy in top salaries, Meyer suggested "if salaries are allowed to stand, they could be leveled off in the next fiscal year. We can level them at that point and carry them forward from that point in years to come."

crepancy in top salaries, Meyer suggested "if salaries are allowed to stand, they could be leveled off in the next fiscal year. We can level them at that point and carry them forward from that point in years to come."
—COMPENSATION for paid-on-call (volunteer) firemen. Presently, the fire district budgets a flat amount for reimbursing the 25 paid-on-call men in the department. That amount is divided by the number of calls answered and each man is paid a flat rate per call. In past years it has varied from 50 cents to $4 per call.
The possibility of paying volunteer firemen by the hour was discussed but no firm decision was made.
—SUPERVISORY personnel. Fire lieutenants are now paid overtime for work done beyond their 56 hour work week. Police "line officers" — lieutenant and captain — do not receive overtime compensation. No agreement was reached on this point.
—HIRING AND purchasing. Trustee Vic Shrock stressed that the fire district is in need of more men and at least one new piece of equipment this year. Again, there was no final settlement on this (Continued on page 2)

200 Teachers At Pay Talk 'Park-In'

More than 200 teachers from High School Dist. 214 gathered in front of the district's administration building last night in a "show of support and concern" about salary negotiations.
The teachers arrived about 7 p.m., a half-hour before a scheduled negotiations meeting between representatives of the board of education and the Dist. 214 Education Association, bargaining unit for the teachers.
A member of the group propped a sign in front of the building's main door reading, "The median income of Arlington Heights is $16,000. The average Dist. 214 teacher's salary is $12,700."
On the other side, the sign said, "Do not extrapolate our salaries to 12 months. Forty weeks at 50 hours a week is more work than fifty weeks at 40 hours a week."
The teachers had voted last week on a proposed 1972-73 salary settlement that would have cut pay for beginning teachers $300 and would have given teachers now in the district $100 across the board raise in addition to their regular increment for an additional year of experience.

would have cut pay for beginning teachers $300 and would have given teachers now in the district $100 across the board raise in addition to their regular increment for an additional year of experience.
Although earlier in the week officials of the association had refused to confirm the contents of the package, they acknowledged it last night and said the teachers had turned it down overwhelmingly.
Dale Coventry, a co-chairman of the association's bargaining team, said, "The proposal has been rejected by the faculty and hopefully the board will recognize the concern of the teachers. The people who showed up tonight are showing their concern for the board's responsibility."
OTHER TEACHERS present said they had been urged to come by the association's officials. According to one, "I think the board is just being stubborn."

think the board is just being stubborn."
Another said the increment for additional experience, which averages about four per cent "isn't really a raise. The pay board wouldn't recognize it as a raise."
Board members and administrators, many of whom could not park in the administration building parking lot because it was filled with teachers' cars, declined comment as they made their way through the crowd.
The board bargaining team immediately began a caucus among themselves and association officials asked the teachers to go home. "We've served our purpose by being here," Richard Cherico, former president of the association, told the group.
At Herald press time the two sides were still meeting. All negotiations meetings are held in closed session.

Underwriter Charged With Conspiracy

Cook County Sheriff's Police have arrested a Palatine Township man and charged him with conspiracy to commit burglary in connection with what police call a home burglary ring that operated on information the man obtained while working as an insurance underwriter.
Ronald D. Wegner, 29, of 114 S. Middleton in Palatine Township, a former employee of an Arlington Heights insurance company, was arrested after he allegedly tried to sell information from three home insurance policies to an undercover detective posing as a would-be burglar.

Cook County Sheriff's Police charge Wegner has provided burglars with information on valuable contents and security measures of homes for which he had written insurance policies.

He then would get a kick-back from the burglar of one-third the value of whatever goods were stolen, police say.
The undercover investigation of Wegner's alleged actions had been going on for a month before the actual arrest was made Tuesday, according to police.
Police say they do not believe at this time that any of the burglaries in which Wegner was allegedly involved occurred in the Northwest suburbs.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation
Lying half-paralyzed, Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his presidential primary election triumphs in Maryland and Michigan. His doctors and campaign aides insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent.
Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rejected the idea of increasing Secret Service protection for political candidates and called instead for passage of stronger gun-control legislation.
House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon an 18-month moratorium on court orders for school busing, so that pending cases may be appealed.
The State
A defense attorney asked that race track scandal indictments against former Gov. Otto Kerner and four others be thrown out because of a "plethora of damaging publicity."
Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel Walker charged "gross negligence" on the part of the Illinois Department of Revenue in its administration of the state income tax.
The Apollo 16 astronauts rode a ticker-tape parade through Chicago's Loop. Astronaut Charles M. Duke Jr. termed the experience "fantastic."
The World
The West German parliament ratified Chancellor Willy Brandt's nonaggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland. The treaties gave up German claims on territory occupied by Poland and the U.S.S.R. after World War II as well as pledging recognition of current national boundaries in Europe.
A sniper shot and wounded four Protestant workers as they left their factory in a largely Roman Catholic area of Belfast, Northern Ireland. The shootings came in the wake of Protestant threats to take action to clear out Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry.

She's Prince Of Local Voter League

by MARGE FERROLI

Almost 2,000 women at the League of Women Voters national convention recently voted to become more politically active and involved in making changes, and some of this philosophy may rub off on the Palatine League.

The impetus for such activity would have to come from Jackie Prince, president of the Palatine chapter for one year and now starting off on the second half of her term.

As the sole representative of the Palatine League at the national convention in Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Prince says she was "far from being a key figure" during the sessions but found the entire week a widening experience for herself and for what she brings back to her local chapter.

"The opportunity to meet with other delegates to exchange ideas and get some exposure to other levels of league

Community Church Thrift Sale Slated

The Rolling Meadows Community Church will hold a special Thrift Shop sale, Thursday, May 25, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the church, located at Kirchoff Road and Meadow Drive.

The sale will be highlighted by a "silent auction" on an embroidered wedding gown, complete with train and seed pearl crown and veil.

Other goods on sale will include jewelry, hats, wigs, books, shoes, pictures, small appliances, dresses, suits, skirts, coats, blouses, men's clothes and baby things.

Refreshments will be served free.

matter. Other areas, though not firmly settled, are closer to agreement. The firemen would get two extra paid holidays that the city offers its employees. The fire department would come under the city's insurance policy, which pays total major medical coverage for employees and dependents. The firemen now pay $7 per month toward their coverage.

Repeatedly during the meeting, Mayor Meyer stressed the inability of the city and fire district to reach agreement on the annexation has "never been a question of who can provide better service or more effective service."

He also said the primary question is: "Can the city provide fire protection at a reduced cost to citizens with the ultimate goal of wiping out the fire tax rate in the next several years?"

MEYER SUGGESTED early in the meeting that a referendum date be set as soon as possible, but as the meeting progressed it became clear that many the students to develop values of Christian living.

"The Archdiocese's concern for Sacred Heart was demonstrated in March when it assumed the responsibility of the school. It is even further demonstrated by the diligence and industry exercised in seeking out those two fine administrators," said Father Clark.

Father Michael said he feels the future of the school is even brighter with the naming of the administrative team. He said both had worked at schools pioneering innovative programs.

The number one item on the agenda now, according to Father Michael, is the hiring of faculty members to replace the sisters of the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary who are leaving in June and about 10 per cent of the lay staff who are leaving.

"We have waited until this point because we definitely wanted the new administrative team to be involved in the hiring," said Father Michael.

In regard to the appointments, Baenen said, "I hope and would expect the new administrative staff will continue the education style and process that is presently at Sacred Heart."

A lay advisory board of parents will be formed in the near future, according to Father Michael. The primary function of the advisory board will be to advise the administration in areas of finance, public relations and community involvement and in all matters concerning the future of the school.

things have yet to be settled. Ald. Stephen Eberhard said, "there are a lot of things here that still have to be examined a little further."

After all the points of disagreement were aired, Aldermen Fred Jacobson and Thomas Scanlan began pushing for an informal reaction by the trustees to the referendum idea.

"It sounds to me," Scanlan said, "like we have substantially reached a meeting of minds."

When asked to comment, trustee James Service said, "Speaking for myself, I am in agreement (with the referendum plan). Our formal vote will come at our regular district meeting."

of Mice" and John Gieseke for "Fresh to Salt." Both are students at Plum Grove School in Rolling Meadows. Paul and Bob Gauger of Carl Sandburg School in Rolling Meadows received a third place award for their project, "Weather by Satellite." Mark, Paul and Bob also received certificates of recognition of outstanding ability and creativeness in the preparation of meteorological exhibits.

throughout the country was enough to make the trip very worthwhile," she said.

MRS. PRINCE thinks the ideas and techniques she heard from other delegates may be particularly helpful for the local league in its program for expanded voter services.

"This is one area we plan to concentrate in and emphasize this year," she said. Providing information on candidates and election procedures, particularly to new voters, for the upcoming presidential election, will be a major activity.

Mrs. Prince and the convention delegates came up with three decisions that were "fairly major" for the future direction of the league.

The first, and one with which she says she wholeheartedly agrees, was to give a strong endorsement to the recent direction of the league to become active in following through on their decisions. Rather than end league activity when a report is issued on a particular study, Mrs. Prince and the rest of the convention delegates favored following a course that might put into action some of the recommendations they make in their studies.

In line with this approach is the Palatine league's current plan for the year to continue its investigation of Palatine-Rolling Meadows Elementary Dist. 15. The league recently concluded a two-year study of the schools and is in the process of compiling a consensus report of the members on possible methods to improve the schools.

A second major step taken at the national convention was the passage of a resolution which urged the Nixon administration to immediately withdraw all American troops from Southeast Asia.

Mrs. Prince explained this resolution did not represent an official league position but did reflect the opinion of the majority of delegates.

PERHAPS OF even greater consequence was the third decision made which excludes males from membership in the league.

Although it could be branded chauvinism in reverse, the convention decision to exclude males was made with "very little pressure for the change," Mrs. Prince said.

To make sure the delegates kept their ranks free of male opinion, Mrs. Prince said that feminist journalist Gloria Steinem and a contributing editor to "Ms." magazine spoke before the group on retaining its all-female membership.

Although Mrs. Prince said she found Miss Steinem "extremely entertaining," she did not agree with much of her philosophy.

"I'm not a great women's libber myself," she said. "I agree with many of the professional equalities being proposed, but I guess I'm more of a traditionalist when it comes to marriage and similar institutions."

Besides expanding its voter services during the year, Mrs. Prince says the Palatine League will also continue its housing study and gather statistical evidence on the need for low and moderate-income housing in the Palatine area.

A LIBRARY study also being conducted will be continued and is particularly timely in view of the library's current search for a new building site.

It has only taken Mrs. Prince, a Palatine resident for three years, just two years to get deeply involved with the local organization.

Although, she admits she first became involved in it to provide her with an outlet for her interests aside from her home and family, she now sees the league as a way to constructively create some solutions to community problems.

Door-To-Door Diabetes Project Set

Representatives of the Rolling Meadows Health Department will be going door-to-door this Saturday and May 27, asking residents to participate in a diabetes control pilot project.

City Sanitarian Don Schindler said he and eight members of the board of health will distribute 2,000 diabetes test and information kits on those two days. Residents will be asked to administer to themselves a simple test for urine sugar that helps diagnose diabetes, and to return the completed tests to the health department for analysis.

Schindler will process the diabetes tests and contact people whose tests give positive results and recommend that they consult their family doctors. He stressed that the test results will be confidential.

APPROXIMATELY 500 homes will be approached by health commissioners during the two weekends. Primary target areas are St. James Street, Bluebird Lane, School Drive, Hawthorne Lane, Oriole Lane, Creekside Drive, Pheasant Drive, Willow Lane and Lincoln Avenue.

Schindler said the health commissioners will carry credentials identifying them as city officials.

He also said this is only a field screening test that can be administered to a large number of people in rapid and inexpensive fashion. It does not always detect a diabetic and a positive test result is not always conclusive.

If the response to the free testing service is good, he said, it may be expanded and offered to all city residents.

WFBH New Broadcasting Station At Forest View

by WANDALYN RICE

Students at Forest View High School have been going about their activities lately to the sound of music from their own school radio station.

WFBH are the call letters for the station, which has been broadcasting since May 1 over the school's public address systems manned by students from the electronics and radio-TV classes at the school.

The students, under the direction of radio-TV teacher Veronica Murphy and electronics teacher Lee Thompson, will be broadcasting all month in a trial period which will determine if the station will be allowed to continue next year.

The programs, all pretaped, feature music from records the students bring from home. They include time slots for live "news" on school happenings. The radio is beamed into the cafeteria and hallways and teachers can request it for individual classrooms.

"The biggest criticism we've had so far is that we haven't had enough classical music," Thompson said a few days after the station started.

"WE'RE SHOOTING for a difficult audience," Mrs. Murphy said. "We've got the kids, the teachers and the secretaries and there's a conflict of personal taste."

About 20 students are working on the project, either as disc jockeys or engineers. The station uses a radio console purchased with money raised by one of Thompson's television repair classes.

"The radio station in the school is an old idea around here," Thompson said. "It first came up about three years ago with a group of seniors."

This time, however, only one-third of the students working on the station are seniors and, if the station is accepted by students and faculty during its trial run

$1.6 Million Rink Groundbreaking Set Next Month

Groundbreaking for the Metro Sports Inc. twin ice skating rink facility at the Randhurst Shopping Center is scheduled for next month.

William J. Marshall, Metro board chairman, said Tuesday the $1.6 million sports center will take some four months to complete.

The Mount Prospect Village Board Tuesday unanimously passed an ordinance creating a variation to allow the project to be built in the southeast corner of the Randhurst property. In doing so, the village board overruled an unfavorable recommendation by the village's board of appeals.

Various trustees Tuesday said they could see little merit in the appeal board's objections. Those objections dealt with increased traffic, the stability of Metro as a firm, the single-purpose usage of the proposed building, and the 24-hour-a-day operation of the center.

The board waived the required two readings of the ordinance.

The Randhurst complex will include two arenas — an ice skating practice arena and a spectator arena containing 2,000 permanent seats. Both arenas will be used for competitive meets, amateur hockey, figure and speed skating.

THE PRACTICE arena will also be used for skating instructions and hockey instructions.

Hattis Associates Inc., of Deerfield, will do the architectural and engineering work for the facility and Pepper Construction Co., of Chicago, will be the general contractor.

The sports center concept is intended to encourage amateur hockey programs for teenagers, according to Marshall.

One reason behind the Randhurst Corporation's involvement in the project (a 35-year lease for the land to Metro) is the hope that parents will shop at The Randhurst Center during the hour or so their children might be using the skating facility.

Similar projects are being studied for Wheeling, Skokie, Elmhurst, Wilmette and Orland Park; but the Randhurst facility will be the group's first.

EACH YEAR HUNDREDS OF MOTORISTS bring their cars to the free auto safety check sponsored by the Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce. This year the safety check will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday on Emerson Street between Central and Busse avenues. Twelve items will be checked. Autos passing the inspection will receive a safety sticker. A checklist specifying defects will be given to motorists.

No Assessment '70 Appeal

There will be no appeal by the Village of Mount Prospect to the court ruling on Special Assessment '70 which reduced assessments by 45 percent for 104 property owners. (Another eight will pay no assessment.)

Mayor Robert D. Teichert revealed the decision, which had been made in closed executive session, Tuesday while an attorney representing 55 objectors was asking the board to continue with the Hatlen Heights storm sewer project in spite of the court decision.

None of the details of the discussion were disclosed by Teichert. He said merely the village would allow the appeal period to pass without taking any action.

"The determination that was handed down (by the court) will be accepted as just and fair," Teichert said.

ATTY. J. WILLIAM Braithwaite told the board "the people I represent respect the position of the village" but they "still desire the project."

Teichert has indicated in recent comments the village would now have some difficulty in proceeding with the project as it was originally planned. "It may well be that the project might have to be abandoned," he said.

Braithwaite stressed the necessity for some type of project to alleviate the Hatlen Heights flooding. He said the construction costs always go up with delay.

As for the non-objectors to the project, Braithwaite felt they should not be given special consideration by the village board. (This also has been indicated by Teichert as a possibility.)

"These people were given every opportunity to object and they didn't," Braithwaite said. "We must stay within the framework of the law." The law would freeze their assessments at the current level and not reduce them as was done by the jury for the objectors.

The attorney estimated a delay at this time would probably cost as much as would going ahead with the project as planned now. This would leave an additional $67,800 to be picked up by the village as the public benefit. The village has already pledged $140,000 as public benefit.

TEICHERT SAID that the court determination, while it would be accepted, "does not solve the problem, however."

He said he feels it is unfair to ask the rest of the village to accept the additional burden as it will receive no benefit at all from the project. But, referring to those who didn't object, he also said it was unfair to have one neighbor pay an assessment half of what the next neighbor's is.

"We are neither mad nor peeved with your clients for executing their legal rights," Teichert said. "But we have not yet determined whether the project will go ahead or not."

He said that the board will consider that question in the very near future and added that residents from the area will be brought in on the discussions.

As for the possibility of appeal, Teichert said, "That would be an emotional jag with not much at the end of the rainbow."

300 To Hike For Uptown On Sunday

Three hundred persons, most of them teen-agers, are expected to march in Sunday's "Hike Downtown for Uptown."

The 20-mile hike is being conducted under the auspices of St. Paul Lutheran Church and School in Mount Prospect to raise funds for the financially ailing Chicago Uptown Ministry.

The staff of the Uptown Ministry is made up of two ministers, Michael Roschke and Tom Tews. The pair conducts a neighborhood ministry in Chicago's uptown area using a storefront office there as a base of operations.

According to one of the organizers of Sunday's hike the ministry is supported through church donations. But, the ministry needs $8,000 this month to replace donations that have run out.

Sunday's hike will begin at 9:30 a.m. at St. Paul Lutheran School, 18 S. School St., Mount Prospect. From there the hikers will go north to Central Road, then east to Stevenson Lane. The group will go north on Wolf Road, then turn west on Greenwood. Next the group will come west on Barberry Lane, south on Wheeling Road and march westerly toward Prospect High School.

West of Prospect High the route includes several residential streets in Arlington Heights. The group will re-enter Mount Prospect, walk east along Gregory Street and turn south at Main Street. They will turn east at Prospect Avenue and then head toward Lions Park.

THE MARCHERS will hike west on Lincoln to Meier Road; south on Meier to Lohnquist, then east on to George Street. The marchers will cross Northwest Highway at Mount Prospect Road, continue north on Mount Prospect, then turn west on Busse Avenue and return to the school.

Hikers have been soliciting donations for each mile they walk. One hiker will earn almost $100 if she completes the 20 miles.

The idea for the hike originated with a sixth grade class at St. Paul school. The students approached two Uptown Ministry volunteers, Mary Gabbani and Nancy Watts, on the idea, and the two set up the hike.

Hikers are coming from all over the Northwest suburbs and from Chicago. Helping to supervise Sunday will be 25 hike marshals. Several checkpoints have been set up along the hike route.

June Wedding Off To 'Heated' Start

One June wedding got off to a hot start this week in Des Plaines when the bride's mother pushed the groom's mother down the front steps after the two got into a fight over wedding plans.

According to police reports, the mother of the groom made a visit to the home of her prospective in-laws to discuss the upcoming nuptial ceremony.

Wedding arrangements are sometimes hard to work out and the discussion turned into a heated argument. The two would-be mothers-in-law squared off and then, police said, the bride's mother gave a shove and the groom's mother tumbled down the front steps.

The woman received facial lacerations and injured her right leg but told police she didn't want to sign a complaint.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Lying half-paralyzed, Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his presidential primary election triumphs in Maryland and Michigan. His doctors and campaign aides insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rejected the idea of increasing Secret Service protection for political candidates and called instead for passage of stronger gun-control legislation.

House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon an 18-month moratorium on court orders for school busing, so that pending cases may be appealed.

Then the lawmakers completed work on a compromise $18.5 billion aid to higher education bill after two months of negotiating.

The defense opens its case in the Angela Davis trial after 11 weeks of prosecution testimony with the major question being whether Miss Davis will take the stand herself.

The State

A defense attorney asked that race track scandal indictments against former Gov. Otto Kerner and four others be thrown out because of a "plethora of damaging publicity."

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel Walker charged "gross negligence" on the part of the Illinois Department of Revenue in its administration of the state income tax.

The World

The West German parliament ratified Chancellor Willy Brandt's nonaggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland. The treaties gave up German claims on territory occupied by Poland and the U.S.S.R. after World War II as well as pledging recognition of current national boundaries in Europe.

A sniper shot and wounded four Protestant workers as they left their factory in a largely Roman Catholic area of Belfast, Northern Ireland. The shootings came in the wake of Protestant threats to take action to clear out Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry.

The Market

No Appeal Of 'Assessment '70'

by TOM VAN MALDER

The trial of Special Assessment '70, the proposed storm sewer project to alleviate flooding in the Hatlen Heights area of Mount Prospect, has ended.

For five days the team of objecting attorneys uncovered so many leaks in the project that at times it looked doubtful whether it would stop any flooding.

The jury said that the assessments of the 112 people who objected (about a third of those assessed) were too high and reduced those assessments 45 per cent across the board. This meant the jury felt the benefit those homeowners would be receiving would be that much less than they were being asked to pay.

But the village was logical in making the assessments.

Village officials felt, and this was on the advice of attorneys, that they could not assess areas outside of the village. But since the project was a local improvement, the village also could not justly charge the whole community for the whole project.

Thus a public benefit portion was created and the rest of the cost, some $477,000, had to be spread out among the properties assessed. It could come from no other source.

HOWEVER, WHERE the village officials went wrong was in listening to the original engineering studies. They got involved in a project whose scope was too vast and too expensive to be handled by the village and the assessed residents.

As one attorney put it, the project "was a monster." It called for a 72-inch sewer, which is a sewer big enough for a six-foot man to walk through. The project was designed not only to handle the present flooding problem but also to anticipate any future needs as the unincorporated areas to the west were developed.

By accepting this huge project (with a total cost of $634,000) and by working within what they thought was the legal framework, village officials were forced down that one path that led to the objections, to the trial and to their defeat.

The trial is over and the village board has decided not to appeal. This is good. It is not a time for spending more time and money down at the Civic Center courtroom. It is time to accept the mistakes of the past and use what time and money there is available to come up with a workable solution.

The sooner the flooding problem is solved, the better. No citizen should have to be concerned every time it rains as to whether or not his basement will flood.

Although this specific project may be abandoned, the problem will not be. As Mayor Robert D. Teichert has said repeatedly, "We have too much invested in that area already to abandon it."

Orientation Meetings For Kindergarteners

A series of orientation teas for next fall's incoming kindergarten students and their mothers will be held next Wednesday in Prospect Heights School Dist. 23. The teas will be held at the three schools where kindergarten classes are conducted.

At the teas, new students and their mothers will receive an orientation for Dist. 23. The teas, held annually are sponsored by the PTAs.

The schedule for the teas is as follows:
—Eisenhower School, Camp McDonald and Schoenbeck roads, 9:30 a.m.

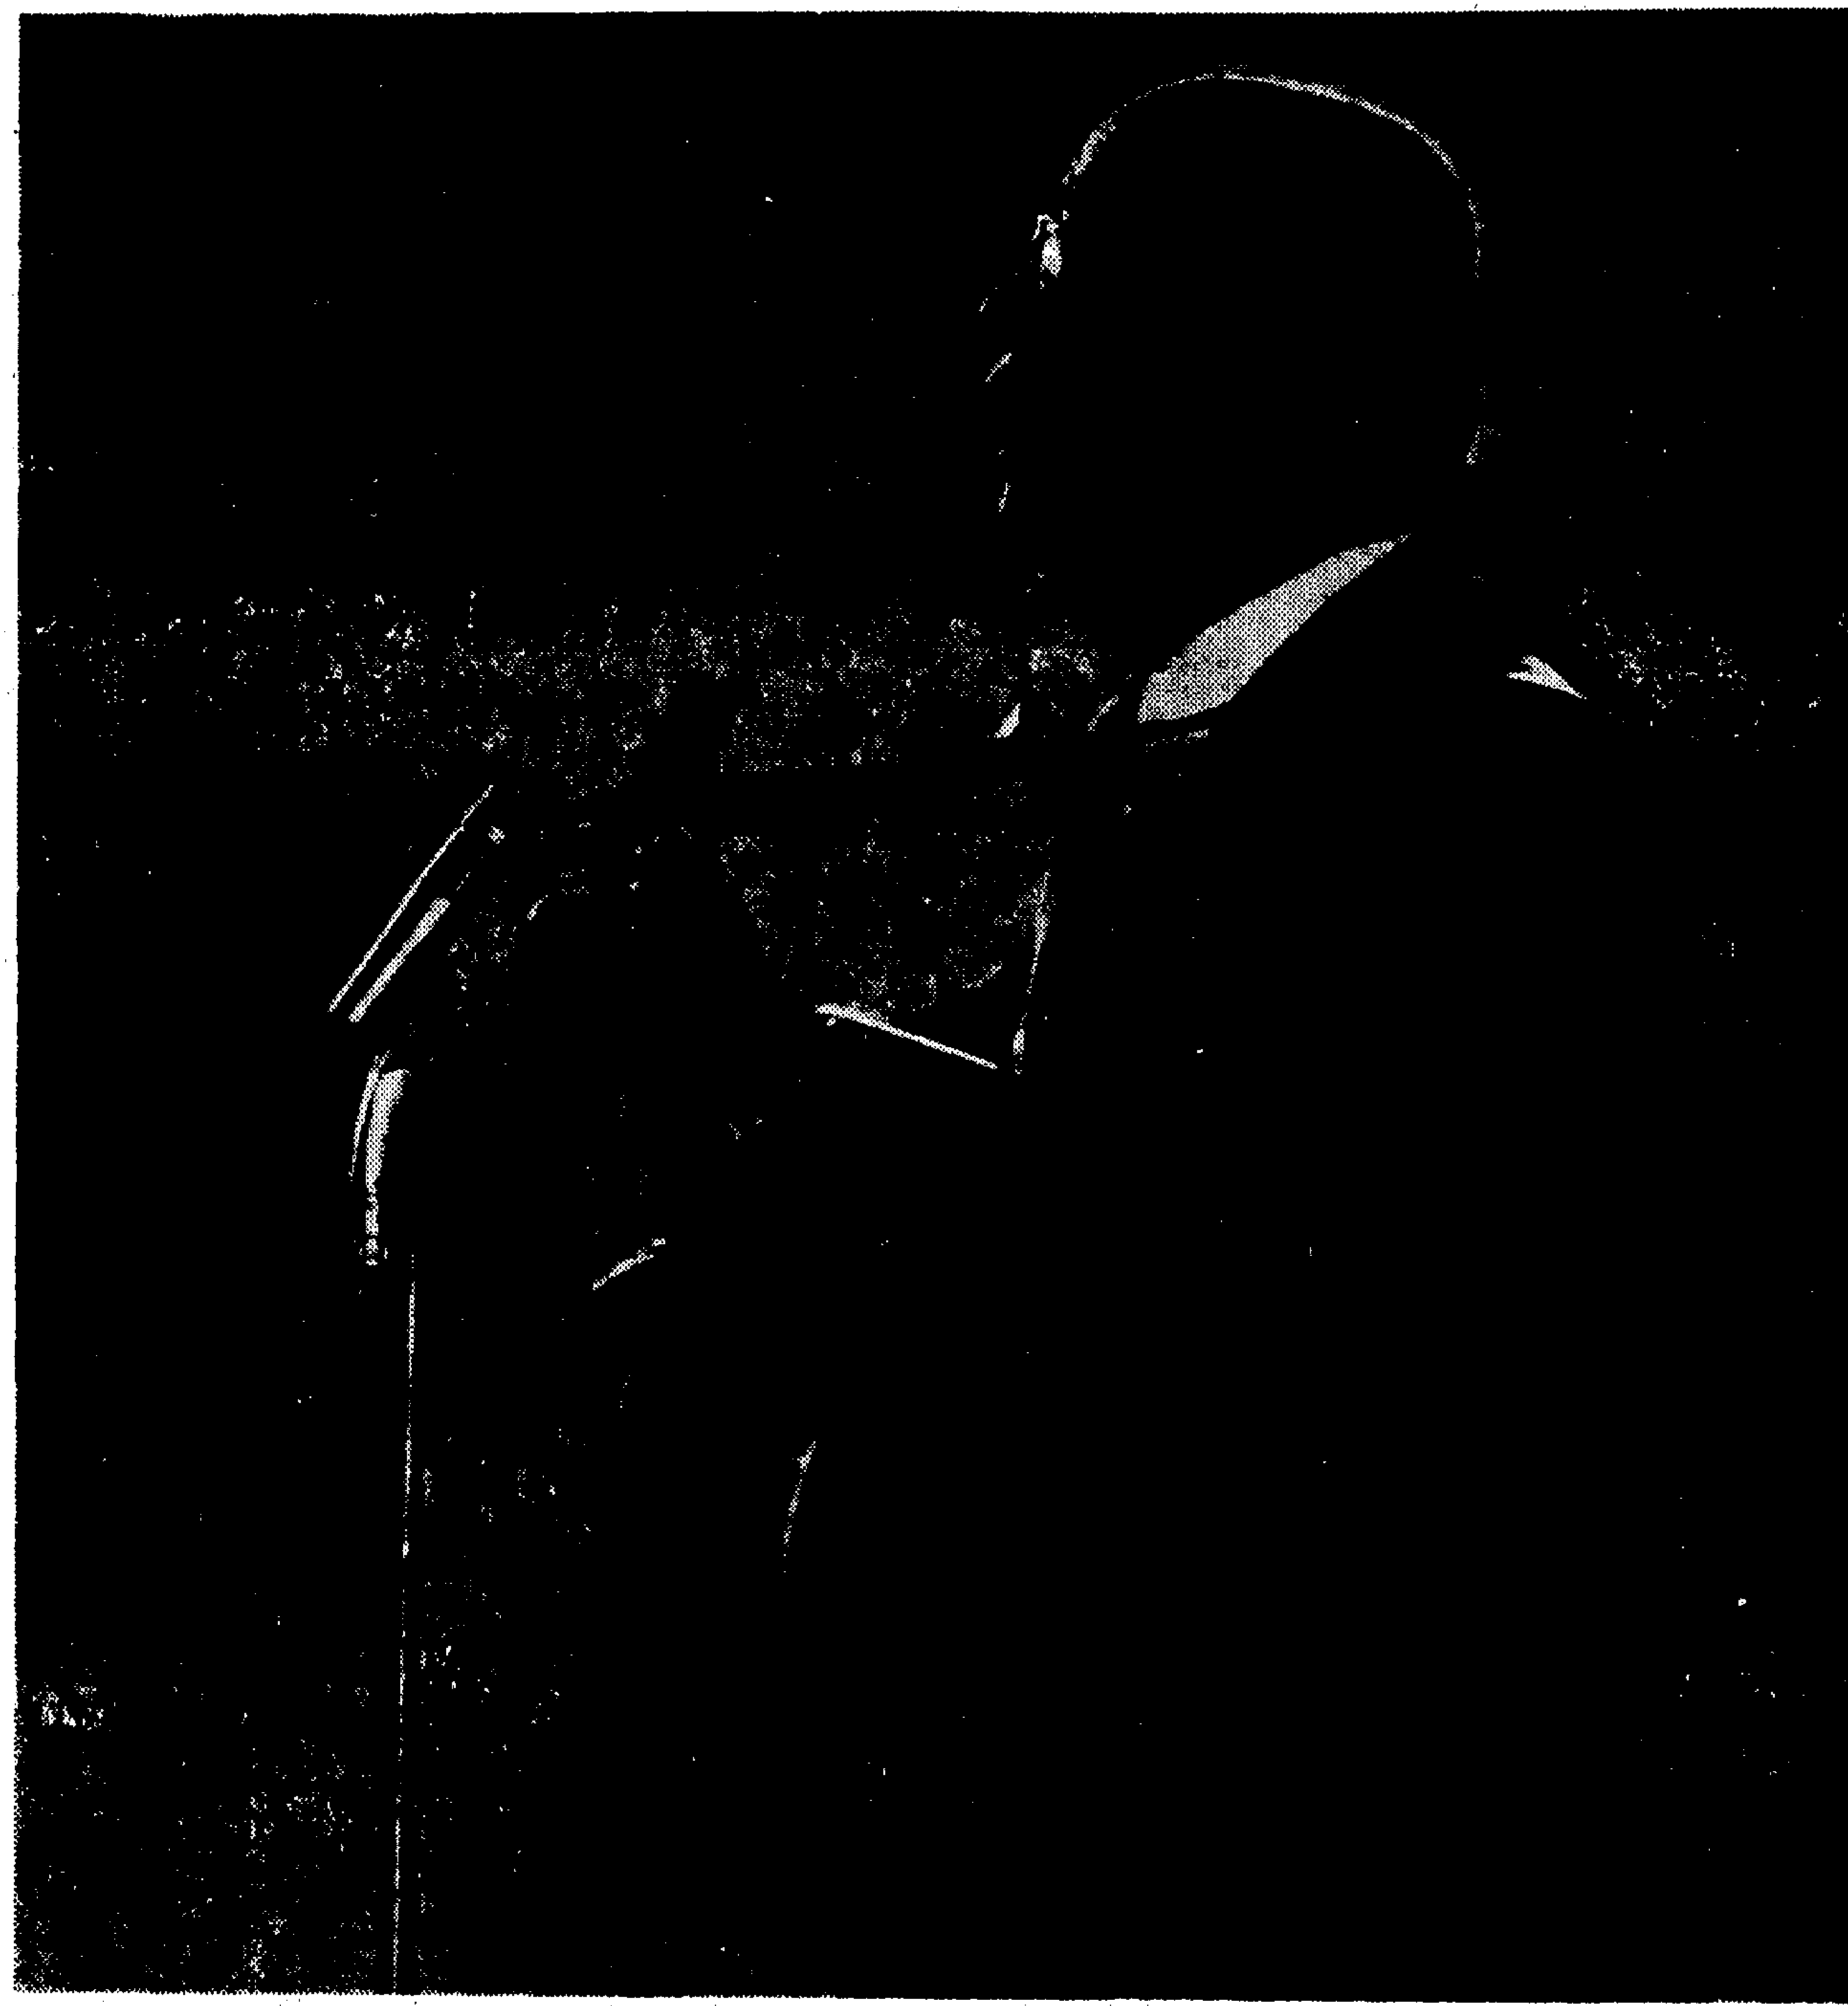

—Ross School, Palatine and Schoenbeck roads, 1 p.m.

—Muir School, Drake Terrace and Oak Street; 9:30 a.m. for students whose last names begin with A through H; 12:30 p.m. for students with last names beginning with I through Z.

Eisenhower PTA To Renew Cleanup

The Eisenhower School PTA will continue its cleanup and beautification project this weekend at the school, Camp McDonald and Schoenbeck roads in Prospect Heights.

PTA members plan to clean up the grounds and prepare flower beds for planting later. The PTA has already paid for some landscaping work at the school.

Trumpeter Mendez To Perform Here

Rafael Mendez, world famous trumpeter, will perform Sunday with bands from Dempster Junior High School in Mount Prospect.

Mendez, a soloist with leading symphony orchestras, has performed on television with Ed Sullivan, Red Skelton, Milton Berle, Jimmy Durante and Stan Kenton. He was on radio with Bing Crosby and the NBC Symphony and has appeared in several movies. Currently the artist is under contract with Decca records.

The concert begins at 6:30 p.m. at Forest View High School, 2121 S. Goebbert Rd. in Arlington Heights. Tickets are $2 per person and can be obtained by calling 439-0041 or 437-4812.

Sunday's performance will be the second time Mendez has played with the Dempster bands. His appearance last year was so well received that the Dempster Band Parents Association asked him to return this year.

MENDEZ will play "Macarena," "Fascination" and "Cardas" with Dempster's symphonic band and "Flight of the Bumble Bee" with the jazz band. Four Dempster trumpeters will play with Mendez in "The Girl from Chihuahua." They are Glenn Wennerstrom, Chuck Evans, Steve Ford and Harry Daniels.

Also performing in the concerts will be the prep and concert bands and the beginner's band whose members come from five elementary schools that send students to Dempster. All the bands are under the direction of Richard Falato, Dempster band director.

Mendez began playing the trumpet when he was a boy in a small Mexican town, about 350 miles northwest of Mexico City. One of 15 children, he and his family formed a band. The orchestra became famous in Mexico and for 6½ months the Mendez family traveled with Pancho Villa, the famous Mexican bandit.

Now semi-retired, Mendez spends much of his time with music students. Each year from January through May, he travels across the country to perform in about 30 concerts with junior high and high school students.

STUDENTS LISTENED to favorite folk songs and a "bit of storytelling" recently when Win Stracke performed at Lions Park School in Mount Prospect. Stracke, founder of the Old Town School of Folk Music in 1957, is a veteran opera and classical music singer. His performance was sponsored by the Lions Park PTA.

Schools Vote To Employ Counselor

Starting in September, a counselor will be on duty at River Trails Junior High School in Mount Prospect.

The River Trails Dist. 26 School Board Tuesday night voted unanimously to employ the counselor. Assistant Supt. James Retzlaff, who recommended the hiring, said the district is now taking applications for the position.

The counselor will be the first to be hired by the district. Currently Dist. 26 employs one fulltime and two parttime psychologists. "They'll concentrate more on the elementary school level," Retzlaff said.

"RECENT EVENTS underline the need for junior high students to have somebody to talk to, an unbiased third party to confide in," Retzlaff said. He was referring to the fact that in the past three years, three students at the junior high have committed suicide.

The River Trails Education Association (RTEA) listed establishment of a counseling staff as one of their 1972-73 teacher contract demands. Retzlaff would not say if the teachers' request influenced his recommendation to hire a counselor.

Jan White, chairman of the RTEA bargaining team, said teachers are pleased with the board's decision. She said, "We have a great need for counselors and hope to see a similar movement in the grade schools as well."

In other personnel actions, the board authorized hiring of a vocal music teacher, a teacher to conduct a class for educable mentally handicapped (EMH) at River Road School in Des Plaines and a fulltime teacher to conduct a class for the deaf in the district.

RETZLAFF SAID the additional music teacher, which will bring the vocal music staff to four, will supplement the elementary school music program.

He said hiring the EMH teachers will eliminate having to send River Road students out of the district to a special class. He said there are nine students already signed up for the class.

Dist. 26 will conduct a class for deaf children who live in school districts belonging to the North Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO). Bonnie Everhart, who has previously supervised deaf programs, was hired at a salary of $11,500 a year.

Randhurst Council To Meet Wednesday

An information meeting will be held next Wednesday by the Randhurst Council of PTAs at Dempster Junior High School, 420 Dempster St., Mount Prospect. The meeting begins with registration at 7:15 p.m.

Wednesday's meeting is entitled the "Annual School of Workshops." It is designed to help new PTA officers and chairmen learn about their new jobs.

Also at Wednesday's meeting, new council officers will be installed. They are Lynn Kloster, president; Mary Stenbridge, first vice president; Mrs. Allen Sparks, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Rebeck, recording secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. George Stout, treasurer.

Correction

Charges against four Rolling Meadows youths allegedly involved in an incident early Sunday in which a Mount Prospect policeman was assaulted were incorrectly stated earlier this week in the Herald.

Norris M. Briston, 18, of 2300 Eastman, was arrested for disorderly conduct; Marvin Bubblitz, 17, of 2308 Park, for aggravated assault and disorderly conduct; and Gerhard W. Smith, 17, of 2308 Central Ave., and Donald S. Smith, 19, of 2203 James St., for aggravated battery and disorderly conduct.

All four of the accused will appear in court June 23.

The incident took place about 2:30 a.m. near the intersection of Golf Road and We-Go Trail and involved Patrolman Thomas Jacobi.

Area Man Charged

A 23-year-old Palatine man has been arrested by Mount Prospect police for contributing to the sexual delinquency of a minor.

Fred Pena Jr., of 196 Rand Rd., was arrested Tuesday and released on $1,000 bond. The incident involved a 17-year-old Mount Prospect girl and took place April 18.

New Church's Open House Sunday

An open house and special consecration service for the new Trinity United Methodist Church sanctuary and offices will be held Sunday at the church, 605 W. Golf Rd., Mount Prospect.

Edwin Briggs, chosen as Pastor of the Year by Life Magazine, will speak on the topic "Punching Holes in the Darkness" during the consecration service at 11 a.m. Sunday. Briggs formerly headed the National Methodist Board of Lay Activities.

Following the service, dinner will be served in the fellowship hall. Reservations for the dinner can be made by calling the church office at 438-0950.

Sunday afternoon an open house will be held from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Russell Anderson, building committee chairman, and members of his committee will act as hosts for the open house. Refreshments will be served.

From The Library

by LAURIE ROSSI

The Mount Prospect library has recently received dozens of new 8 mm films, black-and-white and color, on different subjects. Many of these are comedy films starring such all-time greats as Laurel and Hardy, Charlie Chaplin, Ben Turpin, Mack Sennett, the Three Stooges, W. C. Fields, and Buster Keaton.

If you like comedy you'll love "The Yodel," "West of Hot Dog," "Waiter's Ball," "Broke in China," "The Tramp," "Toplitsky and Company," "Tit for Tat," and "Spooks."

Some Walt Disney production films also came in this group—"The Ugly Duckling," "Robin Hood of Sherwood Forest," and "Swiss Family Robinson."

Through film you can travel to Portugal, Israel, India, Hong Kong, Greece, Germany, and France. You can explore the possibilities of war in the air, see such classics as "A Tale of Two Cities," and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," enjoy melodrama, Westerns, and science fiction like "Son of Frankenstein," Boris Karloff in "The Mummy" and "Doom of Dracula."

Movies I recommend are "Dillinger, Public Enemy Number One," "Highlights from Born Free," and "The Littlest Angel." Some of the great names you'll find in the file on our films are Valentino, Douglas Fairbanks, Will Rogers, Edward G. Robinson, Humphrey Bogart, and James Cagney.

WE'VE ALSO got cartoons and sports films, like the Colts vs. the Cowboys in the 1971 Super Bowl, and fighting films of Sugar Ray Robinson and Rocky Marciano.

If you like seeing films you probably like reading about them, too. Jerry Lewis' new book, "The Total Film Maker," is now available on the recent book shelves. The book was compiled from his lectures to graduate students at the University of California. Dividing the book according to the production and post production of a film, he discusses putting films together, the producer, script writing, stage crews, actors, filming, music, dubbing, and comedy—all the while assuring you of enjoyable reading with his personal experiences and anecdotes.

The library is open weekdays 9-9, Saturdays 9-5, and Sundays 2-5.

Donation Campaign Under Way

Response to the efforts of the Hoffman Estates Boy's Club to collect clothing and home furnishings for the William Gahan family who lost most of their possessions in a fire last Friday has been called outstanding by an official of the group.

The fire took the lives of three children in the family and destroyed their home at 129 Des Plaines Ln. in the village.

Tony Stampinato, president of the Boy's Club, said much in the way of appliances, furniture and clothing has been received so far, but more things are needed by the family.

He said sizes for clothing for the family are: man, size 34-34 slacks, size 40 long jacket, 15½ shirts; women, dresses sizes 10-12; girl, size 8-10.

Donations may be taken to the Boy's Club building behind the Hoffman Estates Village Hall on Illinois Boulevard tonight and Friday night from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Stampinato said the family still needs dishes, pots and pans, small appliances and more clothing.

He said items such as a refrigerator, television set, kitchen and bedroom furniture have already been received.

Cash donations are also being accepted for the family, he said. Any checks should be made out in the name of the William Gahan family.

Stampinato said he has been very gratified by the initial response the community has made to help the family.

Fire Calls

200 Teachers At 'Park-In' To Back Pay Negotiations

More than 200 teachers from High School Dist. 214 gathered in front of the district's administration building last night in a "show of support and concern" about salary negotiations.

The teachers arrived about 7 p.m., a half-hour before a scheduled negotiations meeting between representatives of the board of education and the Dist. 214 Education Association, bargaining unit for the teachers.

A member of the group propped a sign in front of the building's main door reading, "The median income of Arlington Heights is $16,000. The average Dist. 214 teacher's salary is $12,700."

On the other side, the sign said, "Do not extrapolate our salaries to 12 months. Forty weeks at 50 hours a week is more work than fifty weeks at 40 hours a week."

The teachers had voted last week on a proposed 1972-73 salary settlement that would have cut pay for beginning teachers $300 and would have given teachers now in the district $100 across the board raise in addition to their regular increment for an additional year of experience.

Although earlier in the week officials of the association had refused to confirm the contents of the package, they acknowledged it last night and said the teachers had turned it down overwhelmingly.

Dale Coventry, a co-chairman of the association's bargaining team, said, "The proposal has been rejected by the faculty and hopefully the board will recognize the concern of the teachers. The people who showed up tonight are showing their concern for the board's responsibility."

OTHER TEACHERS present said they had been urged to come by the association's officials. According to one, "I think the board is just being stubborn."

Another said the increment for additional experience, which averages about four per cent "isn't really a raise. The pay board wouldn't recognize it as a raise."

Board members and administrators, many of whom could not park in the administration building parking lot because it was filled with teachers' cars, arrived for the bargaining session at about 7:30, declining comment as they made their way through the crowd.

The board bargaining team immediately began a caucus among themselves and association officials asked the teachers to go home. "We've served our purpose by being here," Richard Cherico, former president of the association, told the group.

At Herald press time the two sides were still meeting. All negotiations meetings are held in closed session.

Appoint New Sacred Heart Principal

by JOANN VAN WYE

The appointment of Gerald Giles as principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows was announced yesterday by the Rev. H. Robert Clark, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of Chicago.

Miss Louise Jacobs was named associate principal at the same time.

The appointments are effective July

1. The Rev. James E. Michaletz, superintendent of Sacred Heart, said both persons would be spending time in the school prior to July 1 familiarizing themselves with its operation, getting acquainted with faculty, parents and students and hiring new faculty members.

Giles replaces Len Baenen who resigned in January, effective June 30, after serving as principal of Sacred Heart for two years. Baenen said he resigned to clear the way for a change of ownership of the school from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded it in 1960, to the Archdiocese of Chicago. Baenen had expressed a desire to continue as principal but was ineligible because of a papal prohibition against the hiring of former priests.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, a New York based congregation, announced in March it would no longer be able to staff and maintain the school because of financial problems and personnel problems.

The appointments end a search for an administrative team that started after the March announcement the archdiocese would take over ownership of the school. The administrative team will be in charge of the overall operation of the school, leadership and development of an instructional program.

The position of associate principal is a new one. Father Michaletz said job descriptions had not been completed yet but that Miss Jones will be primarily in charge of curriculum development and working with the students through the curriculum.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Some of his previous experience includes English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

A native of Lowell, Mass., Giles holds a bachelor's degree from St. Anselm's College in Manchester, N.H., a master's degree from Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio and is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching both at Trinity High School in River Forest and Rosary College in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in LaGrange, where she was curriculum coordinator.

Miss Jacobs is a native of Chicago. She received her bachelor's degree from DePaul University and master's degree from Loyola University.

The appointments were made by a selection committee formed in March. Serving on the committee were Father Clark; Brother Pius Xavier, the associate superintendent of the archdiocese; Sister Joyce Durosko, principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary High School; Sister Charles Ellen, principal of Mother Theodore Guerin High School; Baenen and Father Michaletz.

Between 15 and 20 applications for the two positions were received and the committee interviewed nine candidates. Three of the candidates were invited to spend a day at Sacred Heart at the end of which they were interviewed by the faculty and students.

Commenting on the appointments, Father Clark noted guidelines followed in seeking administrators for the school included the importance of student centered education, shared decision making with students, faculty and parents and dedication to the importance of aiding the students to develop values of Christian living.

"The Archdiocese's concern for Sacred Heart was demonstrated in March when it assumed the responsibility of the

A special village board committee on the Northgate annexation will meet at 8 p.m. at the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

BUILDING A TOWN, even if it's for 5 year olds, is a tough job according to Bill and Bob Walsh, two of the Forest View High School industrial arts students who are helping build Safety Town. The town, which will include a church, school, home and other buildings will be used in a safety instruction program for children who will be entering kindergarten this fall. Signup for the program, which will cost $3 per child, will be held Monday from 9 a.m. until noon at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights. Volunteer mothers are also needed to assist with the program. Classes will be held both in Arlington High School and in the adjacent parking lot at Euclid and Ridge roads where Safety Town will be erected. Class sessions will be held from June 19 to 29, July 5 to 14 and July 17 to 27. The classes are sponsored by the Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club and the park district.

Incinerator Plan Calls For Much Study

If an incinerator is ever built in Arlington Heights, the type and size will be a matter of extensive research, according to a report by Assistant Village Manager Darryl Kenning at last night's Environmental Control Commission meeting.

The ECC is the first group to scrutinize the Solid Waste Disposal Report written by the village administration in January. The report recommended the construction of an incinerator to handle the village's growing solid waste problem.

A report and recommendation on a method of solid waste disposal is now being completed by the ECC, and is expected to be released in about a month.

While the administration recommended an incinerator in the 42-page report, the ECC questioned the estimated cost and the exclusion of several cost factors.

"There is a credibility gap here when the costs for electricity and water treatment are missing," said ECC member Mrs. John Macko.

According to Kenning, an extra $300,000 has been added to the capital cost of the incinerator, over projected estimates to handle the unforeseen expenses. "THIS IS ONLY A preliminary study," said Kenning. "The basic decision on whether or not to construct an incinerator has to be made by the board of trustees before we make any in depth price study. If the board gives us the go-ahead, we'd make a complete evaluation of all systems, especially new ones."

The administration report contained estimates by Donahue & Associates, Inc. of Sheboygan, Wis. According to that firm, the cost of the incinerator would be

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Lying half-paralyzed, Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his presidential primary election triumphs in Maryland and Michigan. His doctors and campaign aides insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rejected the idea of increasing Secret Service protection for political candidates and called instead for passage of stronger gun-control legislation.

House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon an 18-month moratorium on court orders for school busing, so that pending cases may be appealed.

Then the lawmakers completed work on a compromise $18.5 billion aid to higher education bill after two months of negotiating.

The defense opens its case in the Angela Davis trial after 11 weeks of prosecution testimony with the major question being whether Miss Davis will take the stand herself.

The State

A defense attorney asked that race track scandal indictments against former Gov. Otto Kerner and four others be thrown out because of a "plethora of damaging publicity."

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel Walker charged "gross negligence" on the part of the Illinois Department of Revenue in its administration of the state income tax.

The World

The West German parliament ratified Chancellor Willy Brandt's nonaggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland. The treaties gave up German claims on territory occupied by Poland and the U.S.S.R. after World War II as well as pledging recognition of current national boundaries in Europe.

A sniper shot and wounded four Protestant workers as they left their factory in a largely Roman Catholic area of Belfast, Northern Ireland. The shootings came in the wake of Protestant threats to take action to clear out Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry.

The Market

A late burst of buying pushed the stock market to a mixed closing on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading, over-all, was relatively light. The Dow Jones industrial average finished ahead 1.88 at 941.15. The average price of a NYSE common share increased by 7 cents. Turnover totaled 13,600,000 shares, down from the 14,070,000 traded Tuesday. Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

school. It is even further demonstrated by the diligence and industry exercised in seeking out those two fine administrators," said Father Clark.
Father Michael said he feels the future of the school is even brighter with the naming of the administrative team. He said both had worked at schools pioneering innovative programs.
The number one item on the agenda now, according to Father Michael, is the hiring of faculty members to replace the sisters of the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary who are leaving in June and about 10 per cent of the lay staff who are leaving.
"We have waited until this point because we definitely wanted the new administrative team to be involved in the hiring," said Father Michael.

In regard to the appointments, Baenen said, "I hope and would expect the new administrative staff will continue the education style and process that is presently at Sacred Heart."

A lay advisory board of parents will be formed in the near future, according to Father Michael. The primary function of the advisory board will be to advise the administration in areas of finance, public relations and community involvement and in all matters concerning the future of the school.

about $8.5 million.
While the ECC considers both incinerator and landfill as viable alternatives at the present time, the administration has discounted landfilling because of the rising cost of the land and the growing public opinion against landfilling.
"Because of continuing education in the field of landfilling, we feel that this method of solid waste disposal will be greatly restricted in the future," said Gene Willroth, public works director. "We see present landfills being used up in seven years, and if additional land is obtained for this purpose, it will be too far away to be economical."
"THE FACT IS that no one wants anyone else's garbage hauled into their community for disposal," said Kenning.
According to Kenning, the administration also wants to operate its own landfill rather than dumping at a commercially-operated landfill.
"We want to be able to control our own destiny," said Kenning. "A commercially operated landfill could hike its rates at any time, and we'd have virtually nowhere to turn."
Commission members also asked Kenning whether the administration ever considered waiting a few years until pollution control legislation has been finalized and newer methods of incineration, which are now on the horizon, have been proven.
"We considered waiting, but we may be in the same state of flux in a few years," said Kenning.

200 Teachers At Salary Negotiations 'Park-In'

Three hundred persons, most of them teen-agers, are expected to march in Sunday's "Hike Downtown for Uptown." The 20-mile hike is being conducted under the auspices of St. Paul Lutheran Church and School in Mount Prospect to raise funds for the financially ailing Chicago Uptown Ministry.

The staff of the Uptown Ministry is made up of two ministers, Michael Roschke and Tom Tews. The pair conducts a neighborhood ministry in Chicago's uptown area using a storefront office there as a base of operations.

According to one of the organizers of Sunday's hike the ministry is supported through church donations. But, the ministry needs $8,000 this month to replace donations that have run out.

Sunday's hike will begin at 9:30 a.m. at St. Paul Lutheran School, 18 S. School St., Mount Prospect. From there the hikers will go north to Central Road, then east to Stevenson Lane. The group will go north on Wolf Road, then turn west on Greenwood. Next the group will come west on Barberry Lane, south on Wheeling Road and march westerly toward Prospect High School.

West of Prospect High the route includes several residential streets in Arlington Heights. The group will re-enter Mount Prospect, walk east along Gregory Street and turn south at Main Street. They will turn east at Prospect Avenue and then head toward Lions Park.

THE MARCHERS will hike west on Lincoln to Meier Road; south on Meier to Lomquist, then east on to George Street. The marchers will cross Northwest Highway at Mount Prospect Road, continue north on Mount Prospect, then turn west on Busse Avenue and return to the school.

Hikers have been soliciting donations for each mile they walk. One hiker will earn almost $100 if she completes the 20 miles.

The idea for the hike originated with a sixth grade class at St. Paul school. The students approached two Uptown Ministry volunteers, Mary Gabbani and Nancy Watts, on the idea, and the two set up the hike.

'His Land' Will Be Shown Sunday

"His Land," a motion picture depicting life in Israel today, will be shown Sunday at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 302 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights.

Israel is shown through the eyes of Cliff Richard and Cliff Barrows, two members of the Billy Graham team, as they tour the country. The presentation is sponsored by the men's council of the church, and is open to the public.

Horizon Club Paper Drive Set

The Arlington Heights Horizon Club, the high school chapter of the Camp Fire Girls, are asking residents to start saving newspapers for an Aug. 12 paper drive.

The paper drive will be a general fund-raising event for the Horizon Club and it will also help pay their way to next year's national conference.

According to Carol Glatz, Horizon Club Advisor, newspapers collected on Aug. 12 will be recycled. Approximately 17 trees can be saved for every ton of old newspapers collected and recycled, Mrs. Gatz said.

Three newspaper recycling stations will be set up Aug. 12 at the Patton School parking lot, 1616 N. Patton Ave.; the First Methodist Church parking lot, 1903 E. Euclid Ave.; and the Park School parking lot, 306 W. Park St.

All three stations will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Aug. 12.

New York Clergyman To Conduct Seminar

The Rev. Stella Wrenn of the Greenwich Village Unity Prayer Center in New York City will present a seminar on "The Way of Effective Prayer" Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at Unity Church Northwest, 1801 E. Palatine Rd., Arlington Heights.

Rev. Wrenn was an opera singer, voice teacher and choir conductor and church soloist before entering the ministry over 20 years ago. Her presentation of the principles and practice of prayer includes a lecture and diagrams.

The first part of her lecture, which begins at 10:30 a.m., will last until the lunch hour, which will be held from 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. The lecture will continue at 1:30 p.m. and last until 3:30 p.m., and include a question-and-answer period.

Catholic Church Adult Series Set

An adult education series will be held Saturday and Wednesday at Our Lady of the Wayside Parish, 423 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights.

The series, titled "Formation of Conscience and Personal Morality," will focus on the doubts and confusion in Catholic thought. Father Walter Brennan, a Servite priest and teacher of sociology and theology at DePaul University, will be the speaker for both programs.

On Saturday, the program will last from 7:30 to 9 p.m.; the time for the Wednesday session will also be 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Orientation Meetings For Kindergarteners

A series of orientation teas for next fall's incoming kindergarten students and their mothers will be held next Wednesday in Prospect Heights School Dist. 23. The teas will be held at the three schools where kindergarten classes are conducted.

At the teas, new students and their mothers will receive an orientation for Dist. 23. The teas, held annually are sponsored by the PTAs.

The schedule for the teas is as follows:

Walnut Cream Roll

For Any Special Occasion

Special occasion desserts are a timely topic the year around. We're always looking for that "something different" too, and a perfect example of this is California Walnut Cream Roll. You can flavor it vanilla, or mocha simply by adding instant coffee powder. Or use cocoa powder for an equally tempting cocoa flavored roll. Whatever the flavor, the cake is extra good with crunchy, toasted California walnuts.

To toast the walnuts just drop the walnut kernels into rapidly boiling water and boil three minutes. Drain well. Then spread the kernels evenly in a shallow pan and bake at 350 degrees, stirring often, for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden. Then use the toasted walnuts in the California Walnut Cream Roll and better yet, toast extra to use in other recipes. For example, add chopped toasted walnuts to a tossed green salad or use them as croutons in a Caesar salad. Also, try them salted and seasoned. While they are still hot from the toasting, brush them lightly with butter and sprinkle generously with salt or with seasoned salt.

CALIFORNIA WALNUT CREAM ROLL

1 cup toasted California walnuts
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cooking oil
3 egg yolks
1/3 cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
Cream filling
Glaze

Chop walnuts fine; sift flour with sugars, baking powder and salt into small mixing bowl. Make a well in center and add oil, egg yolks, water and vanilla; beat with spoon until smooth. Beat egg whites in medium-size deep bowl with cream of tartar until very stiff peaks form. Gradually pour egg yolk mixture over whites, gently folding in with rubber scraper until blended; gently fold in finely chopped walnuts. Pour batter into a jelly roll pan (15 1/2 x 10 1/2 inches) with bottom lined with foil. Spread gently in an even layer. Bake at 375 degrees about 15 minutes until top springs back when lightly touched. Loosen edges and turn out upside down on a towel generously sprinkled with sifted powdered sugar. Carefully remove foil; trim off any stiff edges. While cake is still warm, roll cake and towel up from narrow end. Cool on wire rack. Unroll cake and remove towel. Spread cooled surface with Cream Filling and roll up again. Spread glaze over top and sprinkle with additional chopped walnuts. Makes eight servings.

Cream Filling: beat one cup whipping cream with 1/2 teaspoon salt and one teaspoon vanilla until it begins to thicken. Beat in 1/4 cup brown or granulated sugar, beating only until mixture holds its shape.

Variations: for Mocha flavor, beat in one teaspoon instant coffee powder. For Cocoa flavor beat in three to four tablespoons cocoa powder.

Glaze: beat two tablespoons soft butter, one cup sifted powdered sugar and two or three teaspoons hot water together until creamy and smooth.

Potato Serving Guide

The servings referred to on packages of instant Idaho potatoes usually measure 4 ounces or 1-2 cup each, unless otherwise stated. But a 4-serving package doesn't necessarily serve four persons. Some diners will have two helpings, another may take less than 1/2 cup and children like differing amounts. Let experience guide you in deciding how much to prepare for a single meal.

Cherry Trifle

A listing of ingredients soon makes one realize that a "trifle" is anything but insignificant. Traditionally a trifle is a dessert of sponge cake spread with jam or jelly, sprinkled with crumbled macarons, soaked in wine and served with custard and whipped cream. Here is a cherry trifle to keep dessert lovers a trifle happy.

CHERRY TRIFLE

2 packages (3 ounces each) ladyfingers, split
1 jar (8 ounces) red maraschino cherries
Cream sherry or other sweet wine
2 cups milk
1/3 cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Toasted slivered almonds

Separate ladyfingers and spread out on tray with soft side up. Drain cherries, pour syrup into measuring cup. Add enough sherry to syrup to make 1/2-cup liquid. Sprinkle syrup mixture over ladyfingers and cover while making custard. Chop cherries and set aside. Heat milk in top of double boiler until hot. Blend 1/3-cup sugar, salt and cornstarch in large bowl. Beat in eggs. Gradually add the hot milk to egg mixture, stirring constantly. Return to top of double boiler and cook, stirring constantly over simmering water until thickened. Remove from the heat and add 1 teaspoon vanilla and chopped cherries. Cool custard to lukewarm, stirring occasionally. Line a 1 1/2-quart glass compote or bowl with ladyfingers. Layer custard with remaining ladyfingers. Chill about 4 hours. Whip cream with 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/2-teaspoon vanilla until soft peaks form. Spread cream over trifle and garnish with almonds. Makes 8 servings.

Plastic Garbage Bag Plan May Be Expanded By City

Residents in sections of Des Plaines' third and seventh wards this summer would receive free garbage bags and metal frame holders from the city, under a proposal to be submitted to city council.

The public works department is readying plans, for council consideration June 5, to expand the city's two-year old plastic garbage bag program, created to make garbage pickups faster and more efficient.

In the third ward, those living in an area bounded by Earl Avenue, Webster Lane, Forest Avenue and Algonquin Road, would receive metal holders and supplies of plastic bags.

In the seventh ward, residents of Cumberland Terrace, Westfield Gardens, Des Plaines Manor and Northshire subdivisions would receive holders and bags, according to Ald. Daniel Kisslinger (4th), who heads the council's sanitation committee.

KISSLINGER SAID that about 3,000 holders and boxes of bags may be distributed. The council budgeted $50,000 for garbage bag program expansion this year.

At present, 1200 holders are in use in the Craig Manor, and Des Plaines Terrace subdivisions and in an area bounded by Thacker Street, Henry Avenue, River Road and the Soo Line Ry. tracks, according to Joseph Schwab, commissioner of public works.

Bags and holders have also been distributed on the South Side in an area bounded by Oakton Street, Maple Street, Touhy Avenue and River Road, he said.

The seventh and third ward areas were selected because these areas are "compact" and are included in routes normally collected on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, he said.

The present routes with plastic bag holders are now serviced early in the week and these same crews, trained in this special form of pickups, could work in the new areas, Schwab indicated.

Holders are made of metal piping, which provides a frame for the plastic bag, and a metal cover which goes over the top of the bags.

THE EASE OF removing the plastic bag from the holder, compared to lifting metal trash cans, has been the main advantage of the program, city officials indicated.

After the free plastic bags have been used by residents, more plastic bags are available from several stores in the city.

Because some residents feel that plastic bags are harmful to the environment, causing difficulty in their absorption into the soil the city will seek to encourage sales in the city of paper bags which could fit into the holders.

Open House Sunday Slated In Honor Of Leon Smaage

Sunday has been set for an open house in honor of Leon Smaage, who is retiring after 26 years as superintendent of Des Plaines Elementary School Dist. 62.

The open house, from 3 to 5 p.m. at Iroquois Junior High School, 1838 Touhy Ave., is sponsored by the Smaage Recognition Committee, made up of school board members, PTA leaders and Dist. 62 employees. The public is invited.

According to Dale Fahnestock and O. D. Swanson, co-chairmen of the committee the program will include tributes by city representatives, the PTAs, and the Des Plaines Education Association along with other civic and service organizations. Dist. 62 School Board will also recognize Smaage's 42 years of educational service in the Midwest.

Smaage began as superintendent of schools in Hardy, Iowa and moved to Park Ridge as principal of the Field and Roosevelt schools in 1937. He was appointed Brookfield school superintendent in 1940 and came to Des Plaines to fill the same post in 1946.

Des Plaines then had 1,400 elementary school students with one junior high and four elementary schools. It has since grown to a total of 7,200 students with three junior high and 10 elementary schools.

Smaage will remain in his post until this summer when his retirement becomes effective. His remaining activities as superintendent will include budget preparation and staffing plans.

Eric Sahlgren, present superintendent of Mount Prospect School Dist. 57, has been named to replace Smaage.

'Thousand Clowns' At Maine West

Maine West High School's 1972 all-school play, "A Thousand Clowns," will be presented at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium today, Friday and Saturday.

The three-act comedy by Herb Gardner concerns a bachelor uncle who has been left to rear his precocious nephew. He has tried writing comedy for children's television programs, but now finds himself unemployed. A team of social workers come to investigate and he is faced with either finding a job, losing the boy, or possibly marrying a social worker.

The comedy is under the direction of Daryl D. Schultz, speech-drama instructor at Maine West. Robert E. Norris, also a speech-drama instructor, is technical director.

The cast, including students from all classes, includes Larry Bern as Murray, David Franks as Nick, Ben Adair as Albert, Kim Beedy as Sandra, Bob Repta as Arnold, and Bob Scarola as Leo.

Assisting Schultz as student director is Sharon Gragg. Peggy Klein is assisting Norris as stage manager.

Tickets will be available at the door for $1.50. No seats will be reserved.

Thieves Break Into Lumber Yard Office

Thieves broke into a Des Plaines lumber yard office sometime Saturday night and opened an office safe, but found it empty.

According to reports, the thieves broke in through a rear entrance at Lagerhausen Lumber and Coal Co., 1615 Ellinwood St.

Police said the safe, which was empty at the time, was turned upside down and the bottom caved in by pounding it with a heavy blunt instrument.

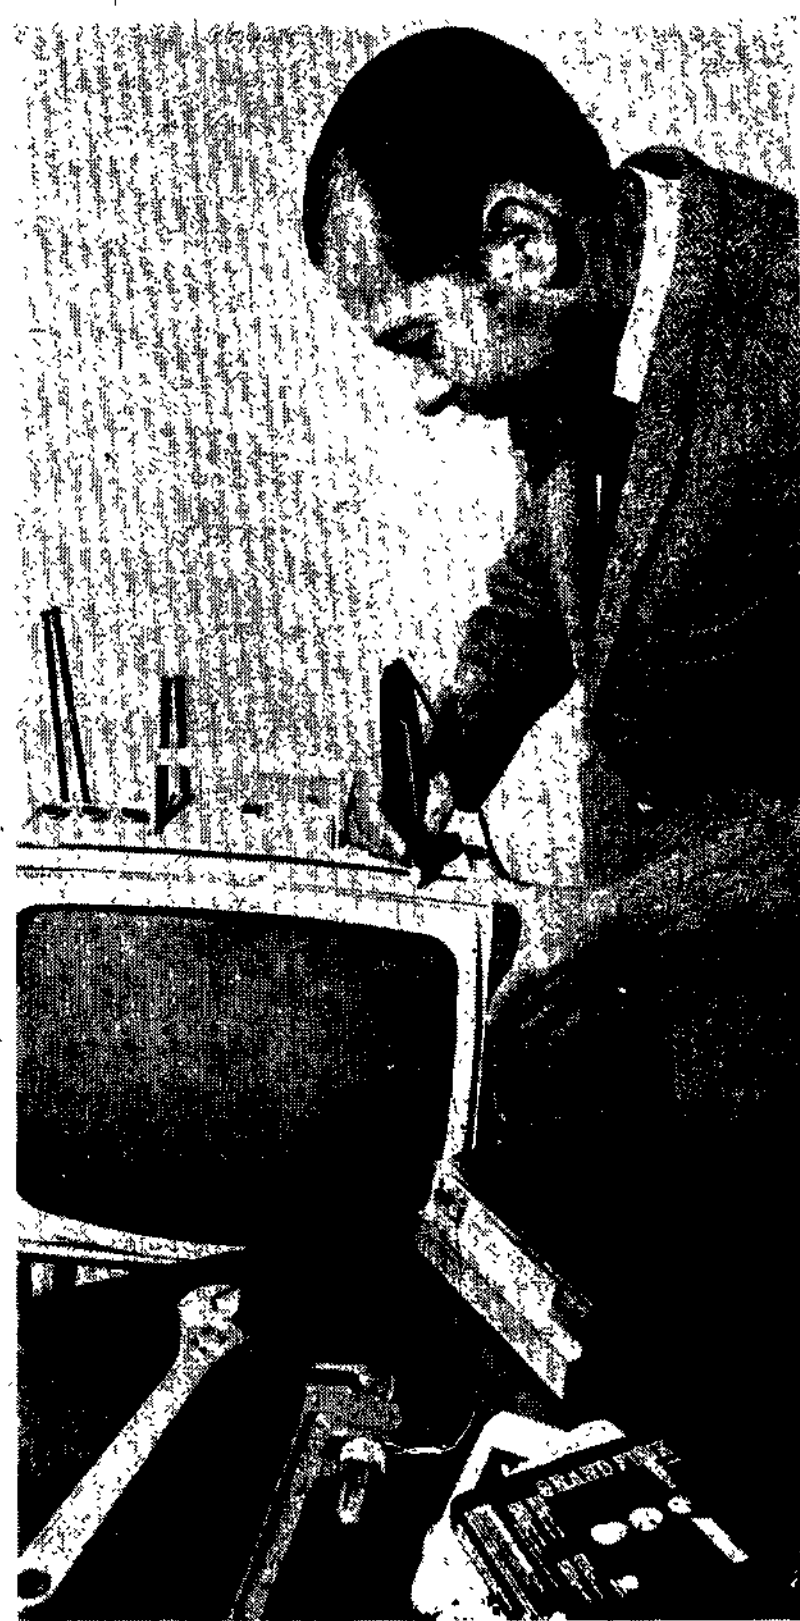

Beauty Plan Would Fence Junkyards

The City of Des Plaines may require construction of fences around all junkyards within the city limits, as part of a new city beautification effort.

The city council's building, controls and inspection committee is now studying a proposed ordinance which would require permanently constructed "solid opaque fences" between junkyards and public streets or residential areas.

The proposed ordinance would also require strict maintenance of the fences and/or screens. No material would be allowed to lean on the fences, hang from them, or extend over the fences, according to the ordinance, prepared by City Atty. Robert D. Leonard.

If the wall or screen is not constructed,

OPERATION IDENTIFICATION started in Des Plaines last week. Lt. James Roel of the Des Plaines Police Department demonstrates the use of an engraving pen to mark household valuables. Police officials hope the program will curb the city's increasing burglary rate.

Anti-Burglar Program Is Unveiled Here

by JACK PENCHOFF

How do you stop burglaries? One way, police officials say, is to make stolen items difficult to "fence." A color television set that's been marked with a permanent identifying number, for instance, is harder to sell when stolen and easier to trace when recovered.

That's the theory behind Operation Identification, an anti-burglary program being used in about 300 U.S. communities. It was inaugurated here last week by the Des Plaines Police Department in cooperation with the local Optimist Club.

Key to the operation is an engraving pen that vibrates 7,200 times a minute and can be used to mark any material from soft plastic to hard steel.

The Des Plaines Optimist Club last week donated three of the pens to the police department, which will make them available to local residents who want to borrow them for use at home.

TELEVISION SETS, tools, furniture, stereo equipment, tape recorders, and household appliances can all be marked with the pens.

Des Plaines police recommend using your driver's license number while some other departments favor Social Security numbers for identification purposes. Police here point out that driver's license numbers can be traced easily, so when they recover stolen items, the owner can be found without much difficulty.

One important part of the program, decals indicating that valuables inside your home have been marked as part of "Operation Identification," is available in other cities. Des Plaines police, however, don't have the decals because the program here is still described as experimental.

Chief Arthur Hintz said if the marking pens are a success, the department will obtain more of them. Under a state program, grants are available to purchase up to one pen for every 1,000 residents.

Burglaries in Des Plaines increased 6 per cent during 1971 as compared to the previous year and jumped 37 per cent in the first three months of 1972 over the same period last year. Police are predicting a further increase this summer when many families leave their homes to go on vacation.

The trend is the same all over the country, with burglary becoming the nation's most common serious crime. One encouraging sign is the number of communities that have begun "Operation Identification."

'Soul' Sermon Set

"Soul and Body" is the topic of the lesson-sermon this Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist in Des Plaines. All are welcome to attend church services at 11:00 a.m. at Laurel and Marion street. Sunday school for students up to age 20 will be held at the same hour.

$150 Missing

A cash box containing $150 was reported stolen Tuesday from the offices of Xerox Corp., 3000 S. River Rd., Des Plaines. According to police, the box had been kept in a desk at the company office.

Thief Grabs Keys, Robs Second Station

An enterprising thief broke into a Des Plaines service station early Thursday, took the keys to a second station, went to the second station, unlocked the door and made off with cash and checks valued at $1,425.

According to Des Plaines police, Wally Sternberg, owner of Wally's Gas for Less, 1900 Touhy Ave., reported that someone broke into his service station early Tuesday and took a set of keys to another station at 1556 Rand Rd.

The thief then apparently proceeded to the second location, unlocked the door and broke into a safe containing the cash and checks. Also stolen was the title to a truck, police said.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Lying half-paralyzed, Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his presidential primary election triumphs in Maryland and Michigan. His doctors and campaign aides insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., rejected the idea of increasing Secret Service protection for political candidates and called instead for passage of stronger gun-control legislation.

House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon an 18-month moratorium on court orders for school busing, so that pending cases may be appealed.

Then the lawmakers completed work on a compromise $18.5 billion aid to higher education bill after two months of negotiating.

The defense opens its case in the Angela Davis trial after 11 weeks of prosecution testimony with the major question being whether Miss Davis will take the stand herself.

The State

A defense attorney asked that race track scandal indictments against former Gov. Otto Kerner and four others be thrown out because of a "plethora of damaging publicity."

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Daniel Walker charged "gross negligence" on the part of the Illinois Department of Revenue in its administration of the state income tax.

The Apollo 16 astronauts rode a ticker-tape parade through Chicago's Loop. Astronaut Charles M. Duke Jr. termed the experience "fantastic."

Marilyn A. Meyer

Mrs. Marilyn A. Meyer, 44, nee Joyce, of 1633 River St., Des Plaines, died Monday in Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

Visitation is today from 2 to 10 p.m. in Oehler Funeral Home, Lee and Perry streets, Des Plaines, where funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow. The Rev. R. K. Wobbe of United Church of Christ, Des Plaines, will be officiating. Burial will be in Mount Emblem Cemetery, Elmhurst.

Surviving are her husband, John H.; son, John H. Jr. and daughter-in-law, Pamela M.; daughters, Joyce A. and Tammy A. Meyer, all of Des Plaines; mother, Mrs. Edna (the late Henry) Alexander of Niles and a sister, Mrs. Joann (Alexandre) Wojcik of Chicago.

Mrs. Meyer was born Sept. 24, 1927, in Chicago.

Evelyn Gray

Visitation is all day today for Mrs. Evelyn Gray, 59, nee Naessens, of Des Plaines, in John V. May Funeral Home, 4553 N. Milwaukee Ave., Chicago.

Funeral Mass will be said at 10 a.m. tomorrow in St. Stephen Catholic Church, Des Plaines. Burial will be in St. Adalbert Cemetery, Niles.

Mrs. Gray died Sunday in Augustana Hospital, Chicago. She was born Aug. 27, 1912, in Chicago.

Surviving are her husband, Julian J.; step-son Jack W.; three grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Jeanette Kamka of Chicago.

Identification" and reported significant decreases in the number of burglaries committed.

IN MONTEREY Park, Calif., where the marking program originated in 1963, about half of the 11,000 households have participated. The 5,000 that didn't take part have reported a total of 2,000 burglaries since 1963. Of the 5,000 that did, only 23 have reported burglaries, according to police there.

"Operation Identification" may also be having some effect in larger cities. Burglary rates went down 3 per cent in New Orleans after the program began there in 1969. Burglaries had gone up 39 per cent the year before.

Skeptics on the Des Plaines Police Department say pens that are loaned out probably won't be returned, prompting the suggestion that the pens themselves be marked for identification. The program has also been criticized because it provides no way to mark such things as furs or jewelry.

Despite its shortcomings, supporters of "Operation Identification" say the program is one of the best ways yet devised to help combat the increasingly serious crime of burglary.

Collier Urges Airport Near Kankakee-Joliet

The general area of Kankakee-Joliet Plans should proceed immediately for land acquisition and construction of a third major Chicago area airport in the Kankakee-Joliet region, according to Congressman Harold Collier (R-10th).

Collier made his statement yesterday concerning a third major airport in light of Mayor Richard Daley's announcement last week that a greatly expanded O'Hare airport would be sufficient to handle Chicago air traffic.

Collier has long opposed expansion of O'Hare and has sought to direct airport efforts toward the Joliet region.

"Unless action is taken for land acquisition within the next year," he said, speaking of the Joliet area, "we cannot expect the kind of relief from jet noise to which the people in the communities surrounding (O'Hare) are entitled."

COLLIER AGAIN urged the consideration of the Will County site for a third airport following Daley's abandonment of an airport in Lake Michigan and release of the Federal Aviation Administration's annual report again showing O'Hare to be the busiest air terminal in the world.

Quoting from the FAA report, Collier pointed out operations of the field in 1971 reached 641,529 and the number of take-offs and landings exceeded by some 63,000 the operations of the second busiest airport at Long Beach, Calif.

Collier also disagreed with statements by Daley that O'Hare's capacity can be increased by 50 per cent with construction of additional facilities.

"Expansion is not the answer," Collier said, "because it will only compound the problem of residents in the area of O'Hare airport."

Collier also urged the continued revitalization of Midway in addition to the need for a third major airport southwest of Chicago.

Cong. Harold Collier has been considered for some time as a possible site for a third Chicago airport. Other sites discussed at various times have been an island in Lake Michigan, now discarded as a possibility, a site in the Gary-Hammond region of Lake County, Indiana and a site in extreme south-east Wisconsin.

No formal plans have been announced for any site.

Recycling Center Having Difficulties

A group of Notre Dame High School students has begun a glass recycling center at the school, 7855 Dempster St., Niles. The center collected 6.5 tons of glass in its first period of operation.

Although the center has been successful in collecting a large amount of glass, it has created certain problems, according to chairman Bob Simeone and Matt Keifer, both seniors. Neighborhood children break glass in the school parking lot. Some people use the center as a handy place to dump garbage, which is not needed or usable.

The project center may have to be moved to the back of the school because of these difficulties. At the moment, the center is located on the Dempster Street corner of the parking lot, and anyone who has recyclable glass is welcome to deposit it there.

MSU Honor List

Two Des Plaines residents have been named to the Michigan State University honors list. They are: John D. Carlson, 1019 Alford Dr. and Dorothy French, 391 Pinehurst. Both are seniors and graduates of Maine West High School.

Dorothy Oliver

Are you a brainless, braless broad? Don't think so, huh?

Well you are, in the opinion of Thomas Hanahan, if you favor the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Therefore, I would surmise, members of the League of Women Voters, American Association of University Women, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and the General Federation of Women's Clubs fall under this category as all of these associations came out in favor of the ERA.

Probably the biggest, brainless, braless broads in the nation are people like Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., and Rep. Patsy Mink (D-Hawaii), two of the cosponsors of the ERA when it was presented to the U.S. House of Representatives.

I wonder how Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, likes being classified as brainless, braless and broad. She was one of the cosponsors of the ERA when it was presented Tuesday in the Illinois House of Representatives.

WHO IS Thomas Hanahan? He is the Democratic Representative to the Illinois House from McHenry who, with 74 other males voted nay and defeated the passage of the ERA.

Hanahan continued his verbal tirade by stating these same brainless, braless broads want to use the men's washrooms.

I don't know about anyone else who was for the ERA but the only time I really wanted to use a man's washroom was in a forest preserve when the only other facility in sight was knocked over. After all a men's room is better than a tree.

The ERA failed in the House Tuesday by a vote of 75 to 68 — 14 short of a House majority. It was people like Hanahan who pulled it down.

Rep. Robert Juckett, R-Park Ridge, did his best to make sure women would be patronized, protected and in many cases discriminated against by law. Juckett hemmed and hawed when the ERA came before the House Executive Committee and didn't even want to discuss it.

DAYS BEFORE, the Senate Executive Committee easily passed a ratification resolution for the ERA. When it hit Juckett's committee he protested that hearing testimony on the provision would violate the Illinois Constitution. Gov. Ogilvie and House Speaker W. Robert Blair put the pressure on Juckett to call the bill.

He did.

The resolution passed The House kabashed it.

I spoke yesterday with several people who went down to Springfield to see what would happen to the ERA. Those who favored House ratification of the Amendment were very disturbed by the circus atmosphere that prevailed in the House.

There was a lot of sniggering, a lot of jokes, a lot of childish behavior displayed by our illustrious representatives.

"It wouldn't have been half so bad seeing the ERA defeated if it were done seriously instead of as a blue joke," said one who was there.

I wouldn't begin to accuse all of those who voted against the ERA as having done so as a joke. I'm sure many of them truly believe it is a bad amendment.

The biggest controversy over the ERA seems to be that women could be drafted and possibly serve in combat.

"I've seen the Russian Army where the men and women soldiers were squating together over an open latrine. Is that the position you want your daughter in?"

That was Rep. Webber Borchers, R-Decatur.

How can you argue with a statement like that?

I'll bet those women soldiers would have preferred using the men's washroom, however.

The ERA will now go to the Senate. If it passes that body it will return to the House. Its fate will be decided as far as Illinois is concerned in a matter of weeks.

JUST FOR your information here is the way the representatives in our districts voted: 4th District — Jaffe, yes; Simmons, yes; Juckett, no; 3rd District — Chapman, yes; Schlickman, no; Regner, no.

Both Rep. Edward Bluthardt and Rep. Richard Walsh, who will be running in the new 5th District in November, voted no on the issue.

I plan to write letters to my representatives today giving them my opinion on their vote. I will also write my senator to tell him my opinion on the ERA.

I hope you take the time to do the same — whether you are for the Equal Rights Amendment or against it.

Auto Trunk Theft

Clothing and other belongings valued at $105 were reported stolen Tuesday from an auto at the Holiday Inn, Touhy Avenue and Mannheim Road, Des Plaines. Edith Patt of Lewiston, N.Y., told police she discovered the items missing from the trunk of her car.

Utility Cost Estimates To Be Shown

Cost estimates for the purchase of Citizens Waycinden Utilities Water Co., proposed as the first step towards annexing Waycinden Park, will be presented today

Fire Aid May Cost More At Waycinden

Waycinden Park residents may be forced to pay almost 50 per cent more for fire protection, according to a report this week to the Des Plaines City Council.

Ald. John Seitz (7th), chairman of the council's fire committee, announced residents of Waycinden — a 60-acre unincorporated Elk Grove Township community surrounded by the city — should pay $1.98 per $1,000 assessed valuation, the same as city residents now pay, instead of the present fire tax rate in Waycinden of $1.36.

Ald. Seitz said he has asked for the tax raise last week during a meeting with the Elk Grove Rural Fire Protection District, which purchases fire protection for Waycinden from the City of Des Plaines.

NO REPLY has been issued yet by the district, Seitz indicated. Paul Knott, attorney for the district, could not be reached yesterday for comment.

Several aldermen in recent months have said Waycinden residents are "getting a bargain" because they are paying less for fire protection than city residents.

Last year, Waycinden — which includes about 500 homes and 2,000 residents — paid about $9,000 to the city for Des Plaines Fire Department protection, according to City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach.

City officials and spokesmen for the Waycinden Park Homeowners association have met recently to discuss possible annexation. Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel is investigating the possibility of city purchase of the Citizens Waycinden Utilities water company, as a means of clearing the way for an annexation referendum by Waycinden residents.

or early next week to Des Plaines officials.

At his weekly press conference, Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel announced that estimates of the value of the present water system — including mains, pumps, and combined storm and sanitary sewers — and the estimated cost of creating an entirely new water system will be delivered to the city.

Mayor Behrel, who met earlier this month with utility company president Isher Jacobson, said Tuesday that purchase of the water company may be necessary to prove to Waycinden Park residents that they would benefit from city annexation.

RESIDENTS OF the 60-acre Elk Grove Township community surrounded by Des Plaines are now considering whether to seek voluntary annexation to the city.

The need for more services, the proposed raise in fire protection rates, suggested recently by the Des Plaines City Council, and the present level of municipal services in the subdivision have all been mentioned by city officials as factors in an annexation decision.

Behrel, who said utility company estimates of the value of the water system will be studied by City Engineer Robert Bowen and by independent engineering consultants, indicated he felt purchase of the water company, and improved service could bring a favorable decision from the 2,000 resident community.

"They don't want to annex unless they see a real benefit," he said.

Purchase of the water system would mean the end of a $3.50 a year tax on each home for use of combined sewers, Behrel said.

Water would ultimately cost less, after special assessments to finance purchase are ended, he said. Finally, he said the water, supplied from Lake Michigan by the City of Chicago, would be of higher quality than is now supplied to Waycinden residents from well water.

Behrel also announced a previous utility company position that the city would have to purchase all of the water system east of Elmhurst, is no longer true.

AN EXAMINATION of Waycinden water system resources has indicated Waycinden could be separated from other utility company systems, including the one which serves areas of Mount Prospect, the mayor said.

Waycinden is a 500 home, 2,000 resident community located east of Elmhurst Road, bounded generally by Algonquin Road, Mount Prospect Road and Thacker-Dempster street. Because of its large size, the city may not annex the subdivision involuntarily, and a referendum would be required.

The city purchased a section of the water company facilities in 1968 for $161,500 so it could annex the Pleasant Manor subdivision — which is about one-quarter the size of Waycinden.

Resident Is Finalist

Schools Vote To Employ Counselor

Starting in September, a counselor will be on duty at River Trails Junior High School in Mount Prospect.

The River Trails Dist. 26 School Board Tuesday night voted unanimously to employ the counselor Assistant Supt. James Retzlaff, who recommended the hiring, said the district is now taking applications for the position.

The counselor will be the first to be hired by the district. Currently Dist. 26 employs one fulltime and two parttime psychologists. "They'll concentrate more on the elementary school level," Retzlaff said.

"RECENT EVENTS underline the need for junior high students to have somebody to talk to, an unbiased third party to confide in," Retzlaff said. He was referring to the fact that in the past three years, three students at the junior high have committed suicide.

The River Trails Education Association (RTEA) listed establishment of a counseling staff as one of their 1972-73 teacher contract demands. Retzlaff would not say if the teachers' request influenced his recommendation to hire a counselor.

Jan White, chairman of the RTEA bargaining team, said teachers are pleased with the board's decision. She said, "We have a great need for counselors and hope to see a similar movement in the grade schools as well."

In other personnel actions, the board authorized hiring of a vocal music teacher, a teacher to conduct a class for educable mentally handicapped (EMH) at River Road School in Des Plaines and a fulltime teacher to conduct a class for the deaf in the district.

RETZLAFF SAID the additional music teacher, which will bring the vocal music staff to four, will supplement the elementary school music program.

He said hiring the EMH teachers will eliminate having to send River Road students out of the district to a special class. He said there are nine students already signed up for the class.

Dist. 26 will conduct a class for deaf children who live in school districts belonging to the North Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO). Bonnie Everhart, who has previously supervised deaf programs, was hired at a salary of $11,500 a year.

River Trails Board Will Present Offer To Teachers

The River Trails Dist. 26 School Board plans to present a 1972-73 salary offer to teachers when the two teams meet again tomorrow, negotiator Richard Zwieback said Monday.

Zwieback, hired by the board, said the board hopes to have an "entire economic proposal" ready for the meeting. "That's what we're shooting for," Zwieback said. "We also hope to continue working out more of the differences that separate us," Zwieback said much of the differences involve language in the contract.

Teachers made their demand for a 6.5 per cent pay hike earlier this year when negotiations began. The 6.5 per cent, however, does not include a salary increment given each year for an increase in experience or education.

"The amount does not include the increment because all teachers don't get it," said Jan White, chairman of the River Trails Education Association (RTEA) bargaining team. Payment of the increment is based on an evaluation, she said.

Mrs. White said teachers are eager to "move onto some of the financial issues." In a three-hour meeting last week, the two teams ironed out some of the language in the proposed contracts, she said.

"We got through a lot of materials," she said. "But the question is if we've really gone a long distance. We're at a stage now where we're back at the original (1971-72) contract."

Teachers had complained earlier that the board and Zwieback were destroying the contract agreed to last year by making many language changes. Zwieback yesterday said he felt the two sides are now making "a lot more progress."

Good Shepherd Church Hosts Speaker

Rev. Karl Reko will be guest speaker at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Des Plaines for the Feast of the Pentecost this Sunday, May 21.

Rev. Reko was a missionary to New Guinea and will speak on the mission work he has done there. He will preach on the text of Philippians 2:5-11 at both the 8:15 and 11 a.m. services and will also speak to the Sunday School and Bible classes at 9:45.

He also will give a slide presentation and show artifacts from New Guinea. All residents are welcome and invited to attend services at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Lee and Howard streets, Des Plaines.

2 Win Science Award

Two Des Plaines students are among 27 winners in the national Westinghouse Science Talent Search conducted recently.

The students, Ronald S. Curton, of 9058 Church St., and Michael R. Yaffe, 9251 Twin Oaks Ln., were guests of honor along with the other winners at the Illinois Junior Academy of Science annual banquet Friday at the University of Illinois.

Curton was one of nine of the group who received a national honorable mention in the competition. Yaffe received a state honorable mention.

Niles West, Mueller Oust Dons In 2-0 Regional Tourney Action

by LARRY MYLNCZAK

Niles West's Barry Mueller did just about everything humanly possible — and then some — to lead his team to a 2-0 victory over Notre Dame in regional baseball action Wednesday.

The victory put Niles West in the regional championship game and eliminated Notre Dame, which won the Maine East District last week, from further tournament competition.

Mueller, a senior left-hander, faced only 23 batters while going all the way for the Indians. He permitted only two hits, struck out eight, walked only two and, at the plate, connected for two of his team's three hits and scored the first run, which turned out to be the winning run.

Mueller also helped himself in the field as he started a double play.

The victory was his seventh of the season against no losses and boosted his record to 12-1 in his varsity career.

Righthander Dick Allegretti was the losing pitcher and was very effective after the first inning. But by the end of the frame, the damage had already been done.

Mueller started the inning with a single to center field and went to second on a passed ball. After Bob Brown walked, both runners advanced on a wild pitch.

Paul Klipowicz sent a fly ball to right field and Mueller tagged up at third and scored the first run. After the second out, Blake Lorenz singled to center to drive in Brown from third.

Notre Dame had a threat going in the top half of the first inning. Kevin Scotellero started it off with a walk. After two outs, Rich Luzinski singled to right field and Scotellero raced around second and third before being tagged out at the plate by Niles West catcher Scott Zolke.

Mueller struck out the side in the second inning and also retired the Dons in order in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

In the sixth, Ed Aloisio led off with a single to right field, but Mueller fielded a popped up hunt moments later and threw to first to nail Aloisio for a double play.

In the seventh, Luzinski reached first on an error, but Mueller kept his cool and retired the side without any problems.

Allegretti retired the side in order in the second inning, allowed two baserunners in the third, retired the side in order in the fourth, allowed one baserunner (via error) in the fifth and sent the Indians down 1-2-3 in the sixth.

The loss ended Notre Dame's streak of 10 games without a loss and dropped the Dons' overall record to 14-7-1.

Prospect Blanks North

Maine North suffered its fifth shutout in its last eight games while losing to Prospect 5-0 in a non-conference game on the winner's field Tuesday.

The Norsemen connected for only three hits against Prospect hurler Jim Dumke — all doubles. Neal Schawel doubled to lead off the game, Dave Helton doubled to lead off the second inning and Mickey Drews doubled to open the seventh.

After three scoreless innings, Prospect took the lead in the fourth inning with a run. A single, a fielder's choice, a stolen base and two errors brought in the run.

Prospect tallied four runs in the fifth on an error, a stolen base, a double, a walk and a single.

Garry Halls went all the way on the mound for the Norsemen and struck out six batters.

The Norsemen have been blanked in their last 15 innings of play. They have a 4-12 overall record and are 2-10 in the Central Suburban League.

Skyway Diamond Chase Heats Up

Spoiler Oakton Decks Mayfair, 5-2

Oakton, not showing any favoritism and playing the spoiler's role once again, knocked off Mayfair 5-2 in a Skyway Conference game Tuesday.

Mayfair was in a tie for first place with Triton and Harper before the setback. Last week, Oakton tumbled Triton to knock Triton out of sole possession of first place.

The Raiders went out to a 4-0 lead in the first inning and held on to the lead behind the pitching of Rick Miller. Miller scattered eight hits and struck out four batters.

Bases on balls to Kevin Klett and Pat Fullen got the first inning going. After a passed ball, Bob Egebrecht singled in both runners. Egebrecht stole second and scored on a single by Jim Buchholz. Buchholz advanced to second on a throw in to the infield and scored on a single by Phil Olsberg.

Mayfair scored a run in the bottom of the first and made it 4-2 in the third inning.

In the seventh, the Raiders gave Miller an insurance run to work with. Frank Kochevar and Dan Moss walked and both runners were moved along on a sacrifice bunt by Klett. After two were out, Kochevar scored on a fielder's choice as Mayfair attempted to get the third out at the plate instead of first base.

The victory boosted Oakton's record to 5-5 in the Skyway Conference and 7-7 overall. The Raiders will host Triton to-day at 3 p.m.

Bears' Doug Buffone Opens Pro-Style Football Camp

A new pre-season football camp for boys, patterned after the National Football League training camps, has been organized by Chicago Bears linebacker Doug Buffone.

Open to boys 12 to 18, the instructional and training camp will be conducted July 2-8 at North Central College in Naperville.

Purpose of the camp is to help boys improve their football ability and get physically and mentally ready for the coming season, according to Buffone. It will be operated like NFL camps in terms of fundamentals, drills, conditioning, training, films, strategy and the techniques of all offensive and defensive positions, he added.

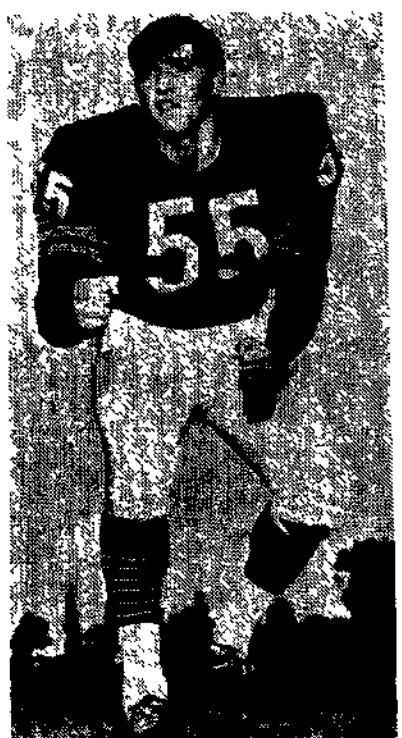

The staff consists of prominent Chicago area high school grid coaches and guest NFL players, including several members of the Bears: Jack Concannon, Willie Holman, Rich Doady, Dick Gordon, Jim Grabowski, Earl Thomas and Buffone.

The high school coaches are Pat Cronin, St. Rita; Tony Peterzak, Marist; Bob Naughton, New Trier West; Jim Morrel, Maine West; Jerry Auchstetter, Geneva; Carl Bonner, Wendell Phillips; Jimmy Jones, DuSable; and Ron Rio, North Park College.

Gregg Schumacher, former University of Illinois and Los Angeles Rams defensive end, is camp director. Camp coordinators are Bob Rio, veteran Chicago Public League, Suburban Catholic League and Mid-Suburban Conference coach, and Mike Vaia of Austin.

Tuition for the camp is $125. More information can be obtained by writing to Doug Buffone Football Camp, 4040 W. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60630.

Many Talented Golfers Fell Short In Western

Just as Sam Snead never has been able to win the U.S. Open golf championship and Arnold Palmer has yet to capture the P.G.A. title, so have a long list of great and colorful fairway stars failed to finish better than second in the Western Open golf championship to be played June 22-25 at Sunset Ridge Country Club.

As the second oldest major golf championship, the Western has seen many talented stars finish as runnersup, including legendary players like Fred McLeod, Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel, Harry Cooper, Horton Smith and Al Espinosa.

McLeod, winner of the U.S. Open in 1908, tied for second in the Western in 1907 and 1908. He and another great star of the early part of the century, Jock Hutchison, have been honorary openers of the Masters tournament for several years.

Leo Diegel, colorful star who won back-to-back PGA crowns in 1928 and 1929, could do no better than second to Jim Barnes in the 1919 Western and tied for second in 1923 and 1925. Wee Bobby Cruickshank, diminutive star of the 20's, could do no better than a tie for second in the 1924 Western.

Johnny Farrell's defeat of Bobby Jones in the U.S. Open of 1928 at Olympia Fields ranks as one of golf's all time upsets. But the best Farrell could do in Western Open competition was a tie for second in 1925 and a second in 1928 to Espinosa.

Snead knows what it is to finish second in the U.S. Open. Going back to 1937 at Oakland Hills in Michigan, Sam missed that short putt as Ralph Guldahl won the first of consecutive Open crowns. Sam finished second to Lew Worsham in 1947, tied for second with Clayton Heafner in 1949 as Cary Middlecott won at Medinah, and tied for second as Ben Hogan won the coveted Open crown in 1953 at Oakland.

Palmer, failing to win a PGA title, tied for second in that event in 1964, 1968 and 1970.

Spring or fall are good times for repairing a roof.

The in-between seasons are also good because repairing a roof is no job for either a cold day or a hot one. What you want are mild temperatures and little wind.

Even if you are pretty good at working in high places, avoid roofs with a steep pitch.

From the ground you can generally detect areas where shingles have been damaged or torn off. Detection from indoors comes about when the roof starts to leak.

Water may run along the inside slope of the roof before it drips to the floor.

From the attic on a sunny day you should be able to see where light is entering. Run a wire through the opening so you can spot it from outside.

Asphalt shingles are in widest use and are easiest to repair. Loose shingles can be taken care of with a few dabs of asphalt cement underneath. Then nail down with roofing nails and cover the nail heads with more cement.

IF THE SHINGLE needs replacing, carefully lift up the one above it and pry up the exposed nails. When you have the nails out, slide out the damaged shingle and put in a new one.

Place the new nails so the upper shingle covers them. Put some asphalt cement on the nail heads and press the new shingle down.

Wood shingles must be split and pieces removed. Use a hacksaw blade to cut out the old nails. Slide a new shingle in place. Hammer it into place protecting the edge with a piece of wood so the hammer doesn't damage it. Drive nails through the space between the shingles above the new one.

FLAT ROOFS are generally covered with roll roofing and are easy to repair. The first signs of trouble are small cracks and these can be repaired by spreading plenty of asphalt compound.

Large cracks or bulging areas can be repaired with a patch cut from roll roofing. Remove loose pieces. Cut the bulge so that the material lies flat. Apply asphalt cement. Put the patch on and nail in place, then cover with more cement. Seal the edges.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

The crowd at the Camelot bridge-drama were in great excitement. It was the last hand of the championship. Gawaine and his brother Gareth sat East and West for Ireland. Lancelot and his son Galahad sat North and South for England. England had to bid and make game to win the match and the audience cheered when after Lancelot's limit raise to three spades, Galahad went on to game because his heart was pure and because he had six spades.

Gareth opened the king of clubs. Galahad looked over dummy carefully and thought, "Forsooth, if I had Merlin's magic I would have been at three no-trump. Now I have to keep Gawaine out of the lead else my contract is lost."

Then he called for dummy's douse of clubs. Gawaine played the nine and now it was Gareth's turn to do something. He thought and played the ten of clubs.

Galahad thought some more. Did Gareth hold king-queen-jack-small of clubs? In that case it was up to Galahad to duck again but he decided that Gareth's club holding was exactly what it was. Then he called for dummy's ace; led the six of clubs and discarded a diamond.

"Gadzooks" cried Gareth. "Thou playest as well as Lancelot." Then he cashed

THE VILLAGE THAT NEVER CHANGES

Can you imagine a village where there are no property fences? Where the smallest homesites are an acre? Where there is no industry? Where no two homes are alike? Where every home must receive architectural approval? These are just a few of the unusual features of Inverness that are protected by prudent deed restrictions to jealously guard against changes in the character, value and way of living in the community. How much does it cost to join this exclusive 450-family village? Our acre-or-larger homesites start at $14,000, with only 20% down and an annual percentage rate of 7%. We also have a portfolio of homes for sale for immediate occupancy due to executive transfers. Prices range from $60,000 to $200,000. Drive out today; or, if you prefer, send for a free brochure.

Our picturesque 4-Silo office is open daily on Baldwin Road, just west of Northwest Highway (Rte. 14) between Palatine and Barrington. Convenient to Northwest Tollway (north from Rte. 53 exit).
